THAT

TAILORS CAN GIVE THEM

They don't cost too much. They are ready to put on without a wrinkle. You have seen the browns, olives, green mixtures, plaids--the swell colorings of the of the season--we've got them here plenty as pie at a fair. We show the best.

C. T. MUNFORD.

Base Ball.

Louisville, May 17--The Colonels received their first shut out of the season today. The Orioles found Hemming easy, while Nops had the team at his mercy. Clark, McCreery and Werden made good catches. Score. Louisville, 0; Baltimore, 5.

Pittsburg, May 17--New York's errors cost them two runs today. Rusie pitched a good game, but Kil'en made the pitcher's record of the year--two hits. Score. Pittsburg, 3; New York, 2.

Chicago, May 17--The Colts were clearly outclassed today and Boston won a tiresome game in a walk. Score. Chicago, 1; Boston, 10.

Cincinnati, May 17--The Reds defeated the Phillies in the first game in an exciting contest by a score of 3 to 2. The game was one of the best seen here this season and sensational fielding was the feature. Score. Cincinnati, 3; Philadelphia, 2.

St. Louis, May 17--The trolley dodgers hit Esper so freely today that Dowd substituted Hutchinson in the third inning. Score. St. Louis, 5; Brooklyn, 17.

Cleveland, May 17--Today's game was a mixed affair. In the second inning the Indians knocked McJames out of the box. In the next six innings they failed to get a run off Swaim. In the ninth McGuire was put in to bat for Swaim. His hit tied the score and he was sent home by DeMontreville's single, putting the senators one ahead. Then Mercer went in to pitch. The Indians scored two runs, winning the game. O'Brien was put out of the game in the ninth for talking back to Umpire Hurst. Score. Cleveland, 8; Washington, 7.

Attention Knights of Pythias.

There will be a meeting of K. of P. in their Castle Hall on Thursday night May 20th. All members requested to be present as there is business of importance to come before the lodge.

Commencements.

The REFLECTOR is indebted to Miss Hattie Jones for an invitation to the commencement exercises of Corey's High School, Grindool, June 11th. Mr. L. I. Moore, of Greenville, delivers the literary address.

We are also indebted to Miss Lina Sheppard for an invitation to the thirty-fifth annual commencement of Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton, Va., May 31st. Miss Sheppard is member of the graduating class in instrumental music.

STATE NEWS.

The Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City opens tomorrow for the season.

Two herds of cattle in Wake county are being examined for tuberculosis.

The Presbyterian church at Kinston will be dedicated on the fifth Sunday in this month.

Dr. J. M. Hayes, one of Greensboro's well known physicians, was found dead in bed at his home in that city early Saturday morning.

The offer is made the state board of education to purchase, at 25 cents per acre, 500 acres in Carteret, Jones and Craven, known as "the lakes," which are lands covered with water and no dry land.

The bishops of the Methodist E Church, South, have recently held their annual meeting and arranged the plan for Episcopal visitations. Bishop Hargrove is to hold the North Carolina conference at Raleigh, December 1st, and Bishop Key the Western North Carolina annual conference to be held November 17th at Asheville.

The Meeting.

Rev. P. G. Elsom, of Danville, who is conducting the meeting in the Baptist church, is getting a strong hold upon the people of Greenville and his thorough earnestness impresses all who hear him. At the Tuesday afternoon service he talked about "A Revival," telling his hearers how to get one and when they might expect it.

Tuesday night the congregation was large, the church being almost full. The preliminary services were conducted by Rev. N. M. Watson, of the Methodist church. Mr. Elsom's subject was "Prevailing Prayer." This sermon, while it contained much that was applicable to all classes, was directed chiefly to church members, and it opened the eyes of many to their shortcomings and aroused them to a sense of their duty. He pointed out many conditions under which an answer to prayer need not be expected. A very earnest prayer was offered for Rev. A. W. Setzer, who is sick, and for all others in the town who are sick physically or spiritually.

Mr. J. A. Ramsey, of Durham, is expected this evening to take charge of the choir.

The cottage prayer meeting Thursday morning will be held at Mrs. M. A. Jarvis'.

Services in the church at 4 and 8 P. M.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1897.

On Monday President McKinley sent a message to Congress calling attention to the destitution of Americans in Cuba and urging an appropriation for their relief. A bill was at once introduced appropriating $50,000 for this purpose.

They had an elopement at Shelbyville, Ind., the other day, when with her fascinating wiles Orma Gothman, aged 73, captured August Bush, aged 77, gave her children the slip and ran away with him and married him. When young people determine to marry they will find some way to get spliced.

The country can breathe a little easier now, having gotten two Senatorial contest off its hands—Kentucky and Florida. It is remarkable what "tie-ups" can be developed in races for the Senate in these latter days. If the Senators were elected by the people there would be less of these squabbles and more satisfactory results.

It is getting to be a dull day around the State capitol when the Governor does not pardon a criminal, and some days he turns them loose in pairs. If we remember correctly, in his campaign speeches and also in his inaugural address the Governor had much to say about respecting the law, yet his course in pardoning criminals indiscriminately goes a long ways in creating an opposite sentiment among the people. This one man pardoning power ought to be abolished.

Ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker is also among the disappointed. He has not yet seen the prosperity which was guaranteed to follow the election of McKinley, and in a speech before the Business Men's League of Philadelphia last Friday night he threatened the Republicans with a new political party. This is but one of the manifestations of the times. Popular discontent on account of the business conditions is even greater than it was last year, and unless there is a change for the better within the next eighteen months the Republican party will be swept off the earth in the congressional elections of 1898.—Charlotte Observer.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

The unveiling of the bronze statue of Washington at Philadelphia Saturday, and the eulogy pronounced upon the first President by the last one in the chain, bring promptly to the front again this great and typical American. There are two views of Washington. One represents him as being an ordinary man of average intelligence made great by force of circumstances. The other represents him as an heroic figure living in heroic times—a man sought out of many great men to guide his country in times of crisis, both in war and peace; the strongest out of many strong. The latter view is doubtless the true view. Washington's great modesty has caused him to be underestimated by many. He never accepted a position of trust to which he was called without shrinking; and yet he never failed to rise to the heights of his opportunities. In his subordination of self to the interests of the people of the nation he led in creating, he set a precedent that has helped to make the nation strong. This was his chief characteristic as a public man, and it has been and will be an inspiration to the youth of the country who study his noble character in the hope of learning to be themselves, in their day and generation, of some service to their country. Against the selfish tendency of men, observable today, to use the government and its Treasury to further their private gain, this trait of Washington's character is an everlasting protest. It gained for him the confidence of his compeers, the love of his people, and the admiration of the world. There can be no doubt that Washington was a big-brained man. A study of his life will make it evident. Using his mental endowments to the best purpose during his career of unselfish public service, he justly became "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen"—Charlotte Observer.

SECRET ORGANIZATIONS.

The growth of secret organizations in the United States during the present century has been remarkable. In view of the hostility which these mystic brotherhoods were regarded by the country at large some fifty or seventy-five years ago the figures presented by the last fraternal census are all the more surprising.

In the various secret organizations of the United States and Canada, according to the latest available returns, there are 5,071,414 members. The largest of these organizations is the Odd Fellows, with 951,144 members enrolled. Next comes the Masonic fraternity with 935,45 and the Knights of Pythias with 464,539. In view of the phenomenal growth of American Odd-fellowship, which now heads the list of secret organizations in this country, it is gratifying to know that the brotherhood originated in Baltimore, Md., only seventy-eight years ago. From a small group only five members in 1819, the mystic circle has grown until it now embraces the entire continent, and numbers upon its rolls nearly a million members.

A writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger states that since 1830 the independent Order of Odd Fellows in this country has disbursed in charity not less than $72,280,702.

What is true of Oddfellowship is also true in a greater or less degree of other secret organizations, and the country could ill afford to do without them.

Make It Pay.

If advertisements are not read it is the fault of the advertisers. They must be made interesting. Brains pay as well in the advertising columns as on the editorial page. The lack of judgment and knowledge in the advertising columns is why so many ads fail to attract attention and draw trade. Farm your space diligently, carefully, thoughtfully. Make it pay you.—Merchants' Gazette.

The Work of the Newspaper.

An appreciative reader of the Gastonia Gazette, in remitting his subscription to that paper says:

I believe the newspapers are doing more to enlighten our people and get them on a higher plane than any other cause. Wherever there is a family rearing up children with newspapers in the house you can usually see much intelligence. Every family ought to get a Bible first and a newspaper next in order to be happy. Parents ought to get a paper for each of their children and have it sent in their children's name.

This reminds the Landmark that an Iredell school teacher some years ago told the editor of this paper that he found, in his teaching experience, that children who read newspapers were much better informed on all subjects and more easily taught than those who did not; and so much impressed was he with this fact that he made it a habit to advise his pupils to read newspapers and if their parents were not subscribers to papers and couldn't be persuaded to become subscribers, then he urged the children to take papers themselves if they could by any means get the money to pay for them. Some day—the time may come after the present generation of editors is dead, but we believe it will come—the true value of newspapers will be duly appreciated. Their importance as educational factors is now appreciated by many people, it is true, but there is yet a large class without the pale.—The Statesville Landmark.

Trying to Kill Opposition.

Last Thursday night, John E. Crymes, a popular young man of Waynesville, N. C., was shot at from ambush. Three shots were fired at him, all passing through his clothing, but none taking effect.

Charles Davis has been arrested on suspicion. Davis' father and young Crymes are applicants for the Waynesville postoffice, and it is thought young Davis wanted to put his father's opponent out of the way.

Get-There Girls in Kansas!

Your Kansas girl is pluck and all business from the sole of her No. 2 shoe to the crown of her curly head. The other day Miss Ethel Hopkinson started from Corning to Seneca to take the examination for teachers. Reaching a stream which had been swollen by the floods, her team and buggy were washed away. She kept her head, however, and the horses managed to swim out on the other side, after floating quite a distance down the stream, though all the time the buggy was so far below the surface that the water came up to her armpits. Once on the bank, she drove hurriedly into Seneca, borrowed some dry clothes from an acquaintance, ran over to the court house, took the examination, and triumphantly bore off a first grade certificate. If the Greeks had this kind of ginger, old Turkey's bones would be picked bare.

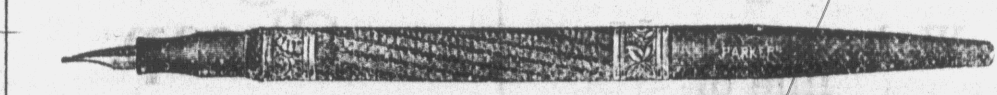

Fight Over a Watershed.

You often hear of trouble with the mother in law, but a story comes from out near Waughtown, where a father in law gets into trouble. It appears that Mr. Isalah-Jones lives on one side of the road and his son Joe Jones on the other side, just opposite. The old gentleman a few days ago burned the "wask" in the road off of his own yard onto the yard of his son. Mrs. Joe Jones turned it back and forbade the old man meddling with it further. He did not obey the injunction and while he was filling up the ditch in his direction and opening up one on his sons premises, his daughter in law took a good, smooth stone and laid the old fellow out. She thought at first she had killed him, but he came round all right bye and bye.—Winston Journal.
