The Inevitable.

"From the very foundation of the republic," says the New York Sun, in the progress of an interesting editorial, "dangerous elements of discussion appeared, and they made inevitable the civil war of a generation ago." It is true. The war of 1861-'65 had its genesis in the constitution of the United States. Directly after the adoption of that instrument two schools of thought sprang up, dividing upon its interpretation. The division was not upon sectional lines, as became the case much later. Indeed, the first assertion of the right of secession, when the republic was yet young, was in New England, and this right was elaborately argued and abundantly proved. In the course of time the doctrine found wider acceptance, but the question of slavery becoming involved with it, it became sectional, and the war was pitched on this line. As to this war, it was to return—a question of time. It happened to have begun in 1861. If it had not, it would have done so at another period. Intellectuality had exhausted itself in the effort to settle the question which gave it birth and there was no other recourse than the word. It was as well, perhaps, as otherwise, that the conflict came when it did. It had to come, and now it is over with.—Charlotte Observer.

The safe in the post office at Ashland Va., was blown open Friday night and robbed of $600 in stamps.

THIS EXPLAINS IT.

Cause of the Preparations.

New York, March, 12.—The Army and Navy Register, in its issue of today, says: "The Register is in possession of information, the correctness of which it has no reason to question, that certain evidence, gathered by the court of inquiry at Havana, has come in a semi-official form to the President from two prominent members of the board. The information has been in the hands of the President since Sunday and has served for the occasion of the unusual activity, during the present week.

"The information is that the Maine was destroyed by a government submarine mine, planted in Havana harbor and deliberately exploded. More than this, it appears that the Maine was purposely moored in the vicinity of the mine, and that the explosion occurred at the moment when the ship had been opportunely carried by wind and tide directly over the mine. These facts have been hinted at and written about in dispatches from Havana and Madrid, and among the varied statements made the actual conditions have been touched upon, but nothing authoritative has been permitted to escape from the court.

"That body is understood to have completed its work, but nothing is likely to be officially promulgated in regard to its findings for a week or more. There is obvious reason for such action, the objects of which cannot be defeated by independent newspaper statements. There can be but one outcome of such a report, and preparations for the inevitable results are being industriously and indistigably prosecuted. The work of the week shows that the government at Washington appreciates the situation and will be ready to meet what has now ceased to be a mere emergency."

STATE NEWS

Miss Eva Belle Simmons, daughter of the late Prof. William G. Simmons, and who was the only lady who ever graduated at Wake Forest College, died suddenly at Eufaula, Ala., Friday.

The Journal says that at Lincolnton Tuesday some boys jumped and yelled at and threw rocks at a dog belonging to Jane Hendersore and so frightened it that it dropped dead—literally scared to death.

George B. Erb, formerly of Shermanoure, Pa., who thought he had divine power and could fly, tried it and is at the Eastern District Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., suffering from internal injuries and a broken leg.

FIXING FOR TROUBLE.

Fix up my knapsack, Molly, an' make her good an' stout,
Fer things air gittin' crosswise, an' Spain an' we air out;
We've lived in peace an' plenty fer a century—night erbout—
But things air topsy-turvy, an' Spair an' we air out.

An' Billy—git my rifle—she's purty shore ter win;
An' lay her on the table, an' I'll grease her up ag'in;
She ain't seen any service sence them ol' days with Lee,
An' she's lookin' right reproachful from the rusty rack at me.

An' Molly—fill the canteen—the battered one of old,
With some o' the ol' applejack, fer keepin' out the cold;

An' the ol' time regimentale—I don't keer what they say,
I kin fight a blame sigit better in that faded coat o' gray!

I mout as well git ready fer the trouble—ef it comes;

An' not be settin' idle till I hear the rollin' drums;

So, fix my ol' contraptions, befer^e they start the fray.

An' let the band play "Dixie," an' here's one'll shout "Hooray!"

F. L. STANTON.

There is a Hereafter.

There is a little pointer for those whose conduct conveys the impression they think there is no hereafter. The late lamented Bill Nye once said:

"Do not attempt to cheat an editor out of his year's subscription to his paper, or any other sum. Cheat the ministers, cheat anybody and everybody, but if you have any regard for the future consequences, don't fool the editor. You will be put up for office some time, or want some public favor for yourself or friends, and when your luck is a thing of beauty, a joy forever, the editor will open upon you, and knock your castles into a cocked hat at the first fire. He'll subdue you, and then you'll cuss your stupidity for a drivelling idiot, go hire some man to knock you down and kick you for falling."

The country newspaper publisher toils every day to make his paper interesting, mentally and mechanically—that's labor; once in a while a patron comes in and pays a subscription—that's capital; occasionally one moves off without paying and has his postmaster send a card to say the paper is refused—that's stealing.—Ex.

Pay in Active Service.

Aside from the danger of being shot by the enemy, war would not be an unprofitable occupation for the North Carolina militia.

Following is a table of pay for officers up to colonel during the first five years of service:
Colonel $3,500
Lieutenant Colonel 3,000
Major 2,500
Captain, mounted $2,000
Captain, not mounted 1,800
First Lieutenant, mounted 1,600
First Lieut, not mounted...
Second Lieut, mounted... 1,500
Second Lieut, not mounted... 1,400

lowed 30 cents a day or fraction of a day, as commutation of rations.

Some privates in the North Carolina militia make more money in time of peace than some officers. In war they would have less of glory, less of pay and more work.—Charlotte News.

Literary Life in Billville.

All the home poets are plowing peacefully. We believe in giving genius a wide field to work in.

In case of trouble with Spain all our leading authorities are willing to stay at home and write a history of it.

Several leading literary men are busy reaping their wild oats and preparing land for cotton seed.

A midnight burglar looted the town library recently. We always warned the head librarian to keep that dictionary and the state agricultural reports under lock and key.

Another literary dance will be given off Saturday evening next. Hospital physician informs us that the victims of the last one are slowly recovering.—Atlanta Constitution.

"Facts are Facts"

In presenting in the House of Representatives the bill appropriating $50,000,000 for national defence, Mr. Cannon stated that we had the money in the Treasury to meet the appropriation, if it was to be expended, and, therefore, there was not presented with the proposition one to borrow money or to increase taxation, to which almost any other nation on earth would have been obliged to resort.

The Boston Herald, in treating of this assertion, however, says, that "the money may not have to be borrowed at present, but that is simply because it was borrowed in advance. It forms part of the proceeds of the loan of $100,000,000 negotiated by Secretary Carlisle in February, 1896.

The Herald remarks further that it is from a balance left from the proceeds of the sale of these bonds after meeting certain demands that the emergency expenditure will be drawn, and then goes on to show that the present administration has added nothing to the money in the Treasury.

None begrudge the national defence appropriation. It was a wise step. It may prove a peace appropriation: for, as Washington said in his speech to both houses of Congress, in January, 1790, "to be prepared for war is one of the most effectual ways of preserving peace." Yet facts are facts, and the facts given by the Herald are well worthy of consideration in connection with the further fact that the $50,000,000 already appropriated would be but the beginning of what we would have to expend in case of war. In brief, all the facts constitute, aside from any moral consideration, a powerful argument against unjustifiable war. In the event of war, it would be only a question of time when propositions for appropriations would be accompanied by propositions to increase taxes, and increase them heavily, at that, and the increase would continue through a series of years after the cessation of hostilities.—Richmond Dispatch.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF

A Simple, Harmless Remedy, Yet It Cures the Worst of Dyspepsia and Indigestion

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour. On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods. It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty cents package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars worth of patent medicines and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know, when widely advertised patent medicines are used. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, 50 cts. A little book on cause and cure of stomach troubles mailed free by addressing The Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Hicks for March says: From the 11th to the 15th runs another regular storm period, in which storms of much violence are to be anticipated. Venus, Mercury, Vulcan, Earth and Moon are all involved. From the 17th to the 21st falls a very decided period of reactionary storms. Rain, thunder, sleet, snow and wind may be expected. From the 24th to the 27th falls a marked storm period—it will be wise to provide shelter and refuge for man and beast against all these equinoctial perturbations.—March ends in a reactionary storm periods.

The Hobo and the Maine Disaster. The genuine thing in the shape of a real hobo has just made its appearance in Charleston. He may have been here before, but it was in some other guise. This chap is ragged, even unto his face. His hair has been shaved, and he walks, or rather drags himself along, like a snake. Saturday afternoon the hobo paid his respects to the clerks around the United States courts, and explained that he came to them because he once served Uncle Sam. He might have served the government at Columbus, O. The story the tramp told should make him, with a few exceptions, the king of the Charleston liars. He said that he was a coal-passer on the Maine, and was on the ship when the explosion tore the warship into splinters down in the harbor of Havana. Of course, the hobo was slightly injured. His head was singed, and one of his legs was twisted into a dozen shapes. The bum said he was taken to Key West, and being tired of the navy decided to escape. The story was told with every effort to make it appear straight, but it might as well have been told to a deaf man. The fellow wanted to raise enough money to take him to his old home, in Maryland. "I want to surprise my wife," he said "as she thinks I went to the bot, tom of the sea." It will be a sad day when Willie reaches his wife. It's a long walk to Maryland, and the woman will escape for awhile, at least.—Charleston News and Courier.

Material Too Raw. The Southern, the Seaboard and Atlantic Coast Line have all protested against the decision of Gov. Russell's usurping railroad commission. They will carry the fight as far as it can be made to go and will not be satisfied with anything less than the ruling of the highest judicial authority in the land.

The trouble about the matter, so far as this State is concerned, is simply this: It is folly to make up a railroad commission out of raw material. You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear and you can't make a good railroad commissioner out of a professional politician. The men who compose such a board should have some knowledge of railroad matters on the one hand and of the wants and necessities and requirements of the people on the other. They should not be railroaders, nor should they be politicians and hangers on for place and preferment. They should know something of the things about which they are to legislate and the men who compose such a board should not be selected because they helped manipulate a political convention by which some man, or men, succeeded in securing a nomination. But every man must pay for his whistle. We are paying for ours now and a pretty dear price it is, too. Later on Governor Russell and his gang of corrupt incompetents will be called upon to face the music.—Wilmington Review.

Men Who Make the Wheels Go Round. There are, of course, many men in business pursuits who devote themselves to single branches of trade, just as there are men who are devoted to single branches of science. A reporter who was seeking definite information concerning a certain article of common use was told that So-and-so knew all about it, a statement that was confirmed by another man, who said of So-and-so that he was "as much interested" in his specialty "as the reporter was in types."

There are plenty of such men that the public never hears of; men that devote their lives to special lines of goods, or it may be to single articles, who are experts and men of authority in their respective businesses and very probably men of high salary or considerable income; men of energy, capacity and concentration, who succeed in what they undertake, whose efforts make the successful business house.—New York Sun.

Spiders. Spiders have played important parts. It is said when Mohammed fled from Mecca he hid in a cave and a spider wove a web over the entrance. When his pursuers came thither, they saw the web and believed no one was there. It is said a spider performed the same kindly act for David when Saul was hunting him.

A Watermelon Paradise. As the effort to colonize negroes in Liberia is not working satisfactorily, it might be feasible to induce them to go to the Messilla valley, in Mexico, where the largest watermelons are grown. It is said that a farmer in that valley had no wagon strong enough to take one to market, so he had to cut slices out of it with a crosscut saw as they were needed for home consumption. But one of them became too ripe; it burst and washed away all the lower acres of his farm. No lives were lost, but much damage was done, as the flood rushed down the irrigation ditches. This story is vouched for by an exchange whose editor wears seven shooters in his belt.—Atlanta Constitution.

LITTLE MISSILES

Not for War, but of a News Nature

Peach trees are blooming.
 Sunday was like a summer day.
 Hope Fire Company meets tonight.
 Ice—A full supply on hand.
 W. R. PARKER & Co.
 The races begin tomorrow and continue four days.
 CHEAP—3 Dozen Eggs for 25c at S. M. Schultz.

Beware of the fakirs this week. They follow the races and are here.

There is more open house talk here now than Greenville has had in some time.

The King Comedy Company that showed three nights here last week left this morning for Rocky Mount.

Fresh Peaches, Magic Yeast, Cod Fish, Buck Wheat, Nichol's Rolled Oats and Queen Olives, just in at J. S. Tunstall's.

Notice the change in our telegraphic markets today. They are now reported by Speight & Co., and Liverpool quotations are added.

Hoax—"I understand that when Count No Kount asked old Gotrox for his daughter's hand he offered his title and castle in return for her, and yet he was turned down." Joax—"Yes; from the old man's subsequent conduct it seems he wanted something to boot."

Cutting at Grifton.

Saturday evening at Grifton Wiley Jones, a white man, was assaulted and badly cut by a colored man named Charles Artis. Artis was drunk and assaulted Jones without provocation, stabbing him in the back. Jones' condition is reported critical. Artis has been placed in jail.

ENLISTED.

On Other Missions Than War.

 M. R. Lang spent Sunday in Tarboro.

J. P. Quinerly and L. J. Chapman, of Quinerly, were here today.

Mrs. M. D. Higgs left this morning for Baltimore to purchase her spring millinery.

G. E. Cherry and wife, of Jamesville, are visiting the family of J. A. Thigpen, father of Mrs. Cherry, near town.

J. B. Cox, Bryan Gardner, C. P. Gaskins, S. V. Laughinghouse and E. A. Bland, of Grifton, came up on the morning train.

Freak Names.

The Statesville Landmark recently printed a State news item about a family of children in Rutherford county all of whose names begin with the letter Z. A lady friend, who taught school in that section and knows the family, sends us a corrected list of the names. Clements is the name of the family and the children are named as follows: Zeno, Zula, Zeblulon, Zinnie, Zolen, Zaco, Zaluskai, Zenix, Zalt, Zeolly. If any have been added to the family since then they have probably run down to the letter Z alone.

But the Z's are not the only freak names in that section, for our friends tells us that another family, named Andrews, inflicted the following upon their children: Kansas Love, Quilina Quilina Quian, Eulalia Valtasia Flab-anico Amfecto.

And yet another family, named Allen, thus disfigured their children: Linsco, Lansco, Stumpco.

This passes Rutherford well up toward the head.—Ex.

OVER THE COUNTRY

Mayor Charles B. Halthill, of Higginsport, O., died Sunday from wounds received in a street duel on Thursday.

The St. Louis Union Stock Yards are to be sold to satisfy a debt of truts on the holdings of the company for $150,000.

Among the passengers who arrived at New York by the steamer Advance, from Colon, was Shen Sen Yu, secretary of the Chinese Legation at Washington.

Heavy Freights.

Freights on the river are so heavy that the steamer Myers made an extra trip Sunday to bring up a load of fertilizers. It also brought twenty horses for the races.
