C. T. MUNFORD.

Base Ball.

New York, June 16—Rusie was an easy mark for the Indians today. Big, brave Seokalexis started the run getting in the first inning by putting one outside of Tiernan's reach, making the circuit of the bases. Score. New York; 2; Cleveland 7.

Philadelphia, June 16—The Phillies defeated St. Louis' Browns' this afternoon. Six ex-Philadelphia players were included in the visitors' batting list, and up to the seventh inning it looked as though they would pull out a victory. Toward the close, however the locals caught on to Carsey's delivery, making seven of their eleven hits in the last three innings. Score. Philadelphia 8; St. Louis 7.

Brooklyn, June 16—The first game of the present series between Cincinnati and Brooklyn was played at Eastern park this afternoon, and was easily won by the Reds. They had a regular picnic, especially in the second inning, when they rolled up a round dozen runs. Score. Brooklyn, 6; Cincinnati, 15.

Baltimore, June, 16—The Champions defeated the Pirates in a one-sided game; Hastings was substituted for Killen in the first, after the latter had given a base on balls, hit a batsman and made a wild pitch. Hastings pitched steadily after the fourth, but the damage had been done. The playing of Davis and Jennings were the features. Score. Baltimore, 10; Pittsburgh, 3.

Boston, June 16—The Chicagos proved easy victims today. The Bostons by strong and steady piling up 14 runs. The visitors could not bat Nichols, and only in the fifth inning were as many as two hits made off him. Score. Boston, 14; Chicago, 3.

Washington, June 16—The Senators bunched hits on Cunningham today and won the game. The Colonel's six raps were scattered. The game was remarkably fast, lasting only an hour and a half. The Louisville management today released Pitcher Hemming and Jimmy Rogers. Clark was made captain manager of the team. Score. Washington, 4; Louisville, 2.

Too Much Electricity.

Manager Atkins says the lightning today did more damage to 'phones than at any time since the exchange was put in. If people would cut their 'phones off when a thunder storm comes up the damage might be avoided.

FIRE AT WINTERVILLE.

Gin House Burned and Other Buildings Narrowly Escape—Two Men Prostrated.

The Home Visitor at Winterville is kind enough to send the REFLECTOR a galley proof of a fire which occurred in that village Thursday afternoon.

The fire was discovered about 2:30 in the gin house connected with the Carroll Mfg. Co's mill, and was so far advanced that it could not be put out. A large number of people from the near by community were attracted by the alarm, and by hard work they saved all the surrounding buildings, nothing but the gin house and contents being destroyed. The total loss amounts to about $500. A. G. Cox's loss on gin $400, Carroll Mfg. Co. on building $100.

This is the first fire Winterville has had. It is supposed to have started by a spark from the saw mill. G. W. Parker and G. R. Dixon were both prostrated with the heat and overwork and had to have medical attention.

THURSDAY'S STORM.

Crops Damaged in Some Sections.

In some portions of the county the rain of Thursday afternoon was accompanied by much wind and some hail.

Around Greenville there was only a nice rain and everything was benefitted. We get similar reports from Pactolus and Falkland.

Over in the Great Swamp section some hail also fell but not enough to do material damage.

Up in the Farmville neighborhood there was hail and hard wind that was especially severe along the creek. Mr W. M. Lang 'phoned the REFLECTOR that he thought some tobacco crops were damaged 25 per cent.

Out in Beaver Dam the storm was quite severe. Mr. C.D-Smith 'phoned us a report from that section that tobacco crops are badly damaged and much fencing blown down. The crops of J. L. Smith and F. M. Smith are half ruined, and Ivy Smith suffered nearly as much loss. The worst part of the storm seemed to strike their neighborhood.

STATE NEWS.

The postoffice at Taylorsville was robbed Tuesday night. The safe was blown open and about $1,000 taken.

Mrs. J. Rumble, aged 90 years, died near Charlotte on Wednesday, says the Observer.

The assistant postmaster at Aulander has been arrested for embezzling money order funds.

On the Gas Boat.

Fred Forbes, Earnest Forbes, Gus Forbes, Frank Cowell, John I. Smith, J. H. Chesk, Pat Foley, Henry Hooker, Herbert White and George Woodward went to Washington yesterday to see a game of ball and returned today. The result of the game was Washington 8, Henderson 7.

FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1897.

GREENVILLE THE QUEEN OF THE "NEW GOLDEN BELT."

Will Start off on the '97 Crop Under More Favorable Auspices Than Ever Before.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Never before since the first load of tobacco was ever hauled to Greenville has there been made such manifest preparations to handle the tobacco crop as there is this year. Realizing their utter dependence upon the tobacco fields of Eastern Carolina exporters and dealers on the other markets have for the last three years gradually been moving eastward.

I know of more than one large exporter in Danville who until within the last few years never had placed an order outside the Danville market and the tendency of nearly all the dealers very naturally was to keep their orders at home, but with the increase of business they have been forced to widen out and extend their operations beyond their own market and in casting around for new fields the eastern markets have been the favored ones because we produce down here a superior bright tobacco—a tobacco finer in texture and better color than any other tobacco known to the trade.

Greenville occupies a central position to the Eastern North Carolina markets and is right in the heart of the far famed bright tobacco belt, this gives it a commanding position among the other markets and in many respects superior advantages. Our people have been very conservative and even slow in pushing the advantages of our market hence there has not been half so much said about Greenville, as there has been about some of our neighbors, but enough has been said and done to let the trade know what we had, and whatever we may have lacked in properly pushing our claims, we certainly have the consciousness of knowing that we have not allowed our zeal for the work in which we were engaged to carry us off our balance and mislead others by false representations or other wise, and though we may be open to criticism for the lack of the proper spirit of enterprise yet our errors if we have made any in this matter are on the side of conservatism, and having stepped slowly overground unknown we can only hope that the future may speedily unfold and expose the defects that they may be quickly and easily removed.

NEW BUYERS.

In addition to our already clever, able and liberal corps of buyers there will be added this year several more of the largest dealers known to the tobacco trade that it can be readily seen will place Greenville on the level with any North Carolina market. Mr. Hugh W. Halcombe, many years buyer for Dibrall Bros., on the Danville market, and Mr. Smith's younger brother of the genial and clever, E. W. Smith, of Rocky Mount, have associated themselves together and will locate on the Greenville market. These young men are well and favorably known to the tobacco trade and their coming will be a great addition to the Greenville market.

Messrs. Strause Bros have rented a factory and will be located permanently in Greenville this year. Strause Bros. are large buyers of fancy wrappers especially and they are coming to Greenville to look for them. We are glad indeed to have the pleasure of extending to these gentlemen our heartiest welcome and sincerely trust that we may make a large crop of that grade of tobacco of which they make a specialty—bright wrappers.

Messrs. M. P. Jordan & Co. have rented the factory formerly occupied by the American Tobacco Co. and will be located in Greenville this year. This is an old and well established concern and will add much strength to the market.

When it is taken into consideration that Greenville already has as strong and able a corps of buyers as any other eastern market, nearly every one of whom is enlarging his capacity, a glance will convince the most sceptical that Greenville is destined to be a great market.

To the writer it is indeed gratifying to see these permanent improvements being daily added to the market's resources and to realize beyond a question of doubt that what he predicted and told and told again through these columns four or five years ago is every word, and more too, being daily fulfilled.

I said then and I repeat today there is no earthly reason with the proper spirit of co-operation and enterprise why we cannot make Greenville the leading city of Eastern North Carolina. Our natural resources are almost inexhaustible and our advantages unsurpassed. We have a climate that is conducive to health and vigor, our soils are deep and in the most part fertile. Where they are sterile they will quickly respond to fertilization and kind treatment and our tobacco, from which alone we might build a hustling city, is unrivalled the wide world over. But no one man nor dozen men can do this. It will require the united and concerted action of the whole people to achieve the greatest success in any public enterprise. However, all these things may be accomplished in time just as the tobacco market has by slow accretion. At any rate we can truly boast of Greenville as the Queen City of the "New Golden Belt."

Spain in America.

The prospective independence of Cuba suggests a contrast between the colossal possessions of Spain in America at the beginning of the present century and the small area remaining under her rule.

In 1800 Spain possessed over two-thirds of the present area of the United States, all Mexico and Central America, and all of South America except Brazil and the Guineas; also the more important of the West India Islands. Her American possessions in square miles were as follows:

In the United States	2,196,000
Mexico	747,900
Central America	180,750
In South America	4,071,978
In the West Indies	67,815

Total 7,266,505

This is a total area double that of all Europe. The Spanish possessions in the United States were of three classes—Louisiana Territory, New Spain and the Floridas.

Louisiana Territory, possessed by the French for nearly a century, was in 1763, ceded to Spain, and held by the latter until 1800, when she receded it to France. In 1803, it was purchased by the United States. It comprised all the states west of the Mississippi except those acquired from Mexico and the republic of Texas.

New Spain comprised Mexico and the acquisitions from Mexico just mentioned, viz: California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Indian Territory,

Oklahoma and most of Colorado. It was under Spanish rule for just 300 years, or from 1521, the date of the conquest of Mexico by Cortez, until 1821, when Mexico became an independent republic. It was known as the Kingdom of New Spain, and was governed by Viceroy. It is truly a marvelous country, as shown in its yield of precious metals. Its total product of gold and silver from 1521 to 1895, inclusive, has been over $6,000,000,000.

Add to this enormous sum the product of gold and silver in Peru and other parts of South and Central America, and one can get some idea of the importance of the country so long ruled by Spain.

But all this is a matter of the past, for today Spain has no remaining foothold upon the American continent, and none in the surrounding islands, except Cuba and Porto Rico.

Out of the territory she possessed in 1800, the United States has more than doubled its area, and eighteen sister republics have been created, viz: Mexico, five in Central America, ten in South America and two in the West Indies.

It is safe to predict that two more will soon be added to the list.

America for American republics is manifest destiny.

The Editor's Foes.

We have been there and are still there, as we have the courage of our conviction, and dare to speak out in meeting and fully concur in the following from the Fair Bluff Times: "A newspaper without enemies is scarcely deserving of friends. The vicious and lawless never like a bold, fearless newspaper, and every self respecting publisher should be proud of their enmity. There are other newspaper foes, however, who are more troublesome and consequently more to be feared. First and foremost is the man who owes a newspaper an honest debt and will not pay it. Then there is the ambitious mortal who wants an office and complains because the newspaper cannot consistently champion his cause; he is pretty likely to become an enemy. The man who wants to shape the policy of a paper and is not allowed to do so, is a sure enemy. But the meanest enemy is the man whom a newspaper has befriended, and who deliberately condemns the sheet after securing from it all the assistance he possibly can."

THE THREE AGES OF MAN.

He swore that for true love he'd marry;
In a cottage he'd much rather tarry
With his love by his side,
Then take for his bride
A girl who had millions to carry.
He was twenty.
Years passed; he was thirty and single,
In society's gay whirl he'd mingled;
He had loved half a score,
He was loving once more—
A lass? No. Her coins' golden jingle.
He was thirty.
A bachelor still, the old sinner!
Met a maiden and tried hard to win her,
Not because she was fair
Or had money to spare,
But—because she could order a dinner,
He was forty.

—W. O. Key Stout in What to Eat

Let neither townspeople nor country people envy each other, nor be inimical the one towards the other, for here is need for the work and spheres of all. There is sometimes a disposition on the part of the country people to feel jealous when the town flourishes but it ought not to be so. Whenever towns flourish the country will flourish. Every extra dollar made and accumulated in the town makes a new chance for the countryman to sell more readily what he may bring to market. And the country people, the farmers, are as much benefited by the prosperity of the town as are the townspeople.—Durham Sun.
