Three Things.

Three things to fight for—Honor, country and home.

Three things to love—Courage, gentleness and affection.

Three things to think about—Life,
death and eternity.

Three things to govern—Temper, tongue and conduct.

Three things to delight in—Frankness, freedom and beauty.

Three things to hate—Cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.

Three things to avoid—Idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.

Three things to wish for—Health,
friends and a cheerful spirit.

Three things to admire—Intellectual power, dignity and gracefulness.

Couldn't Do It.

A story is going the round of the papers that is far too good to be lost.
A man made a bet with a shopkeeper
that he couldn't spend all the money in a year by advertising. The shopkeeper soon found it impossible, for the simple reason that the more he advertised the more he made, and after a strenuous effort to get rid of his money in advertising he had to give it up. The story finishes up with the curt announcement that "if you don't believe it, try it, and see for yourself."—National Advertiser.

Fire Engine.

Many people have been out to the depot to look at the steam fire engine
As soon as the expert arrives the engine will be fitted up and brought down to be tested.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

For Week Ending Monday, Sept 13

The week ending Monday, September 13th, has been extremely unfavorable. Drought has prevailed for nearly twenty days and has now become very serious. The past seven days have been very hot and no a drop of rain occurred anywhere in the State. All reports received indicate a serious deterioration in crops since September 1st. Cotton has been irre-parably injured. Squares, blooms and leaves are falling off, half grown bolls have cracked and dropped, and the top crop is now almost a complete failure.
premature opening is increasing rapidly,
ly, and the outlook now is for a comparatively poor crop. Cotton is being picked rapidly. A good deal of the late corn is drying up while still immature. What tobacco remains uncut is firing badly, though the cures so far have been excellent; fortunately the bulk of this crop has been gathered.
The week was favorable only for such work as picking cotton, saving fodder (which is completed) and making hay.
Fall plowing and seeding are impossible until rain comes. Pastures and cattle perishing for lack of moisture.
Turnips, late peas, potatoes, peanuts
and rice are all suffering from drought.
Water in branches and wells is getting very low.

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

Virginia Populists have decided not to nominate a State ticket.

The greater portion of the waterfront at Oakland, Cal., involved in a lawsuit, is declared to be the property of the State.

Mrs. George N. Smith, shot in the head at Churchville, N. Y., while asleep, is dead, and her husband is accused of her murder.

Phillips Gibbons, a farmer of Livonia, N. Y., was murdered Monday night in a quarrel with two Italians,
who have been arrested.

The contract for supplying postal cards for the next four years has been finally awarded to Albert Daggett, of Washington, D. C.

Richard Dutton, a painter, fell 60 feet from the third story of a building at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and escaped with but a small gash on the back of his head.

Not So Many Lost.

We do not believe as many tobacco barns were lost by fire this season as in previous years. As people learn more about curing they become more careful,
hence there is less danger of fire.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1897.

NOT A WISE PLAN.

There was a meeting of the Cabinet in Washington on Tuesday, and among the subjects discussed was the advisability of sending supplies to Alaska to relieve the people who have gone there in search of gold. The press dispatches say:

"Secretary Alger brought up the Klondike rush and adverted to the probable necessity of relief measures for the benefit of Americans who have rushed heedlessly into the gold fields but the discussion of this matter was very informal and fruitless of results. Secretary Alger laid before the cabinet several telegrams urging relief for stricken prospectors, including one from the citizens' committee of Tacoma, representing that distress existed already at Dawson City, stating that starvation had begun and praying that a revenue cutter be sent with supplies to St. Michaels and chances being taken on getting the supplies to those in need of them. The discussion made it evident that the cabinet was not quite clear that the government authorities had warrant in law for furnishing supplies but Secretary Alger telegraphed to Senator Perkins, of California, who is interested in a line to Alaska, asking him if he would undertake to deliver a ship load of supplies at St. Michaels. If it be found that the law will not permit the government to send supplies then relief will be furnished by private persons in order that a horror may not grow out of the rush for gold."

We do not believe this a wise plan. The people who join the mad rush to Klondike in the face of all that has been printed about the perils and hardships of such a venture take the consequences upon themselves. If the idea gets out that the government is going to send supplies there for those whose rations become exhausted it will cause many others to go on this foolhardy hunt for gold.

Representative Cannon, of Illinois, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations in the late Congress, admits that the appropriations for the present fiscal year exceed the legitimate needs of the Government. In other words, in the face of a yawning Treasury deficit the public revenues have been recklessly squandered on many useless or unworthy objects. It is a fact that under reasonable expenditure the Treasury deficit would not have arisen, and there would have been no pretext for an extra session of Congress to provide more revenues. As to the responsibility for extravagant expenditure, it is pretty evenly divided between the two or three parties in Congress. In grabbing public money the new Populists according to their numbers have proved quite as rapacious as either of the older parties.—Philadelphia Record.

Twice-a-Week Reflector.

To better accommodate the large and growing advertising patronage of THE EASTERN REFLECTOR (our weekly edition) and at the same time to give our subscribers thereto more reading matter and a quicker news service, we have decided to change it from a weekly to a semi-weekly edition. We hope to have everything in readiness to make the change by the first week in October, after which time we will send each and every subscriber two papers a week instead of one as heretofore. Our present plan is to make the publication days of the semi-weekly REFLECTOR Tuesdays and Fridays, as the papers sent out on these days would best reach all sections of the county. The subscription price will remain the same, the two papers a week being sent for only ONE DOLLAR a year.

Henry Clay's Remarkable Memory.

It is said that no man ever had a more marvellous memory for faces than Henry Clay. The instances given to prove this are numberless.

On one occasion he was on his way to Jackson, Miss., and the cars stopped for a short time at Clinton. Among the crowd who pressed forward was one vigorous old man who insisted that Mr. Clay would recognize him. He had lost one eye.

"Where did I know you?" asked Mr. Clay, fixing a keen glance on this man.

"In Kentucky," was the reply. "Had you lost your eye before then, or have you lost it since?" was the next question.

"Since," answered the old man.

"Turn the sound side of your face to me so I can see your profile," said Mr. Clay, preemptorily, and the man obeyed.

"I have it!" said Mr. Clay, after a moment's scrutiny of the profile. "Didn't you give me a verdict as juror at Frankfort, Ky., in the famous case of the United States versus Innis, twenty-one years ago?"

"Yes, sir!" cried the old man trembling with delight.

"And isn't your name Hardwicke?" queried Mr. Clay, after another minute.

"I told you he'd remember me!" cried the old man turning to the crowd. "He never forgets a face. never forgets a face!"—Youth's Companion.

How McFadden Got Even.

"What's the matter, Tim? you look worried about something," said one of the clerks in a wholesale establishment as he was about to pass the porter in the warehouse a few evenings ago, according to the Cleveland Leader.

"I am worried," replied Mr. McFadden.

"How's that?"

"D'yez see that clock there?"

"Yes."

"Well, it says ten minutes to five, don't it?"

"Nine minutes to five, Tim."

"Well, then; nine minutes, is it right?"

"No; it's 5:30 now. That clock stopped thirty nine minutes ago."

"Och, how can I ever git even wid meself? You say, Mr. Blinnigton, me quatin' toime is five. And here Oi have been wurkin' and wurkin' and ivery little while Oi would look at the clock; and be golly, sez Oi, won't it niver come time to quit? So sez Oi, here's one more box Oi tumble into the back rack, and then, sez Oi it'll be toime to shopt. But phin Oi come out again, be golly, here it was noime minutes to five, so, sez Oi, wan more box, and thin it'll be toime to quit; and all to wonst it struck me, Mr. Blinnigton that the clock had shopped."

"Well, that was unlucky. So you worked half an hour over time, didn't you?"

"Half an hour, is it?" exclaimed Mr. McFadden, while the cold sweat appeared upon his brow. "Begorra, it'll be more than an hour before Oi git all them boxes what Oi ought to have tumbled rolled out here again, so Oi'll be aven-wid the furrem in the mornin'."

A. J. P. Goes to Jail.

Populist leader and fusion Justice of the Peace W. R. Hartsell, Sr., of Locust, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in jail by Judge Hoke Wednesday on a verdict of guilty of fornication and adultery. This seems to us very righteous judgment, and we would suggest that if it is in the province of the court his commission as justice of the peace ought to be taken from him, so that when he is liberated he may not continue to administer justice among citizens of the county in his way.—Stanley enterprise.

Pick it Out.

One thing about this dry weather, it makes cotton open rapidly and gives the farmers a good time to gather this crop. They should get their cotton out as rapidly as possible, for if the equinoctial storm catches it open in the field there will be much damage.

Forearmed.

Every merchant says an exchange, should have an advertising department in connection with his establishment. It only consists of a pigeon hole, where advertising ideas can be filed and referred to, it will be found a most valuable department in the business. Depending on adjectives and inspiration in advertisement writing may be all right at times, but the brightest men profit by the comparison of their ideas with other ideas.—Business, Canada.
