BASE BALL.
Games Played and Standing of Clubs.
Boston, August 18.—For four innings today the Boston-Washington game was an interesting contest, both pitchers being effective. In the fifth Boston had a batting streak and after that the result was never in doubt. Score. Boston, 8; Washington, 0.
Baltimore, August 17.—The Champions today made it three straights from Brooklyn. Hoffr became steady after the first inning and allowed the visitors but one hit. Bunting and base running on the part of the home team were the features. Score. Baltimore, 6; Brooklyn, 3.
New York, August 18.—New York made it three straights from the Quakers today. Rusie was batted hard but the hits were not bunched. Score. New York, 8; Philadelphia, 5.
Buffalo, N. Y., August 18.—Buffalo put up the game of the season against the Indians of the National League today. McPhartlin pitched magnificent ball and the leaguers could hardly touch him. The Cleveland team played with snap and vim, but a few of the cracks seemed to have an off day. Score. Buffalo, 5; Cleveland, 1.

Sales Keep Growing.
Tobacco receipts continue to increase and the sales today went several thousand pounds ahead of a week ago. There were fully 75,000 pounds on the warehouse floors and it sold at satisfactory prices. There were more people present than have been out at any sale since the new season opened. The Greenville market goes steadily forward and maintains its rank as the best in Eastern North Carolina.
We Lead, Others Attempt to Follow.
There are clocks and clocks, but when a man wants correct time he prefers to consult a regulator. Just so there are warehouses and warehouses, but the farmer who wants best treatment and best prices for his tobacco takes it to the old reliable Eastern Warehouse. You would not continue to see from 50 to 100 per cent. more piles of tobacco on our floor than can be found elsewhere if the farmers were not convinced that the Eastern Warehouse is the best place to sell. Did you notice our break today? So much tobacco on our floor that even the annex was full. People do not raise tobacco for fun or to give away, but for what they get out of it, hence they bring it to the Eastern Warehouse where Old Man Gus and Olthus Joyner make it bring the best prices every time. To be convinced of this bring us your tobacco.
EVANS, JOYNER & Co.
The immense quantity of job work run out by the REFLECTOR presses during the last few weeks shows that people know where to get good printing and good material.

He Likes the Little Folks and They Like Him.
If making others happy begets happiness Joe Evans ought to have a large supply. Most every day when he goes out to his farm he brings back a load of watermelons and gives them to the little folks along his way. He has given away several loads.
Here are the Figures.
Today the Greenville Warehouse sold for John W. Lockamy 16 lots of tobacco at $11.75, $15, $14.25, $13.50, $25, $15.25, $12.50, $21, $18.25, $20.50, $5, $6.25, $18, $19.50, $15 and $8.25, a total of 784 pounds at an average of $15.32. If you want prices just as good as this take your tobacco to the Greenville Warehouse.
EVANS, CRITCHER & Co.
Meeting Postponed.
Owing to the bad weather Thursday night there was not a sufficient attendance on the library meeting at Harding & Harding's office for anything to be accomplished. Another meeting will be held at an early date. In the meantime we hope there will be increased interest in the establishment of the library.
Talk About Sales.
The Planters Warehouse today led the State in prices and quantity. They had first sale and before the auctioneer got over the floor part of it had to be cleared away so that more rows could be put on, making it equal to a double sale. Auctioneer Lipscomb was strictly at his best and rattled off the entire sale without a hitch. He fairly made music for the boys. As to Ola Forbes, he was just wild with joy. He was so happy over the big break that he wanted to make everybody else feel good too, and kept singing out "Give him a quarter, a hal' more!" Out of the large number of farmers selling with us not one went away dissatisfied. We invite you all to come again, and all others wanting the highest prices for their tobacco should come to the Planters Warehouse.

JUST FOR FUN.
"My face is my fortune, sir," she said. It was the bearded woman who was talking.

Since Corbett started playin ball, And donned the mighty first base mitts, He's put so many fellows out It makes him sad to think about The time he didn't put out Fitz.
The difference between a good and bad Congressman is that one is a statesman and the other a mis-statesman.
She once was called a chaperone, Duenna with an anxious brow; But times have changed and she is known As an adept promoter now.
Sillicus—"And you say you like a conceited woman who is continually talking about herself?" Cynicus—"Yes; because then I know she isn't ripping some other woman up the back."
"My baby's a peach," said the happy young dad, As he prattled about his first heir. And the cynic remarked: "I should think you'd be glad Of the fact that it isn't a pair."

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Cotton Growers Convention Held at Galveston, Texas, Aug. 2nd, 1897.

BEACH HOTEL,
Galveston, Texas,
August 3rd, 1897.

To Hon. J. F. Walters, chairman of the cotton growers association: We, your committee on resolutions, beg leave to make the following report:

We find, after a careful examination of all the facts before us, that option dealing in future cotton is gambling of the most vicious nature; withdrawing at least $2 per bale from circulation during the deal, which in nearly every case ends by forwarding the option put up by the victim in the south with a constant tendency to depress our principal money crop, by this means forcing a sale at a price less than the cost of production; robbing our farmers of their just earnings, preventing them from paying for the supplies to produce a crop at a loss; bringing much distress to our merchants; forcing our women and children to labor in the fields; throwing laboring men out of employment and thereby causing them to join the army of tramps; adding largely to our criminal classes; spreading by a tendency to gamble in "futures" contagion in the morals of our agricultural class, from which are drawn a large majority of men to fill every avocation in life. We find there can be no real prosperity unless the agricultural classes are prosperous. We find a condition surrounding the cotton producer today not one of prosperity, but many of them cramped with debts, covered with mortgages, unable to enjoy the fruits of their labor and educate their families, largely, we think, from the dealing of option gamblers selling our products below the cost of production. For this reason we ask your adoption of the following resolutions:

Whereas, the cotton industry of the south is a most important agricultural product of the United States, and in volume more than 65 per cent of the world's product of cotton, and the condition of this great industry, being now depressed by speculators who control and reduce the price, in their own interest, by the following methods, among others: By offering for sale fictitious cotton called "futures," at prices uniformly less than the current spot cotton market, which, sales of fictitious cotton or contracts to deliver cotton at a future time at lower prices than the actual spot cotton prices, and in which speculators do not intend, and are not compelled to deliver actual cotton but uniformly pay or receive the monetary difference in the price of futures and spot cotton at the expiration of the contract of delivery. These contracts being cheaper, induce mill men and consumers of the raw material, who heretofore competed in the spot cotton sales, to withdraw from the market, thus fostering a condition which takes from the cotton market the actual purchaser, destroys legitimate market demands and competition, and leaves the cotton product at the mercy of dictated prices. By flooding the market reports of actual sales of spot cotton with five to ten times the volume of fictitious sales at lower figures, thus producing a constant decrease in the price of real cotton. By operating a gambling enterprise known as the "New York futures board," in which fictitious cotton is offered for sale in the market at prices sufficiently reduced below spot cotton prices to invite investment, and wherein the said investments are virtually confiscated by arbitrary changes in said quotations whereby the country is drained of enormous sums of money and the cotton market fluctuated for gambling purposes to the great detriment of legitimate trade, thus producing the decline in the price of cotton as observed in our markets since the organization of the New York cotton exchange and its "futures board" and

Whereas, the price of labor necessary to raise and market a given quantity of cotton in comparison with the price of labor necessary to manufacture and market the same quantity of cotton, is of the ratio of two to three, and under legitimate conditions of trade, and estimated most favorable to manufacturers, raw cotton should sell for not less than 50 per cent, of the manufactured article, yet the situation is such that the price of cotton has been so depressed by speculation and market gambling until manufactured goods sell from 400 to 1400 per cent more than the material that composes such goods, and a vast wealth that should be distributed among its producers is annually confiscated by the unbridled greed of speculators; and

Whereas, the history of cotton production shows that the world's demand has increased at greater ratio than the world's supply, and as measured by the surplus on hand at the end of each cotton season, the surplus has grown less for more than twenty years, proving the falsity of the cry of over production as proclaimed by speculators and revealing facts that under proper conditions would have made prices steady and improve during that time; and

Whereas, these other conditions make it necessary that legislation be contrived and enacted to relieve cotton producers from these oppressive unjust and ruinous conditions; therefore be it

Resolved, that we urge the people of the cotton growing States, inviting the co-operation of the citizens of all other States of the Union, to insist upon and secure legislation in every possible form to prevent the existing injury to our cotton trade produced by speculation and gambling in our markets.

We commend as just and necessary the suppression of cotton "futures," and to that end we ask the co operation of all people in securing such state and federal legislation as shall come within the legitimate domain of Federal and state legislation. We urge legislation to suppress the operation of any system of dealing in what is correctly known as futures; that it may be made unlawful for any firm, corporation or the agents of any such to deal in the sale or purchase of cotton "futures."

It should be made unlawful for any bank or banking institution, telegraph, telephone, express or other corporation or person, their officers or agents, to take receive or transmit any message money, bid or deposit for investment in cotton futures in our respective States, or to be transmitted by others from such States; that it be made unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to publish or print or circulate by any method the prices bid or any of the propositions of sale or purchase of futures in the States so legislating.

We urge that these and other necessary measures for the relief of the people be taken up by political conventions regardless of party lines, incorporated in their platforms and made into laws for the common good: Be it further

Resolved, that national legislation is necessary in the more complete suppression of market gambling, and we urge our fellow citizens of every State to use all honorable means to secure such legislation as shall comply with the constitutional limitations of our federal power; that they urge upon their representative in congress to enact such legislation as will prevent any person, firm, or corporation, or their agents from transmitting from one State to another propositions for the sale or purchase of futures from one State to the citizens of another; that all express, telegraph, telephone or other companies or persons in an interstate capacity should be prevented from promoting future gambling between the States; that the transmission of money, message, or any communication regarding the sale or purchase of futures be excluded from the United States mails, to the end that this public evil be suppressed and the people be freed from the ruinous condition now thrust upon them by the concentrated manipulation of speculators and gamblers in trade.

We respectfully recommend to the producing classes that they earnestly memorialize Congress through their respective State legislatures to enact such laws as will protect the people from this great and growing evil known as commercial gambling in futures.

Our Own Klondike.

North Carolinians need not go to far-off Alaska in the search for gold and fortune.

We have Klondikes of our own at our very doors.

Authentic information reaches Charlotte that two hands in six weeks' time had washed out 59 3-4 pounds of gold, which had an assay value of $14,200.

This rich find was made in McDowell county.

The method of extracting the gold is by sluice washing, and the findings have proved of exceptional richness.

One of the owners of the gold was here this week and had the gold assayed at the United States assay office in this city, and it was found that the gold was worth about the amount stated above. He did not want his name known and was rather reticent concerning the find and its production. But it is certainly of remarkable richness, and is proving a bonanza for the owners.—Charlotte News.

A Sin to Get Drunk.
It is a sin to get drunk. It is a sin against self, against the family, against the State and the nation. It is a sin against God. "No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God." The Word of God says so. It is a sin to get drunk, but, more, it is a sin not to say so. We fail if we do not take advantage of every opportunity to say so. Thousands of our fellow men are asking this question every day. It is a vital one, and its answer will have much to do toward making those who ask it better or worse. There ought not, therefore, to be any uncertainty in our replies. Every man who indulges in intoxicating liquors is fully persuaded in his own mind that its effect on him as an individual is evil, and only evil. He is not fully persuaded that he is injuring his family or his neighbor. He can not, however, quiet his conscience as to his God, and so after each indulgence that deprives him of his senses, the question forces itself upon him. Is it a sin to get drunk? What a day of thanksgiving there would be in many hearts if the answer would be a strong, clear "Yes!"
—Presbyterian Banner.

As one Man Sees Things.
We never knew a loafer who did not have a lot of rights coming to him. A part of every man's training for old age should be a cultivation of the game of solitaire. A woman doesn't really know what criticism is until she gets married and goes to visit her husband's kin. Why don't turnips and beets ever disagree with people? No one likes turnips and beets, anyway. It is noticeable when two men are eating peanuts, the man who bought them always eats the fastest. Another Atchison girl with cut-glass tastes has become engaged to a uncup young man. What a fool trick it is for a country dog to follow his master's wagon to town on a hot day when he might have remained at home in the shade. Desperation has already led to crime, and crime to sudden death, up in the Alaskan wilderness. One poor fellow, having exhausted his supply of provisions, stole a side of bacon and was summarily shot. In view of the fact that a large proportion of the gold hunters are provided with barely enough food to last through a tramp to Dawson under the most favorable conditions, lawlessness and suffering are bound to supervene in front of the blockaded passes when supplies shall run short. To be stranded in an Arctic waste without money or food, and with no shelter against the winter except a tent, means death; and that will be the certain fate of a majority of the mad rushers for the Alaskan El Dorado.—Philadelphia Record.

A most remarkable thing has occurred in the city of Staunton. The telephone people, whose experience with pretty telephone girls had been somewhat unsatisfactory, advertised for ugly girls and there were twenty five applicants. Here is a new departure and there is promise that the ugly girl will yet get her inning.

A Sight Worth Seeing.

The middle row of tobacco on the floor of the Greenville Warehouse today attracted the attention of everybody on the breaks. This row contained just 28 piles, the aggregate weight of which was 3,297 pounds. The heaviest single pile was 431 pounds. When this row was reached on the sale you could hardly see "Parson" Evans over the top of the big piles, but the way he threw his voice over them was something to listen at. He made made some of those heavy lots bring as high as $23.50.

Be Good to Yourself.

Think deliberately of the house you live in—your body. Make up your mind first not to abuse it. Wear nothing that distorts or pains it. Do not overeat with victuals or drink or work. Give yourself regular and abundant sleep. Keep your body warmly clad. Do not take cold; guard yourself against it. If you feel the first symptoms, give yourself heroic treatment. Get into a glow of heat by exercise. This is the only body that you will have in this world. Study deeply and diligently the structure of it, the laws that govern it, the pains and penalty that will surely follow a violation of every law of life and health.—Ex
