Base Ball.

Louisville, July 16—The New Yorks and the Colonels played two games today, both going to the credit of the latter. Intense excitement swayed the crowd in the last inning of the second game, as the Colonels gradually overcame New York's big lead. Rusie was put in to pitch in the ninth with the bases full and his wildness was mainly responsible for the home team's victory. When Umpire Wolf called four balls, forcing in the tying run the New Yorkers acted like crazy men. Park Wilson tried to strike the umpire, but was prevented by third baseman Hoch. Two police officers then caught Wilson and escorted him off the field. In the excitement Pickering crossed the plate with the winning run. The first game was enlivened by a fist fight between Clark and Davis, both being put out of the game. Score. Louisville, 9; New York, 4.

Second game—Louisville, 8; New York, 7.

St. Louis, July 16—Philadelphia received an early lead. The Browns played a great uphill game, finally winning out in the ninth. Cross sending in the winning run. Harley's work in the centre was phenomenal, he making ten put outs. Score. St. Louis, 10; Philadelphia, 9.

Pittsburg, July 16—Pittsburg won good handicap game today by quick playing and by hitting Lewis hard in the fourth inning. Five of Boston's hits were made in the first three innings after which they could do nothing with Kilen. Collins let in the winning run by fumbling a slow hit by Donovan, Lyons scoring. Score. Pittsburg, 5; Boston, 4.

Chicago, July 16—The Orioles and Colts today played the greatest and most exciting game witnessed here this season. The colts played without the semblance of an error, and the visitors had but one misplay charged to them, both teams accepting all kinds of most difficult chances. Connor scored for the Colts in the fifth on a terrific drive to extreme centre. The visitors were blanked eight times by the sharpest kind of play, but in the ninth, after one out, Keeler singled and Jennings won the game by hitting over Lang's head for four bases. Attendance 2,500. (The game was the play-off of the tie decoration day afternoon) Score. Chicago, 1; Baltimore, 2.

Inspiring Music.

It good music adds to worship (and who will say it does not?) the congregation in the Baptist church certainly had cause to enjoy the service Sunday night. The choir was assisted by Mrs. T. E. Hooker and Miss Maie Woodward, the latter of Durham, and the orchestral music was furnished by Messrs. A. A. Forbes, Ola Forbes and G. J. Woodward with violin, cornet and piccolo. As an offertory Miss Woodward sang a solo that was beautiful.

The sermon delivered by Rev. A. W. Setzer on this occasion was an excellent one, pronounced among the best our people have heard him preach.

QUINERLY ITEMS.

QUINERLY, N. C., July 17th, '97.

Rev. J. D. Waters, of Ayden, preached in Christian church on the evening of 14th, inst. in the interest of Ayden Christian College.

Mrs. J. B. Latham, Mrs. L. J. Chapman and Miss Julia B. Burgess, spent Thursday at Maple Cypress visiting the Misses Dawson. They report a very pleasant time.

Misses Annie and Essie Brooks returned Friday from Asheville where they had spent several days. They were just charmed with their trip.

E. M. Moize, of Oxford, brother to our townsman, A. M. Moize, arrived on Friday. He has accepted a position with J. P. Quinerly to cure his crop of tobacco.

W. H. Kilpatrick went to Kinston on Saturday.

W. B. Quinerly was in your city on Saturday.

Rev. C. W. Howard preached a very instructive sermon in the Christian church last Sunday to a large and appreciative audience.

We were glad to see our old friend ex-Sheriff R. W. King in town one day last week. He was looking after delinquent tax payers.

Tobacco curing is all the go here now. It is believed the crop will be fairly good. A good rain would be very much appreciated.

Watermelons have put in appearance and the small boy is happy.

Hunting Tobacco Lands.

Mr. Henry H. Harding, of San Francisco, is on a visit to relatives in this section. He is a native of Beaufort county and left there twenty years ago to go west. He is now a member of the Colorado Construction Company, one of the largest railroad construction companies in our country. Mr. Harding has just been over in Cuba to make a contract for building two railroads across that island for the Spanish government. He sailed from there to New York and upon reaching that city received a telegram from his company instructing him to visit the tobacco belt of North Carolina and see if he can purchase from 3,000 to 5,000 acres of tobacco lands, their purpose being to put a colony on it the land can be secured. We would like to see Mr. Harding locate his colony in Pitt county if the land desired can be purchased here.

Elon College.

The attention of parents is called to the advertisement of Elon College in this paper. This school, which is the property of the Christian church though non-sectarian in spirit and teaching, is located on the Southern Railway in the Piedmont section of the State. The equipment is equal to the best and terms are most liberal.

Keeps on Climbing.

A week ago the REFLECTOR spoke of the improvement made by the Charlotte Observer in changing from a four to an eight page paper. Now the Observer goes one better and brings out a twelve page Sunday edition. Greater things are yet expected of that paper.

The bass singer may be very swell, but it takes a tenor to be really high toned.

MCKINLEY, DEBS & CO.

The Logical Results of Protection—
The Phenomena of the Day and the Signs of the Times.

These days are quickened with industrial reform. Old party lines have come to cross and recross one another in a tangle past tracing, and old-fashioned party men stand in confused alarm, uncertain if they are within or without an enemy's lines, and sorely tempted to enlist under a new banner where they may be sure of their comrades and fight for a known end. It is a time when a conscientious citizen will embrace a doctrine that he knows to be only half truth. He will do it in sheer desperation, in the hope of finding at least an honest leader once more. If our legislators, engrossed in their work of succoring distressed island peoples far out in the sea, would but snatch a moment to listen to the undertone from their own States, they would possibly hear something to alarm them.

The two most significant phenomena of the day are the growth of trusts, with the agitation against them, and the growth of the socialistic idea. Both of these movements spring directly from the system that has been the mainstay of the Republican party for thirty years. They have grown as it grew. The Republican policy of protection was born of criminal ignorance, and amounts today to criminal conspiracy. What was once in the minds of the people a vague wonder if they got their due is to-day a positive conviction that they are being robbed. But the protection microbes has battered so long upon their brains that they cannot think clearly all at once. They have seen the great trusts thrive so astoundingly as to make it plain that they enjoy immunity from the ordinary laws of trade. They have looked for the secret of this paradox and have found that the trusts buy their privileges from the political parties, and that these privileges are known in the market as "protection to American industries." They have heard one of the chief officers of the sugar trust tell unblushingly on the witness stand how his company makes its largest donations to the party most likely to prevail. Along all the lines of protected industries they have seen manufacturers buying from Congress the power to levy forced tributes upon the people. And so they have come to believe that protection is really a good thing if one can only get into the ring. They may detect the utter imbecility of Benjamin Harrison's celebrated assertion that "a cheap coat makes a cheap man," and the silly falsity of William McKinley's plea that "the foreigner pays the tax," but they have seen vast fabulous fortunes made by virtue of protection, and so they still consider it a blessing.

But the only two classes in the community of any vital importance, the farmers and the laboring men, have assured themselves beyond any question that protection thus far has not reached to them. The farmer sees that he has been paying tribute on all that he bought, and getting no tribute whatever on what he sold. The laboring man has learned that he has been paying duties to insure the home market to his employer, while that employer had the markets of the world from which to choose his labor. And so these poor dupes of protection try blindly to right their wrongs by more protection. In ten years the Populist party has grown to be a power solely because it saw the monstrous wrong of unequal protection. It is to-day the only body of logical and honest protectionists in existence. Then we have another school of protectionists who believe that the government, by a simple trick of legislation, can make one dollar into two. And there is another growing school which, under the tutelage of Lubin, of California, aims to square things, so far as the farmer is concerned, by paying him a bounty upon his wheat and corn and hogs. Of course it's right, if a bounty on steel rails or refined sugar is right, and, of course, justice demands that the ditch digger and the skilled mechanic should each be paid a bounty upon their days' work.

The gradual assimilation of this truth by the people means one or two things: either the blackmailing essay at protection which has kept the Republican party in funds for years will be utterly done away with, and a system of direct taxation for revenue substituted; or else protection will be extended to its logical end, and we shall have the era of State socialism now promised by Mr. Debs. It is not altogether a happy prospect. Before they will do wholly away with protection the people must learn a still harder truth, which is that the State cannot create a penny in value; that it cannot benefit one man or class without robbing another, and that hence it cannot benefit all, since there would be no one to rob. They are far from realizing this at present. They lean rather toward the socialistic side, and President McKinley is adding the weight of his administration to that leaning. When it is no longer a scandal that manufacturers may write their own schedules in a tariff bill, and when import duties more flagrantly than ever benefit those manufacturers that have paid for them, there is clearly a socialistic fever that will not go down until it has had a few applications of cold experience.—Puck.

PLACE THE RESPONSIBILITY
WHERE IT BELONGS.

The Wadesboro Messenger-Intelligencer says that "the board of education of Richmond county, composed of two white men and one negro, has elected two negroes as school committeemen in each of the townships of the county. These negro committeemen will have jurisdiction over white schools and will have power to say who shall, and who shall not, teach in them. Doubtless, in many instances, it will be necessary for white ladies to either apply to these men for employment or emigrate to a county whose politics are not composed by such men as the Dockerys, Longs and Smiths."

This is rather bad, to be sure, and yet in considering the case we need to deal fairly by the facts. The black people constitute less than one third of the population of North Carolina. By themselves they are helpless. During reconstruction, when many of the whites were disfranchised, and afterwards until things got settled down, the black people, with certain white associates, had charge of the State government, and it is a matter of universal agreement that the combination made a mess of things. The white people got tired of the situation, got together, and took charge of affairs themselves, as they were entitled to, by right of numbers, intelligence and property. For twenty years we had peace and good government; justice was equally administered, taxation was light and prosperity and contentment had their homes with us. The new condition was better for the blacks as well as for the whites. But things were too quiet for certain designing politicians. The officers were not going their way and never would while politics was normal. So these begat the Farmers' Alliance, which begat the Populist party, and this divided the white people, a part of whom fused with the negroes and carried the State. And so we have a Governor who is "full freighted with spite and malice against the people;" for United States Senators two men who would never be heard of if the people were at themselves; a Legislature which has brought scandal after scandal upon the name of North Carolina; a government at once inefficient and enormously extravagant, and finally, in some of the counties, as Richmond, ignorant black men in charge of the public schools.

But we respectfully protest against any war upon the black people on account of the State's political condition. They have been banded solidly to together all the time, and we have had fair notice from them that whenever they could get recruits enough they would take possession of the State again as they had done in the latter part of the sixties. We repeat and lay emphasis upon the fact that they can do nothing of themselves, and it is simply their good fortune that through the agency of the Farmers' Alliance and the Populist party they have attached to themselves enough white men to put them in the saddle.

No. The thought that ignorant black men are in charge of our schools is not an agreeable one, but let us be just. Who is responsible for the situation? Plainly the white men who have quitted the Democratic party and united their political fortunes with those of the negroes. These whites and the negroes are in charge of affairs, and in all fairness the negroes are entitled to their share in the divide. Speaking for ourselves we say frankly that we don't like the situation, but we can stand it as long as those who are responsible for it.

SHAH AND LASSIES.

The Monarch Witnessed a Highland Fling by Five Hundred Scotch Maids.

"When I was at the Paris exhibition," said Malcolm Duncan of Glasgow, "the shah of Persia was one of the honored guests. He was a good soul. Western civilization had made an impression on him, and no ruler in the orient had a profounder respect for the wonders that British and American genius have accomplished. Western trade and commerce had no more liberal or intelligent patron than this same shah. Persia lost a liberal ruler when the assassin's bullet laid him low. But this has naught to do with my story.

"One night the shah visited one of the French theaters of the lower grade. When he arrived, the house was full. The oriental monarch received the best the house afforded, but that was not even one exclusive box. The shah and his friends were ushered into one of the front boxes. In it sat a typical Scotchman, staid and solemn as his race. In the course of the evening a lithe limbed danseuse capered nimbly upon the stage. Instantly the shah was all attention. He feasted his eye on the gyrating form and even forgot his kingly dignity in his admiration for the actress. Persia's proud ruler sat in front of the Scot, who was the only occupant of the box when his party arrived. When his enthusiasm carried him to his feet, the Scot's vision was obscured. Shah or no shah, the Scot had paid to see the show, and see the show he proposed to do.

"Laying a heavy hand on the shoulder of the oriental despot, the Scot said: 'If you ever come to Scotland, ask for MacKenzie, the laird of Kintoul. He'll show you better things than Paris ever saw.' "The earnestness of the Scot impressed the shah even more than his heavy hand. MacKenzie, the laird of Kintoul, was a name that lodged in his memory, the more because with it was associated the promise of sights to the Persian yet unknown. A few months thereafter it befell that the shah, in the course of his trip through the British isles, visited Scotland. The laird of Kintoul's invitation still rung in his ears. Inquiry revealed that MacKenzie was the head of a numerous and powerful clan, and the shah went out of his course to meet him and remind him of his promise.

"The highland chief is the soul of honor. He felt complimented by the visit and in duty bound to make good his promise. The fair lassies for all the country round were assembled in the laird's ancestral castle. Five hundred young women tossed their slippers skyward at the first note of the Scotch bagpipe. Then 500 plaid clad forms gyrated through the movements of an old fashioned highland fling. Those thousand feet, that stole boldly out and then modestly retired beneath the shelter of Scotia's national colors, made a sight which the harems of the sultan and the feasts of the east could not equal. The shah was captivated. He glided into the midst of the feminine throng, and a pretty lassie who is now married to a Glasgow shipbuilder has the honor of being the only woman with whom Persia's ruler danced during his visit in Queen Victoria's domains. In my part of Scotland the shah and his visit to the laird of Kintoul is still one of the subjects of neighborly gossip."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

J. C. Tyson returned Saturday evening from a visit to relatives in Baltimore.

Mrs. D. S. Smith returned home Sunday from a visit to her parents in the country.

R. B. Whitehead and wife, of Wilson, returning from Ocracoke, stopped here today for a visit.

Joel Whitaker, of Raleigh, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. A. J. Johnston, returned home today.

W. M. King and wife, W. L. Forbes and wife, Misses Cottie Hearne, Bettie Hooker and Lera Matthews and C. D. Rountree came home today from Ocracoke.

J. W. Waters, of Newbern who has lived up to the adage "laugh and grow fat" until he has crowded nearly all the hair off the top of his own head, has been pasting patches of humor around this part of the sphere during the last few days.

Hon. W. M. Russ, Mayor of Raleigh, came down Saturday evening to see Mrs. Russ and the children who are visiting relatives here. Some people wonder how much larger in size he is going to grow, but a second thought convinces them there must be somewhere to store the great fund of wit and humor in his make up. Even then he cannot retain it to himself and his host of friends gather around him to catch an inspiration from the almost incessant overflow.

We were shown some very fine peaches by R. S. Quinerly, of Fort Barnwell, last week. They sold readily here at 75 cents per bushel. The fruit crop in this section is very poor.
