THEIR REPRESENTATIVES CALL ON THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY OF STATE.

General Lee Says All Quiet in Havana, Expected Home Saturday.—

Queen of Spain Appeals to Queen Victoria—Spain Stand Her Ground and Declines Another Ultimatum—No Changes or Important Development Today.

There is very little news from the Spanish-American differences today. What has come will no doubt please advocates for peace but not those possessing the spirit of war. Such news as came will be found in our press dispatches. Private dispatches today also indicate that there will be no war and that the tone of the situation has grown considerably quieter.

Foreign Countries Urging Peace By Telegraph to Reflector.

Washington, D. C., April 7—Representatives of England, France, Germany, Austria, Russia and Italy called on President McKinley and Secretary Sherman today to plead for peace. Their visit was short and it is impossible to get further facts of the conference.

"All Quiet Along the Potomac"

By Telegraph to Reflector.

Washington, D. C., April 7—Consul General Lee in a cable message says that quiet prevails today in Havana and that Americans are leaving as rapidly as possible.

Lee Expected Saturday

How a War with Spain will Affect the Price of Products.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

At the present time when war and rumors of war are rife in the land, when every patriotic home is to a greater or less extent disturbed by the strong probabilities of approaching conflict with a hostile foreign power, it is a dubious question frequently asked and never satisfactorily answered, what will be the effect upon our products? This is a question of far more serious importance than we should at a glance suppose, for it is upon this question that to a very large extent depends the very life of the defendants of the country.

We should naturally suppose that in the event of war for any great length of time that all food products would be in strong demand because these are the necessities, while cotton and tobacco, our staple money crops, one would suppose would not command so much attention. While this is a very reasonable way in which to look at it, I am not inclined to the belief that a war with Spain alone would bring about exactly this result. It might to some extent raise the price of food products and depress the price of cotton and tobacco but I doubt this because a war with Spain would not interfere very materially with our domestic commerce and unless other powers were involved I don't believe it would trouble our foreign trade and if such be true, aside from the unlimited conditions of things consequent upon international complications, our products would not be effected much more than they have for the last few years. Still no one can tell just how or what the effect will be. War is deplorable in any phase you view it and should be avoided if possible to honorably do so. There is no telling what the end will be. If the United States and Spain alone should be involved it is almost the universal opinion that it would not amount to much, but if other European powers should in silence wait till we become involved and then take a hand in the fight there is no judging what the result will be. For the last six hundred years the closing years of each century have been made memorable in history for some great event. The last few years of the 18th century brought life and liberty to these United States of America.

Will the closing years of the 19th century stamp with blood and the stain of war its brilliant pages of history that have hitherto glistened with the great achievements in science and civilization?

North Carolina's Prosperous Mills

"Nearly all the cotton and woolen mills of North Carolina," according to the local correspondent of the Wool and Cotton Reporter, "are running on either double or extra time. Even the news plants just put in operation during the present year, of which there are quite a number, have orders which necessitate extra time operations. Many of the latter are selling their products largely, some of them wholly to the foreign trade, China and Japan being large customers. One of the Carolina mills shipped goods, representing three months' output, directly to Japan, the goods having been bought before being manufactured." This is pleasing news, to be sure, but it has one unpleasant suggestion in it. "All the woolen mills" in North Carolina are running on double or extra time, and there is not one in South Carolina.—Charleston News and Courier.

War.

The Philadelphia Record quotes Sherman as saying "War is hell," and he knew. It recalls a recent expression attributed to President McKinley: "I pray God there may be no war with Spain." It further calls to mind John Ruskin's picture of war:

"If you take away masses of men from all industrial employment, and feed them by the labor of others, transport them and with destructive machines, varied daily in national rivalry of inventive cost (so that a gun of yesterday is useless tomorrow) if you have to ravage the country which you attack, to destroy for a score of future years its roads, its woods, its cities and its harbors, and tear thousands of men to pieces with jagged shot, and leave the fragments of dead and wounded creatures beyond all help of surgery, to starve and parch, through days of torture, until they sink and mingle into cloths of clay what book of account shall record the cost of your work? What book of judgment sentence the guilt of it?"

This reminds us that Horace Greeley was prostrated by the result of the battle of Bull Run and the havoc it played with the Union army. The New York Tribune had kept standing at the head of the editorial page: "Forward to Richmond! Forward to Richmond! The rebel Congress must not be allowed to meet there on the 20th July! By that date the place must be held by the national army!"

The old man was led to believe that the Tribune's hasty advice had partly led to the crushing defeat of the Union army at First Manassas, and it preyed upon his mind. James Parton, his biographer, says: "He retired to his farm a few days after, and was soon prostrated by an attack of brain fever, and for six weeks was scarcely conscious of passing events. His wonderful constitution has never been so severely tried, and he narrowly escaped the loss of his life or reason."

And yet, in spite of the horrors of war, the war-fever is epidemic in the world today. It is as prevalent in England as in the United States. The London Spectator says that the English are as rabid jingoes as the Americans. There is no quarantining against the war-fever. It will have to run its course.—Charlotte Observer.

The Spanish Flotilla.

The Spanish torpedo flotilla that is now on its way to Havana, consists of the following vessels:

Torpedo boat destroyer Furor, 406 tons, Commander D. Carlier. She has a crew of seventy two.
Torpedo boat destroyer Pluton, 450 tons, Commander P. Vasquez; has a crew of seventy two.
Torpedo boat destroyer Terror, 400 tons, Commander F. de LaRocha; has a crew of seventy two.
Torpedo boat Rayo, 120 tons, Commander Senor Rioz; has a crew of seventy two.
Torpedo boat Azor, 120 tons, Commander R. de Egguino; has a crew of twenty six.
Torpedo boat Ariete, 120 tons, Commander M. Somoza; has a crew of twenty six.

Are You "Run Down"?

Until February, 1892, I was a physical wreck and had been for over twenty years. No one can ever know what I suffered from rheumatism and neuralgia in different parts of my body, but principally in my head. I suffered so much with pains in my back that often I would have to lay with bottles of hot water to my back to give me what little relief it would. I suffered with indigestion for years, which gave me often such choking spells that the doctor would have to be summoned in haste. I could not eat a mouthful of meat or solid food of any kind, and the eructation of gas from my stomach was distressing. My system was completely run down. I had no strength and was distressingly nervous. Sometimes I would be unconscious from these nervous spells and would have to have hot baths applied for relief. When I had been in this condition for over twenty years, Mrs. Joe Person visited our town in February, 1892, and persuaded me to try a half-dozen bottles of her Remedy, as she told me she had never known it to fail to restore a broken down system. I knew I would have to try something and thought it might as well be her Remedy as anything, but I had no faith in anything curing me. I bought a half-dozen bottles and when I was on the second I began to feel better and by the time I took the six bottles I WAS WELL. Indigestion was perfectly cured and I can now eat anything I want and it agrees with me. It cured me entirely of neuralgia and I have never had it since. It cured me of hemorrhoids from which I suffered agony—rheumatism, backache, headache, nervousness all cured. When I see any one suffering from anything I asked them why don't they take the Remedy, that half a dozen bottles would cure them. I would not take hundreds of dollars for what it did for me. It restored me to health and now I enjoy life.

MRS. S. E. BONNER.

Edenton, N. C., May 10, 1897.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy is FOR SALE BY JOHN L. WOOTEN, Greenville, N. C.

Let this fact be not overlooked: President McKinley has known for months, for a year at least, the horrible condition of affairs in Cuba which when recently revealed to this country stirred the great depths of the nation. We run no risk in saying this; for the President has consuls and other representatives in all countries, whose business it is to keep him informed. After Messrs. Proctor, Gallinger and Thurston, fresh from the scenes of horror, had laid bare the cruelties of Spain, the President began to talk about humanity; but he might live a thousand years and still he could not explain honorably why he kept his people in ignorance all the long while he knew these things.—Biblical Recorder.

"Such a Country."

In Spain's population of 19,000,000 nearly 8,000,000 report "no occupation," 100,000 are registered beggars, and two-thirds of the whole number can neither read nor write. It is no wonder that the colonies of such a country rise in revolt.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The War Month

April is peculiarly a war month in American history. The war of independence was opened in the skirmishes at Lexington on the 19th of April, 1775. The war with Mexico was begun on the banks of the Rio Grande in April in the collision between Taylor and Ampudia. The war of the Union began with the siege of Sumter on the 14th of April, 1861, and ended with the fall of Richmond in April, 1865. It begins to look as if history will again repeat itself.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

He Understood Horses

"Whenever I see a horse with its front feet on the sidewalk," said the man from Maine, "I stop and pat him on the nose. He always appreciates such attention, and I feel better when I see him smile."

"A horse always wears a holiday air and a mischievous look when he has his front feet on the pavement. Take him in the streets and he looks ordinary. He knows that that is his right place, and he wears an air of sedateness. But occasionally he gets tired and wants a little human sympathy, and then he gets up out the gutter and puts half of himself on the sidewalk."

"Then he looks at every person who comes along in a hail-fellow-well-met sort of way that always goes to my heart."

"The other day I saw a horse half way on the sidewalk. Near him was an Italian with a push cart. On the push-cart were apples and flannel caps. Mr. Horse watched the apples for a long time, and then, when he saw the Italian looking another way, he slyly crept up and began to munch the apples. He had eaten three before the Italian discovered him, and was having a high old time."

"The Italian was a good natured fellow. He simply shoved the horse away and turned the flannel caps toward him. Of course the horse had no interest in flannel caps."

"I was feeling pretty good that day, so I went up and paid for the apples the horse had eaten. The Italian was grateful. I was happy, and as I patted the horse on the nose he grinned at me and I waved my hand at him with a 'So long, old chap!' as I moved off."—New York Sun.

Tramps for Army or Navy.

Magistrate Pool yesterday announced his intention to discharge any prisoner assigned before him for vagrancy or begging who would enlist in the army or navy. Charles Averner was arraigned before him by Policeman Tom Hayes of the court squad for begging at Broadway and Twenty-eighth street. Averner said that he was a fireman in the Southern hotel at St. Louis until two weeks ago, when he began making his way east to join the navy. He reached the navy yard too late on Saturday and was advised by another prospective recruit to beg enough money for a supper.

The magistrate looked him over. Averner is a big, well-built, openfaced looking fellow.

"Will you enlist if I let you go?" said the magistrate.

"That's what I want to do," said Averner, "I am an American citizen. I was naturalized six months ago, and I am not married. I want to fight."

"Go ahead and enlist," said the magistrate. Policeman Hayes said he would see that Averner kept his promise. After this, the magistrate said, he would send a policeman to the recruiting station with every prisoner so discharged.—New York Sun.

Services in the Baptist church tonight.

Winter seems to be using April to make up for lost time in cold weather.

Mr. J. H. Johnson, an afflicted Confederate soldier, died a few days ago at the Soldier's Home in Raleigh. He was from this county.

A new supply of the famous Parker Fountain Pen at Reflector Book Store. Silver dollar, special, mottled and gold band styles. They are the best fountain pen on the market.

A Pitt-County Boy

Capt. Lyman A. Cotten, of this county, graduated seventh in his class at the recent examination at the Annapolis Naval Academy. He has been assigned to the cruiser Columbia, the fastest ship in the flying squadron. Mr. Cotten was the senior Captain of the cadets at the Academy. By the way, we notice that one of the Raleigh papers in speaking of him puts him down from Edgecombe county, but he is one of Pitt's foremost young men, proud of his native county and his county is proud of the record he is making.

Lecture on China

Rev. E. F. Tatum, a returned missionary to China, delivered a very interesting lecture in the Baptist church last night. He began by telling his audience of his journey to that heathen country, relating many interesting and laughable occurrences. He then described the people and their habits of living. His first experience in coming in contact with the Chinese was very interestingly described. It is evident from what Mr. Tatum said that China not only needs the gospel in order to die right, but the gospel is needed to reform their living.

ALL COURT

Brady-Williams

Miss Georgia Bellamy Williams, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Williams, and Mr. James Alvas Brady, a prominent and well to do business man of Greenville, N. C., were happily united in the holy bonds of wedlock yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents in East Wilmington. The ceremony, a very simple and pretty parlor wedding, was performed by the Rev. A. D. McClure, of Saint Andrews' Presbyterian church, the witnesses being the immediate members of the family and a few chosen friends. The parlors were tastefully decorated for the occasion. The bride was handsomely attired in a blue traveling dress and carried an exquisite bouquet of carnations and Marechal Neil roses.

The bride's father is a popular and a well-known engineer on the Atlantic Coast Line and the popularity of the couple was attested by numerous and useful presents received from friends in this and other cities. Mr. and Mrs. Brady left last evening on the Atlantic Coast Line 7:15 train for a northern tour. They will make their future home in Greenville.—Wilmington Messenger.

Mr. Brady and his bride reached Greenville on Wednesday evening's train.

BETHEL ITEMS.

BETHEL, N. C., April, 6th, 1898. Miss Daisy Tucker, of Grimesland, is visiting in town.

Misses Bessie and Roland James, of Pactolus, are visiting relatives in town.

At the residence of Mrs. Mollie Wainright, on Pitt street, at 5:30 o'clock this evening, Miss Holland Albritton and Mr. H. P. Butler were happily married, Rev. B. B. Culbreth officiating. The bride and groom left on the 6 o'clock train for Robersonville their future home. May their life be a long and joyous one.

Good Boy, He Is

As the editor was coming through Winterville this morning "Bud Joe" Blow met him at the depot with a bunch of fine cigars to bring up for the REFLECTOR boys to enjoy. The cigars were made at the factory in Winterville and are as delightful a smoke as can be found anywhere. The boys return thanks to "Bud Joe" and hope his shadow will never grow shorter.

Representative to Grand Lodge.

At a regular meeting held in Odd Fellows hall last Tuesday night, F. M. Hodges was elected representative to the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. which meets in Raleigh, on May 10th, and J. V. Johnson was elected alternate. Prot. W. H. Ragsdale was elected D. G. M.
