GRAND OPENING.

A Feast of New Goods for the Ladies.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept.
28th and 29th, I will have my grand opening of fall and winter millinery and novelties. The display will embrace the very newest styles and latest effects of the season's fashions, in pattern hats, ribbons, flowers, feathers, velvets, trimmings, ornaments, etc. While in the northern markets I made a close study of all the new styles and my selections were made with great care. These selections are now ready for exhibition on the above named days.
All the ladies are cordially invited to attend the opening and examine the pretty goods I have to show them.

MRS. GEORGIA JAMES.

Next Sunday

On the first Sunday in October Rev.
N. M. Watson will begin a series of meetings in the Methodist church. He will be assisted in the meetings by Rev.
J. A. Hornaday, of Weldon.

Mr. N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, will conduct the services in the Baptist church next Sunday. At the morning services the Lord's Supper will be celebrated, and at the evening service a Baptist Young People's Union will be organized.

And the Best

Mr. B. C. Pearce, who is just back from Baltimore, tells the REFLECTOR that he heard more talk about Greenville than any other town. He added
"I tell you Greenville is the biggest town of its size in the State."

Attention Firemen!

GRAND JURY'S REPORT

Condition of Jail and Court House and Other Matters

The Grand Jury, through Jonathan White, Foreman, made the following report to Judge Timberlake on Saturday:

We have passed on all papers sent to us.

We have examined the jail and found it in as good condition as the crowded condition will admit. There was no complaint as to food and treatment by the prisoners.

We find that the Court House has been repaired, painted, &c., and is now in a good condition. We recommend that some seats be placed in the passage near the Grand Jury room for the comfort of witnesses.

We believe that all the officers of the county have performed their duties faithfully.

We recommend that Joan Collins be sent to some place that will keep him off the public highway, before some one will get into trouble with or by him.

A committee of our body has been to the Home of the Aged and Infirm.
We find that the buildings are all in good condition, rooms are all clean, bedding clean. We hear no complaints from the inmates. We recommend that the Superintendent give them more of his attention.

Death of Mrs. T. A. Nichols.

The sad news of the sudden death of Mrs. T. A. Nichols came to us Saturday evening like a thunderbolt from a cloudless sky. This good woman possessed all the elements of a true and noble christian character; her beautiful life was the pattern and example for all who knew her. No one in her neighborhood did more to elevate and raise the standard of morality than Mrs. Nichols. Every effort of her life was exercised to make others happy.
Her extraordinary kindness and hospitality was known and enjoyed by far and near who ever visited her happy home. As a true and faithful, loving wife, a devoted mother, a faithful friend, a most excellent neighbor, she stood without a rival. And now there is hushed on earth a voice of gladness.
There is veiled a face whose parting leaves a dark and silent place by the once joyous hearth. A soul has passed which filled that home with light, a smile that made that soul so bright.

famous trans-Atlantic manufacturing cities. We selected the best that the makers of France, Germany, Austria, England and Scotland have produced, and you are invited to examine them while they are yet in their exquisite state of freshness and beauty. There are multitudes of plain makes in mono-colors, and an showing designs and combinations that are too kaleidoscopic for any advertising pen to de-

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1897.

The yellow fever condition down South grows worse. New cases are reported every day and the fever spreads to new places.

Governor Russell on Friday suspended the two Wilsons as Railroad Commissioners and appointed L. C. Caldwell and J. M. Pearson in their stead. The old commissioners refused positively to surrender the offices and the matter will be tested through the courts.

The report comes from Providence, R. I., that when laborers were removing a day or two ago the ruins of the Masonic temple that was burned a year or more ago, they found a smouldering fire that burst into flame as soon as air was admitted to the embers.

Postal Banks at Washington.

Assistant Secretary Spaulding, of the Treasury department at Washington was interviewed on the subject of postal-savings banks the other day by a Chicago Record correspondent. He said: "I do not think the government ought to enter the banking business in competition with private parties, but the postal-savings bank need not do this. As I understand the purpose of the advocates of this system, it is to accommodate certain small depositors who could not in most cases reach banks and who dissipate their small earnings under present conditions. If this system reaches such people it will prove a great benefit to them. Postal-savings banks open a way for insignificant depositors to accumulate and become of appreciable value to the depositors. In this way such banks are an incentive for economy and induce thrift. Self respect accompanies the possession of a little money, and such a system, therefore, tends to better citizenship. It also tends to place considerable money at the disposal of the government which otherwise would be lost both to the government and the citizen. It seems to me that the plan ought to be worked out to great advantage to everybody concerned."

Third Assistant Postmaster General Merritt said to the same correspondent:

"The people should be encouraged in habits of thrift and economy, and no better way of accomplishing that result can be devised than by offering them a perfectly secure and reliable savings bank, where small deposits can be placed at interest. The habit of economy once formed will rapidly grow and spread, and postal-savings banks will prove a success from the day they are established in this country."

Do Not Lease the Convicts.

There appears to be only one reason for leasing the penitentiary convicts to a syndicate, and that is that the administration cannot or will not have this institution so managed that it is not a scandal and a burden to the taxpayers. The penitentiary, under Democratic administrations, was self-supporting and a credit to the State. Now it is overrun with Governor's favorites, and accusations of the most serious and scandalous nature are made against its officers without drawing any denial.

The proposition to farm out the convicts ought not to be considered. If a syndicate can make money from them, so can the State, and to turn them over to persons whose only purpose it will be to get the most from them with the least possible return offers endless opportunity for abuse, downright cruelty and scandal without end. The experience of other States confirms this view, and the commendation that has heretofore been made of North Carolina's convict system, when it was under Democratic control, ought to suggest that, instead of changing to a system condemned in all experience, a return be made to the economical and humane management that preceded the present exhibition of incompetency and extravagance.—Asheville Citizen.

As To Advertising

Harper's Weekly, we see in a contemporary, "thinks that the most notable thing in modern journalism is the charm which has come to the advertisements." Without any purpose to "talk shop" at this time, we may be permitted to concur in this declaration. The advertisement has come to be one of the very most interesting features of the newspaper. Men and women read the advertising quite as much as they read the news columns. Both read them for business reasons, and no advertiser offers a bargain in the modern newspaper that it is not immediately snapped up. This is the result of a change of method. In former years the merchant put his advertisement in the local newspaper and it gave his name and announced that he kept constantly on hand a large and well selected stock of dry goods, groceries, hardware, general merchandise and everything usually kept in a first class store. This conveyed nothing that the community did not already know perfectly well, and this advertisement stood from one year's end to another, an offense to the eye, and a source of no profit to the advertiser. All this has been changed. The business man now presents a specific article or articles to the public, and the public is always on the lookout for them. Advertising, from being general, has become special, and it has so much the element of news, and has such an intensely practical side, that no newspaper reader feels that he or she has gotten the worth of the paper unless the advertising columns have been read. This is one of the evolutions of the times, and one of the features of this practical and resourceful age.—Charlotte Observer.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lynch, of Scottsburg, Ind., have 23 children, 12 sons and 11 daughters, all alive and well.

Just try a box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

The Sage of Bunyan was in town yesterday and was interviewed by our reporter. He imparted the important information that the next time he shakes a persimmon tree he will know who eats the persimmon. He then declared that in the next campaign in this district there would be three Congressional candidates in the field, Judge G. H. Brown Democratic, Moyer, of Pitt. Populist, and striking himself on the breast said your humble servant Republican. We asked what about Skinner, oh! said the Sage, Skinner is not in it, he is a back number, if the bolting Populists see fit they can nominate him and he will be the fourth candidate, and a lively time we will have.—Washington Messenger.

Sensation in Court at Norfolk.

The Norfolk Ledger says: "Asa Saunders, a negro, who in July last attempted to kill a woman with whom he lived, with an axe, created a sensation in the Hastings Court today while being tried for the offense. The jury had just retired to deliberate on their verdict, and the prisoner was seated before Judge Watts, near where counsel have their seats. He was seen to reach under a table and pick up the axe with which his crime had been committed, and before his object could be frustrated, struck himself three times in the forehead; making a bad flesh wound. Sheriffs Smith and Abbott took the weapon away from Saunders before further damage could be done, and about this time the jury returned a verdict giving him ten years in the penitentiary."

Affected Her Mind Only

The "divine healer" cured one case yesterday—that of a colored woman who claimed to have had rheumatism. She declares she was well and could get about as well as any one of her years. Late in the afternoon she went to a store and was telling about it, when someone suggested she was well by no means and was then limping. This talk was taken up by one or two others in the store and in ten minutes the old woman was so bad off that she had to be hauled home. She vowed she had been "hoodooed" and was wrathful over it.—Greensboro Record.

Year Without Summer

Seventy-nine years ago was the year without a summer says an exchange. Frost occurred every month in the year 1816. Ice formed a half inch thick in May. Snow fell to the depth of three inches in New York, and also in Massachusetts in June. Ice was formed of the thickness of a common window glass throughout New York on the 5th day of July. Indian corn was so frozen that the greater part was cut in August and dried for fodder, and the farmers supplied themselves from the corn produced in 1815 for the spring 1817.

To County Officers

Auditor Ayer was today engaged in writing the various county officers that they must comply with sections 33 and 109 of the machinery act, which requires that all sheriffs, clerks of courts and registers of deeds must furnish the auditor with copies of their bonds, says the Raleigh Press. This is done so that the auditor may know the bondsmen of these officers in the event that they fail to comply with the laws.
