THE BEDBUG.

Oh! a rare old bird is the small bedbug That creepeth over young and old! Of right choice food are his meals I ween,

In the bed so lone and cold; The springs may be broken, the mattress decayed, He has ne'er a dainty whim, And the shrunken shanks of a dried up old maid,

Are quail on toast for him, Creeping wherever life is seen, He may be small, but he isn't green.

Fast he stealeth on, though he wears no wings,

And an elegant gall has he! How closely he sticketh, how lightly he clings,

To our form, be it he or she, And slyly he worketh along the bed,

And his head he gently waves, And he joyously twines and bites around Till we wish we were in our graves;

Biting wherever 'twill be most felt, He takes the blood and leaveth the pelt.

Whole ages have fled, and their works decayed,

And nations live only in name, But the low lived bedbug will never die;

He gets there just the same, He hustles around, he never keeps Lent,

He's never obliged to fast, For the stateliest form you ever saw,

Is the bedbug's meat at last, You may break, you may shatter the bed, if you will,

But the miserable cuss will hang round it still.

That Bright Correspondent.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger in a letter to that paper says two doctors in this State committed suicide within seven days, and that one of them was "Dr. John Strickland, of Greenville."

If the correspondent would give closer attention to local papers he could avoid many many blunders that find their way in his letters. He manufactured this one out of the suicide of a young man named John Strickland, of this county, who took laudanum last week.

Hotel Improvements

The recent improvements Proprietor Chas. Skinner has been making around Hotel Macen add much to the appearance and convenience of his house. Eight new bed rooms and two bath rooms have been added, handsome new furniture put in, and the office changed and newly furnished. Mr. Skinner says he has further improvements in contemplation for the near future.

The colored Methodist Conference meets this week in Newberne. Quite a number of delegates left here on Monday evening's train to attend.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

The last national census returns a total population of 62,622,250. Of this number 15,000,000 (in round numbers) are under ten years of age—too young to figure appreciably in religious statistics. Deduct the 15,000,000 from the 62,622,250 (in round numbers) and the remainder is 48,000,000 who are above the age of ten. The total church membership is 20,012,506. Add to the 20,000,000 (in round numbers) of communicants those who attend church more or less regularly, and are, therefore, influenced directly or indirectly by Christianity and the constituency of Christianity will be increased to at least 40,000,000. Forty millions against eight millions!—with the additional fact that of the 370 colleges of our country, 300 of them are denominational. In view of these facts can there be any question as to the ability of Christians to do anything, everything they are really resolved to do? If responsibility is measured by power, then the responsibility of the Christian citizens of the United States is wide as the continent, deep as its needs, high as its aspirations, and solemn as the judgment day.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov 22, '97.
 Czar Reed is in the field for the Republican nomination for President in 1900, and his candidacy may play an important part in the legislation of the House at this session of Congress. A Reed machine is already organized, and, in addition to all the original Reed men, it will attract, it is expected, all of the larger number of Republicans who worked for Mr. McKinley's nomination last year and have become disgruntled because of their failure to get what they wanted for themselves or their friends. Senator Feaker is understood to be looking after the Ohio end of the Reed machine, and the fight on the election of Boss Hanna to the Senate is being used as a means of weakening Mr. McKinley in his State, with a view to preventing his being able to control the Ohio delegation to the next Republican National Convention. The rivalry between the Reed and McKinley factions, now secret, is likely to be open and spirited in the near future.

The Democrats do not have to even go to the trouble of fighting Secretary Gage's gold bond scheme; it is having the little life it had 'chumped out of it' by Republicans. About one half of the prominent Republican Senators and Representatives who have been in Washington since the gold bond scheme was made public, have taken occasion to publicly condemn it. As

Mr. McKinley has always been as a follower, not a leader, of the opinions of his party, it will be interesting to see what effect this Republican condemnation of the issuing of gold bonds will have upon his treatment of the subject in his annual message to Congress. Already there are rumors of his intention to straddle the question by merely calling attention in his message to the recommendations of Secretary Gage without endorsing them.

The events of the past week were confirmatory of the suspicion that the new Spanish Ministry and Mr. McKinley's administration are acting in concert in Cuban matters, for the purpose of adding to the hands off sentiment in Congress. Although this policy may succeed for a time in preventing action by Congress, the friends of Cuba are confident that the lack of success on the part of Spain in bringing the war in Cuba to a close, will be so apparent before this session of Congress adjourns, that Congress will be sure to take decisive action.

Some amusement has been created in Washington by a long printed statement given out by the self constituted monetary conference, as to its intentions concerning the financial scheme it is engaged in hatching out. These gentlemen say their report will be withheld from the public until the annual message of the President has been sent to Congress. The country would survive if it were permanently withheld. The statement acknowledges that they "recognize the fact that they have no holiday task before them in securing the adoption of the report by Congress," which is an entirely unnecessary acknowledgement; everybody knew it all the time. But here is about the most amusing sentence in the statement: "Sometime will be allowed to pass after the publication of the report before any attempt is made to force it to a vote in either House of Congress ("force" is good). This time will be employed in a campaign of education, by means of thorough discussion in the press and in the popular magazines of the merits of the proposed financial reforms." The most of the "merit" side of the discussion will be paid matter, but the untrammelled press will make no charge for showing up its demerits. In view of the popular idea of "educated public opinion," the plan of campaign is exposed when the statement says that the members of the conference are confident "that the great body of educated public opinion in the country will come to their support." So much of it as gets its educational matter from Wall street and London, probably will.

It seems to be the general belief in Washington that if Gov. Lowndes had any chance to get the seat now occupied by Senator Gorman, he has lost it by choosing Senator Wellington to manage his campaign. The extent to which Wellington has this year been jumped on by the Maryland Republicans, indicates that his influence has pretty much all been lost. Postmaster General Gary isn't doing any talking, but they say that he is making a still hunt for that Senatorship that may surprise somebody when that Republican caucus gets together.

The attempt of Ex-Secretary of State Foster, who has made a failure of the seal negotiations, of which he has had charge to get himself put at the head of a commission to negotiate a similar commission appointed by Canada for the settlement of all disputes, means nothing more than that Mr. Foster is anxious to keep on drawing a big salary for very light work.

Yellow Fever Germs

breed in the bowels. Kill them and you are safe from the awful disease. Cascarets destroy the germs throughout the system and make it impossible for new ones to form. Cascarets are the only reliable safe guard for young and old against Yellow Jack. 10c, 25c 50c, all druggists.

To Reduce Acreage

In Atlanta on the 13th of December a convention of planters in all the cotton growing States will assemble to take some action looking toward a reduction of the cotton acreage.

"The object of the Cotton Growers' Association," said Mr. Nicholson, of Atlanta, to the Journal, "is to try and secure the control of the area planted in cotton for another year."

"Everybody engaged in the business can see the necessity for a reduction in the acreage and production of the staple, for the reason that the price obtained in the market has now fallen below the actual cost of production, because of the enormous crops produced."

"The question of supply and demand has become one of vital importance to the cotton-growing sections, and since the amount realized has fallen below what it cost to produce the cotton, the eyes of all men engaged in the business have been opened to the necessity for organized effort to secure a reduction in the acreage and production of cotton."

"This should have the effect of strengthening the market for the present crop, as the cotton growers are beginning early to plan for the decrease in the area planted. There will not doubt be a very large attendance of representative men from different States and sections, on that occasion and the result of the deliberations of so many men of prominence in that line of business can be built beneficial to the cotton planters of the South."

The Next Campaign.

The next State Democratic convention will endorse in its entirety the Chicago platform of 1896. It will adopt a platform on State issues that will satisfy every white man in North Carolina who has voted the Democratic ticket in any election during the past five years, and who honestly wishes a return to decent government. It will ratify the nominations for Superior Court judges made by the conventions of the several districts in which terms of the judges expire, and these will be the only candidates nominated and voted for in the State at large. There will be nothing about "fusion" in the platform. It will include a strong and direct appeal to the white manhood of North Carolina, and a cordial invitation to those who have strayed from the fold to come back to the grand old Democratic party and join hands with it in a supreme effort to rescue our State from misrule and corruption. This is the outlook as viewed by the Star.—Wilmington Star.

To Prevent a Bee Sting.

Sam Knight, an authority on bees, says: "If a stinging insect lights on you hold your breath until you can brush it away. If you don't breathe the insect can't sting. I wouldn't mind walking into the biggest yellow jacket nest in the world. I can hold my breath for a minute and in that time I could kill the most of them and scare the others away."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Which Was the False Prophet.

The Democratic speakers last fall told the people what they might expect if the gold standard was continued. They told them that their products would come to depreciate in value, that their lands would not improve in price and that their labor would still bring them only a bare subsistence. The gold standard was continued and all these things have come to pass. The men and papers that propesied ten cent cotton are now being put to shame by about half that price for our main money crop. The long heralded prosperity has not come.—Statesville Mascot.

The war has been over for more than thirty years, and nearly as many persons have since died in the United States as lived in the country in 1865; but the report of the Secretary of the Interior shows that 200,000 pension claims still await adjudication in the Pension Office, and he estimates that nearly or quite one-half of them will be finally allowed.

Intelligence from Australia via San Francisco is to the effect that a new Klondike has been found on the western side of that island continent. Kilgoorie is the name of the new gold district. The gold is found upon the bedrock underneath 25 to 75 feet of overlying soil.

Yellow Jack Killed.

Cascarets, Candy Cathartic kills Yellow Jack wherever they find him. No one who takes Cascarets regularly and systematically is in danger from the dreadful disease. Cascarets kill Yellow fever germs in the bowels and prevent new ones from breeding. 10c, 25c, 50c, all druggists.

Occasionally one comes across persons who are to all intents and purposes utterly irresponsible. No matter what their acts, they have a plausible excuse, and when excuses are exhausted they dismiss the whole affair with a little flutter or a wave of the hand and declare that "really they don't know anything about it, or that they have done all they can, and that's all there is to it." Personal responsibility and the habits of accuracy, reliability, truthfulness and well bred frankness are among the most important items in the education of a child—above all, a feeling of accountability and the disposition to accept whatever belongs to one's share of the responsibilities of life.—New York Ledger.

One Man's Courage.

All Paris was stirred one day in August, 1869, by a deed of courage which recalled the old legend of Horatius and his two comrades holding Lars Porsena's army at bay until the bridge across the Tiber had been cut down.

At a performance in the Hippodrome Lucas, the lion tamer, entered the cage where were two lions and two lionesses. Scarcely had he closed the door when one of the lions sprang upon him and seized him by the back of the neck. The sight of blood maddened the other beasts, and they, too, fell on their trainer.

Women screamed and fainted; men grew pale or shouted out impossible orders. The employees of the Hippodrome lost their heads, all save Lucas' attendant, Jose Mendez, a Spaniard. Arming himself with an iron weapon, he entered the cage, smote the lions hip and thigh and nearly killed them all. Then he dragged out his mangled master, who was immediately bandaged by a doctor.—Youth's Companion.

Not So Easily Moved.

The captive sank miserably upon her knees. "Is not your majesty moved by a woman's tears?" she implored. The king laughed a harsh laugh. "If I was," he replied coldly, "I wouldn't be paying rent. I tell you those." In point of fact, it took an even 14 vans, a woman's tears cutting no one way or the other.—Detroit Journal.
