THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1898.

Troops are now going south in large numbers. They are getting close to the prospective scene of conflict to be in readiness for immediate hostilities in case Spain fails to accede to the demands of the United States.

This was written before our dispatches came today. They put a change on it.

For a day or two now not very much is expected in the way of war news, and there will probably be no change in the situation until Spain replies to the ultimatum of the United States. Of course just what her reply is to be cannot be told in advance, but there are many strong in belief that at the last moment Spain will decide to abandon Cuba and thus bring the contest to a close.

STILL HOLDS OUT

The Wilmington Star has all along held that there will be no actual hostilities between United States and Spain, and even during the critical period of the last few days, when it looked like war was only a question of hours, the paper has stood by its opinion. In its issue of the 20th it says: "The Star stands firmly by its position that there will be no real war between the United States and Spain. In order to force Spain to evacuate Cuba it may be necessary to reduce the defences of Havana, and it may be necessary to land a large army on the Island. But we do not believe it."

"By withdrawing all her fighting ships from Cuban waters; by failing to increase her army; by neglecting to strengthen her fortifications, by taking no steps to accumulate provisions and ammunition in anticipation of a blockade or a siege—Spain has virtually notified the United States that if they are really in earnest they may have Cuba almost 'for the asking.' Is not this worth consideration."

"Besides, there is a strong probability that the Pope, sided by Austria, France and Italy, may yet be able to convince Spain that it is better to give up Cuba than lose practically everything."

The revolutionary war cost $135,193, 703 and 30,000 lives; the war of 1812, $107,159,000 and 2,000 lives; the Mexican war, $74,000,000 and 2,000 lives; the Indian wars and other minor wars; $1,000,000,000 and 49,000 lives, and the war between the States, $8,500,000,000 and 544,000 lives.

RECORD OF SPAIN

Condensed History of the Country in This Century.

Queen Isabella, a child three years old, succeeded to the Spanish throne in 1833, her father (Ferdinand VII) having abolished the Salic law. Her father's brother, Don Carlos, the next male heir, protested and organized the first Carlist rebellion. This civil war, stubbornly and ferociously fought, lasted until 1839, when the Basque provinces surrendered and "Charles VI" abdicated in favor of his son, Don Carlos.

In 1840 the Regent Queen, Christina, was driven from the country by a military revolution, and General Espartero, who had beaten Don Carlos, became Regent.

In 1843 another revolution drove Espartero out and brought Queen Christina back. Isabella was declared "of age" and married to her cousin, Francis d'Assis, and her sister Maria to Montpensier heir to the French throne.

In 1854 a military insurrection under General O'Donnell forced the restoration of the constitution of 1837.

In 1856 Madrid revolted and the kingdom was declared in a state of siege.

In 1860 the second Carlist war broke out in favor of Don Carlos II. It was suppressed, and the claimant died, being succeeded by his brother Don Juan.

Insurrections were too numerous to mention between 1865 and 1868. They were each suppressed, but one was always treading on the other's heels.

In September, 1863, a military revolution against the throne headed by Prim and Serrano, was successful and Queen Isabella fled to France with her mother and children.

Several Republican insurrections followed rapidly against military rule, which were suppressed with bloodshed and cruelty.

A government "by regency," with Serrano as the "Regent" was established June 15, 1869.

November 16, 1870, Amadeus, a youngson of Victor Emmanuel, was elected King. He reigned from December 4 to February 11, 1873, resigning.

In 1872 a third Carlist war broke out in favor of Don Carlos III, son of Don Juan, proclaimed King Charles VII, which gave Spain four years of the bloodiest and most devastating civil war.

June 18, 1873, the Cortes proclaimed a republic, and Pily Margall was chosen President.

July 9 Salmeron succeeded Pily Margall.
 September 7 Castelar succeeded Salmeron.

Series of revolutionary movements for cautional sovereignty followed, and between the Republican insurrections in the South and the Carlists in North, Castelar resigned—January, 1874—and the republic fell to pieces.

Serrano held the executive power at Madrid until January 9, 1875, when Alfonso, one of Isabella's many "irregular" children, was proclaimed King by the Armies of the Centre and North.

March 1, 1876, Don Carlos fled to France, and the kingdom torn by ten years of civil war within had peace for a few weeks, until the Basque provinces revolted in April.

In 1884 there was a revolt in the army; reading from Barcelona to Cartagena.

In 1884 a "military conspiracy" was discovered in the army and stamped out, and half a dozen Republican risings came to nothing.

In 1885 there were serious riots in Madrid, widespread conspiracies by Republicans were stamped out through Catalonia, a revolution was started at Cartagena and the King died. "Spain was on the verge of revolution."

September 19, 1886, a military revolution involving 8000 troops broke out in Madrid, and insurrections in other places. Many skirmishes were fought and the kingdom placed under military law.

During the next four years peace fell upon the land, broken only by constant labor riots and the shooting of strikers.

In 1891 an attempt at military revolution at Barcelona came to grief. At Cadiz and Bilbao bombs were exploded but the people refused to "come out."

The year 1892 was distinguished by fierce rioting and fighting at Bilbao, Corunna and other cities.

Troops were ordered to the Basque province in 1893 to prevent revolution, and since then there has been a political rising Spain. That has been left for her colonies.—New York World.

A TRAVELING MAN

Gives Some Valuable Hints Regarding the Cares of the Health While Traveling.

Mr. R. W. Wincherdon, a commercial traveller from Birmingham, whose business keeps him almost constantly on the road, relates in the Sunday News the dangers to health resulting from constant change of residence and the way he overcame the usual injurious effects.

He says: One thing people traveling cannot very well avoid is the constant change in water and food; the stomach never has an opportunity to become accustomed to anything and in a few years or much sooner the average traveling man becomes a hopeless dyspeptic.

For several years I suffered more or less from indigestion, sour stomachs, headaches, distaste for food, often no appetite, gas on the stomach and the usual unpleasant effects of imperfect digestion.

Nearly every traveling man has his favorite remedy for different troubles and I tried all of them with different results. Finally on the train between Pittsburg and Philadelphia one day, I overheard a conversation between two ladies, one of whom had suffered severely from indigestion and stated she had been completely cured by a remedy which she called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; I remembered the conversation because it directly interested me; and at the next town I inquired at the first drug store and bought a package for fifty cents, and from that day to this I have never been without them. They are pleasant tasting tablets, not a secret patent medicine but composed of vegetable essences, pure pepsin, fruit salts and Golden Seal; being in tablet form they never lose their good qualities like a liquid medicine would, but are always fresh and ready for use.

I carry a box in my pocket continually, and whenever I see any symptoms of indigestion I take one, also one after each meal, and for a year and a half I have not lost a day by reason of poor health and can eat anything and relish what I eat; my digestion is absolutely perfect as far as I can judge from my feelings and although there may be other stomach medicines just as good as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, I do not know what they are. Certainly for people who travel they are far ahead of any liquid medicine, as they are so convenient, they can be carried in the pocket and used whenever needed.

I believe they are sold by all druggists at 50 cents, and believe anyone who will try them will agree with me, that for indigestion and stomach trouble Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are unequalled.

The difference between what a man thinks of himself and what other people think of him is a good deal like what a man asks for a piece of property and what the other man offers to give.

An Omen of War

Reece Ellis, one of our colored subscribers at Dunlap, has brought us a natural curiosity in the shape of two bushes which had thrown out limbs which grew together again in such a way as to form a perfect capital "W." Reece is of the opinion, and all must agree with him that this is a certain sign of war. It is now on file at this office and will be its own affidavit to our readers of little faith, if they will call and examine it.—Statesville Mascot.

A VOICE FROM SALISBURY.

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 4, 1897.

From my own experience I have found Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy the best medicine known for building up the health in general. The greatest remedy in the world for dyspepsia, eczema, aches and pains and breaking up colds. Nine years ago I suffered with a chronic cold which resulted in a bronchial affection and repeated serious troubles of the throat, which was alarming. I was affected with something like croup, and again and again for years was subject to attacks of laryngitis I tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and am now free of all those troubles and have been ever since and feel confident the Remedy has made the cure. I have kept it in my family for years and have always found it invaluable for old and young. The extraordinary effect of this grand remedy is sure to be realized by all who give it a fair trial.

Sincerely,
MRS. M. E. RAMSAY.

FOR SALE BY
JOHN L. WOOTEN,
Greenville, N. C.

The dispatches in Sunday's papers told of the preparation of a bill by the Republican members of the committee on ways and means to raise by taxation $100,000,000 or $200,000,000 annually, and $500,000,000 by a popular subscription, for the purpose of carrying on the war which seems imminent. Internal revenue taxes are to be increased and no doubt tariff taxes also, to the amount of at least $100,000,000, at once, and then the $500,000,000 bonds will have to be paid when they fall due. This money is to come out of the pockets of the American people. Wars cannot be waged without the sinews thereof, and it is sometimes proper and necessary to wage them, but let no man suppose that they are inexpensive affairs. The people will begin paying for the one which is pending almost as soon as it starts, and they will continue to pay for it a great many years after it closes.—Charlotte Observer.

An example has been given of the carelessness and neglect which mark official operations in the beginning of a war. Two companies of colored infantry were dispatched by the War Department from Fort Missoula, Montana, to Key West. On their arrival at their destination after this long journey no quarters were prepared for them, and they were obliged to remain for another day on board ship. If the War Department cannot make proper provision for two companies of infantry, what will be the case when it comes to the shipment of an army to Cuba? This trifling incident is one among many indications that the War Department is sadly in need of overhauling from top to bottom.

The Spaniards are counting on yellow fever to help them in case American troops invade Cuba. In that event the Americans would hustle the Spaniards out so quick, and get out themselves so soon after, that yellow jack wouldn't discover that they had been around.—Wilmington Star.

STATE NEWS.

Asheville has a case of smallpox.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Biggs, of Scotland Neck, will celebrate their silver wedding on Friday 22nd. They sent out handsome announcements.

The monument to the signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence has been placed in position in Charlotte and will be ready for the unveiling May 20th.

A Charlotte boy attempted to imitate a circus performer. He went up a tree and was trying to balance himself across a limb, when he fell to the ground and broke one arm.

The Commonwealth says Scotland Neck has the smallest telegraph operator in the world. He is Ashley Bryan, son of the railroad agent at that place, who is only 10 years old yet does all the telegraphing of the office.

It seems to be pretty well settled that members of the State Guard need not go to Cuba to war unless they want to. Maj. J. M. Morrison, judge advocate general of the United States Army, has given out the opinion "that under the constitution the militia may be called on, first, to enforce the laws of the United States; second, to suppress insurrection; third, to repel invasion. There is no constitutional provision permitting the President to call out the militia to leave the country." The judge advocate general would not likely have announced this opinion without authority and careful deliberation, and its publication will perhaps tend to quiet the minds of some of the boys.—Charlotte Observer.

Felks wont get interested much in politics while so much war talk is on.

We hear that there was a heavy hail storm near Robersonville on Tuesday evening.

Several farmers who had been holding their cotton let it go on the advance of the market Wednesday.

The telephone girl has a speaking acquaintance with a great many people that she don't recognize.

The weather report today will remove the anxiety of those who were afraid there would be frost tonight.

A lot of heavy lumber is being unloaded near the depot to be used for making repairs to the railroad bridge.

Ten thousand North Carolina Cut Herrings just arrived today at the steamboat wharf. For sale by J. J. Cherry.

A new supply of the famous Parker Fountain Pen at Reflector, Book Store. Silver dollar, special, mottled and gold band styles. They are the best fountain pen on the market.

The Winterville Home Visitor says the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Co., shipped 1,700 cotton planters this season.

VOLUNTEERS.

These Come and Go of Their Own Accord.

O. E. Warren went to Tarboro today.

W. G. Lamb, of Williamston, is in town.

J. E. Langley came back to Greenville from Washington Wednesday evening and left this morning for Richmond.

E. T. Norris, a member of the firm of Turnbull & Norris, large cotton commission merchants of Baltimore, came in Wednesday evening to spend a few days here.

B. Franklin Metzger, of Norfolk, is holding down the town today. The Maine was blown up the last time he was here, and he is afraid something else will happen before he gets away.

SPANISH NEEDLES

Latest Grape Vine News from The Reflector's War Reporter

Bo Cherry says a Spanish war ship was sighted off Red Bank last night.

The people say they wont plant any Spanish potatoes this year. They want some other kind of yams. There is talk of even drawing the line against Spanish peanuts.

It is reported that all the Spanish mackerel have asked for a passport and left Beaufort intact. The guns of Fort Macon were trained on them as they passed out.

Messrs. J. B. Johnson and H. A. Sutton came back Wednesday evening from a two days fishing trip down the river. They report that the mouth of Hardee's creek is to be fortified against invasion by Spanish eels, as the latter ate herrings out of their nets as fast as they would get in.

Paid up to 1900.

The Times-Democrat has one subscriber whose subscription is paid in advance to January 1, 1900. This is a rare thing in North Carolina and we doubt if another newspaper in the state can show another such instance.—Charlotte Times-Democrat.

Three months ago THE REFLECTOR had a subscriber to the twice-a-week edition to pay up until August, 1899, which was about as far ahead then as the Times-Democrat's subscriber to 1900.

There was a go merry round crowd around the merry-go-round last night. The whirl-a-gig kinder added cur head, but we reckon we've ridden this write.

We do not hear of many in this section who are especially hungering to join the army. Plenty of talkers but few enlisters.
