SCHOOL COMMITTEEMEN.

A Negro in Each Township—One Member Declined to Vote to Ratify.

The Board of Education were nearly all day Tuesday selecting the school committeemen for the eleven districts in the county. Under the new law old district lines are abolished and each township now constitutes a school district. Five committeemen are appointed in each of these and they have charge of all the schools in their respective townships.

The colored brother was somewhat a thorn in the way of the Board and caused some hesitation about making appointments. To ignore him entirely might stave off the possibility of his being used again to advantage when next voting time comes, and too many of him on the committees might cause a rupture and trouble, because of the fact that under this great new law the white and colored committeemen work together and the colored member has just as much voice in controlling the white schools as does the white member. There was some talk of putting two negroes on in certain townships, but finally the compromise was made of just tacking on one in each, right straight through.

After the list was all made out it was placed before the Board for ratification, when one member, Jesse Cannon declined to vote for it, his reason being that he could not vote for the negroes. The majority of the Board being against him, the list was ratified.

Following are the names of the committeemen:

Beaver Dam—Joshua W. Smith, Joab Tyson, S. P. Erwin, Henry B. Turner, George W. Hemby, col.

Belvoir—Jesse B. Bullock, J. T. Hodges, Nathan Stancill, W. H. Reeves E. P. Norris, col.

Got His Dog.

Mr. E. B. Ficklen has recovered his pointer dog which was stolen from him in Danville last week. Before leaving that city he offered a liberal reward for the recovery of the dog, and the animal came to him by express Monday night.

Long Trip Awheel.

J. C. Greene came in from Norfolk today to visit his mother. He came most of the trip on his bicycle. He left Suffolk about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, rode as far as Kelford where he spent the night. This morning he completed the trip and reached Greenville by noon. He says the worst part of the trip was walking the long trees across Roanoke river.

THE POOR CAN LOVE.

Though Deprived by Poverty of Other Joys,

The old saying has been often repeated that "Love laughs at locksmiths." Love has even been known to unlock prison doors, and an instance has just occurred here which shows that it can also remove paupers from the poor house.

A few weeks since a young man named James Rawls was taken sick. He was a stranger, and seemed to have no home and no friends. The physician who was called to him secured his admission to the County Home, and he was carried there. In due time young Rawls regained his health, and it seems while there he fell in love with Miss Mary Briley, another inmate of the Home, and gained her love as well.

Tuesday he informed Superintendent Bryan that he was ready to leave the Home, and if allowed to do so he would take Miss Briley with him and assume the responsibility of providing for her in future. The Superintendent informed him if he could show himself capable of caring for the young lady he would give them both a discharge and they could get married. It developed that the young man had about $50 in money and he also claimed to have some land in Beaufort county.

Today Superintendent Bryan gave them a discharge, brought the couple to town, and himself applied to Register of Deeds Perkins for a marriage license for them. The couple then went to the Superior Court Clerk's office where they were married by Justice of the Peace R. S. Evans.

The ceremony had an amusing feature about it. When the usual form had been completed and the couple pronounced man and wife, they still held on to each other's hand and looked for more. The Justice closed his book and remarked "Well, I guess that's the end of it." This caused Clerk Moye to burst out in a laugh and said "I expect you ought to have told them it is just the beginning."

The couple received congratulations and took their departure.

Bicycle Path

There are forty-eight wheels in use in Greenville. I expect this number to be doubled in less than a year. Our streets are poor for riding the bicycle.

Wheelmen, let's have a track? Why not build a double track from Five Points to the county gate on the old Plank road. It could be done at a reasonable cost by using this patent paving material now being made in this county. A track of that material four feet wide, would be a fine place for the health giving wheel. If all owners of wheels will share it, then the cost would be light to each one, and they would actually get such cost back in less than a year by saving the wear and tear on the Bicycle. Riders of wheels, what do you say? Let us get together and devise some plan to get a path.

WHEELMAN.

Clean Your Cemetery Lot.

Councilman A. J. Griffin, who is in charge of Cherry Hill Cemetery, has just had the trees in the enclosure trimmed and whitewashed, and the walks all cleaned off. He says if the lot owners will now have their lots cleaned the cemetery will present a much more attractive appearance. However, he requests that all who clean their lots will remove the rubbish and not throw it in the walks.

Business Failures.

Business failures in the second quarter of the present year involved liabilities to an aggregate of $43,684,876—a larger amount than that of the corresponding period in any other year since 1893. The increase was due to the April crash among the New Bedford cotton mills; and but for these additions the amount involved in the quarter's failures would have been smaller than that of any recent year. Without the cotton mill failures the current returns of the commercial agencies might be considered highly encouraging. According to R. G. Dun & Co., these exceptional failures in one month exceed those in cotton manufacturing in the whole country for three entire previous years.

Considered in the light of this statement the failure list indicates a tendency to greater solvency in general business. The worst disasters of the quarter and of the half year were due to the effects of the depression and losses of previous years, from which many had not had time to recover. With improving business conditions throughout the country the subsequent records of commercial insolvencies should steadily become more favorable.—Philadelphia Record.

The Origin of Trusts.

According to the report of a recent interview in a New York paper, John Sherman has announced that he is opposed to trusts and other combinations in restraint of trade. Such an announcement, coming from John Sherman, may mean that he is in favor of them. Those who are familiar with his public career know that no confidence can be placed in any statement he may make. This, which was true of him in his prime, is doubly true now that the shadows of old age and oblivion are gathering over his mind and memory.

Mr. Sherman is the author of the secret legislation which demonetized silver, and which has made trusts in this country possible. He now says that the anti-trust law can be so amended as to destroy the trusts, but this is a statement that means nothing. Trusts are the natural outcome of the contraction of business, trade and profits due to the contraction of currency. The theory that a prohibitive law can be made effective is a fallacy on the face of it, for currency contraction drives all business and all capital into concentrated channels, and this movement is, in the nature of things, irresistible.

KEEP COOL.

P. L. STANTON.

Never mind how many times may go—
Just keep cool!
When the breeze has ceased to blow
And the sun melts all below,
Stop! and watch the melons grow—
Just keep cool!

Never mind if money's tight—
Just keep cool!
When you're toiling day and night
And there's not a dime in sight,
Hear the birds sing, right and left—
Just keep cool!

Never mind a single thing—
Just keep cool!
If you sigh you cannot sing—
Cannot hear the bells that ring:
May 'be twon't be hot next spring—
Just keep cool!

Why Smokestacks Escape.

Statistics show that of 10,000 smokestacks only three are struck by lightning each year, while of 10,000 church spires sixty-seven, and of 10,000 windmills out annually. An endeavor has been made to explain this condition by the fact that the smoke discharged from the smokestacks takes the electricity assembled around the building along and distributes it in the air, whereby the source of attraction for the electric spark of lightning is not only diminished, but almost disappears. This fact also explains, it is said, why people in the country kindle a large fire in the fireplace when a thunderstorm is approaching.

Prayer for Rain.

At the opening of Sunday morning's service at the Episcopal church Rev. Dr. F. J. Murdoch offered up in his prayer a petition for rain. Before the services were concluded it was raining. Dr. Murdoch then offered up a prayer in thanks for the rain. The incident created considerable comment among those who were present.—Salisbury World.

Possibly it has been reserved for a Hillsdale (N. J.) Methodist parson to solve the problem of "systematic beneficence." He has adopted the plan of having the collection taken up by the handsomest and most popular young ladies of the flock. The young men are in desperate straits. They must either give up going to church altogether, which won't help them with the young ladies, or they must "do the proper thing" when the basket and the belle come around. Temporarily, at least, there is a great increase visible in the collections.—Church Economist.

The arrangement for the exchange of weather reports between the United States and Mexico at last cuts one reciprocity gateway through the Mexican border, with the result that Mexico will give us early tips of approaching cyclones and the like. This courtesy will be repaid with timely tidings of cold waves dropping down from the northwest. A system so beneficent and so inexpensive ought to have international extension around the globe.

At Crooksville, Ohio, a few days ago J. J. McFarland dropped dead on the street from apoplexy. While C. W. Watts, undertaker, and David Miller, barber, were preparing the corpse for burial lightning struck the house and killed Miller and Ralph McFarland, the nine-year-old son of Mr. McFarland, and seriously injured Undertaker Watts.

Base Ball.

Philadelphia, July 5.—Boston beat the Phillies out in the ninth inning this morning on hits by Duffy and Stahl, a double steal and Lowe's single. The game was prettily played and interesting throughout. The pitching of both Lewis and Orth was all right. Attendance 6,611. Score. Philadelphia, 2; Boston, 3.
Second game—Philadelphia, 5; Boston, 8.

New York, July 5.—New York put a most beautiful coat of whitewash on the players from over the river in a long drawn out game at the polo grounds this morning. Payne was an easy mark. Rusie pitched a beautiful game, only three hits being made off his delivery up to the seventh and no man getting past the second bag. Sullivan relieved him in the eighth and, although he gave three bases on balls, no hits were made off him. The features of the game was the playing of Gleason. Attendance 5,000. Score. New York, 10; Brooklyn, 0.

Second game—New York, 3; Brooklyn, 4.

Pittsburg, July 5.—There were close decisions and a new umpire and this made the morning game a snappy one. It was won by Cleveland in the seventh on hits by Burkett and McKean. Attendance 5,500. Score. Pittsburg, 3; Cleveland, 4.

Second game—Pittsburg 6; Cleveland, 1.

Chicago, July 5.—Costly errors in the seventh and a bunching of hits in the eighth gave the morning game, which was loosely played, to the Colts. Attendance 2,700. Score. Chicago, 6; Washington, 4.

Second game—Chicago, 0; Washington, 4.

Cincinnati, July 5.—The Orioles were defeated this morning by the Reds in an exciting game. Hoffer pitched fine ball until the seventh inning, when the Reds made three singles and brought home three runs. He was immediately taken out and Nops sent to slab. The latter was touched up for five singles and a double in the eighth and four runs was the result. Peitz was sent to the bench by Umpire Lynch for kicking and Shriver took his place behind the bat. Rhines was relieved by Ehret in the ninth inning. Attendance 11,000. Score. Cincinnati, 8; Baltimore, 5.

Louisville, July 5.—But one game was played here today, the one scheduled for this morning having been decided yesterday. The Browns looked like winners in the early part of the game this afternoon, but the Colonels braced up and managed to tie the score in the eighth and won out in the ninth. Donohue was substituted for Hart during the ninth inning. Attendance 4,000. Score. St. Louis, 6; Louisville, 7.

FIRST ROCK SALT MINE.

Its Discovery Was the Result of Accident Rather Than Design.

"I really believe that many of the greatest discoveries are the result of pure accident, and this applies not only to scientific facts, but also to more material matters," remarked General Dudley Avery. "Accident brought the great salt deposit on Avery's island to light after its croppings had been worked for nearly half a century. My grandfather sold salt years before the war, and my father in his youth followed the same methods of production, even after his father's time, but it remained for my brother John, then a boy of 16, to really make manifest the remarkable advantages which the island possessed in the matter of rock salt mining. It was during the war. Salt was selling in New Orleans for $11 a sack. This was at a period when the salt works of the island were not being made use of. You see, my grandfather manufactured salt by digging wells, into which the salt water flowed in great quantities, and this water he boiled, evaporating the moisture and causing a residue of fine salt.

"When my brother learned of the high price of salt in New Orleans, he went to my father, then practicing law in Baton Rouge, and suggested that he be given permission to work the then abandoned wells and make pin money for himself. There was no objection, and with the assistance of several slaves John proceeded to open the old wells by clearing out the accumulation of debris and boiling the brine, as his grandfather had done years before him.

"He opened a number of new wells and was soon selling salt at a great rate, but the demand increased, and he decided to open a big well some 10 feet square. The work proceeded, but the usual depth was reached with no result. The water did not flow. He concluded to dig deeper, and at 16 feet came upon what the negro diggers said was an old stump. Failing to chop the 'stump' with an ax, the negro concluded he had struck a bed of rock, and when my brother descended into the excavation he managed, with a cold chisel, to cut out a piece of what he thought was transparent rock. My father, however, who happened to be on the island at the time, knew what had been discovered, and in the course of a little while the wonder of the discovery had been noised all over the country.

"Thus was discovered the first rock salt deposit in the south, and a few months after that time a dozen shafts were being worked in a crude way, and we were shipping salt to Richmond in great quantities, at least great for that period in the world's history. Work has progressed almost steadily since that time, and we are shortly to begin a new shaft, which will go deeper than ever—in fact, drop beneath the old workings, although this is not necessary, because we can tap the deposit where we choose."—New Tyranny of French Magistrates.

The Frenchman who believes himself to be independent, a reformer, and given to incredulity, still preserves a faith and a superstition—a superstition in the forms of justice as they are practiced in France; an absolute faith in every man who, temporarily or habitually, discharges the duties of a magistrate. The bourgeoisie and the people have brought about revolutions, erected barricades, poured out their blood in overturning four thrones within a century, but, nevertheless, submit without protest to the tyranny of some hundreds of men who are examining magistrates. These magistrates are answerable to themselves alone, and the law delivers into their hands, without any responsibility, the life, liberty and honor of their fellow citizens. Any man whose life may be blameless, should he be accused by the most degraded of beings, comes under their jurisdiction. At a word from them he is cut off from the rest of the world, imprisoned in a dungeon, becomes a slave, the victim of an inquisitor with unlimited powers.

It is through this inquisitor that his friends are acquainted of the accusation against him, that the public press is informed and public opinion instructed. He can obtain no lawyer to defend him until the day of trial, when he appears in court to listen to a clerk read the proposal that he be condemned to isolation, or to examination by a crafty and unscrupulous cross questioner, the nature of whose office has destroyed in him all sense of morality.—Vindex in Forum.

DR. DOWLING'S REPORT.

The Toledo Blade tells this anecdote of the Rev. Dr. George T. Dowling, Episcopal, of that city, who used to be a Baptist minister. He was in Atlanta not long after he joined the Episcopal church, and happened to meet a Baptist minister, who somewhat bewailed the fact of the loss of three good men. Said he:

"Doctor, will you tell me how our denomination can keep such men as Dr. Behrends, Dr. Moxom and yourself from jumping over the fence?"

"I am sure I can't tell," said Dr. Dowling, with a twinkle in his eye, "unless you make your denomination void of offense."

A Mean Speech.
"Martha, listen! There's a new machine invented that records the action of the brain."
"Well, you needn't fool any money away on it. It wouldn't be worth a cent."—Detroit Free Press.
