Incidents of Two More Day's Travel.

(Editorial Correspondence.)

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 18th, 1897

Leaving Birmingham on the afternoon of the 15th, after a few hours pleasantly spent in that city, our journey continued through the iron and coke regions of Alabama. Night soon came on and nothing further could be observed of the country until we were well down in Mississippi next morning.

Here we had another reminder of portions of North Carolina, the country being almost exactly like that between Newbern and Morehead City, nothing much to be seen but slim pine growth, broom sedge and frog ponds. Over into Louisiana and nearing New Orleans the country partakes more of a semi-tropical nature and palms could be seen growing wild in great profusion. For twenty-odd miles before reaching the city the railroad is built upon a trestle, that portion of it extending entirely across Lake Ponchartrain being very interesting and broken by numbers of draw gates.

Arriving at the city a transfer was made to the Southern Pacific railroad, the depots being slightly more than half mile apart. Here our party was not so fortunate in making good bargains as at Birmingham. The hackmen pulling us for 50 cents per head for making the transfer. Having but a short while between trains there was no opportunity of seeing any of the city except a few very muddy streets and the river. However there were signs of preparations for the approaching Mardi Gras festivities.

Leaving New Orleans via the Southern Pacific we had a very interesting day's travel through the great sugar cane and rice plantations of Louisiana. After getting out of the bogs adjacent to the bay and river, the road runs through a beautiful level and fertile country. One section is devoted almost entirely to the cultivation of sugar cane and another to rice, the broad fields extending for miles and miles as far as the eye can reach. Every plantation had a settlement and depot so that it almost seemed like a continuous town.

Sunset found us crossing over into the great Lone Star State. The city of Houston was reached about 10 o'clock where we had to lay off a night to wait for an early morning train to Galveston. Our party was met at the depot by Mr. J. B. Tripp, a Pitt county boy living in that city, who added much to the pleasure of the stop there. It will be gratifying to his many friends in Pitt to know he is succeeding finely in his Texas home and ranks among Houston's best young business men.

Leaving there on a very early morning train Galveston was reached in time for breakfast. The city is separated from the mainland by the bay several miles wide, and across this are four long trestles, hardly more than a hundred yards apart, built by competing railroads. We struck the city just in time for a strike, the entire street car force having gone out that morning because of a reduction of wages for some of the men. But we managed to get over to the Beach hotel where the National Editorial Association made headquarters, and hung up there for a bit of rest after four days of travel.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 27th, 1897.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:—For this week's letter we know of no more interesting matter for your readers than the extracts we make from the city papers. The legislature, or the reckless mob so called, is daily bringing disrepute upon our dear old State. Even the pretense of doing anything for the benefit of the people seems to be abandoned, and patronage and pelf is uppermost in the minds of the greedy gang who are like goulish jackalls preying upon and rending a helpless carcass.

Last week we sent quotations from the Progressive Farmer, and here is one from the Caucasian:

"About ten more days the legislative session, unless there shall be within that time an almost maraculous change, the record of the legislature will be nothing—absolutely nothing. All it will have done when it adjourns will be the spending of sixty or seventy thousand dollars of the public fund, for which nothing will be returned. Even the populist seem to be unusually apathetic. Perhaps they feel the impossibility of doing anything, while this hellish combine of reps and bolters are in the saddle and feel somewhat hopeless and dull, but this, in our opinion, cannot excuse them from trying to accomplish something. Up to this date, the legislature is a damnable disgrace to the State."

The papers here have named a certain little gang "the manority populist." These fellows (Harry's crowd) are nothing less than deep dyed Republicans of the most radical style. They are Republican in point of pie grabbing and general cussedness than those who call themselves Republicans.

The negro senator from Edgecombe has donned his fighting togs and will make it warm for his pale face brethren in the upper house. He is a combination of brazen impudence, audacity and jaw. "The negro must be recognized," he says, "I stopped the bills providing for the change in the management of the charitable institutions this morning and I shall hold up every bill from now on until we get assurances that the negro is to be recognized. We must have the Eastern asylum and part of the patronage of the penitentiary."

Henderson, another negro senator, from Vance, backs Lee Person in his fight for a good slice of official pie for the hungry sons of Ham. They have their war paint on and plant the black flag in the faces of their white allies, who will have to divide the spoils or have a row on hand.

The nominees of the piebald caucuses are hanging around waiting for their commissions from Gov. Russell. The red headed fiddler, Walter R. Henry, has grown sour and impatient to be decked out in judicial robes, but Daniel L. don't seem to be in much of a hurry. Several others are yet out in the cold and pieless. Oh! the trials of the impecunious, lean and forlorn pop sucker.

The following is the closing paragraph of an article in the News and Observer this morning on our law tinkers:

"It is all a disgusting, degrading, not to say disgraceful mess, and we hope and believe that when the honest voters of North Carolina come to pass judgment upon it, they will for their sake, for the State's sake and for decency's sake bury such men and methods forever."

There is a rumor that the Southern Railway will offer a substitute in place of the original bill in regard to the lease of the North Carolina R. R., proposing to make the lease 33 years at 8 per cent. instead of 99 years at 7 per cent. Instead of annulling the lease some such compromise may be affected. The matter will be determined, we suppose, in the General Assembly tomorrow.

A large and enthusiastic audience heard Sam Jonee, the willopus wollowpus deliver a lecture at Metropolitan Hall last night. He was in his best humor and kept his audience convulsed with laughter at times, but the solid parts were listened to with the gravest respect and attention. He said: "If the North Carolina legislature were to march on hell in a body and the devil happened to get a glimpse of them through the keyhole, he would make for the back door and give them possession. They would then hold a caucus, elect their own devil and proceed to business."

He is amusing and his serious remarks are interesting and instructive. He is a man who has traveled a great deal and is a great student of nature.

R. W. J.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A COUNTY JUDGE

The Honorable J. F. Greer, one of the best known and most highly respected county Judges of the State of Florida, writes of his horrible sufferings from Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. F. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE, Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.
"GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attended by the most eminent physician in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P. Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After using two small bottles I was relieved. After four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P. P., and have been relieved, and I consider P. P. P. the best medicine of its kind. Respectfully, J. F. GREER."

James M. Newton, of Aberdeen, Ohio, says he bought a bottle of P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and it did him more good than three months' treatment at Hot Springs.

Rheumatism, as well as sciatica and gout, is cured by a course of P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is a friend indeed to weak women. It is a positive and speedy cure for general weakness and nervousness.

All skin diseases are cured by it; anything from pimples to the worst cases of eczemas succumbing to the wonderful healing powers of P. P. P.

Dyspepsia and indigestion in their worst form are cured by it. As a tonic to restore the appetite and to regain lost vigor, it is simply marvelous.

P. P. P. is the best spring medicine in the world. It removes that heavy, out-of-sorts feeling and restores you to a condition of perfect physical health.

For Indigestion, Sick and Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Heart Failure, Fever, Chills, Debility and Kidney Diseases, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, the most wonderful medicine in the world.

Lucy Ashby Turn.

At New Berne on yesterday, a pacer named Palmetto Prince, tried to down Lucy Ashby in a five heat race, but Lucy was in fine shape and succeeded in winning three heats out of the five. It is about time that some folks were learning when they put their horses against Elise, Birdseye and Lucy Ashby that they must be racers that can make "home runs" on the first ball pitched or they will not be in it.

The Disputed Race.

The controversy which has arisen concerning the decision of the Judges in the 2.25 class race of Wednesday afternoon in which Bird Eye and Tyrolse both claim to be winners has caused quite a great deal of interest. There are between $2,000 and $3,000 in the hands of stake holders which cannot be handed over until the race is finally decided.

There are rumors to the extent that the race will be re-run, another that the owner of Kitty B. has entered a protest against the payment of the purse to Tyrolse in whose favor the Judges decided the day of the race. In case of the latter the National Trotting Association will declare the winner of the race, and until then no bets can be paid. —New Berne Journal.
