TOBACCO ACREAGE AND CONDITION.

Letters from Prominent Farmers Concerning the 1897 Crop.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Below will be found additional letters bearing on the tobacco crop and acreage.

WILLOW GREEN, N. C., July 6, '97.
O. L. JOYNER, ESQ.,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—Yours received. I think it a good idea. There is a decrease in the acreage in this section of at least 25 per cent if not more. Drouth has damaged the crop at least 30 per cent; in some sections of the county the damage by drouth is at least 50 per cent. I was in Snow Hill Monday and saw farmers from all parts of the county and they all agree that the tobacco crop is very poor. Should the rains set in now I am of the opinion that there would be but little change in some of the tobacco crops in this county. I heard a very prominent farmer say the rain could not do his crop any good now, it was too far gone.

Taking the crop as a whole in my county it is very poor. I don't think I should miss it far were I to say there will not be over half a crop made in this county. During the month of June we had but very little rain. Some of the farmers commenced priming last week. It can't be ripe, it is just parched up from the drouth.

F. T. CARR.

ORMONDSVILLE, N. C., July 7, '97.
MR. O. L. JOYNER,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your inquiry of July 1st, as to the reduction in the acreage and the condition of the tobacco crop in our section as compared with last year of this date: We will have to say that the comparison is so wide that it may seem incredible. We think the decrease must be as much as 20 per cent. and the condition is far below last year, as much in our opinion as 33 per cent and some cases 50 per cent caused by the continued cool weather in the late spring followed by extreme dryness, causing premature growth and forcing the plant to the barns without life or size to the leaf, and if rain does not come soon it will be hard to tell what the result will be.

TURNAGE & ORMOND.

FARMVILLE, N. C., July 8th, '97.
O. L. JOYNER, ESQ.,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of a few days ago to hand and I would have answered sooner but have been making some inquiries among the farmers so as to enable me to better answer your question. In reply would state that the acreage in tobacco is fully 20 per cent short from last year, while the condition of present crop could not possibly be less than 25 if not 33 per cent short of last year, owing perhaps to the late cold spring and the recent drought, and I might add that if we have no rain soon the tobacco will suffer all the more for it is a crop that improves fast or fails fast according to the seasons. There are several barns where the furnace fires will not be lighted at all this year and without better prices than we've had the past two years there will be many more unused in the years to come.

Base Ball.

Chicago, July 9.—The Bostons were again defeated today, in a close but loosely played game. Lewis was batted hard, while but little could be done with Friend. Both captains were fined and sent to the bench in the seventh, owing to a heated argument with Lynch. Score. Chicago, 8; Boston, 7.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 9.—The game was too one sided to be interesting. Pittsburg's errors and slow fielding were very costly, while New York's fielding was excellent. Hawley did well until the eighth, when four of the visitors earned runs were scored. Score. Pittsburg, 1; New York, 9.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—The Browns got back at Brooklyn today. It was extremely hot, and players Grady and A. Smith were overcome by the heat, retiring from the game. Causey pitched gilt edge ball, and was faultlessly supported. Cross's home run in the third started the fireworks going. Score. St. Louis, 8; Brooklyn, 3.

Louisville, Ky., July 8.—Hili pitched a poor game this afternoon, and the Orioles were easy winners. Blackburn was very effective, and his support was good. Dexter, in sliding to third in the sixth inning, spiked McGraw, and he retired in favor of Quinn. Score. Louisville, 4; Baltimore, 9.

Cincinnati, O., July 9.—The Philles defeated the Reds easily today. The latter had in three pitchers, but could not stop the visitors. Umpire Hurst put both Boyle and Beckley out of the game for kicking. Score. Cincinnati, 7; Philadelphia, 19.

The Eastern Warehouse.

No one interested in selling tobacco will overlook the advertisement of the Eastern Warehouse. With Old Man Gus, Olthus Joyner and Oscar Hooker at the helm, they expect to go right on leading the record for high prices and in number of pounds sold. For capacity, good lights, high prices, prompt attention, fair and square dealing, you will find the Eastern Warehouse occupying the front seat of the hard wagon.

Cigar Factory.

At the bustling little town of Winterville, this county, a cigar factory was recently put in operation by the Winterville Cigar Company. This company is composed of several substantial and enterprising men of that community with Mr. A. G. Cox at the head. They are making several grades of cigars—cheap, medium and fine—and they are the equal in quality and appearance of the best city made goods. This enterprise ought to meet with a liberal patronage.

N. & I. College.

Every young woman is interested in the advertisement of the Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro, which will be found in another column. This school offers advantages for woman that can be had nowhere else. Write to President Melver for catalogue.

MONDAY, JULY 12, 1897.

RE-ALIGNMENT WILL RESULT.

It seems to be understood that the influence which called and dominated the Populist conference which has been in session at Nashville, Tenn., this week, will control the next Populist national convention. This conference minimized the importance of the silver question, and showed the long-time Populist friendliness for the issue of large quantities of irredeemable paper money. It declared also for the "initiative and referendum" and the "imperative mandate," and against fusion with any other party.

It has all the while been characteristic of the leaders of the Populist party that whenever they thought they were about to get what they were clamoring for they suddenly discovered that they didn't want that but something else. They have brought the Democratic party to its knees on the silver question, and unless there is a radical recovery from the present condition of popular discontent, the free silver proposition will prevail in the election of 1900. Now the Populist leaders do not want anything that can be had. They flourish by stirring up the people and exciting their hopes of impossible things. Hence we have occasionally found them saying that free silver is only one of our reforms—as much as to suggest that it was a very small one at that; and now this Nashville conference has practically relegated it to the rear.

This conference and the attitude taken upon the coinage question, will, it is not unlikely, exercise a far reaching influence upon the future of the Populist party, and perhaps upon the future of politics in the country at large. There are a great many honest Populists who believe in free silver with all their hearts, and these, seeing themselves separated from those of their brethren of whom the Nashville conference was representative, must in reason connect themselves with the Democratic party. They could expect but little from a united Populist party, so feeble was it at best. With the party split in two no hope of its accomplishing anything whatever can be entertained. The free silver Democratic party may therefore reasonably look for large accessions from honest Populists who really want free silver, and along with these will come trooping a lot of leaders who want to get back anyway—they have cropped all the grass in the Populist pasture, and are looking for new fields. Whether these recruits will come in as members of the free silver Democratic party or whether it will get their co-operation through the medium of fusion, the result will be the same: the Chicago Democracy is strengthened by the proceedings at Nashville. As for the Nashville element, it will conduct a side show through the next campaign, or perhaps the next two campaigns, after which it will go out of business.—Charlotte Observer.

It Violates the Constitution.

Will you kindly publish in your columns the following criticism on the Act to encourage local taxation for public Schools? how so much discussed. It is chapter 421 of the 1897, and is on page 605 of said acts as published.

The preamble reads as follows: "Whereas, This General Assembly has, by raising the rate of school tax from 18 to 20 cents already provided an increase of $50,000 to the common school fund of the State.

"Now as the Supreme Court has decided that section 3 of the Revenue Act, which raised the school tax from 18 to 20 cents was unconstitutional and void, this preamble becomes an incorrect statement of fact and falls to the ground.

"2. The money to pay the $500 bonus cannot constitutionally be taken from the general fund, because the constitution in express terms forbids it. Section 7, Article 5, says every act of the General Assembly levying a tax shall state the special object to which it is to be applied, and it shall be applied to NO OTHER PURPOSE.

3. "It cannot come from the funds of the State Board of Education, for chapter 12 of the Acts of 1897 appropriates that fund in amounts of $50, $75 and $100 to such rural districts as may vote to tax themselves.

"There is, therefore, no possibility that the townships voting this tax can receive the $500. They may get $50, $75 or $100—under chapter 127—but no more.

"Let the canvassers state plain facts to the people.

As education is the topic I venture two suggestions. Let the State Board of Examiners require a knowledge of the fundamental principles of the Constitution from all applicants for State certificates as teachers.

2. That the principles of each and every school receiving aid from the State be required to teach the Constitution at some stage of the curriculum.

It is our only hope in the future.—John M. Galloway, in Raleigh News and Observer.

Old Time Sunday Melon Sales.

"A man would hardly imagine that negroes used to crowd around that elegant church and sell watermelons on Sunday," said H. T. Powell, the well known banker, yesterday. He referred to Mulberry Street Methodist church, one of the finest church buildings in Macon. "But it's a fact," continued Mr. Powell. "I'm not an old man [and everybody in the crowd looked with admiration at his tall, erect figure], but I can remember those scenes as well as if they were yesterday."

"It was before the war, when all the slave-owners allowed their industrious slaves an acre or so of land on which to raise watermelons or anything they chose. The negroes were given every Saturday afternoon to tend their melon patches, and on Sundays were allowed to hitch a mule to a wagon and take their melons and other produce around to churches, camp meetings, or elsewhere and sell them. It was a very common thing to see a man stop at a negro's watermelon pile select a melon, pay for it, put it in his buggy and drive home after church; and indeed children frequently clubbed in and bought melons from the slaves and eat them during the time between Sunday school and preaching.

"In those days masters took great interest in the industry and enterprise of their slaves, and did everything they could to encourage them. Nobody ever thought of objecting to or interfering with the negroes in their Sunday traffic."—Macon Telegraph.

A St. Louis dispatch, telling of Sunday's heat in that city, says that "one man could not endure it, and hanged himself in a cool cellar. Another slept by a window, dreamed he was a diver and plunged three stories. Still another man walked into the river and fought when he was fished out as a supposed suicide." The poor devils! We, in this kindly climate, think we suffer from heat in such weather as the past week has brought us, but the dwellers in the cities can give us points. Think, for instance, of life last night in a New York tenement!—Charlotte Observer.

Gußlow Girls.

Scarcely a day passes without its newspaper story of some young woman who met a man so interesting that she thought she couldn't live without him, so she married him in haste and afterward learned that he was an ex-convict or a brute or already had a wife or two from whom he had separated without the formality
of a legal divorce.

In such cases the blame is laid upon the man, who generally deserves more abuse than he gets.
But, girls, look at the matter seriously a few minutes and see if the trouble might not have been avoided if you had not been in too much of a hurry.

Marriage means partnership for life; decrees of divorce are merely exceptions that prove the rule. Would any man enter into a business partnership with as little knowledge of the other party as you seem satisfied with?
Well, no—not unless he were a sweet souled lunatic.

Talk is cheap, girls; it can be made to order as fast as the tongue can run, especially when there is a pretty face to inspire
it and two willing ears to receive it.

Don't fear that some other girl
will get the fellow unless you secure him at once.—Orange (Va) Observer.

Field Fortifications.

During the civil war in this country the importance of temporary or field fortifications was so highly appreciated by the troops on both sides that the moment a halt was made the men began to throw up breastworks. The great difficulty was to induce them to wait until a proper line of defense had been selected by the engineers.
