THE COLONEL AGAIN.

He Writes Interestingly on Many Subjects.

FORT SMITH, ARK., Mar. 12th, 1898.

DEAR REFLECTOR:—You will doubtless be surprised to hear from me here. But here I am, all O. K., and have had a splendid time in the Indian Territory for the last week. I had a desire to see the Indians, and I can say "veni, vidi."

Well, they are not a bad people when you get close to them and treat them right. I spent two days at South McAlester, one day at Muskogee and one day at Wagoner. It had not rained since Jan. 1st, but as soon as I got in Wagoner it began and rained until I left. The natives were delighted, and when they found that I was the weather clerk and carried the rain with me, you ought to have seen them trying to see who could be the cleverest to me. You know I am a modest man and could not stand that, so I thought while I was with the "stand in," I had better leave, so with a God bless you, and when you want rain again send for me, I left.

Talk about countries, but the Territory beats the best. If I were a young man I would make a million dollars there in less than two years.

Before the rain there was a wind right. It took ten women to hold a sheep skin over a gimlet hole. The soil is dark and you could hardly tell a white man from an Indian, or what kind of clothes you had on. I had always been told that a man must eat a peck of dirt during his life, and come to the conclusion I would either have to shut myself up or I was near the grave. But for the fact that I pulled the bell chord and let the curtains back for the rain I might have been a dead corpse ere this, and you would have missed the twinklings from your rambling friend.

I don't think as much of you as I used to. I like a man to his word, and you promised as faithfully as ever a red-headed editor did to send me THE DAILY REFLECTOR. Not a wink have I heard from you and I suppose you have closed the doors, gone into liquidation and now looking for a job with Uncle Sam to fight the Spaniards. Well, if you are in for whipping Spain and will do it, I have no more to say. But if you are simply forgetting me, and don't care a cent for a fellow as soon as he turns his face from the great state of Pitt, say so and I am done again.

[Let us break in here long enough to assure the Colonel that we have been trying to get THE REFLECTOR to him, but could not make it catch him in the face of those Indian Territory winds—EDITOR.]

I meet North Carolinians every day or two. They are all clever, and when I say I am from the state of Pitt we have a second shake. It does me good to know that everybody thinks the state of Pitt is ahead of all. It would not be fair to particularize as to my North Carolina friends out here, but to say nothing of one of the cleverest of Pitt county boys would be asking too much of me. John B. Tripp is a real grand boy that we should all be proud of. He is simply superb, like a Chesterfield, tall, handsome, graceful and pleasant; the gay bird that makes the hearts of the fair sex flutter. They all fall in love with him and say it is because they can't help it. In business he is a success, piling up ducats and has money to burn. Never saw a more popular, courteous, chivalrous, splendid type of Southern gentlemen in your life.

I spent one day and night in the delightful house of my friend, A. A. Malory, of Ferris, in the county of Ellis, that made in 1894 a crop of 124,500 bales of cotton. Mr. Malory and his brother are genuine Tar heels, from Laurinburg. They own large landed interests of the most fertile of the Trinity Bottoms, where the soil is 40 to 80 feet deep and as black as your hat. He took me on a thirty mile drive over the prairie lands, and in the bottoms I saw cotton stalks of last year's growth that were 10 feet high and so thick you could not drive a yoke of oxen through them. They are cut down with a bush axe. This sounds breezy, but it is every word true, yet I would hardly believed it myself if I had not seen it. You all know I never told one in my life, and I am too old to begin now on cotton stalks and Texas lands. That land is so rich that they are trying to find something to impoverish it so it won't grow such weed.

Wheat is looking fine in the territory and a large crop is planted.

I met a law schoolmate of Hon. C. M. Bernard, who obtained license from Dick & Dillard's law schools. He came to the Territory and began preaching as a Methodist preacher and is doing fine. His name is Cameron, from Rockingham. I mention this to show that the Tar Heel boys are succeeding in anything they go at.

Money seems plentiful out here and nobody talks hard times. But every body is talking fight with Spain and many are anxious to go. I have come to the conclusion that if we don't have a scrap with Spain there will be much disappointment among the people.

I find the K. of P. brotherhood very strong in the west, and a clever set of brothers they are.

I will look for one more REFLECTOR at my old address, 825 Elm street, Dallas, Tex., where I will be again soon unless I go to Cuba to help Fitz Lee whip the Spaniards.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent)
Washington March 14, 1898.

The Washington end of this nasty Spanish business is now in a fairly satisfactory condition. Since Congress placed $50,000,000 at Mr. McKinley's disposal, the administration has come out in the open with its war preparations, and no time is now being lost in getting together the fighting material that will be necessary to enable us to drive the Spaniards off every foot of American territory.

No harm is done by Secretary Long's denying that either the President or himself has any information as to what the report of the Naval Court of Inquiry will be, so long as there is no let up in the preparations to be in a position to act promptly on that report, which cannot be delayed much longer.

Mr. McKinley has not told anybody, so far as known, that he intended to couple with the demand he makes on Spain on account of the Maine, another that Cuba should be free, although he has intimated his intention to in some way combine the two things. If he wishes to act in accordance with the dominating sentiment in Congress, he will certainly take some means of letting Spain know when the Maine demand is made that this government has stood the disgraceful condition of affairs in Cuba just as long as it intends to, and that if Spain does not at once voluntarily recognize the independence of Cuba, the United States will help the Cubans to force her to do so.

The new Spanish Minister talks as though the most important issue between Spain and the United States was the negotiation of a reciprocity commercial treaty, and says he expects the representatives of the alleged autonomy government of Cuba, who will have charge of the interests of the island during the negotiations, to reach Washington in a few days. No one believes that such a farce as negotiation for a reciprocity treaty would be, under existing circumstances, will be allowed to begin by the administration, and the Minister is probably only indulging in such talk for the purpose of trying to impress us with the peaceable intentions of Spain toward us. He is wasting time. We know Spain's real attitude toward us—an attitude that has worked the American people up to such a pitch that the determination to thrash Spain has become universal among us.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, voiced the almost unanimous sentiment of Congress when he said concerning the report that a movement had been started with a view to bring about an alliance between England and the United States: "I do not think that there is anything in the report, for it would be one of the most foolish things this or any other administration ever undertook. In the first place, we do not need any alliance to conduct our own quarrels. We are able to take care of ourselves, and an alliance with some other power, particularly those on the other side of the water would be especially repugnant to the people of this country. I am confident there is nothing in it, and if there was, and it should be submitted to the Senate, as it doubtless would be, that body would not sanction it."

Those who had supposed that the fight against the confirmation of the nomination of Terrence V. Powderly, to be Commissioner of Immigration—the price of Powderly's stumping in the Presidential campaign, was over were not well posted. It is being waged quite briskly, and one of the apparent results is an adverse report from the Senate Committee on Immigration on the nomination, and Powderly's opponents express confidence that they can get enough votes in the Senate to ratify the Committee's adverse report. Powderly is now holding the office under a recess appointment.

Czar Reed having succeeded in his effort to compel a majority of the House Committee of Rivers and Harbors, to vote against reporting a River and Harbor bill at this session, Representative Wheeler, of Alabama, has introduced a bill appropriating $5,000,000, to be expended at the discretion of the Secretary of War, for the continuance of River and Harbor improvements already begun, preference being given to those which can be best operated during the summer and fall months. Gen. Wheeler will do his best to get his bill through, but as it is opposed by the Czar, the chances are rather against him.

SOME MILLINERY NOTES.

That Will Interest Our Lady Readers.

A deep rich yellow called burnt orange is a favorite shade this spring.

French amethysts, set in filigree gilt, are dainty and fashionable ornaments for evening hats.

The reign of ostrich tips will continue through the spring and summer. The broad-brimmed black straw hat will be surmounted usually by several of them.

The left side decoration will still predominate, only it will not be carried so high as during the winter.

Many of the newest shapes have domeshaped crowns and short-backed brims.

Picture hats are not as popular as toques or capotes. The most pleasing thing about the latter is the novel effects in the roll-like bordering that finishes the brim. This style of trimming is apt to give a heavy appearance to a summer hat, but it is becoming and strictly correct, nevertheless.

Flower crowns are the top notch of vogue. Roses and violets are the favored flowers for these.

The Victorine hat, designed especially for the coiffure a la Pompadour, is much in evidence.

The top-heavy trimming effects of the winter will be conspicuous by their absence.

Rosettes will be more lavishly used as garniture than ever. The smartest ones are made of satin doubled, with a cord shirred into the outer edge.

On the most fashionable hats only one or two colors are used, although on some two or three shades of one color are observed.

Steel and gilt ornaments are not considered as modish as the cut jet. Rhinestones are only permissible for evening wear and even then they must be used sparingly as too many of them look gaudy and crude.

An odd and pretty fancy around a crown of sienna brown is, three rows of amber beads.

Plaid ribbons and velvets are quite passe for millinery.

The sailor shape, both trimmed and untrimmed save for the ribbons band, will be just as prominent a head covering this season as heretofore.

The edict of Dame Fashion for this summer is that all the blossoms for hat trimming shall be small, so the hyacinth, lilac, violet and tiny rosebud will be used extensively.

DREAMED A DREAM.

And Then Went Out and Found a Gold Mine.

Dr. R. L. Shimpoch, came up from Gold Hill this morning tells us of the strange means by which Charles Hopkins, a poor country youth who lives about two miles from Mt. Pleasant, has fair prospects of becoming a man of wealth.

Hopkins stated that about two weeks ago he dreamed that there was gold on his farm, a little obscure patch of rocky soil. He endeavored to induce some relatives to go in with him and make a search. They refused, however, and he induced another party to go in with him. The doctor thinks the discovery will yield the boy a small fortune.

A rich vein has been struck on the land of Mr. R. J. Shayer, of Gold Hill. It is thought that the vein will eventually lead to rich discoveries on Mr. Shayer's land.—Salisbury World.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF

A Simple, Harmless Remedy, Yet It Cures the Worst of Dyspepsia and Indigestion

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty cents package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars worth of patent medicines and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know, when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, 50 cts.

A Nansen Poem.

This snowless ice plain is like a life without love—nothing to soften it. The marks of all the battles and pressures of the ice stand forth just as when they were made, rugged and difficult to move among. Love is life's snow. It falls deepest and softest into the gashes left by the fight, whiter and purer than snow itself. What is life without love? It is like this ice—a cold, bare, rugged mass, the wind driving it and rending it and then forcing it together again, nothing to cover the open rifts, nothing to break the violence of the collisions, nothing to round away the sharp corners of the broken floes—nothing, nothing but bare, rugged drift ice. —Nansen in "Farthest North."

Should Be Suppressed

It is by no means creditable to Greenville that so many gamblers and fakirs are allowed the privileges of the town this week. A horde of them followed the races here and are carrying on their games open and above board, some renting houses and having crowds gathered therein. The law ought to be strong enough to reach these fakirs and they should not be allowed to carry on such business. The people should beware of them. The person who allows himself to be swindled on these games is not entitled to any sympathy.
