Base Ball.

Washington, August 3—The errors made by the Senators in first game today were numerous and of a most provoking description. In the second game proved so what a surprise, and the fielding of the locals improved. Nichols replaced Getts at the end of the seventh, the latter going to centre. Score. Washington, 5; Boston, 11.

Second game — Washington, 7; Boston, 5.

New York, August 3—Four hits were all the Brooklyn could get off Rusie's delivery in a postponed game at the polo grounds this afternoon, and these were attained only after the big hoosier twirler had slacked up his speed. The Giants, on the other hand hit the ball, ran the bases and fielded in great style. They knocked down liners which looked like base hits and fielded sky-scraping flies and grass cutting rollers with the utmost ease. Score. New York, 10; Brooklyn, 2.

Louisville, August 3—The Colonels' pitching corps were decidedly off today. Magee forced three runs across the plates with bases on balls and made two wild pitches in the seventh inning. Miller relieved Magee after the Indians had scored eight runs and succeeded in retiring the side. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the eighth inning. Score. Louisville, 5; Cleveland, 16.

Baltimore, August 3—Philadelphia smashed the "hoo-doo" today and succeeded, after twenty-two ineffectual efforts, in capturing a game from the Champions. The Quakers outbatted and out fielded the home team, who were unable to hit Orth at opportune times. Score. Baltimore, 2; Philadelphia, 5.

Chicago, August 3—The Colts again outplayed the Browns at all points and won as they pleased. Fred Pfeffer made his debut as an umpire and filled the bill satisfactorily. Score. Chicago, 7; St. Louis, 2.

Cincinnati, August 3—The Pirates defeated the Reds in an exciting game today. Owing to the non-appearance of a regular umpire. Dwyer and Sugden officiated, and the result was constant kicking throughout the game. Score. Cincinnati, 6; Pittsburg, 7.

STATE NEWS.

The Scotland Neck Commonwealth says Halifax county cannot pay its county orders.

A boiler explosion occurred at a sawt mill in the lower section of Beaufort county a few days ago. Two men were killed and several others injured.

The Commonwealth says the Scotland Neck knitting mills is going to largely increase its capacity to keep up with increasing business. These are the kind of enterprises that help a town.

Dr. John R. Moss, Republican chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Vance county, was bound over to court in a bond of $500, charged with offering to take a bribe to issue liquor licenses.

ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE.

A Young Lady Assaulted on the Public Highway.

(Special to Reflector.)

WASHINGTON, N. C., August 5.—Another blot of crime has fallen upon Beaufort county's history.

Tuesday afternoon one Henry Jackson, a white man about 22 years old, attempted to commit rape upon Miss Blanche Hodges, daughter of Mr. James Hodges who resides at Old Ford, N. C., six miles from here.

Miss Hodges left home in company with a lady teacher to take her home. They met Jackson while on the way. When Miss Hodges was returning home she passed Jackson again. Seeing she was alone the rascal took advantage of the opportunity and her position, ran up behind her buggy and jumped up to her back, catching her by the throat and choking her intensely, so much so she was hardly able to talk afterwards. The young lady fought heroically and succeeded in knocking Jackson off the buggy. She then put whip to her horse and fled away for home.

The rascal was apprehended and lodged in jail. When questioned he admitted the crime.

This is Jackson's third attempt to accomplish his hellish work. He has a boyish face with small claim to intelligence. Miss Hodges is the niece of our popular Sheriff R. T. Hodges. She is one of our most popular and accomplished young ladies.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

The week ending August 3d, 1897, has generally been favorable. Showers occurred the first days of the week, followed by warm, dry, sunny weather, which will not prove injurious if proper seasons occur in early August. Crops are beginning to need rain, and in a few counties which received least rainfall last week are beginning to suffer. In general crop conditions are excellent; in some counties especially fine. Though cotton is shedding some, the damage so far is insignificant. The early corn crop is made. The general prospects for the State at present could hardly be bettered.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

Rains continued over Monday and Tuesday (27th), after which dry, warm weather set in, with abundant sunshine, which continued to the end of the week. The weather was favorable, but it is now getting too dry over many counties. Crops are doing well; mostly laid by and work done. Some early corn is being damaged by dry weather, but most of the crop is made, with some fodder nearly ready for stripping. Late corn needs rain but still looks green and promising. In some sections farmers say prospects are for the finest corn crop in three or four years. Cotton is doing well; about all hilled; some shedding reported on light lands. Tobacco curing in full blast, with excellent results. Peanuts doing well; sweet potatoes promise a fine yield. Farmers are planting turnips and rutabagas, some of which are up.

Party at Mr. Patrick's.

A party was given at the home of Mr. B. F. Patrick, in South Greenville, Wednesday night, complimentary to Miss Louise Jenkins, of Conetoe, who is visiting Miss Bessie Patrick. A number of young people went over from town.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1897.

A FIN DE SEICLE CEREMONY.

One of the most interesting marriage ceremonies in the history of the "Temple of Justice," came off yesterday morning, Esq. D. G. Maxwell officiating.

Early in the morning John Smith and Mary Jones, colored, came in from the country to be joined in holy bonds.

In the presence of the happy pair and many dusky and a few white witnesses, the following unique ceremony was performed:

"My friends, we are now within the shadow of the walls of the blind goddess of justice to witness the nuptial ties of the couple now present; and as they launch their boat off into the ocean of connubial bliss, may they have smooth sailing and fair winds o'er this sea, and may their hull be free from the barnacles of life, and never subjected to squalls nor cries of 'ship ahoy!'"

After the usual questions and answers, the "narrifyer" continued:

By the authority vested in me by the county of Mecklenburg, known as the cradle of liberty, and the Commonwealth of North Carolina, called the 'Tar Heel State' of this confederation of fusion; by the smoking tar kilns and the bleeding sentinels of our tar-pentine fields; by the recollection of the fat baked opossum with sides lined with sop, sweet potatoes and hoe cake, to say nothing of the sweet and luscious 'watermelon,' by the free silver blasts from the horde of the long eared traditional animal which is often heard throughout the land; by the Dingley tariff bill which it to produce the long wished for and promised wave of prosperity; by the song of the gold bug, which some say is the dirge of the people, and the glorification of trusts and monopolies; by the old flea bitten coon dog whose 'basso profundo' is heard in the gloaming; by the clear and loud notes of the old Shanghai chauticleer in the early morn calling upon his comrades to shake off their lethargy, and by the memory of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Induration, and in the presence of these witnesses, I pronounce you husband and wife.

"Salute your bride!"—Charlotte Observer.

Rats Made Useful.

There is in the city of Paris a regular pound, surrounded by a massive stone wall, wherein the services of rats are utilized for clearing the bones of dead animals from flesh. A horse thrown in over night is quite stripped by morning, and it is the duty of the man in charge to remove the beautifully polished skeleton. Of course, the rats thus pampered increase at a terrible rate and invade the neighbors slaughter houses. So it became necessary at times to have a regular battle. This is rather cleverly managed. All around the walls of the pound hundreds of little holes have been bored, the depth of each being just that of a rat's body. Early in the morning, while the rats are still enjoying their meal, a couple of men with lanterns jump suddenly in with a great noise and clatter. The terrified creatures rush for the nearest refuge, and the walls are soon ornamented with a regular forest of tails whisking about like animated black icicles. Then arrives the rat collector, who with skillful hand seizes each pendant tail and deposits the astonished owner thereof in a bag which he carries slung over his shoulder. The skins are largely used for making gloves.—New York World.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your own druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklet and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Quarrelsome People

Some people are born with quarrelsome tendencies, but by far the greater number of those who spend their time in petty contentions have a quarrelsome disposition thrust upon them in childhood. Take, for example, a family in which there is a habit of bickering over trifles. One person announces at breakfast that uncle Robert and aunt Amanda are coming to call today after their drive from the farm and their visit at cousin Sue's. Another instantly declares that the two relatives have no intention whatever of calling at cousin Sue's, and a third says they are coming tomorrow and not today.

The matter in dispute could be easily settled by a reference to the letter which gave the information, but nobody thinks of this, and the household is agitated and upset by an undignified and absurd squabble, to no purpose whatever.

Worse still, the home atmosphere is disturbed, and the children learn to be cross and contradictory, human nature being prone to learn the worse rather than the better thing on every possible occasion.

It is a good rule in home life to avoid all arguments which tend to irritate or wound. Blessings on the memory of a saint of ninety years who once said to me, I being a girl of fifteen at the time: "Dear child, never insist on the last word about anything. It isn't worth while. You can keep your own opinion, but let your friend express his if he wants to, and refuse for your part to quarrel about a trifle."—Baltimore Advocate.

The Ruling Spirit.

The story is told of a Yankee housewife who was extremely neat, that she woke one night at the sound of her husband creeping softly out of his bed and toward the light stand.

"What's the matter, William?" she whispered.

"Sh!" he whispered; "there's a burglar coming up the front stairs, and I'm getting my revolver!"

All was silent again, in the midst of which William crept noiselessly to the head of the stairs. Presently there was a loud report followed by a mad scurrying of feet; then the husband came back, lighted a lamp, and returned to the stairway.

"O William, William, did he—" "Yes, he got away," said the husband.

"Oh, I don't care so much about that," the woman said, "but, William, did he—"

"Did he what?"

"Did he wipe his feet before he started up the stairs?"

The good people of North Carolina have certainly had ample sufficiency of the experiment made a year ago in changing the state government. The present regime have shown their utter inability to rule wisely and well. They have brought themselves and the State into disrepute at home and abroad. They have incurred the displeasure of the whole people and have forfeited the respect of their friends. They have done more to retard the growth and development of the State than any one imagined they could do. Their official acts have been a disgrace to themselves. No honest man countenances them nor their profligate legislation and expenditure of State funds. Yet they hope to be before the public again for re-election. The scales will be turned next time, and they may as well make up their minds now to stay at home when their tenure of office expires.—Winston Journal.

The Boy Answered Better Than He Knew.

A lady in Monroe had been teaching her little five year old son the Shorter Catechism, and wishing to show what her young hopeful knew, she asked him in the presence of some ladies, "What is the chief end of man?" The little fellow promptly replied "To glory without God and enjoy himself forever." That really seems to be the chief object of some men.—Monroe Enquirer.

Senator M. one of the Western States is known as the "wit of the Senate." One of his humorous remarks is recorded by a Washington correspondent.

The Senator is somewhat corpulent, but not so stout as he used to be. He was asked what he had done to "train down" in weight.

"I don't do anything," he replied, "except to take bicycle exercise."

"What! Do you ride a wheel?" "Oh, no," answered the Senator, "but everybody else does, and I am kept busy dodging 'em!"

The Child and the Bears.

Since the legendary days of Romulus and Remus many instances have been recorded where beasts of prey, having opportunity, have refrained from harming a small child. The Pittsburg Dispatch cites an interesting incident of this character.

Little Helma Ursler wandered away from her home near Snowshoe, Penn., one day in the fall, and was swallowed up in the wilds of the Alleghany Mountains. The greatest alarm was felt, and for two days every man, woman and child of the neighborhood turned out to beat the woods.

On the third day four lumbermen found the little girl a mile and a half from her home in the dense wood, playing with two bear cubs. The men called to her, and with a glad cry she ran toward them. The two bear cubs began to whine, and a moment afterward a large female bear dashed out from the underbrush, evidently to dispute the right of the men to carry off her protegee.

The men had their axes, and after a hard struggle, they despatched the beast, and took the cubs for payment. A fine reward for the bear's care of the child! Fritz Yansser, one of the lumbermen was badly lacerated in the arm by the bear's jaws.

Helma was uninjured by her sojourn among the bears, and was soon restored to her anxious parents.

The Smallest Still Captured.

J. A. Shelburn, of the revenue service, on Thursday captured a complete still, in Person county, about six miles from Roxboro, that will take the prize for ingenuity and smallness. It will hold only about three quarts, yet it was complete in all of its arrangements; worn and all. It was made for use on a stove and was like a tea kettle, and would turn out about one gallon a day. He intends to send it to the department, as this will make the smallest still ever captured in this State, and he has also captured the largest—one near Wilson, of 465 gallons capacity. No one was arrested.—Winston Sentinel.

Street Needs Widening.

The town should have some work done on Ninth street between the Greenville and Star warehouses. Where the ditch crosses the street the bridge is so short and the street so narrow that there is not room for a vehicle and pedestrians to pass at the same time. During the tobacco season there is so much passing and hauling along this street that in its present condition it is both inconvenient and dangerous.

Hay Ride.

Mrs. R. W. King gave an enjoyable hay ride, Wednesday night, complimentary to Miss Kate Harvey, of Kinston, who is visiting her. About twenty five of our young people participated in the ride. Ice cream and fruits were served to the party upon their return.

He Was Pleased.

Mr. T. R. Hodges, of Beaufort county, sold a load of primings at the Eastern Warehouse today at prices that greatly pleased him. He says when Otthus Joyner gets behind a pile of his tobacco he is always satisfied that it will bring all it is worth. Of course he will come to Greenville again and sell at the Eastern.
