QUINERLY ITEMS.

Personal Notes and Other Items of Interest.

QUINERLY, N. C., Nov. 18, '97.
Mrs. Joshua Tucker is quite sick.

Ask H. C. Brooks who got "hoo-dooed" last Sunday night.

What's the matter with "Dr." A. M. Moize? Oh! he is all right.

Miss Lissa Smith, of Trenton, is the guest of L. J. Chapman this week.

Henry Archbell, a commercial tourist of Kinston, was here on the 16th inst.

There have been about 700 bales of cotton marketed here so far this season.

Dr. W. C. Whitfield was visiting relatives near Seven Springs last Sunday.

Ask J. B. Latham which is the hardest, his head or the brake handle on the mail train.

W. J. Branch representing the Eastern Warehouse was here on Wednesday looking after the weed.

Misses Stella Evans and Mattie Burney are on the sick list this week. We hope for their speedy convalescence.

Dr. R. C. Maxwell, of Duplin county, is billed for three lectures at Quinerly Academy, this week, subject Phrenology.

A certain widower near here says he has his gun loaded for a certain young man if he don't let his girl alone. How about it Major?

A very interesting prayer meeting service was held at Salem Christian church last Sunday night with B. J. Skinner as leader.

A. H. Critcher, of the Greenville Warehouse and N. H. Whitfield, of the Star, were here a few days ago looking out for the interest of their respective houses.

Misses Rachael and Daisy Bright returned home on the 12th, inst., after a short visit to their sister, Mrs. J. L. Patrick, very much to the discomfiture of two of our young men.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to return sincere thanks to the people of Greenville for their kindness and attention to my father during his late sickness and death.

W. M. KINSAUL.

Bible Day Service.

At the Baptist church on Sunday night a Bible day service will be held. There will be an interesting programme of recitations and dialogues by children connected with the Sunday School. Public invited.

STATE NEWS.

Three students have been expelled from the State University for hazing.

The Western North Carolina Methodist Conference is in session at Asheville.

The gin house of M. M. Perry near Raleigh, was destroyed by fire on Monday night. The loss was $2,000 with $710 insurance.

The Governor has commuted the death sentence of George Johnson, the Wilmington negro who was convicted of rape and sentenced to be hanged on Thanksgiving day, to life imprisonment.

It is learned that the owners of the Davis school are indebted to the professors several thousands of dollars for services rendered. They have employed counsel and may bring suit against Colonel A. C. Davis, now of Goldsboro, who is said to own all but four $50 shares in the school.

Last Friday, soon after the dinner hour, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, of Greene county, who formerly resided in this section, went out to the field to work, leaving their two small children in the house, and after working a while they discovered that their house was on fire. They immediately ran to the house and reached it in time only to save one of their little children, the other one perished in the flames.—Goldsboro Headlight.

JUST FOR FUN.

While it is true that Martin is a Thorn in Mrs. Mack's side, he is not on her side.

"I feel like a philanthropist," said the elevator in the office building. "I give so many people a lift when they're down."

Hoax—"That man's the funniest combination I ever heard of." Joax—"Why?" Hoax—"He's a Baptist minister from Kentucky."

Guest (in cheap restaurant)—"Here, waiter, this meal is simply vile; I won't pay for it; where's the proprietor?" Waiter—"He's out at lunch, sir."

"How are you making out?" asked the inquisitive neighbor. The farmer, who had already dug down to the depth of 100 feet without striking water, replied: "Oh! I'm getting a long well."

"I thought you said Hobbs and his wife agreed in all things." "Not at all." "Why, in relating that little occurrence the other night you said she backed him up." "I didn't; I said she got her back up."

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1897.

Georgia has this year upon its State pension roll the names of 10,437 men and women entitled to enjoy its privileges. They include 4,381 invalid soldiers and 3,173 old Confederates who are indigent. The widows are cared for by an annual appropriation of $240,000, the invalids get $190,000 and the indigents $150,000, making a total of $580,000.

The Vote in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 17.—The official vote in Ohio for the respective candidates for Governor at the late election is thus recorded:

Bushnell, Rep., 429,816; Chapman, Dem., 401,515; Holliday, Pro., 7,553; Coxey, Pop., 6,254; Dexter, National Dem., 1,661; Watkins, Socialist Labor, 4,242; Lewis, negro Protective, 476; Liberty, 8,197. Bushnell's plurality 28,101. The vote in Ohio for President McKinley and other candidates for President given here for comparison, was: McKinley, Rep., 525,991; Bryan, Dem., 474,882; Bryan, People's party, 2,615; Levering, Prohibition, 5,063; Bentley, National Pro., 2,716; Matchett, Socialist Labor, 1,165; Palmer, National Democrat, 1,558. McKinley's plurality 51,519.

The Senate has 17 known Republican members, 18 known Democrats and one fusion Republican, elected on the Democratic ticket in Cincinnati. Total 36. The House has 58 known Republican members, 47 known Democrats and 4 fusion Republicans elected on the Democratic ticket in Cincinnati. Total 109. On joint ballot the Republicans have five majority. If they can get the fusion Republicans the majority will be 11. Of the known Republicans three have declined to say how they will vote for United States Senator.

The Hanna men claim all of the known Republicans, which if the claim is well founded, would give Mr. Hanna a majority of two on joint ballot.

Embossed in Gold.

To buy and reproduce famous paintings involves an expenditure that could hardly be borne unless, as in the case of The Youth's Companion, the enterprise is sustained by the approval of more than five hundred thousand subscribers. The Companion's Souvenir Calendar for 1898, a series of charming figure-pieces, faithfully copied in colors and embossed in gold, is recognized as one of the richest and most costly examples of this form of art. Yet every new subscriber receives it without additional charge. Moreover, the paper is sent free to new subscribers every week from the time the subscription is received until January, 1898, and then for a full year to January, 1899.

The popular price of The Companions is $1.75 a year, and the character of its contents, make it a paper for every household. Exceptional attractions are promised for the fifty two numbers to be issued during 1898. The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, the Hon. Thomas B. Reed, Rudyard Kipling, Lillian Nordica, John Burroughs, W. D. Howells and Max O'Rell are prominent in the long list of eminent contributors named in The Companion's announcement, which will be sent free to any one addressing THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 205 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

The Loyal Devotion of Two Lovers

Miss Minnie Stirewalt, daughter of Rufus Stirewalt, of near Ebenezer, this county, was quite recently taken to the State Hospital at Morganton. For a long time she had been afflicted and some time since her mind became affected and it was thought best to have her taken to the Hospital, where she could be properly attended.

Rev. G. H. Cox relates to us a pathetic incident, or series of incidents, in connection with Miss Stirewalt's affliction. She was engaged to a young man some years ago and they would have married but for the affliction which came upon her. Four years ago this young man, who was working in Concord, became very ill. He was taken with fever which it was thought would prove fatal. But he was brought back to health. The physician attending stated that the presence of the young lady and her attentions is what saved the sick man's life.

And when the lady became afflicted and lost her mind the young man became, if possible, more loyal in his devotion than ever.

Last week he accompanied her to Morganton and saw that she would be properly cared in the State Hospital.—Salisbury Sun.

He who invests one dollar in business should invest one dollar in advertising that business.—A. T. Stewart.

Henry George was traveling once on a sleeping car. The porter came to brush the dust off and "work" him for the customary quarter. There were but few passengers. George reflected on the fact that Pullman paid his poor black hireling little or naught, and relied on their ability to brush and gouge the public instead, and he determined to give him all the change he found in his pocket. He thought there might be about 60 cents, but there actually was $3 in quarters, halves and dimes. He gave it all to the darkey, who dropped his broom and stared at the tip and then at George. "This all for me boss?" he gasped. "It's all for you," replied George. The darkey looked at the little, rusty, modest man and again at handful of silver. "Wow!" he ejaculated; "it's true as de Good Book puts it, you nevah cain tell how fah a toad kin jump twell you sees him hop."—San Francisco Wave.

It's not the loudest amens that get the Lord's ear the quickest.

Some people imagine they are religious when the pleasures and excitement they get from it is the real attraction.

Time will fly for every one but for him who waits.—From "The God Yutzo."

Why we Are Unhappy.

That the world is full of dissatisfied and unhappy people we all know, but very few of us give any thought to one of the principal causes of the despondency and sadness of the race. It is only when we have almost finished our lives that we learn that great expectations and high hopes are only extremes from which we must recover, and that every undue anticipation is an unnatural condition and must bring its reaction in corresponding depression.

It is very much better to preserve a fair equilibrium under all circumstances. "A perfectly splendid time" is almost invariably followed by a series of events that rob life of its brightness. It is not that anything so terrible that really occurred, but the good time has raised the hopes so high and filled the heart with such bright anticipation of future good times that every day pleasures appear tame and insipid.—Ex.

It's the Trade Magnet.

Good advertising is the magnet which pulls trade. You may have just as good values as the other fellow, but if he tells the public about his ability to do better for them than any one else, and you do not, he will get the trade. If you are newly established in business, no matter how much you deserve the patronage of the public, things won't come your way very fast unless you tell people why it is to their advantage to trade with you—tell them convincingly, and keep telling them. If you are already at the top in your line in your town, the best way to keep a cinch on the position is to keep right on telling the people how you "got there" by selling more goods, or better goods for the money, than any other firm.—Chicago Dry Goods Reporter.

Of Service to the King.

There is a sweet story told of two little girls and Emperor William I of Germany, grandfather of the present emperor,
who, however, was then only King of Prussia. The old king had a daughter whom he loved very dearly.

But she died when she was quite young, and the king grieved very much. He had a flower called by her name. Two little girls who lived in a village near the palace heard of the king's sorrow and his love for this flower. So they went out into the fields and gathered their arms full of flowers of this kind and carried them to the palace.
The way was long, and they came there hot and tired, and the flowers were all dusty and withered. A great big soldier, who was sentinel at the gate, tried to drive them away, but just then the king came out. They went to him and said they had brought the flowers because they had heard that he loved them so well. The king very gently took the faded flowers from their arms,
and the tears fell from his eyes
as he thought of his daughter.
He took the little girls into the palace and had them sit at his own table. They feasted there with all the grand ladies and gentlemen of the court. And they never forgot that to their dying day.—Hopeful Thoughts.

disease germs.

Philosophy at the Zoo.

Two youths looked into a cage of monkeys.

Through their nostrils puffs of smoke came fourth at regular intervals from white wrapped cigarettes.

Their heads were nicely balanced by a wealth of hair parted exactly in the middle.

Light bamboo canes grasped firmly in the middle showed they were full grown men.

"See," said one, "what we have descended from!"

And they looked into the cage of monkeys and laughed.

The mother monkey called her children about her.

They climbed gravely on the perch
to listen to her words.

She pointed to the young men.

"See," said the mother monkey,
"what some of our ancestors have degenerated into!"

The Missing Link.

The party of scientists and antiquarians who were exploring the Rocky mountains in the spring of the year 2000, mounted on their new '00 model bikes, suddenly heard a loud cry of triumph from the lips of Professor Rubbertire of the Smithsonian institution, who was some distance ahead.

Hastening forward, they found the professor standing by the side of the moldering remains of a wagon. In front of the decaying fragments lay the petrified remains of four extinct animals.

"See," said the professor, pointing to the animal to the right, nearest the wagon. "We have found the missing link between that noble machine, the bicycle, and the animal kingdom at last."

"What is it?" asked the excited group.

"That, gentlemen," said the professor, "is undoubtedly the fossil remains of a wheel horse."

His First Client.

"My first client," said M. Chaix d'Est Auge at the dinner table of a prosperous bourgeois, "was the greatest scoundrel unhung—a bad egg any way you took him. But I got him off. He was the black sheep of a good family, and his conviction
would have made a great scandal."
Toward the close of the dinner a pompous, important personage entered, and as the host was about to introduce him to the advocate he said: "Oh, I need no introduction to M. d'Est Auge! I was his first client."—New York Tribune.

NOVEMBER NOTES

Gathered Together for Reflector Readers

Ice plentiful this morning.

A handsome line of Bridal Presents
just received of Mrs. Georgia James.

The frost this morning was a grown
one, looking almost like a light snow.

See the handsome goods suitable for bridal and Thanksgiving presents, at Mrs. M. D. Higgs.

At the Methodist church tonight
there will be a practice of music for Thanksgiving services.

Expressed to S. M. Schultz Fresh Mountain Butter, Chestnuts, Apples and Peanut Brittle.

The temperature went down to 27
last night; the lowest point reached so far since cold weather came.

Evans, Joyner & Co. warn the public against cashing or trading for a lost check. See advertisement.

Where are the bird hunters? We do not hear of any full bags, though it was reported early in the fall that game
was plentiful.

Housekeepers will soon be in quest
articles for the Thanksgiving dinner. Dealers should let them know what they have.

THE REFLECTOR again calls attention to the fact that Greenville will observe Thanksgiving day by a suspension of business.

Notice.

This is to notify my friends and patrons that I have this day withdrawn
from the partnership of The Greenville Supply Co. and have connected myself with R. L. Davis & Bros' under the firm name of Speight & Co. and will continue to buy cotton and produce as before under said firm name. Thanking my friends for their past patronage,
I assure them that their interests will always have my careful consideration.
I think I am better prepared to handle their business than ever before, and so licit a continuance of their patronage,
This Nov. 16th, 1897

THE WHITE DOE

Charming Poem Read by Mrs. Cotten.

Mrs. R. R. Cotten, as announced, read her poem, "The White Doe" at the Presbyterian church Thursday night, where an intelligent and appreciative audience greeted this truly gifted lady. Mrs. Cotten is well known to every man, woman and child in Greenville, having passed the greater part of her noble and useful life in Pitt county,
and our citizens were glad of an opportunity to hear her.

The poem is unquestionably a work of genius and should be regarded as a State's work in every point of view.
As a piece of recondite history, searched up with much labor from musty
Colonial records, this work of Mrs.
Cotten's should be placed in line with those of Hawks, Moore, Spencer and Saunders. As a poem deftly interweaving historical facts with legendary lore Mrs. Cotten's effort should be placed side by side with the best productions of Edwyn Fuller, Mrs. Mary Byard Clark and Stoddard.

We trust Mrs. Cotten may reap a rich reward from her literary efforts.

The poem was read here under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church.
