THE HANCOCK SCANDAL.

The Railway Directors Take No Action Yet.

Raleigh, N. C., February, 6.—The general inquiry today was "What will the directors of the North Carolina railway do with President Robert Hancock?" The answer can now be given. They will remove him. Some of them so say. Only two, E. H. Meadows and W. H. Chadbourn, Jr., support him.

This morning the directors again met at the governor's office, eleven being present. The meeting adjourned in a few minutes, until February 22nd at New Bern. The motion to adjourn was by Meadows.

At the meeting of the state directors last night at the governor's mansion there was much discussion of the Hancock matter, in which Governor Russell joined. None of the private directors were admitted. Meadows and Chadbourn alone supported Hancock. All the others opposed him. It is well understood that the governor has settled upon removal and that either Director Patrick or Hewitt will be his successor.

There is much talk among the private directors at the action Governor Russell took or did not take yesterday afternoon. They were in his office. He walked in and said "Here is my office. Use it when you please. You know what you have come here for. I leave the whole matter in your hands. I have no power to remove Hancock." A private director said, "This was queer. I think some of the directors want to wait until the matter cools off, and continue Hancock. But a state director said to me 'I can assure you the governor will remove him. One of Hancock's friends said today the governor was not unfavorable to him. He added that he could not see why the directors did not dispose of the matter today unless they did not care to take the responsibility upon themselves."

If a vote had been taken last night Hancock would certainly have been ousted. The main thing which causes a hitch is that there are several applicants for the place. These are T. D. Hewitt, D. M. Patrick, John Mewbourne, W. H. Chadbourn, Jr., W. L. Pope. One of these will get the place February 22nd.

A Hancock director said that the governor last night said: "Do you think Hancock guilty as alleged in the charge?" and that they all answered "No," and that the governor also said "No." This must be a fake. Other directors declined to say it was so or not so, but said the proceedings were secret. Sawyer, Meadows and Chadbourn gave this reply.

The astonishing statement is made tonight that at a conference of the state directors and the governor last night it was said that the fusion party would be ruined unless Hancock were ousted, as the general public believed him guilty, and that the question was whether it was not the best politics to sacrifice him to save the party.—Raleigh Cor. Wilmington Messenger.

The Monument Fund.

Among those who are collecting funds for the Confederate Monument, Miss Bessie Tyson comes up with fourteen dollars and fifty cents. This is a splendid showing for one who has been teaching school almost continuously during the past twelve months. It is earnestly desired that the committee go more actively to work and get up all they can in the next two months, as we will have a meeting sometime in May and compare notes and see what has been done. ## LOSSES OF THE SOUTH.

On Account of Over-Production of Cotton.

(Extract from letter of Latham, Alexander & Co., January 19th 1898.)

The total cotton crop of 1895-96 was 7,157,346 bales, and it was sold at the average price of 8.09 cents per pound, or $40.82 per bale according to the record of exports and the official figures of the Bureau of Statistics at Washington. The planters that year made large food crops, and when the planting season the next year began, they were fortified with every requisite to produce cotton cheaply.

Last year the total crop was 8,757,964 bales, and the average price was 7.42 cents per pound, or $37.40 per bale, the crop yielding, perhaps, a larger net profit than for many years, because planters had few supplies to buy.

The success resulting from the conservative policy which was pursued these two years did not induce planters to adhere to that line of action; on the contrary, they increased their purchases of fertilizers this year, and many of them drifted back almost to the all-cotton principle, and planted the largest cotton acreage ever known, hoping that the world would pay remunerative prices for the staple, no matter how large the supply.

The disastrous result of over-planting this year is already clearly shown by comparison with last year, when the acreage devoted to cotton was decidedly less.

Last year the amount of cotton marketed to January 1st was 6,398,192 bales, the average price realized was 7.53 cents per pound, $37.97 per bale, or $242,939,350.

This year 7,260,033 bales were marketed to January 1st, the average price realized was 6.95 cents per pound $30.49 per bale, or $221,358,406.

The planters shipped to market 861,841 bales of cotton more by January 1st this year than last, and received for them $31,580,944 less money. In other words, owing to the lower price, induced by over-production, the people of the South have lost on cotton shipped to market by January 1st this year, the total value of 861,841 bales, namely, $32,724,102 and $21,580,044 besides, making a grand total loss of $54,305,046.

Such incontestable facts show what enormous losses the South has sustained by overproduction of cotton, and are sufficient to cause a marked reduction in acreage this year.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Feb. 7, 98.

Bossing is catching. Mr. McKinley is now trying his hand at bossing Congress, or to be more exact, the Republicans in Congress. Each Republican has been notified that the administration does not intend to recognize the belligerence of the Cubans nor to intervene, either peaceably or by force, so long as present conditions continue to exist in Cuba, and that every Republican who seeks in any manner to agitate the question in Congress will be considered an anti-administration man, and be so treated by the President. How is that for a bit of high handed muzzling? Senator Mason, of Illinois, is one of the Republicans who doesn't intend to be muzzled on the Cuban question. He says he will this week offer a resolution instructing the President to demand peace in Cuba, which he believes he can bring about at once, and he added: "Something must be done, and I will at least give the Senate a chance to do a lot of talking. It is a shame that our government permits such a state of affairs to exist in Cuba."

There is a probability that Mr. McKinley and the Czar of the House may lock horns over the latter's programme for the House. Mr. McKinley wishes the House to pass a financial bill carrying out some of the recommendations of his message, and Mr. Reed has said that the House should not pass a financial bill. If Mr. McKinley doesn't back down, there is likely to be a hot time in the old House.

Czar Reed will soon have another fight on his hands. He has said that no river and harbor bill should be passed by the House at this session, but the committee is going right ahead preparing a bill and by a judicious distribution of appropriations, it is believed that enough votes can be secured to pass the bill regardless of the Czar, and its members say the attempt to do so will certainly be made.

Representative Terry, of Ark., tersely stated a great truth, during the little debate in the House which accompanied the attempt by democrats to get action upon a bill to compel the administration to bid up to the full indebtedness, principal and interest, of the Kansas Pacific railway, when it is sold, when in reply to a taunt from Representative Dalglish, of Pennsylvania, that he only wanted to have government ownership of railroads, he said: "We had better have government ownership of railroads, than railroad ownership of government." During the same debates Representative

Bailey, of Texas, said: "On this side we believe the government can collect the debt, and as a prudent creditor that it should collect every dollar of it." The Republicans oppose this legislation on the ground that the President already has sufficient power. It is to prevent the abuse of that power by a settlement that will not include full payment of principal and interest that the Democrats desire the legislation.

Representative Norton, of Ohio, who sharply criticised the present pension law and its administration was taken to task by Representative Ray of New York, who charged him with attacking the Pension Bureau and the administration. After denying that he had attacked either the President or the Commissioner of Pensions. Mr. Norton turned to Mr. Ray and said: With due amenities and courtesies of debate, if the gentleman says that I did, he lies in his throat. Mr. Ray did not reply, and nobody looks for a pistol and coffee for two sequel. Times have changed.

Although a considerable number of Senators had made personal requests of Mr. McKinley to allow Mrs. Kenna, widow of the late Senator Kenna, to remain postmaster at Charleston, W. Va. Mr. McKinley has ignored those requests and in response to the demand of Senator Elkins has nominated Mr. O. A. Petty to succeed Mrs. Kenna. But Mr. Petty will have to be confirmed by the Senate before he gets that office and present indications are that he will not find that altogether easy.

At a conference of silver Republicans and Populists, attended by every Senator and Representative of both parties, the plan of general co-operation in the Congressional Campaign with the Democrats was unanimously ratified. It was also the unanimous sentiment that Mr. Bryan was the logical candidate of the allied silver force in 1900. It was also decided that ex-Representative Towe, chairman of the silver Republican National Committee, should be sent to Oregon, where Congressional election will be held in June, to aid in carrying out the co-operation plans in that State.

Representative Williams, of Miss., has fattened the contents of the pigeon holes of the House committee on Foreign Affairs by offering a resolution calling on the Secretary of State for all the information in his possession as to the progress made by Spain in its attempts to get the Cubans to accept autonomy and the condition of the reconcentrados (non-combatants) of Cuba. The resolution is timely and ought to be acted upon, but there is little hope that it will be. Nothing can get before the House without the Czar's O. K.

Men Who Make the Wheels Go Round.

There are, of course, many men in business pursuits who devote themselves to single branches of trade, just as there are men who are devoted to single branches of science. A reporter who was seeking definite information concerning a certain article of common use was told that So-and-so knew all about it, a statement that was confirmed by another man, who said of So-and-so that he was "as much interested" in his specialty "as the reporter was in types."

There are plenty of such men that the public never hears of; men that devote their lives to special lines of goods, or it may be to single articles, who are experts and men of authority in their respective businesses and very probably men of high salary or considerable income; men of energy, capacity and concentration, who succeed in what they undertake, whose efforts make the business house.—New

OLD DAN RUSSELL.

Old Dan Russell is a h—t of a man, He wastes his fat in the fryin pan, He combs his head with a rail car wheel, And grinds the people beneath his heel.

He swears like a heafthen, all the time, And thinks his language is sublime; He shuffls his feet and curses and roars And spits out virus like running sores.

He props himself on the lock of the fence And shows to the world that he has no sense;

He uses the boards like a tradesman's tool

And puts in his time by acting the fool.

The midnight lamp his hours beguile While he executes the law in regal style;

He breaks down doors and spits on the courts

Much like a boy in his out-door sports.

The rabbit-hunting lawyers on his list Are stringing him out in tortuous twist;

His council slyly laughs him to scorn As they thrust in deeper the pricking thorn.

The papers he'd buy, God bless his soul,

Will try to climb back on the honor roll;

And when he stands out before the throng,

He's going to change the pitch of his song.

He'll drop his head and curl his tail And swear to the god's he never was rail;

But still on the night's plutonian shore He'll hear the sad wailing, "Ah, never more."

The people are mourning—he's going to h—l,

As sure as the waves along Curruck swell;

And he's bearing along in his current of woe

Many good things in his undertow.

May God in his mercy call to him yet

And heal him of many a petulant fret; And cause him to halt in his wild career

Ere he runs himself to an untimely bier.

Dead Man in a Box-car

A colored man was found dead in a box-car Saturday morning at South Rocky Mount. Ten other colored men evidently tramps, were found in the same car. Some of them said that their companion had frozen to death, but there were other accounts that conflicted with theirs. All the negroes are under arrest, awaiting the coroner's inquest.—Wilmington Star.

He Saved It.

A certain Cleveland youth has a watch which he tenderly cherishes. Several years ago it was given him on his birthday, and there wasn't a prouder youth in town. The very night after he received it he wore it to a party. After the affair was ended he asked permission of one of the young women to see her home, and his escort was accepted. She lived some distance from the scene of the party and as he walked along with her he felt a little dubious about his personal safety. There was a good deal of talk about footpads and some very bold holdups had occurred.

Presently he noticed a suspicious character dodging along in the shadow across the street. The suspicious looking character finally hurried ahead of them and then crossed to their side of the street. This was too much for the youth.

"Say," he said to the young woman in a hoarse whisper, "you'll have to go the rest of the way alone—I'm blamed if I want to lose this new watch!"

And he actually left her then and there and hurried along the back track. She wasn't far from home and didn't mind the desertion a bit, but the deserting youth didn't hear the last of the story for many months.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE MAYOR OF LYNN.

Paine's Celery Compound Never Fails to Invigo- rate Him When Worn Out

Mayor Ramsdell is again mayor of Wells & Richardson Co., Burlington, Vt.
Lynn.

Two years ago he was elected by the combined People's party, Democratic and Citizen's Reform party. He was again nominated by acclamation by the Democrats to succeed himself as mayor of the busy modern city, and was again elected by a rousing majority last month.

Mayor Ramsdell's present high position is the legitimate reward of his ability and his fearlessness in defending his opinions. He has never hesitated to declare his convictions in public, nor has he been slow to espouse the cause of the shoemakers and other wage earners. In 1894 he was candidate of the People's party for Congress. A hard worker, a conscientious official, Mayor Ramsdell has more than once been pushed to the limit of his strength.
At such times of extreme nervous tension and overwork, he has saved himself from breaking down by taking Paine's celery compound.

Mayor Ramsdell's honest opinion of this great remedy cannot be mistaken by any one who reads his letter that follows:

AN INVOCATION.

Come on, O glad millennium of times serene
and bright,
And melt to gold the manifold and twinkling
stars of night!
Let every storm rain riches and every lily's stem
Be bent with glittering dewdrops and every drop a gem.

Come on, O glad millennium of times unknown
before,
When the sea shall spray its plenty of pearls
along the shore;
When darkest night is kissed to light, and in the morning gleams
We front a smiling future and realize our dreams!

Come on, O glad millennium, and kiss to bloom
the dells,
And shake the sweetest music from the tingling, jingling bells!
Let every storm rain riches and every star o'
night
Roll down its golden treasure from happy hills
of light.

Come on, O glad millennium! The weary world awaits
With many a rosy garland of welcome on her gates.
Make diamonds of the daisies, while every lily's stem
Is bent with glittering dewdrops and every
drop a gem.

Gentlemen:—A previous experience with Paine's celery compound, as a result of exhausted energy, induced me recently to take it again, the many duties of the mayor's office having taxed my slight physical resources greatly. I made no mistake. In one week, I found my appetite improved, the feeling of weariness disappearing, and my nerves becoming steadier. Paine's celery compound has thus been a friend in time of need, and I like to say a word for a friend.

Truly yours,

WALTER L. RAMSDELL.

Nov. 5, 1897.

In every city, in business houses, banks, newspaper offices—wherever the friction of worry is wearing out the nerves and reducing the nutrition of the body, Paine's celery compound is proving its inestimable value. It invariably insures sound sleep, and thus gives the overstrung nerves their natural rest; it corrects a constipated habit that so commonly goes with sedentary occupations, and frees the blood of poisonous humors, and that at some time or other develop into grave disease.

In 1518 a battle was fought near Milan, in Italy, and so perfect was the armor of both armies that, although the conflict raged from 9 a.
m. to 4 p. m., no one on either side
was either killed or wounded, though one man broke his collar bone by falling off his horse.

France makes nearly 26,000,000
pairs of gloves and exports 18,000,- 000 annually. In ten years Great Britain imported 15,000,000 pairs per annum, valued at £1,500,000.

By the last Russian census St. Petersburg has a population of 1,267,- 000. The next largest city is Moscow, which has 975,000, while Warsaw, third, has 500,000.

Half armor was worn in the continental armies until the present century. In exceptional cases body armor is still worn by special soldiers.
