Nary a Toil or Spin

The choir was singing a new arrangement of the beautiful anthem,
"Consider the Lilies." The pure, sweet voice of the soprano rose clearly and distinctly in the solo:

They toi-toi-toi oil not,
They toil not,
They toil not,
Ny-y-y-ther do they spin.

She paused and the tenor took up the strain:

Nee-ee-ee-ther do they spin.
They toi-toi-toi oil not,
They toil not,
They toil not,
Nee-ee-ee-ther do they spin.

The tenor ceased, and the basso, a solemn, red-haired young man, with a somewhat worldly looking eye and a voice like a foghorn, broke in:

Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin,
They toi-toi-toi oil not,
They toil not,
They toil not,
Nay-ay-ay-ther do they spin.

Then the voices of the three were lifted up in semi-chorus:

Ny-y-ther
Nee-ee-ee-ther
Nay-ay-ay-ther
do they spin.

"Brethren," said the gray-haired, old-fashioned pastor, when the choir had finished, "we will begin the service of the morning by singing the familiar hymn, 'And Am I Yet Alive?'"—

MORMONISM—ITS HISTORY

Mormon "Elders" under the guise of "Ministers of the Gospel," are making a house-to-house canvass of nearly every county in North Carolina. They enjoy the hospitalities and receive the courteous attentions of many good people. In many homes they leave their pernicious books—the deeds of heresy, and thus threaten our religious and social institutions.

It is now evident that those who knew their history and practices have been too long silent. They have suffered many of their less intelligent fellow-creatures to be duped by these "wolves in sheep's clothing."

Love for truth and my regard for the happiness of my fellow country-men impel me to write this brief history of Mormonism.

JOSEPH SMITH.

Joe Smith, the founder of Mormonism, or The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, was born on the 23rd of December, 1805, at Sharon, Windsor county, Vermont. His parents were poor, ignorant, thriftless, and not too honest. In fact, the reputation of the Smith family is said to have been of the worst kind. "They avoided honest labor, were intemperate, ur-truthful and suspected of sheep stealing and other offenses."

When Joe was fifteen years old his parents moved to Manchester, Wayne county, New York. It was at this age and place that Joe began to have his alleged visions.

THE BOOK OF MORMON.

According to Joe Smith, on the night of September the 21st, 1823, the angel Moroni appeared unto him three times and revealed to him that the supplement to the New Testament—the Bible of the Western Continent—was buried in a certain spot near Manchester. It was not until four years later, 1827, that this new revelation came into the hands of this dreamer of dreams and receiver of visions. Smith claims that an angel of the Lord gave to him a stone box in which was a volume, six inches thick, made of thin plates of gold and bound together by three gold rings. These golden plates were written upon in Egyptian, and were accompanied by two crystals set in silver. By means of these supernatural spectacles, Smith was enabled to read the mystic character.
Smith said he had been solemnly warned that no other eye should look upon the golden plates. Being himself unable to read or write well, he employed one, Oliver Cowdery, to whom, from behind a curtain, he dictated an English translation.

A farmer, Martin Harris, who had more money than sense, was duped into furnishing Smith with the necessary means for publishing the Book of Mormon, which came forth under the sworn statements of Smith, Cowdery and Harris that the angel of God had shown them the golden plate of which the Book of Mormon was a translation.

This is Smith's account of the book;
but in reality it was written in 1812 by Solomon Spaulding as a historical romance. Spaulding was a man of considerable education—a crack-brained preacher. He died in 1816, the manuscript of his novel falling into the hands of Sidney Rigdon, and by him given to Joseph Smith, from whom it issued into the world as a new revelation from the had of an angel of God.

In love for truth,

ANDREWS—SPEIGHT.

Brilliant Wedding at Bethel

BETHEL, N. C., Feb. 24th, 1898.

The Methodist church was beautifully decorated on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Mollie Andrews, of Bethel, to Mr. John Speight, of Martin county on Wednesday evening Feb.
23rd, 1898, at seven o'clock. Promptly at the appointed hour the bridal party entered the church in their respective order under the sweet strains of the wedding march, which was artistically rendered by Miss Alice Maddry, of Tarboro, the bride and groom meeting at the altar where they were made man and wife under the beautiful ceremony of the Methodist church by Rev.
B. B. Culbreth. Little Misses Hilda
Knight and Ella Bullock acted as flower girls. The bridal party and guests then retired to the residence of Mr. W.
W. Andrews the bride's father, where a sumptuous and bounteous supper awaited them. The attendants were Miss Dora Brown with Joe Speight,
Miss Mary Brown with Jesse Speight,
Miss Nora Harris with Leon Whichard, Miss Hulda Brown with Theo. Andrews, Miss Myrtle Peal with J. W.
Andrews, Miss Dola Bryan with D. A.
Moore, Miss Essie Albritten with Jesse Thomas. The bride and groom received many handsome and valuable presents.
There was quite a large crowd at the church to witness the marriage. May their journey through life be a long, happy and joyous one. M.

UNINTENTIONAL INSULTS.

Persons Must Be Very Careful When In a Foreign Country.

A short time back a complaint was received by the authorities through the Chinese legation that the gentleman representing her majesty in China had been guilty of conduct unbecoming an ambassador and a gentleman; that he had insulted the Chinese cabinet. Investigation, however, showed that the only conduct of which he had been guilty was thumping the table at which he was sitting to emphasize a remark. Of course no notice was taken of the affair, but, all the same, the diplomatists of China were offended, for in that country it is an insult to the assembled company to thump the table.

It only shows how careful one should be in a foreign country. In England, if a friend is visiting another and stays to dinner, he may ask for the loan of a hairbrush without giving offense, but in Hungary he may not. To attempt to borrow that useful article is one of the greatest insults which can be offered to a Hungarian and one which will in most cases cause a duel.

In France there are several insults which the unwary foreigner may offer without knowing it. For example, he may be visiting a friend and may put his hat upon the bed. This is a grievous form of insult, but why it is not known. It is a very ancient one, and so probably results from an old superstition.

Again, there are two ways of pouring out wine in France, as everywhere else. One of these is to hold the bottle so that while pouring the thumb is facing the tablecloth. The second way is to hold the hand reversed—that is, with the knuckles downward—and this is a great insult to the assembled guests and the host, a far greater insult than drinking a health in water, and that is pretty serious in France.

Germany has some curious forms of insult. To begin with, to offer a rose or any other flower without any green or leaves with it to a lady is to deeply insult her, though why this should be so is not known precisely.

The German students are formed into corps, some of which are fighting corps and others not. Each corps has its distinctive cap, and when a member of one meets another in the street it is etiquette for each to doff his cap. Should the other not respond a complaint is made to his corps, and a duel is fought—a real duel, with sabers or pistols, not the fencing duel which is pastime in Germany, just as foiling or single stick is in England—for the insult is nearly the worst that can be offered.

There is one worse, and that is spilling or flicking beer over another student purposely. No apology will wipe out this offense. Nothing will, except a duel to the death or a duel which is continued until one of the combatants is too badly wounded to continue the fight. A minor insult is to refuse to drink with a student if invited or to refuse to respond with "Prosit" when he raises his glass and says, "Ich Komme vor," but this is more a breach of good manners than an actual insult.

We might finish with two Spanish examples of curious insults in South America. The first of these is to refuse to smoke a cigarette which another man offers you after he has had it in his mouth, and the second is to refuse drink out of the same glass that a man has just drunk from, or, worse still, to wipe it before drinking.—London Tit-Bits.

How One Reads.

The average person believes that in reading a newspaper paragraph he reads the whole of each type's impression, while, in fact, he only notices the upper half of each letter. Cover the upper half of a line with a sheet of paper, being careful to hold the paper exactly in the middle of the letters, and you will not, without difficulty, decipher a word. Then place the paper over the lower half of the line. It can be read without the slightest trouble.—Philadelphia Press.

Uses of the Tunnel.

Miss East End—They tell me you naughty Chicago men always take advantage of the tunnel when you ride through it.

Mr. Bluster—Yes, I generally do.

Miss East End—And do you really kiss girls you don't know?

Mr. Bluster—Kiss girls? I don't kiss any girls. I pass plugged quarters on the conductor.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

My New Umbrella

Alas! my new umbrella—I miss it with a sigh; the day I rashly brought it a friend was standing by. Next day it rained—he borrowed it, to be returned that night; but since that fatal moment it hasn't blessed my sight. He lent it to a neighbor's wife, and to increase my woe, she lent it to the minister, and it's still upon the go. He lent it to a student, who lent it to a friend, and still it's going, going, gone; I wonder where it will end? But through the cloud of borrowers, one ray of light I see; perhaps I may be lucky and it will be lent to me.—Chicago News.

We Don't

Who believes that the Populist leaders in this State favor silver when their record brands them as supporters of a gold bug Senator?

Who believes that they favor white supremacy and honest government in view of the fact that they elected negro legislators and have assisted very materially in the mismanagement of the loosest government our State has ever experienced?

THE HERALD does not. In fact, we have no faith whatever in their utterances and we repudiate all ideas of a fusion, either congressional or otherwise, with a gang of such infamous characters.—Smithfield Herald.

English Incivility.

Alphonse Daudet used to tell this anecdote to illustrate the incivility of some Englishmen:

"I was on my wedding journey, and an Englishman was with my wife and myself in the compartment in the train. The air in the car was close, and I wanted the window lowered. But he insisted it should be kept closed. I told him that I wanted some fresh air, that my wife needed it, but he persisted in keeping the window shut. At his incivility I thrust my elbow through the pane, at the same time exclaiming, 'Keep the air away from us now if you can,' and the fellow glowered like a bull."

The Retest Courteous.

The proprietor of a new Washington hotel celebrated its opening by inviting a large number of distinguished judges of diminutive stature took offense at a jocular remark of the landlord and, handing him $1, said, "Sir, I wish to pay for my supper." The landlord handed him back 50 cents, saying quietly, "Children half price."—What to Eat.

A Social Distinction.

Said the shoe clerk boarder: "Any customer who desires to look at something in one of the up stairs departments is taken on the elevator, while the poor clerk has to walk up the stairs. I think this is done to show the difference in their positions."

"It looks to me," said the cheerful idiot, "more like showing the difference in their bringing up!"—Indianapolis Journal.

What a Boston Lady Did.

A lady dressed with excellent taste was passing up Washington street recently on a very cold day, when she noticed a horse whose blanket had fallen off. Many other ladies and gentlemen were passing and it required some moral courage (as the world goes) for her to stop, take up blanket, spread it over the horse and tuck it under the harness. But she did it, and did it well. Her mercy was thrice blessed, for it blessed not only the giver and the receiver, but the stranger who witnessed the act.—Our Dumb Animals.

Always a Crowd.

An exchange coming from a town to which a railroad has just been built says crowds of people flock around the depot to see every train come in, and that it will be that way until the novelty wears off. Greenville has had a railroad for years, and the novelty has not worn off yet. If we can judge by the crowds about the depot every day.

Latest from Havana

The divers who were making the investigation about the wreck of the Maine, left Havana today for Key West. It is said they found a piece of torpedo just outside the wreck. Everytime the divers went down they discovered new evidence that the destruction of the battleship was not due to accident. The Spaniards would not allow the divers to go out from the hull of the Maine to make any investigation of the harbor adjacent.

The Spanish warship Vizeaya left New York harbor Thursday, drifting down the Atlantic for Cuba. The American monitor Terror is following her.

Special Fair Train.

On Thursday, March 3rd, a special train will be run over this road to the Newbern fair. The train will start from Scotland Neck and will pass Greenville at 8:07 o'clock A. M. The round trip fare from Greenville, including admission to the fair, is $2.25, from House $2.50, from Ayden $2.10, from Gritton $1.95.

This special train will give our people a chance to spend one day at the fair if they can't make a longer stay. A large crowd will go from here.

A Square, Open, Hot Fight Against All Enemies.

The opinion is almost universal among North Carolina Democrats that the Democratic party must have no offensive and defensive alliances, but make a square, open, hot fight against all enemies of the State in whatever combinations they appear, inviting all friends of good government to unite with them in saving North Carolina from injury and in restoring to power the people who love the State and would have it to prosper. All true and patriotic North Carolinians should unite against the vandals. The most distinguishing, disgraceful pages of this country are those that record the results of the combine in the last three or four years of legislation in this State. Let the honesty and intelligence of the State get together to put an end to such depravity and prostitution of power—such wrong-doing and corruption among officials.—Wilmington Messenger.
