STATE NEWS.

The dwelling house of A. R. Logie near Charlotte, one of the handsomest country residences in Mecklenburg county, was burned last Monday night.

For the third time a bill making an appropriation for a public building in Durham has passed the United States Senate.

The Landmark says that Dr. N. R. Tunstall of Statesville, has observed that no sick man who is hauled to the polls to vote ever gets well. He has noticed this for a long time.

The Elkin Journal says there have been more than 30 murders in Surry county since the war and not one legal execution. There has been one lynching.

On the second Tuesday in January the Grand Lodge of Masons will hold its annual convention at the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Two Notes From Tarboro.

Mr. J. C. Worrell, a prominent business man, died Tuesday night after a day or two sickness.

The new brick store being built where the McNair store stood before the last fire, is going up rapidly and will be completed in a few weeks. Mr. McNair will occupy the new building.

The Reflector Book Store has just received a nice lot of new stationery—ledgers, day books, receipt books, record books, paper, correspondence cards with envelopes, tablets, pencils, rubber bands, etc.

JUST FOR FUN.

"It's a fast young man," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "who can beat his landlady."

The clergyman officiating at a wedding is no mathematician, for when he puts one and one together he makes one.

Capitalist—"You want a job as overseer. What experience have you had?" Applicant—"Well, I'm 6 feet 8, and I ought to be able to oversee anybody in your employ."

Ragson Tatters—"Say, mister, gimme a dime." Jiggins—"I suppose you want to get drunk with it?" Ragson Tatters—"What, with a whole dime! No; I want ter buy a corner in wheat and ship it up ter Klondike."

Nell—"Yes; she had a dress suit on." Belle—"Good gracious! I heard she was a new woman, but I didn't think—" Nell—"You misunderstood. It was in Court, and her dress-maker was suing for the amount of her bill."

"That fresh young man of yours," said the fair girl's papa, "is like the parlor lamp, and you want to treat them both alike." "How do you mean, papa?" "If he starts to smoke in the parlor just turn him down a little."

"Does my whistling disturb you?" "Oh, not in the least, I'm used to hearing men whistle. I'm a collector for a millinery house."

Restored to Citizenship.

On Wednesday afternoon a petition from Mr. E. S. Moore, praying to be restored to citizenship, was presented to Judge E. W. Timberlake.

The petition stated that Mr. Moore had been convicted at September term, 1890, of Pitt Superior court, of an assault with intent to commit rape, and sentenced to the penitentiary for six years. After serving a little over two years of this sentence he was pardoned by Gov. T. M. Holt.

After hearing a number of witnesses testify to the good character of Mr. Moore during the last four years, Judge Timberlake granted his petition, and restored him to citizenship.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1897.

John R. Smith is to step down as Superintendent of the penitentiary. Smith's incompetency was long since established, and because of the stir made over him the Governor wanted to get him out of the place. The news now comes out from Raleigh that in order to let Smith down easy the Governor has effected a deal by which J. M. Mewborne, present Commissioner of Agriculture, is to take the penitentiary and Smith is to take Mewborne's place.

MUCH COTTON ON LITTLE LAND

The Aberdeen (Miss.) Examiner reports that on Holiday Brothers' plantation, on Monroe Prairie, "there are cuts that will make a bale and a half to the acre," one tenant making "between twenty and thirty" bales with one mule, and expresses a "doubt that this can be beaten anywhere." The natural inference from which, of course, is that the records of cotton growing outside its neighborhood, to any extent.

We have noted recently the achievement of Mr. E. D. Thompson, of York county, South Carolina, in producing this year, 1,722 pounds, of four 430 pound bales, of cotton on one acre, at a net profit of $64.78 on the crop, at the price of 6½ cents a pound. But this is not the only good record made in the State this year.

The cotton mills of Spartanburg county offered two money premiums last winter for the best cotton crops made in their neighborhood this year. Our local correspondent reported on Thursday that the committee on awards met the day before and considered the several competing records, which were announced as follows: "Col. T. J. Moore received the prize of $100 for the best five acre record, the yield being 8,252 pounds of seed cotton, or at the rate of 1,650 pounds to the acre. Next to him came Mr. H. H. Arnold, with 7,566 pounds," or at the rate of 1,513 pounds the acre.

In the one-acre contest, still more striking yields were reported. Mr. J. K. White reported 3,212 pounds, and the prize was awarded to him accordingly; his record being protested, however, on the ground of alleged "irregularity or mistake on Mr. White's part." Other records, which were not challenged, were those of Mr. John C. Lee, 2,704 pounds; Mr. J. H. Gaswill, 2,564 pounds; Mr. W. Y. Dillard, 2,568 pounds, and Mr. S. S. Hunter, 2,543 pounds. "The other contestants," it is noted, "fell below these figures," as well they might. "It is to their everlasting credit that they came anywhere near them.

And the Aberdeen Examiner "doubts" whether Mississippi's little record of a bale and a half to the acre "can be beaten anywhere!" It may possibly interest our innocent contemporary to hear further that Mr. J. B. Green of Marlboro county, S. C., made 140 "heavy bales" on 135 acres this year, and that Mr. A. J. Matheson, of the same county, "averaged a bale per acre on several hundred acres, and that these records have excited no special attention in the State. There is no disputing two propositions, we believe. One is that South Carolina is the leading cotton producing State in the world and the other is that it produces a great deal too much, for its own good.—Charleston News and Courier.

WHISKEY AND TOBACCO.

The number of licensed saloon-keepers in the United States was reduced 10,340 during the last year.

In 1896 the total was 216,358, in 1897 206,018. Of the latter 11,074 were licensed to sell malt liquor only. There is no State or Territory without its saloons—oven Alaska has 147 and six breweries. Prohibition Maine has 995, Kansas 2,269 and Iowa 3,789. Indian Territory has only 15, the smallest number. New York 32,990; Illinois, 17,339; Ohio 14,849; Pennsylvania, 14,519; California, 12,767, says the Atlanta Journal.

There are comparatively few saloons in the South. Alabama has 859; Arkansas 649; Mississippi, 326; South Carolina, 322 Georgia has 1,310, only 256 more than the District of Columbia, 400 less than Montana and 428 less than Rhode Island, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Vermont are without breweries.

If the population of the United States is 70,000,000, it probably includes about 20,000,000 of the male gender who have reached the smoking age. On that basis of calculation the average consumption of cigars during the last year was 200 per capita, for the total number sold in this country was 8,093,169,07. But as not more than half the men smoke cigars the actual average consumption was probably double that number. The quantity of imported cigars used in the United States is very much over-estimated. Last year it was only 35,669,362, or about 3½ for each number of the smoking population.

There has been a comparatively small increase in the consumption of cigars. There was a decrease of 172,784,705 last year from 1896, and the increase from 1887 has been less than 400,000,000. But this is accounted for by an enormous increase in the use of cigarettes, which has doubled almost twice in the last ten years. The total for 1887 was 1,825,287,820, which in 1897 jumped to 5,046,308,770, which will make the average about 500 a year per capita of the smoking population.

Mr. A. Hopkins, aged about 60 years, was found dead in his bed on Monday evening just about dark. He ran a little wood working and repair shop on Market street and slept in his shop. The place was locked and he was found by some one who discovered an unpleasant odor while passing. The window was broken and it was discovered that he was dead. The authorities took the body in charge and gave it proper interment as he had no relatives here. He had been in bad health for some time, and it is not known whether he died a natural death or committed suicide by taking poison. He had been dead several days judging from the state of decomposition the body was found in. He was a member of the Methodist church. No one knew that he was sick and but few knew where he slept.—Washington Progress.

Just try a box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowal regulator ever made

Judge Thomas H. Sutton today made the following statement: "I instructed the sheriff from the bench this morning to prepare a list of all parties not having paid their taxes by Saturday night, the 13th inst., and to furnish the same to this court. The list will then be handed to the solicitor to be dealt with according to the law. The sheriff has no voice in this matter."

The new revenue provides the penalty of imprisonment for failure to pay taxes. This step shows that Judge Sutton means to enforce the law. His order takes the matter out of the sheriff and puts it in the courts.—Charlotte News.

Words of Wisdom.

Flatterers are often dangerous; a bee always buzzes loudest when he is stealing a flower's honey.

I have noticed among believers that he who forfeits heaven is the most emphatic in denying its existence.

If half the time were spent in practicing either religion or philosophy that is spent in discussing it and arguing about it, the world would have less need of both.
