ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS

Made by the Orange Va Observer,

Thermometers are now showing how well they are brought up.

The average man can get bottled up without joining the Spanish navy.

Every person is the director of his own life and the guide to his own future.

Don't express your opinions so freely—there is now a war tax on express packages.

The crop of peas in Virginia never fails—possums, peacuts, persimmons and politicians.

The girls will now gnash their teeth with rage—there is now a tax on chewing-gum.

If a fool happens to lose his foolishness, a dozen new ones step forward to fill the vacancy.

A child was recently born in Indiana without brains. What an admirable board of strategy it will be!

In studying character do not be blind to the short-comings of a warm friend or the virtues of a bitter enemy.

They say kissing by telegraph has one great advantage—the man don't get a mouthful of powder or a taste of red paint.

Expensive to Run a Daily

The Kinston Free Press announces the discontinuance of its daily edition, the reason given being that the patrons have received did not pay the expense of publishing the paper. That is a good reason. There are people who never consider the expense attached to publishing a paper, and do not care upon whom the expense falls just so they get the news, but they ought not to expect such without bearing their part of the burden. A newspaper cannot live unless it receives enough patronage to pay expenses. Few people have an idea of the expense incurred in running a daily paper, even though it be only a small paper. Such a paper should have the hearty support of every person in its community, and all indebtedness to it should be paid promptly to enable it to meet its weekly bills. Even a small town can have a creditable daily paper if there is sufficient concentration of patronage and support. The people of a community can make a paper if they will.

THE REFLECTOR is sorry that the daily edition of the Free Press is discontinued. It was a good paper, a credit to Kinston, and deserved a liberal support. But we think editor Herbert was wise in not trying to carry it on at a loss. We hope to see it coming again before a great while.

Passenger Coach on Freight Train

Agent J. R. Moore received a telegram Friday from officials of the Coast Line, stating that beginning on Monday, July 4th, a passenger coach will be attached to freight trains Nos. 5 and 6 between Weldon and Kinston. This extra passenger service will be continued through the months of July and August and will be a great convenience to people along the road. It will give those wishing to go to Newbern, Morehead or Beaufort an opportunity of making through connection without having to lay over a night and nearly a day in Kinston. It will prove of especial advantage to the Morehead travel from towns along this road. Agent Moore deserves the thanks of the public for getting his company to give us this additional passenger accommodation.

The Rebekahs Celebrate.

Friday night was distinctively an Odd Fellows night. The mystic tie folks turned the proverbial "hot time in this old town" to a delightfully refreshing and enjoyable evening. The Daughters of Rebekah met in their hall and after installation of elective officers and transaction of business they repaired to the Academy grove to enjoy a lawn party. It was not a "hen party" either, for the Rebekahs took their brethren of Covenant Lodge along with them, and those who did not have a husband in the latter order could take her sweetheart. They had ice cream and other refreshments in abundance and made the occasion one of much pleasure.

Beaver Dam Picnic

There was a large crowd at the picnic near Cobb's Store, in Beaver Dam township, on Friday, and they all had a fine time. There were pretty girls, music and dancing. The dinner was elegant and abundant, in fact there was so much to eat that the large crowd could not consume near all of it. In the forenoon Mr. F. C. Harding made a speech on education, and in the afternoon Mr. Johnson Nichols spoke on the financial question. These speeches, like all other features of the picnic, were good. Taken all together it was one of the best picnics the county has had. But that is the way the people of Beaver do things, they always go in for the best.

Left $3,500 for the Destitute.

The Hustler says Mrs. Eva Pearsall, formerly Miss Eva Hackett, who died at North Wilkesboro last week, left properly to the amount of about $3,500 for the purpose of building a home for the destitute of Wilkes county and for those who are unable to procure necessary medical treatment. It is to be known as "The R. F. Hackett Memorial," in honor of her father, and Dr. J. W. White, J. E. Finley and J. G. Hackett are named as the trustees.

The gentleman who made the discovery that if it hadn't been for Admiral Sampson's mother he wouldn't be where he is today struck a rock bottom fact. The only gentleman of whom we know anything whose mother didn't figure in his subsequent proceedings was Adam, and if he had had a mother to look after him he might have escaped his green apple experience.—Wilmington Star.

In New York a poor widow was brought into court by her landlord on a distraint warrant for non-payment of rent. Her name was Mrs. Hobson, and on mention, the judge granted her several days in which to move. "She shall have it," said he: "Her name is sufficient to win the favor of this court." And yet Shakespeare asked "What's in a name?"—Baltimore Herald, Ind

JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

A Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for Solicitor of the 3rd Judicial District of North Carolina, to be voted for at the ensuing November election, is hereby called to meet at 1 o'clock P. M., on July 6th, 1898, in the public hall at Rocky Mount.

The counties in the District that have not held conventions to select delegates to this convention will take notice hereof and govern themselves accordingly. By order of the Committee.

Not Good Without the Government Imprint

Washington, June 30.—In answer to numerous inquiries on the subject the Commissioner of Internal Revenue today stated that postage stamps could not be used in place of revenue stamps, except such as had been imprinted by the government with the letters "I. R."

A man named Norton, whose son deserted, appeared at camp to-day and stated that he had come to enlist in his son's place. He is 42 years old. He passed the examination and was enlisted. He is a fine-looking man. Col. Burgwyn paid him a personal compliment for his family pride and public spirit.

The railroad commission fixes the following valuation per mile of railroads for taxation: Atlantic Coast Line system; Petersburg Railroad $18,500, total increase of valuation $33,120; Norfolk & Carolina $17,400, increase $287,234; Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta $14,000, increase $186,900; Wilmington & Weldon $18,000, increase $878,210; Tarboro branch 17,400, increase $67,332; Wilmington & Florence branch $18,000, increase $627,000. Southern Railway system; Atlanta & Charlotte Air Line $15,000 valuation per mile, total increase of valuation $85,845; Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio $7,000, increase $64,585; Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta $14,000, increase $47,420; Northwestern North Carolina $8,000, increase $30,610; Piedmont $18,500, increase $185,095; Western North Carolina $11,000, increase $289,705; North Carolina $17,000, increase $883,050. Seaboard Air Line system. Carolina Central, Monroe to Hamlet, $13,000 valuation per mile total increase of valuation $132,750; Georgia, Carolina & Northern $13,000 increase $42,350; Raleigh & Gaston $17,000, increase $325,950; Raleigh & Augusta $13,000, increase $154,110; Roanoke & Tar River $5,000, increase $23,540; Seaboard & Roanoke $20,000, increase $94,700. The increases in valuation are: Atlantic Coast Line $2,080,796; Southern Railway $1,536,726; Seaboard Air Line $773,800; Norfolk & Southern $162,850; Atlantic & North Carolina $198,845. Total $1,753,106; Western Union $610,248; Postal $67,018; Pullman $153,882. Grand total $5,501,434.

There is no color line at Camp Alger, as one of the Tennessee volunteers has found to his sorrow. The Baltimore American tells how this volunteer met a colored officer, but made no move to salute. "Don't you salute officers in your regiment?" asked the colored man, sharply. The private stared at the officer for a moment, then drawled: "All coons look alike to me." He has been under arrest ever since, awaiting court-martial.

Rations of Tobacco.

In a dispatch yesterday telling of the condition of our soldiers in front of Santiago, it was remarked that "our boys are cheerful in spite of the heat and the hard fare, which thus far has been confined exclusively to hard tack, coffee and bacon" but that "the great deprivation is that both officers and men are suffering from the lack of tobacco." In another column of yesterday's paper it was stated that "the House adjourned at 6 o'clock, the yeas and nays having been ordered upon an amendment offered by Mr. Otey, of Virginia, to the bill [to add cheese and canned corn to the army rations] adding chewing and smoking tobacco to the ration of the soldiers."

These two items are deserving of consideration. The cry that comes from the front for tobacco has the genuine ring about it, and should not be allowed to fall upon deaf ears. Those who find comfort in their pipe or plug in the ordinary pursuits of life, are better than all others fitted to judge of the nature of this deprivation to the soldier in the ranks. It is worse than painful and it must have been with a just appreciation of the sufferings of the men at the front with no tobacco in their pockets and none obtainable from any source, that Mr. Otey was moved to secure the addition of smoking and chewing tobacco to the rations of our army. His nature is full of the milk of human kindness, and it is to be hoped that the kindred spirits in Congress will rally to his support and put his amendment through. Tobacco should be added to the army rations. This is no war joke. Mr. Otey's proposition is an eminently proper one and should meet with prompt and favorable consideration.—Charlotte Observer.

True as Gospel.

W. T. Blackwell, of Durham, who has been twice poor and once rich says that when he had plenty of money he could hardly get down to his office without being crowded by people enquiring about his health and in other ways showing their interest in him, but now he is a poor man he is not bothered at all by people who are so anxious about his welfare. And yet, Mr. Blackwell says that he enjoys tokens of friendship now that he is a poor man more than he did when he was rich, for he knows that friendship shown now is sincere.

So wags the world. There are thousands of men and women who in days of prosperity and success will extend to you the glad hand and profess unbounded friendship, but let the shadow of disappointment and loss fall across your pathway and not a cheering smile, not a finger of help is extended to you by a great many of those who were your pretended friends in the days of your prosperity. Puerile sycophants they are who desert you in the hour of trouble and yet you have to contend with many of them in your journey from the cradle to the grave. The friendship of lots of people is like that of a mosquito, they are friendly simply for the purpose of bleeding you.—Monroe Enquirer.

Newspaper Dead beats.

This is the way the letters come in occasionally.

"Gentlemen: I had desired to take the paper on for six months longer, but you can stop my paper, as I have been worried to death about it. Today there have been three parties in after it in less time than ten minutes. Send me statement of what I owe."

One of the most marked effects of the war in its relation to journalism is to increase the number of newspaper deadbeats. We dare say that any of the three beats referred to above knows more about the progress of the war than the telegraph editor of the Observer and more about how it ought to be conducted than the President of the United States.—Charlotte Observer.

A fall of snow would be a pleasant change.

The Democrats expect to raise high Jenks in the fall.

Many a tree around town has a lemonade stand under it.

Authorities at Washington are arranging to forward tons of letters detained at Tampa, Fla., to the soldiers at Santiago.

For his recent heroic rescue of a landsman, who fell overboard at the Norfolk Navy Yard, Ensign Dwight F. Mallory has been commended by Secretary Long.

The present Empress of Japan is the first of her rank who has been allowed the honor of taking her meals with her husband. The Emperor is in favor of enlarging the rights of women, and has set an example by showing his wife many attentions not countenanced by Oriental custom.

The Wilson Times tells of this strange incident: Five months ago last Tuesday Mr. Davie Daniel, of Nash county, became the proud father of twins, a boy and a girl. Their birth was almost exactly two and a half hours apart, the boy being the older. Last Tuesday, when they were five months old to a minute the boy died and in two and one half hours the girl also died.

One of the delegates to the Kansas Populist convention, having assisted in that gathering in pledging "our lives, our fortune and our honor to the prosecution of the war with Spain," went home mad as a hornet because his big 20-year-old son had enlisted in the army during "pop's" absence. The father sought out the recruiting officer, and by the threats of prosecution had the young man's name stricken from the rolls. Consistency, thou art a jewel!

Always on Top.

The Planters Warehouse gets the first new tobacco of the season. J. W. Tucker brought us a load of primings today, 2nd. He gets a good price for it, as all other farmers will who bring their tobacco to the Planters.

FORBES & MOYE.

Quiet Business.

One thing the new revenue law forgot to require stamps on is marriage licenses, but the weather or something else seems to have almost broken up business in that line with the Register of Deeds. He did not have an application for a license during the past week, and has issued only two since the middle of June.

New Tobacco.

Two loads of new tobacco were brought to Greenville today. Mr. J. W. Tucker brought the first load to the Planters Warehouse and Mr. John Nobles brought the second load to the Eastern. The Greenville market starts ahead and is going to stay ahead of all other markets.

Novel Method of Punishment.

Fred Merritt, in his letter from Jacksonville to the Raleigh News and Observer, says: "In the Winston company there is a refractory member who is continually in trouble. Capt. Bessent has tried all sorts of punishment, none of which seems to do any good. Sunday the fellow left camp, without a pass, stayed out all day and that night ran the guard. Yesterday morning Captain Bessent had him tied by the ankle, like a hog, to a small tree in the company street, and near the road traveled by all visitors to the camp. The novel method of punishment attracted much attention."
