STATE NEWS

The commissioners of Edgecombe have decided to use a machine on the public roads.

There are now 660 patients in the Western Hospital at Morganton, 410 at Raleigh and 430 at Goldsboro.

Cherokee county wants the government to pay for the court house, which was destroyed by fire during the war.

Mr. Bud Morgan, of Chestnut Hill, is all smiles. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan have been married fifteen years and a fourteenth child has just come to bless their home.—Salisbury Sun.

About two miles from Henrietta Mills, N. C., early yesterday morning, Mr. John Green, township constable, attempted to arrest a negro named Blake. As soon as the negro heard of the officer's business he opened fire with a pistol. The constable fell to his knees, mortally wounded, but drew his pistol firing three shots at the negro, all of which took effect, one ball piercing his heart, killing him instantly.—Salisbury Sun.

Populist Modesty.

A Populist paper in Oregon has this to say:

"The People's party will enter the contest of 1900 two million strong. To be the victor in this contest it must closely approach a voting strength of seven millions. From what source shall it draw nearly three times its present strength? From the Bryan Democrats?"

Nit. You'll get no Bryan Democrats or any other brand this year. You have 2,000,000 Pops now and you only require 5,000,000 more to put you in the saddle. You are modest neighbor. You want your two million to absorb five million. You want to kill the horse to feed the dog. You can't do it. It's going to be a Democratic year, is 1898, and if your little side show of a party doesn't move out of the way pretty quick it will surely be run over. It would be better for you to tack your little army on to the big Democratic line and then you be in at the death of the Republican ticket next fall, not as eye-witnesses, but as fellow victors. You've got to die anyhow, pretty soon, and you might as well make up your mind to do it gracefully and decently.—Wilmington Review.

He—"Only married a month, and she has left him because he swore so frightfully." She—"Ah! marriage is a lottery." He—"Yes: and she drew a blankity blank blank."

MY MOTHERS' OLD STEEL THIMBLE.

I've been rummaging a casket, filled with relics of the past, And I turned them idly one by one until I found at last, Wrapped in a piece of homespun and laid away with care, The dingy old steel thimble that my mother used to wear.

O what a flood of memories sweeps in upon my soul, As the coarse and faded covering I carefully unroll, And dim with dust of useless years, I see before me there, The battered old steel thimble that my mother used to wear.

Rough with the toil of mother-love in cheerless days of yore, It was the only ornament those dear hands ever wore, And I tenderly caress it as a treasure rich and rare,

This precious old steel thimble that my mother used to wear.

Companion of her widowhood, her faithful friend for years, Made sacred by her patient toil and sanctified by tears;

No costly gem that sparkles on the hand of lady fair, Could buy the old steel thimble that my mother used to wear.

In a quiet little churchyard she has slumbered many a year, Yet in this holy hour I seem to feel her presence near, And hear her tender benediction as I bow in grateful prayer

And kiss the old steel thimble that my mother used to wear.

The memory of that mother's love should be a beacon light

Go guide my wayward footsteps in the path of truth and right,

And the key that opens Heaven's door if e'er I enter there,

Will be the old steel thimble that my mother used to wear.

Lost But Found.

While going to the depot this morning to take the train for Baltimore, Mrs. J. B. Cherry lost her purse. The loss was not discovered until nearly train time, but a messenger was hurried back to her home to see if it had been left there. Before the messenger got back Mr. J. S. Jenkins ran up and placed the purse in Mrs. Cherry's hand just in time for her to take the train. He had picked it up on the street and finding the owner's name on a slip of paper hurried on to give it to her. Besides money and papers the purse contained a handsome diamond pin, and Mr. Jenkins' finding it was very fortunate for the owner.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16, 1898.

It was a month ago this morning that the battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor.

The wife of Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, who was one of the Congressional party to go from Washington to Cuba, died suddenly in that country Monday morning.

What One Mouse Can Do

A little girl in a New York school screamed at the sight of a mouse. The children became panic-stricken and rushed screaming out of the room...

A Flood of Spurious Dollars

Denver, Col., March 12.—This city and other cities in the West have been flooded with counterfeit silver dollars. They are such remarkably close imitations of the genuine coin...

The Raleigh Post gives the following good advice: Let every good Democrat in every township constitute himself a missionary, and use his influence on every good white citizen...

The Southern Sentiment.

Ex-Senator Ingalls, returning, last week, from a trip through the South, told the North that in the event of a foreign war no section would do fuller duty by the national flag than the Southern section.

The sign and the testimony are all one way and they are very gratifying. The South is not eager for war, but it recognizes its responsibilities as well as its privileges as a part of the American Union...

All the good citizens of the State are going to "co-operate" with the Democrats this year in one supreme effort to rid the State of Russell-Butlerism. They have been invited, and will accept the invitation to go into the Democratic primaries...

It is every citizen's duty to patronize home merchants and institutions to the greatest practicable extent. The man or woman who orders from the north or other places goods that can be purchased as cheap or nearly as cheap at home...

The State Pitted

The Manufacturers' Record in an article headed "Poor North Carolina," says: "The sympathy of everybody interested in the development of the States of the South will be aroused by the latest blow given to North Carolina, already staggering under influences detrimental to its real interests."

"Among the agencies of administration in North Carolina is a railroad commission. For months it has been conducting itself in a way not particularly of advantage to the State. Where it was merely a case of factional disputes about spoils sensible people could feel only disgust."

"This action was taken in the face of absolute proof that a reduction of the existing rates would cripple the railroads. Its foolhardiness may be better comprehended when it is known that North Carolina has a population of thirty-three to the square mile, and that the only other roads in the country on which the rate of fare is as low as that for first class on those in North Carolina under the new ruling are those in Rhode Island...

"The density of population and the relation of the pursuits of the people to railroad travel should be factors in determining the passenger rates on railroads. The North Carolina commission has apparently made the rankest demagogism the sole basis of rate making. The result will teach the people of the State the danger of entrusting important duties to men unwilling to heed reasonable statements."

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

Ridicule, however, is not argument and Facts are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in many cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on never being humbugged especially on medicines.

This fear of being humbugged may be carried too far; so far, in fact, that many persons suffer for years with weak digestion, rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten promptly, thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely upon the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals, digest the food. That is all there is in it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite, and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for book on stomach diseases or ask your druggist for it.

Mrs. Victoria Conkling Whitney of the Missouri bar, has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and the several departments of the government.

S. M. SCHULTZ

It would be hard lines for our distinguished baseball players to have to divide newspaper space this summer with our naval and military heroes. Engagements between the fleets of the United States and Spain, or of their armies ashore—if we have war—will possibly enlist as much public attention as the great games of ball. And in the eyes of the people, it may be expected that the general or admiral of ours who wins a signal victory over the enemy may become as much of a hero as any of the crack catchers or batsmen who have lately basked in the sunlight of the public's smile.

It has been discovered that in the law fixing the State treasurer's salary at $3,000, the words "per annum" are omitted, therefore by law Father Worth is entitled to only $750 a year for his four years' term. He says he thinks he is entitled to $3,000 a year and will continue to draw that amount.

DOG ELECTED MARSHAL.

A Four Footed Candidate That Polled Thirty-one Votes Over His Opponent.

Forty years ago a man in Aurora, Ind., owned a huge Newfoundland that was known all over the town by the name of Bob. The man was Jim Kelso, a conspicuous character of those days. The dog possessed wonderful sagacity and would do almost anything within reason that its master directed it to do, and when told to "take him" would throttle and down the strongest man and hold its victim without harming him seriously until ordered to release him by its master.

So great was the reputation of this sagacious animal for police duty that in the spring of 1859, at the city election, the dog, under the name of Bob Kelso, was voted for at the polls and beat for the office of city marshal Clint Theetge, the principal candidate, by a majority of 31 votes. Old Captain Weaver and several other wealthy citizens of that period promptly proposed to have the dog properly invested with the rights of the office to which such a decisive majority had duly declared at regular election a preference for over its human competitor and prepared in legal form an official bond in the sum of $50,000, signed by numerous sportive parties and with a certificate from the election board, that Bob had received a majority of 31 votes over Candidate Theetge.

They presented themselves before Mayor Starks, with the dog wearing an officer's star on its breast and carrying in its mouth the official bond, certificate of election, etc., and then, ordering the canine to stand on its hind feet and hold up its right paw in position to take the oath of office, requested the mayor to swear the animal to faithfully discharge the duties for which it had been elected, as required by law.

The mayor refused, regarding the proceedings as a joke, but the backers of the brute asserted their sincerity in the matter and insisted that the dog be recognized as the city marshal, or they would defeat the mayor for re-election. The determination of the parties kept his honor in a quandary for several days until Theetge could invoke the aid of the law to put him in the position, but he afterward became so disgusted over the affair that he resigned and moved to Missouri and died there soon after.

Kelso met with misfortune and committed suicide and the dog became the property of Tom Wainwright, who enlisted in the army at the breaking out of the war and made a gallant soldier of the Eighteenth Indiana volunteers. Wainwright took the dog to the war with him, and whether on the march, in the camp or amid the thunders of battle he was never separated from his four footed companion.

At the battle of Pea Ridge Tom Wainwright was shot to death. The next day when the detachment of soldiers sent to bury the dead appeared on the sanguinary field they found the devoted animal standing guard by the side of its lifeless master, and no efforts could induce it to leave the body or allow any one to touch it.

Finally a soldier seized hold of the corpse to drag it away when the dog attacked him with such ferocity that his comrades, in fear of his life, ran it through with their bayonets to rescue him from his peril, but in recognition of the undying devotion of the faithful creature to its dead master they buried it at his feet in token of their respect for its fidelity. Thus heroically perished this brave brute, a martyr to its instincts of duty.

SMALL SHOT

Don't Make Much Noise But Reach the Mark

Chick tonight.
 March half gone,
 One day of the races over.
 Today was a pretty day for the races.
 Not many people were here today for the races.
 Services in the Methodist church tonight.

ICE—A full supply on hand.
 W. R. PARKER & Co.

CHEAP—3 Dozen Eggs for 25c at
 S. M. Schultz.

Cannon Cloth just received at Lang's Cash House.

Preserved Peaches and assorted
 Jellies at J. S. Tunstall's.

The fellow who bets on a horse and loses sees what a dunce he is.

The woman who does everything with her toes went to Kinston Tuesday evening.

With the races to draw people out to the track it has looked mighty quiet up street this afternoon.

It is getting time the county Democratic convention was called to select delegates to the State convention.

Patrons of the Wilmington Steam Laundry are pleased with their work.
 Have yours ready to go in with Wednesday morning's shipment. Goods delivered Saturday evening.

Chick Tonight

The Chick company came in this morning from Kinston where they gave performances for two nights, the papers of that town speaking in highest terms of them. The indications, judging from the way seats have been checked off, are that they will have a crowded house in Germania hall tonight.

KEEP THE TRACK.

These People on the Course, but not all go One Way

Benj. Norman went to Plymouth today.

R. B. Shaw, of Washington, is in town.

Dr. H. Johnson, of Gritton, spent today here.

S. PARKER, of Pinetown, came in Tuesday evening.

J. A. Pope, of Nortolk, spent today here looking after peanuts.

Misses Reba Fleming and Ella Nobles are visiting Mrs. M. L. Roantrree.

Mrs. F. W. Brown and children left this morning to visit relatives at Plymouth.

O. P. Smith returned Tuesday evening from his northern trip. He wasn't after new goods.

Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, Mrs. J.
 B. Cherry and Miss Martha O'Hagan left this morning for Baltimore.

Mrs. L. B. Barnhill, of Parmele, came down Tuesday evening to visit the family of her father, J. L. Daniel.

Mrs. H. L. Fennell and children, of Wilmington, arrived Tuesday evening to visit relatives. They are at present at the home of her brother, F. G.
 James.

These Draw.

It takes a rich man to draw a check, a Greenville girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a toper to draw the cork, Chicks Show to draw a crowd, and an ad in THE REFLECTOR to draw trade.

New Firm.

Jesse Smith & Co., have opened a stock of groceries in the Rialto building, third door from corner, as will be seen from advertisement in this issue.
 Jesse Smith while young has had considerable experience at selling groceries, and is courteous and attentive to all customers. His father is with him and the latter is by no means a new hand at selling goods. The entire stock is brand new and they have nothing but the best.

Dead in an Old 'Bus.

For some time an old discarded omnibus has been standing on the Corgleton lot near the corner of Third and Reade streets. This afternoon some children started to go play in the 'bus, and upon opening the door found a dead man in it. They informed some grown people who went to make an examination of the body which proved to be Lumus Peyton, a colored man.
 Lumus has for some time been a prominent worthless character around town and it seems that he had been using the old 'bus as a sleeping place. It is supposed that he died during last night.

"What was the cause of the old bookkeeper's downfall?" "Lost his balance."

THIS WAR
 IS A CUT ON PRICES!

Having decided not to run two stores during the Spring and Summer, I have moved the New York Clothing Store stock over to my old stand next to the Bank of Greenville. Combining the two stocks makes more goods than I have room for, and to remove this difficulty I will for

THIRTY-DAYS

Put the entire stock on the market

AT PRIME

COST - FOR - CASH

This is no fake but a necessity. I am overstocked, I don't want to throw the surplus goods away, so to get the stock low enough to accommodate I am going to give them to you at almost your own price. This is a Klondike that you don't find every day. Come on while you can get a chance at these goods.
