DEATH OF MRS. G. F. EVANS

One of Our Best Women Passes Away.

Mrs. Della Evans, the beloved wife of our townsman, Mr. G. F. Evans, entered peacefully into rest Sunday morning, 19th inst., a few minutes to 11 o'clock. Almost at the hour for the assembling of the people of God to offer their Sabbath morning devotion to Him, the spirit of this sainted woman winged its flight Heavenward to worship Him indeed in the beauty of holiness; and as earthly voices joined in songs of praise, her voice mingled with the redeemed around the Great White Throne.

Mrs. Evans was in her 68th year. A purer, sweeter, more earnest Christian woman never lived in our midst. One could not be in her presence without feeling the influence that comes from the true child of God. At an early age she joined the Baptist church and was baptised by Rev. Mr. Gwaltney, who was then pastor of the church here. For many years prior to her death she had been almost an invalid, but ever bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude, never a murmur or complaint escaping her lips. Her's was a pure, Christ-like walk through life, and in her death the church loses one of its truest members and the community one of its best women.

In the year 1866 she was married to Mr. G. F. Evans, and the years of their married life was marked by the truest love and devotion. There was indeed an ideal wedded life, where love and peace reigned. Besides the sorrowing husband, two brothers and two sisters are left to mourn her death; these are Messrs. A. A. Forbes, of Greenville and John Forbes, of California, and Mrs. Lizzie Kennedy and Mrs. Caroline Evans. Her host of friends are also deeply grieved at her death.

The funeral took place on Monday at the family burial ground four miles above Greenville. Services were conducted at the grave by Rev. A. W. Setzer. The pall bearers were C. D. Rountree, H. W. Holcombe, J. S. Jenkins, J. W. Morgan, E. R. Aiken and A. A. Andrews.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Opening Work of the Term

The September term of Pitt Superior Court convened this morning, Judge E. W. Timberlake presiding. Solicitor C. M. Bernard was sick and Mr. A. M. Moore appeared for the State in his stead.

The REFLECTOR reporter was not present in time to hear Judge Timberlake's charge to the grand jury, but those who heard it tell us that he rehearsed the law more plainly and clearly than any Judge who has been here for some time. The charge was a very instructive one.

The grand jury is composed of the following: J. White, Foreman, Joyner Wingate, H. R. Wooten, Allen Jackson, Stanley Warren, J. E. Page, G. G. Whitehurst, Gedali Tucker, J. R. Beck, Fred Phillips, John R. Smith, B. D. Nelson, W. S. Manning, Israel Moore, W. J. Sermons, J. W. Cox, J. B. Bullock, O. C. Fleming.

The regular petit jury for this week is J. L. Clark, Ison Boldree, Ulysses Joyner, B. W. Briley, L. H. Rountree, Wm. McArthur, John Eaton, C. T. Kitterell, J. B. Pittman, Wm. Worthington, W. J. Kilpatrick, Thos. S. Williams.

W. S. Briley is officer of the grand jury and Mc. G. Bryant is court crier.

LET the WORLD

Know the Truth.

The lingering days of September are sultry, but the rising mercury does not interfere with the wholesome interest that centers in our clothes selling. We are daily supplying needs of the near future. All classes of buyers are rallying in our aisles. Men who have just returned from their summer vacation, men who are preparing to travel, boys who are entering school, young fellows who are going away to college are conspicuous among those who come here to secure the choicest and best things in Suits, Hats, Underwear and Furnishing Goods. Ideal styles in Clothing at low prices are the attractions.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1897.

THREE SUPREME OBJECTS.

Just at this time and in years immediately following three supreme objects should engage the interest of North Carolina, from mountains to sea.

1. First and most important is the improvement of our educational facilities. This must be done. The State's stain of illiteracy must be wiped out. The question then narrows down to the perfecting of the public schools and inducing a regular attendance upon them. We do not advocate compulsory education. That is too undemocratic. But something must be done.

2. Diversified industries, from farming to manufacturing. The day has passed when we may expect to grow rich or even prosperous alone on our crops of cotton and tobacco. Our climate is suitable for the cultivation of nearly any product of the United States. Attention must be directed more to what is looked upon as small things, dairying, poultry raising, various foods for both man and beast, fruit growing, trucking, etc. The numerous through lines of railroads piercing the State open up abundant markets for us, and thousands of dollars will pour into the State where now not one comes. Notable examples of this are the wonderful development of the trucking and fruit-growing industry of the Eastern portion of the State in the past few years, where only a little stuff was made for the few home markets that have been opened up to the North Carolina farmers and fruit growers. It would be interesting to know how many thousands of dollars were brought into the State this year by the strawberry crop alone. We have often heard the cry of "diversify," "diversify," but it is a stern necessity. In manufacturing the chief operations are in cotton mills, of which there are a large number in the State, many of them having paid handsome profits until the hard times set in, since when few have done much more than keep going.

Profits will doubtless revive with the revival of business. Other manufactures will be built as the population grows more sustaining and opportunities of successful investments arise.

3. Road Making. This must be an important question in the State for at least the next quarter of a century. We take it that the necessity and desirability of good roads are self evident. No agricultural country can long remain in the highest state of prosperity unless the farmers have highways over which they can easily, quickly and cheaply carry their products to market. The birth of this sentiment in North Carolina is recent, but it seems well started. May it not decrease.—Monroe Journal.

How a "Duel" Was Managed.

A recent newspaper article mentioned the name of the late Kit Warren, who won fame as a humorist in Georgia. Several interesting stories were told of him, but the following appears in print for the first time:

When he was editing a country newspaper a subscriber whom he had offended with criticism sent him a challenge for a fight with shotguns.

He told the bearer to be seated, when he asked him the price of buckshot.

"Thirty cents a pound," was the reply.

"Now, said Kit, "what is power selling at?"

"Sixty cents."

Then he turned his pockets inside out—fished up a bunch of keys and several due bills, looked them over thoughtfully, then wrote this reply to his challenger: "Dear Jim: Yours received. I would be glad to accommodate you, but your friend tells me that shot is thirty cents a pound and powder sixty. And I can't invest that much money in 'em these hard times. If, however, you will lend me ninety cents I will secure you by a mortgage on the paper, and accommodate you with a few loads in any region you may suggest. I believe, however, it would take three pounds of buckshot to kill you. Send on the money and make your will."

The letter was duly delivered and that ended the matter. "Wants me ter lend him money ter buy shot ter kill me with!" exclaimed the challenger. "Durned ef I'll do it!"

A Sample of Dingley "Science."

When Mr. Dingley announced his final estimates of the revenue-producing capacity of his bill he cut in half his original figure for the "personal effects" clause and fixed it at $10,000,000.

August is one of the very best months in the year for taxes on personal effects, as the ocean steamships are crowded with Americans returning home supposedly laden with foreign purchases. The collections for August from this source were $46,892. If that were the average for the year, instead of nearly double what the average will probably be, the total would still be only about $560,000.

And the size of the total deficit for the month indicates that this is a fair example of the workings of the vaunted "Dingley scientific schedules." Could the most transcendental of cloudland tariff theorists have done worse?—New York World.

HOW IT IS.

How much are you worth?

Measured by the tape line of this world's valuations, you are rich or poor, worth much or little, according to the dollar you own. Measured by the rule of heaven, you are worth just what you can take with you into the next life.

A man who possesses in this life a million dollars is not worth a cent one moment after he is dead. Bank books are out of place in a dead man's coffin. Shrouds have no pockets. All the wealth of the universe could not purchase a single moment of time, or help a man to retain his hold upon his earthly riches for one hour. You are worth whatever of good deeds you have to your credit on the other side of death. If you have been honest, upright, faithful, full of kindness, and have builded your character along these lines, you are rich. If you have been narrow-minded, covetous, grasping, hard-hearted and self-seeking, you are poor indeed, even though the wealth of a gold mine is yours.—Durham Sun.

Money Stolen.

Yesterday afternoon, when the train came in on the Seaboard Air Line, Mrs. Annie Bond, widow of the late Mr. Fred I. Bond, of Lumberton, arrived in the city, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Leggett. Around the depot there was the usual jam of baggagemen, hackmen and others, and in the midst of the pulling and excitement Mrs. Bond lost $125 in money, or else had it snatched from her hand by some thief. It was wrapped in a handkerchief, and consisted of twelve $10 bills and one $5 bill, and when Mrs. Bond got off the train she recalled having the handkerchief in her hand.

Mrs. Bond is a widow lady without much means and has three little children dependent on her for support. The money she had was her dependence, and the loss is a severe blow to her.—Wilmington Messenger.

Horse in a Well.

Joe Biggers lives in No. 10 township, this county, and owns one of the finest steeds in his neighborhood. One night recently his big grey horse got out of the stable and while strolling around the premises got too close to the well and fell in. The well is 60 feet deep and the horse lodged about ten feet above the water and remained in that position until next morning, when Mr. Biggers went to the well to draw water. The horse, then, in struggling to free itself, dropped into the water. The alarm was sent out through the neighborhood, and after a heroic effort, with the aid of a combination pulley and rope, a dozen or more men succeeded in bringing the horse out alive. The animal was badly mutilated, but is living and is said to be doing well.—Concord Correspondence to Charlotte Observer.

Some people have a mistaken idea that certain kinds of labor are degrading and dishonorable. Young men and boys should be impressed with the fact that every kind of honest labor is honorable, and that to earn a dollar by any kind of legitimate industry is preferable to loafing and smoking cigarettes, or waiting for some job to turn up that will not soil their hands. Boys, get this fact in your mind that it is just as honorable to hoe corn, pick cotton or chop wood as it is to stand behind the counter, keep books or practice any profession. Sensible people do not look down upon any man for doing any kind of work that he may find to do.—Ex.

It has become more and more apparent with every issue of the Populis. State papers, that the policy of next year's campaign will be to inflame the people with cries about "monopoly," "corporation," "railroads," so that they will close their ears to the exposure of the infamies of fusion government in North Carolina. The campaign upon this line has already begun. The people of North Carolina will be indefensibly foolish if they allow themselves next year to take counsel of their passions instead of their senses. We should think they had had enough of listening to appeals to their prejudices by demagogic editors and politicians, seeing the bog they are in.—Charlotte Observer.

Twice-a-Week Reflector.

To better accommodate the large and growing advertising patronage of THE EASTERN REFLECTOR (our weekly edition) and at the same time to give our subscribers thereto more reading matter and a quicker news service, we have decided to change it from a weekly to a semi-weekly edition. We hope to have everything in readiness to make the change by the first week in October, after which time we will send each and every subscriber two papers a week instead of one as heretofore. Our present plan is to make the publication days of the semi-weekly REFLECTOR Tuesdays and Fridays, as the papers sent out on these days would best reach all sections of the county. The subscription price will remain the same, the two papers a week being sent for only ONE DOLLAR a year.

NEGRO PEDLER ARRESTED

For Fraudulent Use of U. S. Mail

Wednesday, 15th, Peter Dudley, a negro man residing near Johnsons Mills, was taken before United States Commissioner, A. J. Lotin, charged with fraudulent use of United States Mails, or an attempt to swindle through the mails; having been arrested upon a warrant sworn out by postoffice inspector H. T. Gregory. Dudley was committed to jail in default of bail to await trial in United States court at Newbern, N. C. The witnesses for the government, besides the inspector, were Miss Annie B. Harding, Miss Martha Harding and Walter F. Harding, all of Johnsons Mills, the former having been postmaster at that office for sometime.

Dudley was engaged in peddling medicines, remedies, etc., about the country, and his scheme appears to have been to induce Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago, Ill., to send him money for an alleged registered letter, which he claims to have sent them, containing $36.46, but of which no record has been found; and instead of reporting the matter to his postmaster, or the postoffice department, he enters into correspondence with the postmaster at Chicago and the firm, intending to convince them by various letters and two mutilated register receipts, that he had sent the registered letter; the receipts having been altered in Dudley's writing and afterwards had ink poured over them to hide the alterations.

He gradually weakened on the amount he claims until he stated that almost any amount would satisfy him. His object was evidently expressed when he claimed that the firm had written him previously that they had $5,000 in bank, which had been sent them by parties failing to sign their names to orders, and he claims to have failed to sign his name to his order in the alleged letter.

Walston Stumped.

When the criminal docket was being called this morning the case of J. A. Walston for costs was reached. This is the case in which Walston was before Judge Robinson at the two previous terms of court and which became a rather touchy subject to the Judge because of the defendant's importunities. Walston was called before Judge Timberlake this morning and wanted to try his hand on another statement, but the judge cut him off with the remark that he did not want to hear any statement as Judge Robinson had advised him about the case, and he must pay some of that cost this week or be sent to work it out on the roads.

Must be in Court

So many witnesses had to be called at the window of the court house this morning, that Judge Timberlake made announcement that hereafter all witnesses who have to be called from the window will not be allowed to prove their attendance. The witnesses must be in the court room when their names are called or they will get no pay.
