Base Ball.

Louisville, August 9—Griffith was a puzzle to the Colonels after the third inning, not a hit being made off his delivery after this inning. The Colts lunched their hits in the seventh and eighth innings and managed to win by a nose. Umpire O'Day made several rank decisions against the home team in the latter part of game. Score. Louisville, 2; Chicago, 3.

Cincinnati, August 9—The Reds and Pittsburgs played a double header today and broke even. In the first game Hoffmeister had a finger broken and retired in favor of Davis who was relieved at first by Rothfuss. The second game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness. Score. Cincinnati, 5; Pittsburg, 7.

Second game—Cincinnati, 8; Pittsburg, 1.

Washington, August 9—Today's game was the best seen here for some time, the Senators playing without an error. Swain pitched well, but Orth was easy. Score. Washington, 5; Philadelphia, 2.

Brooklyn, August 9—Jack Doyle caused the downfall of the Baltimores at Eastern park today. After the score stood six to nothing in favor of his team, he turned and swore at Corbett, until the youngster lost his temper in the third inning, threw away the ball and walked to the dressing room, Nops be substituted. Score. Brooklyn, 16; Baltimore, 9.

Boston, August 9—New York won today because Boston could not hit Mpekin, while VarHaltren, Davis and Gleason batted Nichols freely. New York is the first club to get a score of double figures off Nichols this year and but for Nichols' home run in the fourth inning, the Boston score would have been much smaller. Wilson made some brilliant running catches of fouts. Score. Boston, 4; New York, 10.

STATE NEWS.

A paper called the Daily Record has been started by colored people in Wilmington. It claims to be the "only negro daily newspaper in the world."

In Buncombe county on Sunday a young lady who is partially crippled was returning home from Sunday school, when she was assaulted and outraged by an unknown negro. Three crimes of this character occurred in the State within ten days.

H. W. Blackwelder, of Cabarrus county, attempted to enforce parental authority over his daughter when his wife drew a pistol and attempted to kill him, his life being saved by his son grabbing the weapon just as the trigger was being pulled. Mrs. Blackwelder disappeared shortly after the occurrence and could not be found.

Two Capital Cases.

Greene county Superior Court is in session at Snow Hill this week. Two important criminal cases will be tried. One of these, Joe Black for rape, is set for Thursday, and the other Quinie Dunn, for murder, is set for Friday. Both defendants are colored.

JUST FOR FUN.

The ripening grape crop promises a boom in appendicitis.

Hotel Proprietor—"There's no end of fish here." Guest—"Without tails, eh?"

The Frogtown Kid wants to know why they call it Chile sauce when it's so hot.

"Now I shall always have my own way," muttered the henpecked husband as he lugged home a pair of scales.

Probably the artists always picture Cupid without clothes in order to demonstrate how easy it is for love to grow cold.

"Come on, now; squeeze in here," said the iced tea to the lemon. "Oh, I don't know," replied the lemon; "you ain't so warm."

Every cloud has a silver lining. It's a poor rule, however, that won't work both ways, for every silver lining also has a cloud.

"My dear," said the fond mother, "have you discovered what Mr. Softleigh's intentions are?" The dutiful daughter blushed. "I must confess, mamma," she murmured, "that every time he has called he has kept me quite in the dark."

The Best Market

The breaks at the tobacco warehouses are showing a gradual and steady increase this week, and prices maintain a strong and satisfactory figure. With the large number of buyers here anxious for tobacco, four of the best warehouses in the State, ample facilities for handling the crop, and plenty of money to pay for it, the farmers may rest assured that the Greenville market is going to pay as high prices as can be had anywhere. This is being proven every day.

The School Election.

The school election on Tuesday resulted in a huge race so far as Pitt county is concerned. The polls were open in only four of the eighteen voting precincts in the county, and the result at these was as follows:

	For	Against
Beaver Dam	00	42
Chicod, No. 2	111	150
Greenville, No. 1	36	99
Greenville, No. 3	22	23
Total	169	364

Wheat Thief Captured.

Week before last some one stole T. M. Hooker's bicycle from the porch of his mother's residence, on Dickinson avenue. This morning he received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Tarboro, stating that a negro had been arrested there with his wheel. He instructed both to be held until he can get there tomorrow.

Cheaper Wheels.

W. H. Rick's, at Rick's & Tatt's, has taken the agency for a standard bicycle that sells for $25 with a twelve months' guarantee. This begins to look like getting wheels down to the price at which they ought to sell.

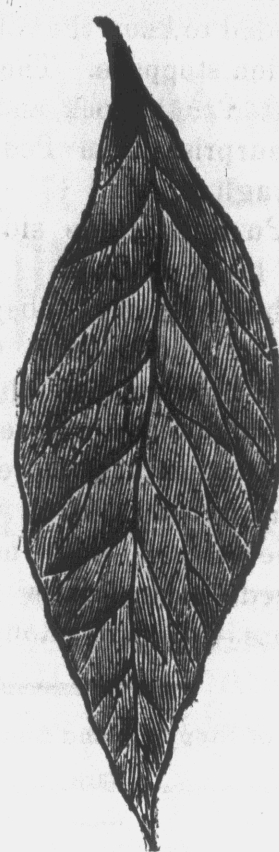

As the State is now through with the school tax election, it is ready for the uncovering of the next piece of fusion foolishness.

Fodder pulling is going to crowd the farmers before they can get through curing tobacco.

Wheat went still higher today and flour took another advance.

The cantaloupe season is about over.

THE TOBACCO MARKET IS OPEN.

And the price of our Summer Clothing has declined with the advance of summer. We'd rather sell Summer Clothes at a loss than to keep them over.

Whatever you want we have probably got it for less than cost. A loss at this time is almost as good as a profit earlier.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 11, 1897.

Senor Conovas del Castillo, the prime minister of Spain, was brutally assassinated on Sunday by an anarchist. The murderer fired three shots at close range each of which took effect. Conovas lived about two hours after he was shot and his last cry was "Long Live Spain." The assassination caused more or less excitement throughout the world.

Better Times.

The Augusta Chronicle says that "the tendency on every hand is to proclaim better times and thus help the good work along. The belief is general that the pendulum has swung to its limit in the direction of adversity and is now started in the other direction towards the high-water mark of prosperity. Let everybody shove, shoulder to shoulder, and swing it high." That is the way to talk. Times depend very largely upon how people talk about them. There is a familiar story about a man having been placed on a table and made to believe that one of his arteries had been cut, a flow of water being arranged at the same time so that the sound of its dropping persuaded him that it was the dropping of his blood. The story continues that the man grew weaker and weaker until he died. There are other stories of men in perfect health having gone home and gone to bed, the result of being told by one friend after another, according to pre-arrangement, how bad they looked. It is largely so in business. It may not be that if, in bad times, everybody would insist that times were good they would be good, but they would unquestionably be better; and it is certain that if in good times everybody should unite and say that times are bad they would speedily get bad. Indeed, one of the potent agencies in making times hard within the past few years has been the universal lamentation about how hard they were. The tendency of calamity howling is bad in every way. Business is at present improving beyond a question, and everybody can hasten the return of prosperity. Happily this can be done without putting any work upon the imagination.—Charlotte Observer.

A Practical Test.

Dom Pedro, the last emperor of Brazil, was a man of practical turn of mind, as the following story told of him by a Spanish newspaper well illustrates: He once gave an audience to a young engineer, who came to show him a new appliance for stopping railway engines. The emperor was pleased with the idea but wished to put it to a practical test.

"Day after tomorrow," said he, have your engine ready. We shall have it coupled to my saloon car and start. When going at full speed I will give the signal to stop, and then we shall see how your invention works."

At the appointed time all was in readiness. The emperor entered his carriage, the young inventor mounted his engine, and on they sped for several miles as fast as they could go. There came no signal, and the engineer began to fear that the emperor had fallen asleep. Suddenly the engine came to a sharp curve around the edge of a cliff, when, to his horror, on the track directly ahead of them the engineer saw a huge boulder.

He had just sufficient presence of mind to turn the crank of his brake and pull the engine up within a couple of yards of the fatal block.

Here the emperor put his head out of his car window and demanded to know the cause of the sudden stoppage. The engineer pointed to the rock, and, much to his surprise Dom Pedro, began to laugh.

"Push it on one side and go on," he said calmly.

The engineer obeyed, and kicking the stone, was still further astonished to see it tumble into dust before him.

It was nothing more nor less than a block of starch which the emperor had had made and placed on the rails the night before.—Harper's Round Table.

Cost of Stopping and Starting Trolley Cars

There is an old adage to the effect that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well. Because we cannot see the force that propels the trolley car we are apt to forget that the humble duties of the motorman require intelligence. It looks as if he just turned a handle and that was the end of it, but the real truth of the matter is something very different. It takes just as much electric power to start a car as it would animal power, and it requires less current to keep the car moving than to start it, so that a great number of starts and stops means a large consumption of energy. In the American Electrician there appears an article in which the actual figures for these two cases are given. It is shown that the cost of one stop on each trip of a car during a year on a 15 car line may amount to $70, or to $467 for a 100 car road; so that if these figures are multiplied by two stops at each crossing on a road operating long lines the large cost is evident. Careful handling of the controller will save over $1,000 a year on a 15 car line, and $7,000 per year on a 100 car road. The difference between a careful motorman, who has been well instructed, and a careless one may amount to from 3 to 8 per cent. of the total energy consumed. It is perfectly safe, according to its authority, to say that 10 per cent. of the energy can be saved by more careful handling of the controller, while on most roads at least 15 per cent. could be saved without doubt. The maxim of every motorman should be: "Use the break as little as possible and drift as much as possible." The employment of skilled motormen capable of understanding the mechanism they handle would result in a saving to the trolley companies, even a higher salary were paid the men, and at the same time add much comfort to the passengers.—Savannah News.

Represent Their Party.

A negro has been appointed United States stamp agent at the Postoffice Department. His name is John P. Green; he is a Cleveland lawyer, and was appointed as a personal favor to President McKinley.

The principal office awarded North Carolina, Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia, went to a negro, Henry P. Cheatham. The vice president of the National Association of Republican Clubs for this State is a negro, John C. Dancy. A white lady who had for years been postmistress at a little town in the eastern part of the State, was turned out a few days ago and now a buxom negro woman hands out the mail.

Henry Rucker, a Decatur street negro barber, has taken charge as internal revenue collector for the Atlanta, Ga., district.

These men are fit representatives of the Republican party in the South. They are better than nine-tenths of their race and class cast at least 90 per cent. of the votes the Republican party receives in the Southern States.

But it is the same class that furnishes 80 per cent. of the criminals that fill our prisons, our jails and fill up the dockets of our courts.—Charlotte News.

its Class in the State

W. B. YERARD

A passenger who came down on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad yesterday tells us that quite a number of colored citizens met at Dudley, Wayne county, on Friday, and organized a Democratic club. They are disgusted with the Republican party and adopted resolutions denouncing the "fusion" Legislature in unmeasured terms and condemning its unwise and blundering legislation. Some of the leaders feel that the negro has not been treated right by the Republican party since it got back into power, and another cause of dissatisfaction is that the Legislature chartered their town against their protests, thus burdening them with a useless corporation tax.

We learn that no white Democrat has had anything to do with getting up this movement of a colored Democratic organization, but that the colored men in it are acting of their own free will and accord.—Wilmington Messenger.

Ireland Ruined by Red Hair

It's a wonder the Irish permit red haired women to live in the country, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. It is certain the land owes its greatest misfortune—its downfall as a separate nation to a woman with red hair. Seven hundred and twenty seven years ago two Irish chieftains named O'Rourke and O'Dermott were living near to each other in perfect peace and friendship. O'Rourke's wife was a beautiful woman, with hair of a fiery red. O'Dermott took a fancy to her and finally carried her off. In the war which followed the kidnapper was getting the worst of it when he applied to Henry II, of England, for assistance. Henry had been waiting such an opportunity. He invaded Ireland to help O'Dermott and stayed there to help himself. Ever since Ireland has been under the dominion of England.

Scraps of Conversation.

No one can have joy today who is worrying about tomorrow.

Dingleyism is in great luck. Big harvests, an extraordinary foreign demand for grain and advancing prices have come just in the nick of time. By a merciful dispensation of Providence, the purchasing power of the agricultural communities has been increased just as the burden of higher tariff taxes has been laid upon them. Since the farmer must henceforth pay more for what he shall buy, it is fortunate that he will be able to get more for what he has to sell.—Philadelphia Record.
