This is Interesting.

The United States government maintains a Bureau of Animal Industry, for the protection of the people against diseased or unwholesome meats.

At Kansas City, for instance, live stock intended for sale to a packing house, is quarantined outside the stock yards, and if an animal is not in a perfectly healthy condition, it is not permitted to enter the yards, nor to be offered for sale to a packer or butcher. The United States government keeps expert veterinary inspectors right in the packing houses, whose business it is to examine the liver, lungs and general appearance and condition of every animal killed, and if this inspection discovers anything wrong with the animal, the inspector personally conducts it to the tanking department, that it may not, by any chance, be offered for sale as food. Every piece of meat or other article leaving a packing house bears a government certificate of health, and when you buy packing house meat you are assured of its purity and wholesome ness. This is one of the best regulations in existence, as it prevents unhealthy cattle or hogs from being slaughtered and sold for food.

Elopements.

A mother whose daughters are all happily married, referring to the subject of elopements and all marriages unsanctioned by the bride's parents, recently said: "I think the trouble in such matter is largely owing to the mistaken treatment which the daughters received from the members of their family circle. Their brothers, if brothers they possess, are not apt to make much of them and the father and mothers are so taken up with the cares of existence that they unwittingly fall into the error of appearing indigent to the budding beauty of their daughters. Every woman's heart longs for love. Compliments and endearing words are as sunshine to a growing plant, and if there is a lack of these at home is it any wonder that when a young man comes along and tells a young girl that she is the sweetest thing on earth, she feels she has been unappreciated for years, and imagines that to dwell forever with an individual who adores her, who recognizes her charm, will be the acme of human happiness?"

"I made up my mind when my girls were babies that they should never have to look for admiration away from home. It was the rule in our household to give them every pleasure within our power, to tell them when they looked well, and to be as complimentary and gracious as though they were the young ladies of a neighbor's household. And so they were not upset by the first chance words of admiration from a stranger, and having been always given to understand that what could be afforded was theirs, they were not prompted to run off to better their condition. Runaway matches are seldom made in heaven, but are brought about, as I said in the beginning, through a natural longing for affection that has been wanting in places where it should be expected to come from first."

Slight Fire.

About half past one o'clock this afternoon a message was telephoned down town that the foundry building on Dickinson avenue was on fire. The fire department started to the scene, but were met on the way by information that the fire was out and they turned back to the engine house. Only slight damage was done. It is fortunate that the fire was easily put out, for with the high wind prevailing it would have been disastrous had it once got good headway.

A DEER HUNT.

It Turned Out to be a Goat.

On Saturday a colored man who lives on the Wilson farm a mile east of town, told Mr. Ola Forbes that there was a deer using in the woods near his home and it was a good chance for an exciting hunt. Mr. Forbes was anxious for the chance, and by times Monday morning was making up a party of about a dozen to go capture the deer. His brother-in-law, Mr. L. A. Cobb, came up from Grifton on the morning train, and he too was prevailed upon to join the hunt.

Off they went for the chase, armed to the teeth, many of them having visors of venison for supper. Arriving at the home of the colored man they inquired the way to go to find the haunt of the deer, when he informed them that he got so worked up over it that he took his dogs Sunday and went and caught the deer alive and had it tied to a stake out in the garden. The hunters were put out about losing the fun of hunting the deer, but they all had curiosity enough to want to see the animal after hearing the colored man's story. Imagine their surprise when they found a large brown goat tied to the stake. The joke was on the hunters and they came back to town without any venison.

But the colored man sticks to it that the brown goat has got deer blood in him.

All the same Mr. Forbes is not talking much now about getting up a deer hunting party.

The Firemen.

Hope Fire Company held its monthly meeting, Monday night, in the new firemen's building with almost a full attendance of the members. One new member was elected.

The Secretary was instructed to express the thanks of the company to to each and every contributor to the fund to erect the building.

A committee was appointed to make investigation relative to having a library and reading room in the hall. This will be a good thing and we hope the efforts of the committee will meet with success.

STATE NEWS

Small pox has appeared both in Calarrus and Rowan counties.

The Sun says a man carried a lot of cracked walnuts to Salisbury and sold the kernels at 10 cents a pint.

The Meadows warehouse and prize house and several dwelling, in Oxford, were destroyed by fire Friday night.

A TRIBUTE

Jesse Walter Morgan, only child of J. W. and Mamie Morgan, born Sept. 26th, 1895, died at Greenville, N. C., Jan. 31st, 1898.

To those who knew him not this is a sufficient record of his life. But to those of us around whose hearts his little life had so lovingly entwined there is much more than tongue can tell or pen record. The joy, the life, the light, the inspiration of the home! A father's hope, a mother's precious trust!

"Dear Lord how could we give him up To any but Thee!"

Surely death never appears so unnatural, and but for the light of the Bible so mysterious, as when the blooming infant dies. But in that light he is not dead, he only sleeps,—sleeps in the arms of Him who said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Oh, father, mother, curb your grief! Think what a present thou to God hast sent, and give back with Christian faith the jewel which he lent.

"I saw him off at play,
As no more I see him now,
With the roses on his cheek,
And the lily on his brow;
His hisping notes so sweet,
And his laugh so full of joy,
As the sparkle of his eye
Told the merry hearted boy.

I stood beside the bed,
Where the little sufferer lay,
Long struggling with disease
Till he breathed his life away,
No rose was on his cheek then,
No sparkle in his eye;
Oh, how it crushed my heart
For the darling one to die.

In a robe of snowy white,
We adorned him for the tomb,
And laid upon his breast
Some flowers half in bloom;
A smile of beauty lingered
Upon a face so fair,
It seemed as if an angel
Were softly slumbering there.
I saw him once again,
In the visions of the night
He seemed a little cherub,
In his robes of snowy white,
A harp was in his hand,
A garland on his brow,
Forevermore an angel,—
As such I see him now."

N. M. WATSON.

Arthur Garvey, of Rocky Mount, while dressing at Murphy's hotel in Richmond, fell through a pane of glass and severed a jugular vein. He died within ten minutes.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Feb. 14, '98.

The adage, "The occasion always produces the man," like some other adages, sometimes lies. The President of the United States has been insulted by a Spanish blackguard who held the commission of his government as Minister to the United States, and our department of State has been held up to the ridicule of the world for allowing itself to be gulled by Spanish shams labeled autonomy for Cuba and negotiations for a reciprocity treaty; the insult was in writing, the authorship of which was acknowledged by Senor de Lome, has been published throughout the civilized world. Surely this was an "occasion," but no "man" has yet been produced. The natural thing to be expected after de Lome acknowledged having written the published letter, was that Mr. McKinley would at once send de Lome his passports. Instead of that, he sent a request to Madrid that de Lome be recalled, and before it was presented to the Spanish government, de Lome had resigned and his government had accepted the resignation, and now, Mr. McKinley is waiting to learn what Spain will say about it all. It has been proven time after time by Congress that politics cuts no figure in the solid backing always given a President who stands up firmly for any question affecting our honor or rights, and Congress was and is still ready to back Mr. McKinley, even to the extent of a declaration of war, but he does nothing. It is now in order for Congress to make him do something, and its members are in the humor to do it.

Even prominent Republicans ignore the very existence of Secretary Sherman when discussing anything relating to our foreign relations. Senator Lodge who takes a more cheerful view of the situation than many of his colleagues do, said: "Spain is evidently practicing duplicity towards us, and the administration will be forced to this conclusion if Spain does not express regret for the utterances of her late Minister, and no matter what Spain may say officially, the general belief will be that de Lome told the truth about the use of autonomy and reciprocity to delude this government. I cannot predict what the future will bring. I only know that in Judge Day, we have a Secretary who is firm, patriotic and capable, and that he will see that this country does not lose cast among the nations of the world by reason of this incident."

The House Judiciary committee has hung up Senator Tillman's bill to permit the States to control liquor carried into them in original packages, and it will remain so unless some member of the committee who voted against reporting the bill can be induced to get the matter up again. Representative Latimer is working with that end in view, and thinks he will succeed. The bill was passed by the Senate sometime ago and was intended to aid the South Carolina authorities to enforce the liquor dispensary law, which was weakened by a United States Supreme Court decision. The principal object to the Tillman bill by members of the committee who voted against reporting it was that it would be a step towards giving States the right to control interstate commerce.

Not having the fear of Czar Reed before its eyes, the Senate increased the amount carried by the fortification Appropriation bill from $4,144,912, appropriated by the House, to $9,052,494. It remains to be seen whether the Czar can compel the House to insist upon its original bill.

The addresses of the National Organizations of the Democrats the People's party and the silver Republicans, have been approved by a joint caucus and will all be made public this week. The keynote of the addresses is cooperation by the friends of silver in the Congressional campaign.

Unless all signs fail, as they sometimes do, the treaty for the annexation of Hawaii will have its fate settled this week. The Committee on Foreign Relations, acting upon the expressed doubt of Senator Teller, one of the strongest annexationists, as to their ability to ratify the treaty, will get a test vote in the Senate. If the vote shows that the two-thirds are for the treaty, its early ratification is certain, as the opposition would not prolong the fight with certain defeat ahead of them: if the vote shows, as it probably will, that the treaty cannot be ratified, it will at once be dropped, and a joint resolution for annexation brought to the front.

Czar Reed's latest bit of suppression was to wipe Friday and Saturday off the calendar. Friday is private bill day in the House, and on the last Friday that the House was in session, enough Republicans voted with the Democrats to pass a number of private bills in defiance of the opposition of the Czar and his agent on the floor. In order to prevent a repetition of such tactics the Czar made the House a joun from last Thursday to Monday, and it is said that he intends to do the same things every week, in order to make sure that no more private bills are passed.

A Chapter on Man

Man that is married to woman is of many days and full of trouble. In the morning he draweth his salary, and in the evening, behold it is gone. It is a tale that is told. It vanisheth, and no one knows whither it goeth.

He riseth up, clothed in the chilly garments of the night, and seeketh the somnambulant, paregoric wherewith to soothe his infant posterity.

He cometh forth as the horse or ox, and draweth the chariot of his offspring. He spendeth his shekels in the purchase of fine linen to cover the bosom of his family, yet himself is seen in the gate of the city with one suspender.

Yea, he is altogether wretched. —Robert J. Burdett in Brooklyn Eagle.

DR. WURTH'S OPINION

of the New Discovery in Medicine.

A remarkably Successful Remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Stomach Troubles.

Dr. Wurth, in commenting on recent discoveries in medicine said: There is none which is certain to be so valuable and far reaching in benefit as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new stomach remedy; I say far reaching, because people little realize how important a sound stomach and vigorous digestion is to every man, woman and child.

Indigestion is the starting point of consumption, heart disease, Bright's disease, diabetes, nervous prostration, liver troubles; why is this so? Simply because every nerve, muscle and tissue in our bodies is created and nourished from the food we eat. If that food is by reason of a weak stomach, compelled to lie for hours, a sour, fermenting mass of digested food, it poisons the blood and nervous system, creates gas which distends the stomach and bowels, causing pressure on the heart, lungs and other organs and seriously impeding their action.

He says further, the point to direct attention is not the nerves, nor heart, nor lungs nor kidneys, but the stomach, the first cause of all the mischief.

The remedy to use for indigestion and weak stomachs is not some cathartic, but a remedy which will digest the food, increase the flow of gastric juice, absorb the gases, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will accomplish exactly this result in any case of stomach trouble, because these tablets are composed of the digestive acids, aseptic pepsin, Golden Seal and Bismuth, pleasant to taste, and not being a patent medicine, can be used by anyone with perfect safety. I believe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any form of indigestion and stomach trouble except cancer of stomach.

Full size packages of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents. A book on stomach diseases together with thousands of testimonials will be sent by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

The Old Marine Band.

The big man in the band of former days in the Marine band in its infancy was the man who marched in the front and played a chime of bells which was rigged up on a long pole. He was an entire band in himself. Behind him marched two or three others who had similarly arranged chimes, though of smaller proportions. There may have been cornets, trombones and bass horns in existence then, but certainly none of them was ever carried by the Marine band until after 1835. I was married that year and remember very well seeing the band parade a day or so before my marriage, and I am certain there were no horns carried by the band except bugles or trumpets. I don't know, that their music was not as sweet as it is today. It sounded to us folks of that day so anyhow. There seemed to be more music in the string and reed instruments than in the various horns of today, and the men who carried the chime bells could, for sound at least, double discount any of the performers in the band today. —Washington Star.

THE MAYOR OF LINCOLN N. J.

Mr. Drake Feels it His Duty to Recommend Paine's Celery Compound

The youngest and most bustling city
in the United States—

Founded last April, Lincoln boasts a sewerage system, electric lights, macadamized roads, trolley cars, telephone franchise and a water plant.

From a hamlet to a town—to a city,
in this incredibly short time, Lincoln has grown with the wonderful progressiveness looked for only in the West—
a splendid example of the indomitable pertinacity of one strong man.

Like most forciful men, Mayor Drake must see results before giving his approval; but when convinced he speaks out his mind without fear or favor of any one.

There is no hesitation among Mayo-Drake's friends in saying that Paine's celery compound has been of the utmost help in enabling him to do a prodigious amount of work, and to get rid of that insomnia that at one time resulted from every prolonged effort. Mayor Drake himself says:

Lincoln, Middlesex Co., N. J.

Oct. 30, 1897.

Wells, Richardson & Co.,

Gentlemen—I have been getting Paine's celery compound from a local druggist. After sixteen hours work each day, I sleep eight hours each night
like a baby, and attribute much of this strengthening of my nerves to Paine's celery compound. Yours truly,

SILAS D. DRAKE

Nothing demoralizes the health sooner or more completely than even the occasional loss of sleep. To start a new day with the brain unrefreshed is like trying to keep a worn out horse up to work with the whip instead of by feeding. The incessant brain activity is as if the skull were laid bare and the surface of the brain were struck lightly every few seconds and without a sign of a "let up."

Thus sleeplessness imperceptibly, but no less surely, destroys the brain cells that are the sources of mental power and the health of every organ of the body.

Paine's celery compound gets the nervous system out of this dangerous rut of sleeplessness. It supplies nourishment to the nervous tissues faster than they are worn out, and does not let the nutrition of these delicate parts get low enough to bring on insomnia.

One of the earliest evidences of the final success of Paine's celery compound
in curing debility, nervousness, sleeplessness and derangements of liver and kidneys is the increased appetite, the clearer skin, and that indescribable precursor of health, a feeling of "well being" that takes the place of the tired, anguid, melancholy condition.

Celluloid Pictures.

The celluloid films used in the veriscope and vitascope may be the source of danger if not carefully guarded. Celluloid is extremely explosive and inflammable and a spark may set it off with most terrific results. It would seem that some other material should be chosen for all purposes where intense light and heat are employed. Even the harmless looking dressing comb may endanger life if, while my lady is making her toilet, she brings it too near to the light. In many homes celluloid articles are strictly prohibited for this reason. Especially should this be noted where there are children who cannot understand the necessity for extreme prudence.

The ruby in the center of the Maltese cross on the top of the British crown is the stone that was given to the Black Prince by King Pedro of Castile after the battle of Najara. Henry V of England wore it in his helmet at the battle of Agincourt.

It is estimated that the daily supply of needles for the entire world amounts to 3,000,000 of varying shapes and sizes, while the United States alone calls for a yearly supply of 300,000,000.

During the last plague in Canton 70,000 Chinese died, while of the foreigners, in their clean quarters, not one was carried off. Rats are said to be the chief means of carrying contagion.

WHY

Why are the servant girls seldom ob-servant?
Why does the last match invariably fail to ignite?
Why should the landress always be in need of washing?
Why isn't a men a thief when he hooks his wife's dress?
Why does the tallest man in the world always get in front?
Why does a boil come to a head when it is located elsewhere?
Why isn't the relief of a man who dies of hay fever a grass widow?
Why doesn't a passion for fancy drinks denote a love for the beautiful?
Why does the average man never realize that silence is golden until his jaw begins to swell?—Chicago News.
