OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lawrence, whose death occurred Wednesday afternoon, was in her 67th year. Her maiden name was Miss Elizabeth Ann Brown. She married Mr. Montgomery Long in November, 1858. Three children were born to them, James, Montgomery and Mary. The latter died in 1864 when she was quite small. Mr. Long was killed at Ft. Fisher in January, 1865, by the accidental explosion of a bomb shell, caused by one of the shells being dropped while he was superintending having some removed from the field just after a battle.

In May, 1878, Mrs. Long married Mr. Peter P. Lawrence, and she was again left a widow in 1884, Mr. Lawrence dying in July of that year.

Her son, Mr. Montgomery Long, who lived in South Carolina, died three months ago, so that now by the death of Mrs. Lawrence the only member of the family left is Mr. James Long. To the latter the sympathies of all our people are extended in his sorrow at the death of his mother.

Mrs. Lawrence was truly a good woman, a devoted wife, a fond mother, a kind friend. At an early age she joined the Methodist church and lived the life of a faithful Christian. She was held in high esteem among all her acquaintance and her death brings sadness to many hearts.

The funeral took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. N. M. Watson.

The pall bearers were C. T. Munford, H. B. Clark, J. R. Moye, D. D. Haskett, Wiley Brown and D. J. Whichard.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

The weather conditions for the week ending 7 a. m. Monday, April 12th, have been slightly more favorable, at least in the eastern portion of the State, though there has been again too much rain generally. A heavy thunderstorm with excessive rain of about two inches occurred early Friday morning. The temperature was considerably above the normal, until the 10th when it turned cooler with light frost in extreme west portion. Considerable progress has been made in planting corn; and some cotton has been put in. Truck crops and strawberries are growing well in the eastern district. Fair, warmer weather is needed.

EASTERN DISTRICT.—The first part of the week was warm and favorable for farm work, but after the heavy rain on Friday the weather turned cooler. Farm work progressed well at some points. Corn planting is now well advanced on uplands and some corn is up and looking well. Preparations for cotton are underway and a few farmers have commenced to plant. Truck crops are growing rapidly; beans are up and May peas in bloom. Irish potatoes are coming up nicely. Sweet potatoes being bedded. Gardens are now making headway. Many correspondents report tobacco plants large and nearly ready to set. Some rice has been planted. Strawberries show little signs of damage by frost, are setting fruit well and at many points ripening rapidly. Wheat, fall oats and clover looking well, and spring oats are green and have good stand.

STATE NEWS.

The fourth session of the Summer School of the University of North Carolina will begin Tuesday, June 22nd, and close Friday, July 23rd.

Massa Miller, an old negro man, died at the county home yesterday. He was 90 years old and had been an inmate of the home for sixteen years.—Salisbury Sun.

Accidents happen all through life and some are of a very serious nature, but the sad mishap that befell the little 4 year old son of Mr. Harris Richardson on last Wednesday is the most appalling and heart rending of the saddest. Mr. Richardson lives near Fremont and hauls pine logs to a saw mill. On the day mentioned he had his little son with him on the large leg carriage as he was making a return trip with a heavy load. A sudden jar of the cart in running over a root caused the child to fall to the ground with his head in the rut just in front of the large wheel that was grinding the earth under its broad tire and weighty load. Before the team could be stopped the top part of the head from just over the ear, reaching around the forehead, was severed from the body and mashed flat. The father was alone and had to gather up the remains and carry them home and place the dead child in its mother's arms.—Goldsboro Argus.

Named Their Ticket.

The Democrats of Parmele held a convention Tuesday night and nominated the following ticket:

Mayor—F. S. Upton.

Commissioners—W. J. Smith, L. E. Ricks and J. T. Brown.

Constable—T. L. Whitley.

At Ayden the following nominations have been made:

Mayor—H. S. Hardee.

Commissioner—J. S. Ross, At-Large Joyner, A. L. Harrington, T. N. Manning and R. W. Smith.

Lord Salisbury to Retire.

LONDON, April 13.—Truth says "It is doubtful if Lord Salisbury's health will permit him to retain the post of premier and secretary of state for foreign affairs. Under the circumstances many unionists are suggesting Lord Rosebury for secretary of state for foreign affairs. It is pointed out that when in office Lord Roseberry showed entire accord with Lord Salisbury's foreign policy and he withdrew from the liberals because he disapproves of their action in foreign issues while his views on home rule are in accord with the unionists."

THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1897.

A St. Louis woman has achieved distinction by appropriating $80,000 insurance money she got on her husband's life, to paying his debts. The insurance was for her benefit and could not have been touched by the creditors of her deceased husband, whose memory she thus honored.

The Boston man who walked into a restaurant and jocularly informed the waiter that he guessed he'd poison himself with a cup of coffee, didn't intend to do it, but drank the coffee and scared the waiter almost out of his senses by falling back in his chair dead. It wasn't the coffee that did it, but heart disease.

The Oxford Public Ledger gives the following advice to its farmer friends, which is worth heeding and acting upon: "By all means let our farmers divide their money crop between cotton and tobacco as the Eastern farmers are doing, and thus keep pace with the section that has made tobacco a part of their money crop."

Some of the Republicans are now disposed to admit that the schedules of tariff have been arranged for the benefit of those who have contributed to the Republican campaign fund. Mr. Hanna, who knows all about these contributions, will probably rearrange some of the schedules in the Senate.—Atlanta constitution.

The man who makes plenty to eat is in independent circumstances at least whether tobacco or cotton sells low. But he who has to buy his supplies for family and stock and then pay the running expenses of the farm out of the proceeds, will find himself coming out behind every time. Let our farmers think over these things and turn over a new leaf this year.—Lumberton Robesonian.

By and by the honest and well meaning folks of all parties in this country will learn that professional reformers are mostly humbugs and rascals. Their only reform is to reform the lines that attack the offices—the lines before the pie counter. Now and then men of sincere purpose arise, attack the evils of the day or the century, and by determined effort overturn or stay them. But such men are actuated by unselfish love of right, and not by selfish aggrandizement. They never ask for place for self, they will not accept emoluments, but with determined purpose, sacrifice self for the principle they uphold. You say there have been few examples of such in the world's history; there are fewer today than ever before.—Monroe Journal.

WOMEN'S EXPOSITION.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. April 13, 1897.

One of the most interesting features of the Women's Exposition of the Carolinas, which takes place during the month of May, reaching into June, will be the showing of the industries of these States, that are not very generally known. For instance, as fine Kaolin as is produced in the United States is here found, and is made into earthenware, china and an excellent grade of porcelain ware. An exhibit of this product will show the process of manufacture from its crude state into articles of dainty shape and attractiveness.

Moore county yields sand of most excellent quality for the manufacture of fine glass ware, and samples of this finished ware will also be shown.

Splendid collections of minerals will demonstrate the various resources of the Carolinas.

The Industrial department is attaining large proportions, and manufacturers from all sections are taking space. It is specially desired that each and every cotton mill in North and South Carolina will place on exhibit a bolt or more of each class of goods that they manufacture, so that a complete showing of our enormous and fast growing milling industry may be made. It is necessary to arrange for space at once.

A collection of Colonial, Revolutionary, Mexican and Confederate relics is now being gathered together, probably larger in extent and general comprehensiveness, and greater historical value than any similar collection ever made in the two states.

Very low passage rates to the Exposition have been granted by all the railroads, and the admission fee is placed at only half the usual charge for such exhibitions, but the desire of the management is that every one may avail themselves of the opportunity which offers so much of interest along Art and Educational lines.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate the large crowds that will be here during the month of May. To give some idea of the events outside of the Exposition, which is of course the main attraction, that are to occur in May, it may be well to recall a few, State Lodge of Odd Fellows meet; General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in session; State Dental Society and Board of Dental Examiners convene, inter-State bicycle races will be held; inter-State fireman's meet with firemen's races; baseball games between leading Southern teams; a series of theatrical attractions, and any number of entertainments both at the Exposition and elsewhere; lectures and addresses by prominent men, while one of the leading Southern women will deliver the opening address of the Women's exposition, and others will follow in addresses and lectures.

These are part of attractions, which all combined goes to show that there will be drawn together such a gathering as has seldom been seen in the history of the State.

A commercial traveler who was visiting with his uncle in the country, says an exchange, was suddenly called out to say grace, and, not being accustomed to it, promptly tackled the difficulty in the following words: "We acknowledge the receipt of your favor of this date. Allow us to express our gratitude for this expression of good will. Trusting that our house may merit your confidence and that we may have many good orders from you this fall, we are yours."

Our revered and reverend friend, Hallelujah Ayer, has gotten real gay since coming into the enjoyment of his relief. In times past there was never a suggestion of humor in his writing; the miseries of the down trodden, for whose emancipation he had made himself responsible, so weighed upon his heart that his mournfulness never abated and he did nothing but sit on his haunches and howl. But in the noble Caucasian of this week he has an editorial which is real sporty. He frolics around The Observer like a kitten. He gambols in and out among the parts of speech with the grace of a cow and the friskiness of a spring lamb. * * What occasions the exuberance of his spirits is, however, of no consequence. It is enough to know that Hallelujah has at last relaxed. We are delighted to note the change. As the ladies say, it is "so becoming." We have feared that he would never smile again. But relief has restored the color to his cheek and joy to his heart, and the play of fancy is beautiful to behold. There is hope now even for Ramsey that he will yet cease his lamentations and consent to smile. To the sometime pessimistic and despairful, but now sportive and hopeful Ayer, we make our compliments and extend our congratulations. He has seen a new light and it has begotten in him a blitheness to which nothing but relief could have given birth.—Charlotte Observer.

THE TALLEST RAILROAD.

It Is In Peru, and Its Building Required Serious Engineering.

The Peruvian Central, Transandine or Oroya railroad begins six feet above tide water at Callao. From Lima, eight miles ahead and 500 feet higher, it winds up the narrowing valley of the Rimac, past great haciendas and forgotten ruins. At Chosica, 33 miles from the sea, it has gained but 2,800 feet in elevation, but within the yard limits of that station begins the 4 per cent grade, which is steadily maintained for 73 miles. The Rimac's gorge becomes deeper and more contracted, the little bays and benches of cultivable land rarer. At the hamlet of San Bartolome serious engineering begins. The overhanging hillside on the right displays the first "V"—the characteristic device so frequently necessary to overcome the headlong valley.

The maximum gradient allowed by contract of 211 feet to the mile has in many places been stretched, and the actual gradient is sometimes nearer 5 per cent. But even this was insufficient to meet the exigencies of the quebrada, whose floor often greatly exceeds that slope. The only way to get ahead was to run back a few furlongs or miles at full grade and then to shoot forward on the upper arm of the zigzag. Some of the "V's" run back and forth like sloping shelves in the high walls of the main gorge; some double and twist far up lateral valleys. Not to confine the matter to single points, where the road has to give five miles to gain one, the total percentage is astonishing. From Callao to Oroya the length of the track is 221 1-2 kilometers; of these, 76 1-2 (one mile in every three) are consumed in overcoming the rise, and this besides the unprecedented maintaining of such a maximum grade.

Four miles above San Bartolome and its tropic side valley is the great bridge of the Agua de Verrugas, or water of warts. This noble cantilever, built in New Jersey, has a length of 520 feet and a height of 260. The old bridge was in its day the highest in existence and was meant to be. To that end the center pier was sunk in a 12 foot pit. This pier was washed out by a cloudburst in 1889, and for a year traffic was maintained by a cage swinging on cables across the gap. The present structure has been left far behind as to height by the bridge over the river Loa, on the 600 mile Antofagasta line in Chile, the longest of narrow gauge railroads, and, with its 30 inch track, the tipiest.

The Agua de Verrugas is not to be laughed down as a superstition. Of the grim reality in these poisonous the way of the warts, one may find many golden, one may find many precious in plenty. The building of the Verrugas bridge cost a terrible mortality, and the cemetery of Tolkavista is full of its victims. This strange and frequently fatal "disorder of the warts," which haunts many corners of the cordilleras, seems to have relation to certain mineral strata. It is alike unknown, in this part of Peru, below 6,000 and above 9,000 feet.—Harper's Weekly.

The Airship.

Professor George Hough, of Dearborn observatory, Northwestern university, is quoted as saying that the light which has thrown the west into such a state of excitement is the star Alpha Orionis. "Alpha Orionis appears on the meridian at 5 o'clock and becomes visible at 8 o'clock. At that time it resembles a strong white electric light. It first becomes noticeable in the central southwest portion of the sky. At an unusually rapid rate for a star it takes its course toward the northwest, finally disappearing in that corner. As the star begins to sink, the atmospheric conditions cause it to appear to be of a reddish hue on the under side and green on the upper portion when seen through a glass. The center of the body is white." Yet Sirius—the Dog Star—is much brighter and follows Alpha Orionis, while the planet Venus, brighter still than any star, shines on ahead.

But in spite of the cold unimaginative declarations of science, there are thousands of people in the west who still firmly believe that they have seen the famous airship, a ship who utterly decline to acknowledge that they have been simply "star gazing" without knowing it. If these people will study the southern sky about the middle of June they will see the airship develop into something like a sea-serpent. The astronomers will tell them it is the constellation of the Scorpion, one of the most beautiful in the heavens. But they must not believe it.

Both are such desirable objective points for a Winter trip that it's perhaps hard for you to decide where to go.

Let us Help You to a Decision.

A trip via New Orleans and the Southern Pacific to either Mexico or the Pacific Coast is one you will never forget.

It's a Transition from Frost to Flowers.

On a Tare.

A few days ago a drummer named Tolar hired a horse from Joe Moyer to go to Washington. He got on a spree and treated the horse so shamefully that he was arrested and imprisoned at Washington for cruelty to animals. A stableman telegraphed Moyer and he went down to see about the animal. The drummer had been released and gave Moyer a check to cover the cost of the horse.

Wednesday evening the drummer came up to Greenville with a double team, one of them being the abused horse purchased from Moyer. This horse died soon after reaching here. The drummer took the other horse and lead him into Cheek's bar room and wanted whiskey for the animal. A crowd gathered around the back door to see what was going on when he took out two pistols and began firing in the air to frighten the crowd away. The drummer was arrested and Mayor Forbes fined him $20 for disorderly conduct. He went back to Washington late at night.

Your best judgment requires you to make an immediate provision for your family.

By insuring today, your estate is increased in value at once.

'Twas Ever Thus.

A few days since an insurance agent accepted an invitation to inspect a new beautiful house built by a friend. After taking a peep at the whole establishment from top to bottom, inquired—

"House insured?"
"Yes."
"What do you insure it for?"
"Because it MIGHT burn."
"Not SURE of it, are you?"
"No."
"Is your life insured?"
"No."
"Die, won't you?"
"Yes."
"Sure?"
"Yes."
"Then why not insure your life as well as your house?"

"Well, really, I never thought of the matter just in that light before, and will give it early attention." — Travelers Record.
