LEGISLATIVE ECHOS.

As Condensed From The Wilmington Messenger.

The cost of the state legislature will very closely approximate that of the legislature of 1895—$72,000. It served two days without pay.

The regular populists have blacklisted Congressman Harry Skinner and now put him down as a republican.

There is some comment on Governor Russell's delay in giving out the names of the new state directors of the North Carolina railway. It is said at the executive department that the lists will be printed and all given out at once. The former directors have been notified of their removal.

The strained relations between Governor Russell and Senator Pritchard become more apparent day by day.

One wing of the republicans now heaps ridicule on the bolting populists as "greedy fellows," who care for nothing save office.

There is quite a lively contest in progress for the United States attorneyships of the Eastern and Western districts, as well as for the assistant attorneyships. The hand of Governor Russell is said to be felt in this matter, too.

Dr. Monroe, who is selected by Governor Russell to be the head of the Western asylum for the insane at Morganton, is said to be a democrat.

The legislature fixed the license tax on fire and accident insurance companies at $200 and on life companies at $250. The tax on all gross premiums is 2 per cent.

The cost to the state of the election contests in the legislature was $1,591.

Suits are likely to result if the officers of the state hospital at Morganton are ousted from their positions as intended by the late legislature. It is understood that Dr. P. L. Murphy, the superintendent, and Dr. Isaac M. Taylor of the hospital staff, will claim their right to hold their offices until the expiration of the term for which they were elected by the old board of directors. If removed they will institute suit for salaries for the remainder of their respective terms.

Dr. Murphy has about four years to serve, and his salary is $2,800 a year. Dr. Taylor was elected several months ago for two years. His salary is $1,200.

OAKLEY ITEM.

OAKLEY, N. C., Mar. 15th, 1897.

Jesse Speight and H. B. Harris spent Thursday here. Jesse bought the cotton and Bently told the jokes. Come again boys.

On Wednesday March 10th, at 4 o'clock, W. G. Gurganus and Miss Ella Powell were united in matrimony at the home of W. H. Williams. Esquire, W. H. Williams tying the mystic knot. May their's be a happy life.

The oldest of our people say they never saw a more disagreeable spring so far. Such little work done in the way of farming. We have heard some complaint of Irish potato seed rotting since being planted.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by Greenville M. E. Sunday School, March, 7th, 1897.

Whereas, God has seen fit in His wise providence to again visit our school and call from among the living and take to Himself our much beloved brother, B. H. Sugg. Therefore be it resolved.

1st. That while we will miss our dear brother in the school we will bow to the will of our Heavenly Father who always does right and best.

Resolved 2nd. That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to his children and grand children and recommend them to their father's God who sustained him in his last days.

Resolved 3rd. That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the school and that a copy be sent to the family of brother Sugg and to the papers of our town.

Bro. Sugg joined the church in 1840 at Ormonds chapel in Greene county. He was very soon thereafter licensed a class leader and exhorter and he had the license until he died. He was an active worker in the Sunday School as well as in the church. In 1859 he moved to South Creek in Beaufort county and the first thing he did there was to organize a Sunday School of which he was superintendent for many years. In every place he ever lived the first Sunday there he was found in the Sunday School and became a member. Thus we see Uncle Sugg worked faithfully in the Sunday school and church for 57 years. What an example for us follow. He loved the church and lived a life of devotion to his God and humanity. Truly may it be said of him "None knew him but to love him, none named him but to praise." He was the most humble man we ever saw but we will see him no more in this world for "God took him and he was not."

A Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 12.—Fire broke out at 7 o'clock this evening on the fourth floor of the wholesale grocery house of Jno. A. Toleman & Co., at Michigan avenue and Lake street, and before it was extinguished, resulted in damages aggregating $350,000. Chase & Sanborn, dealers in Coffee, at Nos. 8, 10 and 12 Lake street, loss $50,000 of this amount, while the building, which is the property of Jos. Kohn, is damaged to the extent of $50,000. It is not known how the fire started.

Offices and Office-Sekers.

The new administration is having some rather startling and disagreeable surprises in connection with the civil service rules. Secretary Gage was astonished yesterday to discover that he cannot select the man to fill such an important office as superintendent of the bureau of engraving and printing, which is now held by Mr. Claude M. Johnson, of Kentucky, and pays a salary of $4,500 a year. Mr. Meredith, of Chicago, held the office under the Harrison administration, and is a candidate for reappointment, but Mr. Johnson cannot be removed except upon charges, and his successor must be selected by competitive examination. The same rule applies to the two chief engravers in the bureau, who receive salaries of $6,000 each, to the assistant superintendent who receives $2,200, and to the chief clerk. It is perfectly proper and reasonable that the subordinate officers of this bureau should be appointed by competitive examination, but the superintendent, who occupies a very delicate and responsible position, and has charge of all the government money, should be selected by the head of the department. He gives no bond, and Mr. Gage must be responsible for his conduct and honesty, although he has no voice in his selection.

A similar discovery has been made at the postoffice department, where Postmaster General Gary is amazed to find that his legal adviser, the assistant attorney general for that department, must also be appointed by competitive examination. There are a dozen or more candidates for this office, as there are for chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, and when Postmaster General Gary made a selection in the person of a gentleman in whom he had confidence he was informed that the present incumbent could only be removed upon charges, and that his successor must be certified after examination by the civil service commission.

Secretary Alger has discovered that he has not influence enough in the war department to appoint his own private secretary. Every body within sight is under the civil service rules. He brought a man from Detroit who had long occupied a confidential relation to him, and desired to continue him in a similar capacity during his official career. But there is no position in the war department open to such a person without entering the regular competition through the civil service examination.

A few Ohio men have not yet made their wants known, but they are being heard from right along.

Senator Foraker is opposed to the plan of making no general distribution of offices until after the tariff bill become a law. Rumor has it that he told the president so yesterday. Mr. Foraker thinks the "bourgeoisie and the men in blouses," as Mr. Quay calls them, expected their reward soon after Mr. McKinley became president, and that they should not be disappointed. It has also been suggested that the administration would not hurry the tariff legislation by the pursuit of the talked of course; in other words, that the senators are not ready to trade their votes for offices.—Washington Post.

All Records Broken.

On Saturday, March 6th, the Atlantic Coast Line's New York and Florida special train made the greatest record breaking run ever known in the south, overshadowing the record for speed made by the famous Pythian flyer over the same track on August 26, 1894. It will be remembered that that train made the world's record long distance run. The run made on Saturday, so far as speed was concerned, beat that of the Pythian train for the same distance and is better than the record of The New York Journal's special, which recently went 228 miles in 237 minutes.

The run Sunday was made by engine No. 153, a big machine of the "trailer" pattern, in charge of Engineer L. Wacksmuth, and a train of six Pullman cars, in charge of Conductor G. D. Pugh. The train was heavier than the Pythian train, being composed of six Pullman cars, while the Pythian train had only four cars.

The record was made between Florence, S. C., and South Rocky Mount, N. C., a distance of 172.3 miles. The record books show these figures:

Actual time between the two points 196 minutes
Time lost by stops 22 minutes
Actual running time 174 minutes
The average speed was therefore, 59.3 miles per hour.

The average speed of the Pythian flyer between these points was 56.2 miles per hour. The record of this trip was as follows:

Actual time between the two points 195 minutes
Time lost by stops 11 minutes
Actual running time 184 minutes
This record was made by Engineer J. R. Bissett and Conductor W. J. Hill.

The Coast Line officials are necessarily very proud of the feat which has been accomplished.—Wilmington Messenger.

CARNAGE AT COPENHAGEN.

The Desolation That Was Wrought Upon a Single British Ship.

Captain Alfred T. Mahan contributes to The Century an article on "Nelson in the Battle of Copenhagen." Captain Mahan says that the Danes fought not only with great resolution, but with an effectiveness that is really remarkable in view of the rayness of the material hastily worked up for the occasion. He adds: A singular picture of the desolation wrought on the decks of the Monarch has been given by a midshipman on board of her: "Toward the close of the action the colonel commanding the detachment of soldiers on board told me that the quarter deck guns wanted quill or tin tubes (which are used as more safe and expeditious than loose priming), and wanted me to send some one, adding his own men were too ignorant of the ship or he would have sent one of them. I told him I knew no one that could so well be spared as myself. He, however, objected to my going, and as I was aware of the dreadful slaughter which had taken place in the center of the ship I was not very fond of the jaunt, but my conscience would not let me send another on an errand I was afraid to undertake myself, and away I posted toward the fore magazine. When I arrived on the main deck, along which I had to pass, there was not a single man standing the whole way from the mainmast forward, a district containing eight guns on a side, some of which were run out ready for firing, others lay dismounted, and others remained as they were after recoiling.

"I hastened down the fore ladder to the lower deck and felt really relieved to find somebody alive. I was obliged to wait a few minutes for my cargo, and after this pause I own I felt something like regret, if not fear, as I remounted the ladder on my return. This, however, entirely subsided when I saw the sun shining and the old blue ensign flying as lofty as ever. I never felt the genuine sense of glory so completely as at that moment. I took off my hat by an involuntary motion and gave three cheers as I jumped on to the quarter deck. Colonel Hutchinson welcomed me at my quarters as if I had been on a hazardous enterprise and had returned in triumph. The first lieutenant also expressed great satisfaction at seeing me in such high spirits and so active."

The effect of splinters—fragments of wood, whether large or small, being technically so called—is shown by the same writer in a few scattered but graphic sentences: "Our signal midshipman was bruised from head to foot with splinters in such a manner as compelled him to leave the deck. Mr. Le Veneur, another midshipman, who was my companion on the coast, was killed."

Packing Sugar.
The bag has displaced both the hogshead and the barrel in the shipment of refined and raw sugars. There was a time, not so very long ago, when such a thing as shipping sugar in anything but a stave made vessel was unheard of, but now it is just the other way. The bag has become popular because it is cheaper, and continues to grow cheaper, while the wooden receptacles advance in price at about the same ratio. Even molasses has gone back on the stave, and that sticky commodity is being carried in bulk—Philadelphia Record.

A Lost Rebuke.
"George," said she in a tone of bitter rebuke, "as far as I can see you are going to the dogs."

Running the Gantlet.
Running the gantlet as a military punishment was, it is said, originated by Gustavus Adolphus to punish thieves in his army. It was borrowed by the English from the Germans, who copied it from Gustavus, and being employed in the British regiments in America was readily taken up by the Indians of this country.

"FROM FROST TO FLOWERS."
California or Mexico?
Both are such desirable objective points for a Winter trip that it's perhaps hard for you to decide where to go.
Let us Help You to a Decision.
A trip via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific to either Mexico or the Pacific Coast is one you will never forget.
It's a Transition from Frost to Flowers.
And the service is so luxurious that people who have tested "Sunset Limited" call it incomparable.
If you are Thinking of Going, Write Us.
We have a book entitled "Through Sierraland to Sunset Seas," a handsome volume of 205 pages, fully illustrated, which we will send you receipt of 10 cents in stamps to cover postage. We also have a delightful little guide to Mexico, which we will send on receipt of 4 cents to cover cost of mailing.
You Really Ought to Read them Both.
Shall we put you down for a copy? If so, or if you want any special information, it will be cheerfully furnished by addressing,

Wiley—Corbett is physically unsound. He's sure to have Fitz in the ring.

WENT EGGAINST HIM.

He made a bet that he could eat A score of Easter eggs.
But the eggseration proved a feat
That knocked him off his pegs.
Eggsasperated, he eggsclaimed,
With an eggspressive snarl,
"This Easter lay, which me has lamed,
Is most eggs-hoisting work!"
—Detroit Free Press.

The Meeting.

A large congregation at the Presbyterian church Monday night to hear Dr. Black. His subject was "sowing and reaping," in which he pointed out the responsibility resting upon every one in the influence he exerts upon others. One person may exert an influence on ten others, these ten may have a corresponding influence and so on until the effect is wide spread. If this influence is for evil how great it becomes.

His subject this morning was "let your light shine." Christians are not reflecting a light for themselves but for Jesus. It is an honor to let your light shine for Him. The world should see Him through our lives. This talk was a very beautiful and impressive one.

Service tonight at 7:30.

WHICHARD ITEMS.

WHICHARD, N. C. Mar. 15th, '97.

We are having lots of rain in this section and the roads are in a terrible condition. Some of the creeks are almost impassable.

M. Everett, of Robersonville, was here Saturday.

We were glad to have a call from ex-Sheriff Allen Warren Saturday, who was here on a short visit to his son, Dr. Warren.

Miss Effie Ross has quite a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Rev. J. L. Winfield passed through Saturday on his way to Ayden to fill his appointment.

J. A. Crews, of the Wilmington Messenger, was here last week in the interest of his paper.

Glad to know the family of W. W. Thomas is out again after a malarial attack.

Mrs. John Andrews, of Parmele, who has been visiting her mother near here, returned home Saturday.

A severe electrical storm passed over this section Thursday morning. Lightning struck the railroad track near W. R. Whichard, Jr., shocking him considerably, but not seriously injuring him.

Engineer Cutler, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, at Philadelphia, arrived Friday to get the new engine of the Greenleaf Johnson Lumber Co. in shape for work.

J. H. Mallard, of Wilmington, was here last week.

Geo. Moore and wife, of Everett's, spent Sunday here.

White Lang's CASH HOUSE Goods, Embroideries,

LACES.—We have a handsome collection of new White Goods, Embroideries and Laces, which we have placed on sale and invite an early inspection. In White Goods we show a great variety of dainty patterns for little folks, such as fine dimity checks and stripes, sheer linen lawns, Persian lawns, English nainsooks, etc. Our line of Embroideries are very attractive and quite moderate in price. In Laces we are showing full lines of Valenciennes and Torchons, from the tiniest width up to the wide.
