President McKinley Invited to Charlotte.

Washington, March 15.—Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, on behalf of the people of his state, has invited President McKinley to attend the celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence at Charlotte, N. C., May 20th. This is to be a great occasion in North Carolina. The people of that state claim that the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, made May 20, 1776, was the model for the 4th of July Declaration. A monument to the signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration is to be unveiled. President McKinley has promised to give the invitation consideration, with the hope that he may be able to attend.

THE WINNERS.

Fine Weather for the Races—"Carolina," "Billie Gaines" and "Fred Graff" Come Out First.

The first day of the spring races at the Greenville Driving Association passed off successfully, on Wednesday afternoon, under the direction of Secretary R. L. Davis, who is conducting the circuit embracing Newbern, Washington, Greenville and Rocky Mount. The day was fine and the trials were interesting and exciting.

The first race, trotting, had five to enter. These were:

Ida K—Moses Horton.
Carolina—W. W. Beavis.
Jesse G—R. L. Davis.
Dan—Jack Laughinghouse
Eggert—Dr. Ferguson.

The following was the result of the three heats:

Ida K.	2	2	2
Carolina.	1	1	1
Jesse G.	5	5	5
Dan.	3	3	3
Eggert.	4	4	4
Time	2:40	2:40	2:40

The second race, trotting, had four entries.

Nubbin W—Mr. MacKingtosh.
Billie Gaines—R. L. Davis.
Bessie Jordan—Mr. Levi.
Queen Bess—Mr. Lehman.

It required six heats to decide this race, the following being the result:

Nubbin W.	2	1	3	2	2	2
Billie Gaines	4	2	3	1	1	1
Bessie Jordan	3	4	1	3	3	3
Queen Bess	1	3	2	4	4	4
Time	2:30,	2:27½,	2:27½,	2:20,	2:22,	2:21.

The third race, running, had only two entries, resulting as follows:

Blood Hound	2	2
Fred Graff	1	1
Time	0:38	0:38.

An Attraction Show.

As was predicted Chick's International Stars had a full house in Germania hall, Wednesday night, and audience was delighted with the show. The serpentine dance by Mrs. Chick was a leading feature and elicited great applause. The jokes were new and up to date, the songs splendid, and the Cinematographe pictures were just immense. There was not a dull feature about the whole performance.

An entire change of programme will be given tonight.

Warning to Delinquents.

The Physician's Black List for Pitt county is undergoing revision, and this is to give notice to all delinquents that if their accounts are not settled by the 15th of April their names will appear on the black list.

A Touching Incident.

The relationship of confidence and affection which existed in Virginia between the white master and his colored servants (they were never called slaves or "niggers" except by "traders" and their class) has been both unknown to and incomprehensible by those who never had the privilege of seeing it themselves or leaning it first hands from the "beati possidentes" of those sunlit days.

A touching illustration of the feeling which was then cultivated and took such deep root that the hurricane of war and of reconstruction could not destroy it, was shown at the funeral of General Taliaferro, in Gloucester county, last Wednesday. When the General's death was announced some of the representative negroes of the community requested his family that, as a mark of their love and veneration for him, his negro friends be permitted to take some part in the ceremonies at the grave. The request was granted, and around the grave there gathered a great throng of white and black mourners. At an appropriate and appointed time the negroes sang the familiar hymn—

"Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love,"

To those who remembered what the old masters and mistresses had done to Christianize the negro it seemed but a fruition of that loving labor to see the children and grandchildren of those same servants sobbing over the grave of their ancestor's master.

To those who did not know the past as it had been it was a mystery.

They sang on in the plaintive key so well known working their bodies back and forth, and there were few dry eyes when those humble friends who had loved the venerated dead concluded—

"But one in Christ and one in heart
We part to meet again."—Richmond Times.

Seal Caught in the River

A baby seal was caught in the river off Fort Anderson Saturday night by Mr. Fails, a well known fisherman.

Mr. Fails was fishing with a net for shad and much to his surprise the seal came up with the first catch.

Just how this sportive youngster come to be so far away from his native play grounds, is the question that agitates Mr. Fails...

Weighing The Baby.

The story is of a young devoted father. The baby was his first and he wanted to weigh it.

"It's a bumper!" he exclaimed, "Where are the scales?"

The domestic hunted up an old fashioned pair, and the proud young father assumed charge of the operation.

"I'll try it at eight pounds," he said, sliding the weight along the beam at that figure.

"It won't do. She weighs ever so much more than that."

He slid the weight along several notches farther.

"By George!" he said. "She weighs more than 10 pounds—11—12—13—14!"

He set the baby and the scales down and rested himself a moment.

"Biggest baby I ever saw," he panted, resuming the weighing process. "Fifteen and a half—16. This thing won't weigh her. See sixteen is the last notch, and she jerks it up like a feather! Go and get a big pair of scales at some neighbor's. I'll bet a tenner that she weighs over twenty pounds."

"What did you weigh her on?" inquired the young mother.

"On the old scales in the kitchen."

"The figures on those are only ounces," she replied quietly. "Bring me the baby, John."

Evidence too Direct.

It isn't always advisable to come to the point too quickly. A boy was summoned to testify in a case in which one man had struck another across the head with a stick.

A host of witnesses had been called who "beat about the bush" in the most tedious and provoking manner. This very much annoyed the counsel for the prosecution, who broke out as follows:

"Here, my lad, we've been going round and round this case for hours and yet have no direct evidence. Now sir," he savagely continued, "hear what I say: I want you to come to the point. Did you see the blow struck?"

"Yes, sir."

"Ah, ah," chuckled the lawyer, rubbing his hands, "we have something to work upon. Here, my good lad, take this cane" (handing him the walking stick.) "If you saw the blow struck, you must know how it was given."

"Yes, sir, I—"

"Now, then, no words about it, I tell you," thundered the interrogator. "I'm the complainant and you are the prisoner. Now, just raise the stick and show the court." The bewildered lad did "raise the stick," and the next moment it came down upon the pate of the astonished lawyer, and he sent him staggering to his seat.

"That's the way it was done sir," said the boy, amid the shrieks of laughter of everybody present.

The discomfited counsel with a ghastly attempt to smile said that he had done with the witness—the evidence was too much direct for him.—New York Sun.

A Word With Husbands.

If husbands only knew, or if knowing only cared, how very much their words and manners affect the temperature of the home, they would never, by word or deed, leave it enshrouded in gloom. To most wives the husband is the sun around which every thought revolves. There is scarcely an instant in which his presence is not felt as she goes about her work, or even when at rest.

There is no true woman but will repay her husband over and over again for kind thoughtful treatment. He is ready to call her childish, and she may seem to him, but one thing is sure, a woman never forgets. All deeds of love or thoughtfulness shown by his hand yield a certain and abundant harvest.

She may love her home better than any other spot on earth, yet she sometimes gets so weary of the daily routine of never-ending duties that fall to her lot that she cannot help an occasional feeling of envy for those who have more time for recreation, for going abroad, for the little things dear to the heart of every woman, but which the stern hand of duty most effectually bars her from enjoying.

If your wife has been a faithful and true wife to you, tell her so. Do not think it lowers your manliness any to let her know that she still has a place in your affections.

It takes but little from her loved ones to make her happy, so do not begrudge her a word of praise now and then as her just reward, and of far more value to her starving heart than gold. They are some things which money can never buy, and wounds which cannot heal; but love levels all obstacles, overcomes all difficulties, and, immeasurably sweeter life.—Woman's Home Companion.

Many children are cursed by the home life they are forced to live. Their parents, eager for prestige in business, or society, leave their children to grow up surrounded by such influences as the child's mind desires or the environments of society throws about him. We have often seen children left to the care of incompetent servants, while the mother was off shining at some meeting or club or tea. The first duty of a woman is to her home and of a mother to her children. Whenever a mother neglects her own offspring in order to gratify her own desire for personal pleasure, that mother has lowered herself below the animals of the forest, that care for their young with a constant, tender care.—North Carolina Baptist.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

Ridicule, however, is not argument and Facts are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in many cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on never being humbugged especially on medicines.

This fear of being humbugged may be carried too far; so far, in fact, that many persons suffer for years with weak digestion, rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastic and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten promptly, thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely upon the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals, digest the food. That is all there is in it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite, and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for book on stomach diseases or ask your druggist for it.

The Catch of Shad.

Mr. W. H. Yopp, the well-known fish dealer, gives the information that the catch of shad this year is not nearly so large as the fish men would like it. This is owing to the want of freshets. During the past week, when the high tide and freshet prevailed, shad were plentiful and the steamer Wilmington brought up on one trip 2,000. But now that the river is falling again the shad are getting scarce. The price, however, is reasonable, roe shad selling for 30 cents each, and the bucks a 15 and 20 cents.—Wilmington Star.

Horrible Death

Weldon, N. C., March 14—News of a distressing accident reaches here to-day from Enfield. Mr. Charles D. Mills was ploughing in a field Saturday. At 12 o'clock he took the horse from the plow, put his six-year old son upon its back and started to dinner. The horse ran away throwing the child. The little boy's clothes were caught in the hook of the traces and he was dragged to death. The horse ran all the way to the house with the little mangled, bleeding remains. The distress of the parents can be better imagined than described.—News and Observer.

An Unexpected Reproof.

The tourist had paused to look at a large building surrounded by spacious lawns. Then he looked at a guidebook with the air of a man who is in doubt. A neatly dressed man happened to be strolling near the gate, and the tourist called to him and inquired:

"Is this the insane asylum?"

The other looked at him for a moment and then said:

"Have you reference to that large brick building in the background?"

"Certainly. I don't want to miss any points of interest, and this corresponds pretty closely to descriptions of the place."

"No," was the answer; "this isn't an insane asylum."

The tourist passed on and presently entered into conversation with a market man who was driving by. He turned back and, with some indignation, again addressed his first informant.

"I thought you said this isn't an insane asylum?"

"Yes, I said that."

"Have you any particular object in misleading me?"

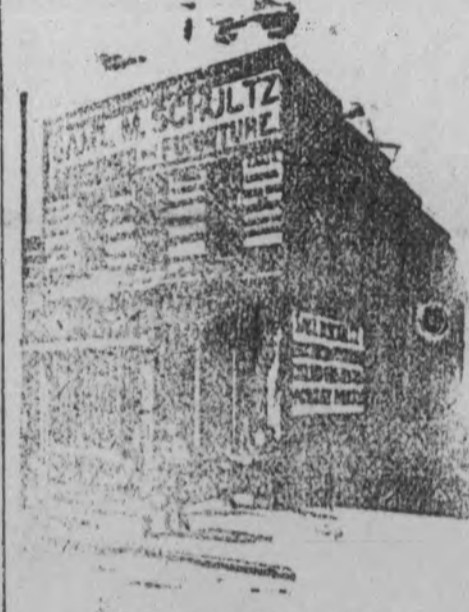

"None whatever. As I happen to have a great deal of leisure, I pass some time in trying to avoid the looseness of speech so common among people who in most things are considered responsible. I am prepared to assure you, sir, that while some of the inmates may be a trifle eccentric the building itself is not open to the faintest suspicion of mental derangement."—Washington Star.

"Yes?"

"But when she asks me for $1 she won't take 99 cents."—Chicago Rec.
