ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS.

Made by the Orange, Va., Observer.

The sty is the only real eye-sore.

The real bone of contention is the jaw bone.

Many a man resembles a brick when he is hard pressed.

Pure thoughts adorn the mind as choice pictures do a room.

The looking glass never "talks back," but it often casts reflections.

Many a man can lift a barrel of flour who cannot lift a three months note.

The man who never made a mistake in his life never made anything else.

If fit material for a kiss you seek,
you need but two lips and a little cheek.

A marriage license is like a Confederate bond—it is issued as a war measure.

You can always entrust a secret to a "moonshiner," for he knows how to keep still.

It is a wise man who follows his knows, but a wiser man who knows his followers.

A smile in sleep is the reflected gleam of a love-tipple upon the current of a dream.

The Prohibition ticket hasn't the ghost of a show in Virginia, because that party has no spirit in the campaign.

If some people were constructed upon the proportion of what they say to what they do, there wouldn't be anything of them but a mouth.

Hope is the radiant star in the firmament of life, and throughout the darkest night of adversity it sheds down a silvery stream of light to cheer us through gloom, and bid us upward look.

GRAND OPENING.

A Feast of New Goods for the Ladies.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept.
28th and 29th, I will have my grand opening of fall and winter millinery and novelties. The display will embrace the very newest styles and latest effects of the season's fashions, in pattern Hats, ribbons, flowers, feathers, velvets, trimmings, ornaments, etc. While in the northern markets I made a close study of all the new styles and my selections were made with great care. These selections are now ready for exhibition, on the above named days.
All the ladies are cordially invited to attend the opening and examine the pretty goods I have to show them.

MRS. GEORGIA JAMES.

A MORNING MARRIAGE.

Both Parties Known in Greenville.

The following we clip from the Wilmington Messenger of the 24th inst.
We all know Keeper Westbrook here he is the brother of Mrs. E. R. Aiken, and Miss Pearsall was the pretty music teacher at the college when Prof.
Goode was principal:

"Mr. J. Keener Westbrook and Miss Annie Pearsall, daughter of Mr. Oscar Pearsall, were united in matrimony yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Andrews Presbyterian church, a large number of relatives and friends being present to witness the happy affair. The altar was very tastefully decorated with potted plants, cut flw-ers and golden rod, and the effect was quite pretty. Miss Elizabeth Pearsall, sister of the bride, presided at the organ and the marriage ceremony was impressively performed by the Rev. A.
D. McClure. The ushers, Mr. Fred Pearsall, brother of the bride, Mr. La-zey Hart, Mr. Jack Clement and Mr.
Frank S. Westbrook, brother of the groom, led the way to the altar, and they were followed by the groom with his bride leaning upon his arm. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bride roses and was attired in a pretty tailor made going away gown of green cloth.

Mr. Westbrook and his bride took the 9:25 a. m. train on the Atlantic Coast Line for Richmond, Va., and other cities. They will be at home October 1st at "Fernwood," the home of the bride's father, three miles east of Wilmington. They were the recipients of many handsome presents and no end of congratulations, in which the Messenger most heartily joins."

LET the WORLD
Know the Truth.

The lingering days of September are sultry, but the rising mercury does not interfere with the wholesome interest that centers in our clothes selling. We are daily supplying needs of the near future. All classes of buyers are rallying in our aisles. Men who have just returned from their summer vacation, men who are preparing to travel, boys who are entering school, young fellows who are going away to college are conspicuous among those who come here to secure the choicest and best things in Suits, Hats.
Underwear and Furnishing Goods. Ideal styles in Clothing at low prices are the attractions.

RICH THINGS IN MILEAGE.

The Attorney General of Iowa, travels on a railroad pass and collects 5 cents per mile from the State treasury. That is the way Congressmen from the far West make money. The statesman who represents a California district has a perfect bonanza in using passes and collecting mileage, the mileage oftentimes being more than his salary as Congressman. There cannot be too many extra sessions for Congress to please him—Cleveland Press.

There are, perhaps, very few if any Congressmen who do not have passes over the railroads between their home and Washington City. They are allowed 20 cents a mile for travelling expenses—an outrageously high allowance—and when they go to Washington to attend a session of Congress they travel on a pass and then step up to the treasurer and draw 20 cents for each mile traveled and drop it in their pockets. It may be honest to do this, but there are people who fail to view it in that light.

And this matter of traveling on passes and drawing mileage at the same time is not confined to Congressmen. There are Sheriffs in North Carolina who travel on passes to Raleigh to carry prisoners to the penitentiary or patients to the hospital and at the same time draw mileage and put it in their pockets.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept 24, 1897

Mr. McKinley and his Attorney General are in New England just in time to receive the thanks of the numerous persons in that section who will be largely benefited financially by the construction the Attorney General, under direct orders from Mr. McKinley, has placed upon section 22 of the new tariff law. It has long been a saying around Washington that "New England never gets left in tariff legislation." For a time it looked as though that saying would prove false, because it seemed certain that the discriminating duties prescribed by section 22 would be levied upon the United States through any portion of Canada. It was stated that Attorney General McKenna favored that construction, which Senator Elkins declares was what those who framed the section intended, but New England influences were brought to bear upon Mr. McKinley and he promptly responded—he will need New England support in the next Republican convention. The result is the opinion of the Attorney General, which will be accepted as law by the Treasury officials who administer the tariff declaring that the section does not impose a discriminating duty on importations from other countries shipped through Canada; nor upon importations from countries other than British possessions shipped in British vessels. Senator Elkins announces his intention to make a fight in Congress for legislation that will compel the collection of discriminating duties upon the class of importations exempted by the Attorney General's opinion, but with the administration against him he is not likely to make much headway. It is probable that he is only making a bluff, anyway.

It was an absolute waste of breath for Secretary Sherman to deny the truth of the story cabled from Europe, that this government had sent an ultimatum to Spain saying that the war in Cuba must be ended before the last of October, or this government would take steps to secure the independence of Cuba. It was very well known to every person who had watched the antics of this administration upon Cuban matters that no such prompt and businesslike policy had been put into effect, although the administration may have some such story sprung upon the public a day or two before the Ohio election and allow it to go undenied until after the votes are counted.

Speaking of the Ohio campaign, it looks now as though Boss Hanna had succeeded with his little scheme to put a muzzle on John Sherman until after the election in that State. All along Mr. Sherman has stated it to be his intention to make some speeches in Ohio, and he reiterated that intention, even after Mr. McKinley had hinted to him that he had doubts of the propriety of the Secretary of State making stump speeches, but the old man has been silenced some way, and this week he said that he had about decided that the State of his health would not permit him to take any part in the Ohio campaign. Some day the whole story of the manner in which John Sherman has been treated by Boss Hanna and Mr. McKinley will get out, and you may be sure it will make interesting reading.

Eleven more or less eminent advocates of the single gold standard and enemies of bimetalism, international or independent, met in Washington this week, and with all the egotism of the tailors of Tooley Street, who it will be remembered, styled themselves "we, the people," and organized themselves into a monetary conference, under authority of a resolution adopted by the gold bankers convention that met at Indianapolis last January. This job is also being bossed by Hanna, but not big Boss Hanna. Mr. H. H. Hanna, of Indianapolis, who nagged Mr. McKinley into sending that special message to Congress, just before adjournment, asking for authority to appoint a monetary commission, is the boss of this outfit. Congress ignored that recommendation, but a little thing like that didn't worry this Mr. Hanna, who proceeded to appoint a monetary commission of his own, and he is actually foolish enough to believe that Congress will pay serious attention to the recommendations it will make, which are certain to be antagonistic to silver.

Security and Chance

The instinct to lay by stores for a "rainy day" is the instinct of self preservation and of civilization. It has led to the development of life-insurance companies and banks and savings institutions of all sorts. It leads the well to do to forego high rates of interest in order that the income from their wealth may be as certain and secure as possible. It is this same instinct that leads careful persons of limited means to turn to the government as the only absolutely safe custodian for their small savings.

In establishing postal savings banks a nation carries its people forward a step in civilization, inasmuch as it is giving to them an additional security against misfortune. A person who puts his savings into the postoffice bank will know that when hardship and want overtake him, whether because of misfortune or declining years, his money will be forthcoming. The fact that there is such a safe place of deposit provided will induce many to make provision against future want who otherwise would permit themselves to become charges upon society when misfortune overtakes them or when old age finds them unprepared to earn a support by their labor.

To the persons for whom the postal savings bank is intended the rate of interest paid on deposits is of minor importance. What such persons want above everything else is absolute security against loss. They want to eliminate from life the danger that in their declining years they may find themselves without the means of sustaining existence.

should establish a system of postal savings banks for the people of the United States without further unnecessary delay.—Chicago Record

Do They Know?

Does your milkman know that you are a Christian? Does he have to come to your house with cream for your coffee Sunday morning? Has your butcher found out that you have made a start for heaven? Does he have to keep open shop for you on the Sabbath? Does your news boy suspect that you belong to church? Does your wash woman know that she is toiling for a child of God? If you had to go to Heaven on the testimony of your dressmaker, could you do it? Let your light shine, so that all these people can see that you believe in God, who is good. They have a right to all your influence to help them toward the kingdom and if they are not receiving it you are robbing them of just that much.
