TODAY'S WAR NEWS

The War almost Closed.

Washington, July 7.—A cable received from Gen. Shafter this morning states that Gen. Linares, in command of the Spanish forces at Santiago, has expressed a willingness to surrender, but wants better terms.

The first regiment of New York volunteers leaves today for the Philippines.

Advices from Madrid indicate that the Spanish cabinet will probably resign today. A revolution is impending. There are rumors today that Santiago has been bombarded, though no particulars are at hand.

Upon information that is coming from Madrid the President expects that peace will be established in less than three days.

Resolution Thanking Schley

Washington, July 6.—A resolution was introduced in the senate thanking Schley. It went to the committee on naval affairs who will report to whom credit for the victory is due.

CATCH CAMARA

Washington, July 5.—Within a week Commodore Watson's eastern squadron, consisting of the Newark, Iowa, Oregon, Yankee, Dixie and Yosemite, colliers Abarenda, Scindia and Alexander, and perhaps the supply ship Delmonico will sail from Santiago, according to the expectation of the Navy Department, to seek and capture or destroy the Spanish fleet under Camara.

It has been determined that the squadron shall not delay to bombard ports in Spain or the Canaries, but shall proceed after Camara at a clipping rate.

Both colliers at Santiago, are full of coal, and with the Abarenda the squadron will have plenty of fuel for a long voyage. There is more coal waiting in the Mediterranean and along the route to the Philippines.

Official information reached the government today that Camara's vessels with the exception of three destroyers, entered the Suez Canal today.

After the navy's part in the Porto Rican program, has been decided another strong squadron of United States vessels will go to the Spanish coast to carry out the plan originally confided to Watson for execution of reducing the cities and naval stations on Spain's coast. If events in the Philippines take a serious turn this second division will proceed there.

The government has determined that Camara's ships shall not return to Spain, and with one squadron to chase the Spanish fleet and another to be in the Mediterranean, confidence is felt that the enemy cannot escape.

No Game.

The Kinston base ball boys had to return home Wednesday evening without getting a chance to cross bats here. The rain prevented a game.

No, streets are not lighted at night in Greenville. It has gone out of fashion.

ANDREWS—SHEPPARD

A Morning Church Marriage

At 8 o'clock this morning, in the Episcopal church, Mr. J. A. Andrews and Miss Hennie Sheppard were married by Rev. N. Harding, of Washington.

The maid of honor was Miss Clara Bruce Forbes, and Mr. J. L. Little was best man. As Mrs. J. B. Cherry rendered the wedding march the bride passed up the aisle with Mr. W. B. Greene, who gave her away, and the groom with his best man entered through the chancel, meeting them at the altar.

The ceremony was very impressive and was witnessed by a large number of friends.

The ushers were Messrs. W. B. Wilson, R. L. Carr, S. T. White and J. G. Moyer.

After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the depot where they took the morning train for Asheville to spend a week.

The couple received a large number of very beautiful bridal presents, and the best wishes of a host of friends go with them for a happy wedded life.

A Colored Man Fatally Wounded

Alvin Summers, colored, who lives near Harmony, suffered a horrible injury Saturday afternoon and one that is expected to prove fatal. He was stacking straw and when he had completed the stack he started to slide down. A pitchfork had been left standing beside the stack with the prongs turned upward, and when the negro slid down the prongs of the fork pierced his abdomen, inflicting a terrible injury.

The Retort Ready.

A bustling agent for a patent churn invaded the office of a busy merchant one day and proceeded to deliver his lecture.

"One moment, please," said the merchant. "May I ask to whom I am indebted for this visit?"

The caller produced his card. It contained the inscription, Barton Zebulon Day, Agent for Cosmopolitan Novelty Company."

The man of business studied the card for a moment. Then he looked up.

"I am honored by your call, Mr. Barton Zebulon Day," he said, with a genial smile, "but this is also my B. Z. Day. Good day!"

Town Council meets tonight.

Services in the Baptist church tonight.

Next thing you hear Camara will be bottled up.

The first watermelon has yet to make its appearance here.

Fools wait for things to turn up; wise men go and turn them up.

The next session of the Washington District M. E. conference will be held at Ocracoke.

If the average man could have had his own selection about the rain fall of the last few days he could not have had a nicer season.

Who caught Cevera?

I, said Schley, with my little fly (ing squadron.)

I took him in.

We see it stated that Rev. B. H. Melon, now pastor of the Christian church at Wilson, has received a call to Brooklyn, N. Y.

Owing to the sickness of the Deputy Register of Deeds the minutes of the last meeting of the County Commissioners have not been posted and we are unable to give any report yet.

A telegram received by Mr. Charles Skinner today announces the death of Mr. J. M. Wheelbee, of Hertford. He was the father of our townsman, Dr. F. W. Wheelbee.

JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

A Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for Solicitor of the first Judicial District of North Carolina...

The counties in the District that have not held conventions to select delegates to this convention will take notice hereof and govern themselves accordingly.

Alas! the entire world thinks it time for Spain to be asking for peace and stop the slaughter of her men. That her cause is hopeless against the United States is doubly apparent...

The nomination of Larry I. Moore for Solicitor of this Judicial District brings much gratification to Pitt county. Pitt's candidate went into the convention with more votes than any other...

Delegates to the convention tell us that they never saw a more harmonious, good humored gathering of Democrats, and enthusiasm for the nominee was immense.

It seems that it was Schley and not Sampson who really did the work for the Spanish fleet, and who followed up the fleeing vessels until the last one was destroyed...

Is it Retribution?

Thirty years ago in the United States, Senator Matt Carpenter, discussing the Cuban question, turning to Senator Sumner, prophetically said:

"But there are truths so mighty that if men hold their peace the stones will cry out, and it is the silence of that Senator that leads me now to address the Senate. We have happily escaped from the curse of human slavery ourselves, but as benevolence is saved by no barrier of nature, acknowledges no limits of human dominion, we cannot, blameless, remain indifferent."

"Now, sir, I submit upon this state of facts, which the Cubans offer to establish by judicial evidence, a great wrong, or, rather, an unaccountable series of wrongs has been committed by our government. We are solemnly bound by the law of nations, properly construed, expressly pledged by our own declaration upon this subject, to stand entirely neutral between Spain and Cuba, but as the law has been administered it has been a shield to Spain, a sword to Cuba. Liberty in Cuba is in the helplessness of infancy; its life is feeble, its pulse low. I do not invoke your aid on behalf of Cuba; I only ask that to be done, the neglect of which would justify bringing war upon us if Cuba had the strength to enforce her rights. As it is, whether the United States does its duty or violates its duty, Cuba is without remedy. But there is a bar, the bar of impartial history, before which all governments must stand; there is a God and a great book in which deeds of nations are written, and there is a distribution for every nation which, knowing its duty, does it not?"

Are we offending today as a nation because we failed of our duty thirty years ago?

As the only chance left Blanco and his fellow Spaniards in Cuba is to die in battle or assume the responsibility of surrendering to superior force, it would seem that humanity and a desire for self-preservation would prompt the Spanish commander to end the struggle so far as Cuba is concerned. To continue the struggle in the face of the inevitable is the most brutal barbarism of the century. Sagasta's declaration yesterday, as given in the dispatches to the Post last night, that the loss of Santiago and of Cervera's fleet will not stop the war, indicates a conclusion of cruel despair. It puts Sagasta and the Spanish government outside the pale of civilized warfare; and actuated by the spirit of humanity which we set this great government to solve upon the war, the authorities at Washington ought to have Blanco an early opportunity to get a step to the edge on this island on his own responsibility. If he declines, and the Spanish government determines to continue the course laid down by Sagasta, then nothing is left for us to do but beseege reinforcements as rapidly as they can be made ready, sufficient to crush them quickly, thoroughly, finally.—Raleigh Post.

Murder in Mexico Warfare

The honest cannonballs and bullets our daunties were bad enough in all conscience, but what is to be thought of brass-sheathed bullets (adding blood-poisoning to the wounds), guncotton shells and dynamite planted above and beneath, to wreak dire destruction on the foe! This modern warfare is simply annihilation. The god of battles of old scorned to do murder, but the war-maker of today is an invention that destroys life in the most horrible manner and places bravery on a par with martyrdom.—Boston Herald.

Odious Stamp Act.

Tomorrow one of the most odious forms of taxation ever imposed upon a free people goes into effect in every channel of commerce in the United States. Simultaneously with the borrowing of 200,000,000 of dollars on bonds for war purposes, a decrepit and ax-mad Republican administration also imposes upon trade this infamous stamp act. The Americans are a patriotic people; they will support their country in peace or war with their money and with their blood. But we shall be much mistaken if this seven years' itch system of scratching taxes out of the people two cents at the time day in and day out doesn't raise a fierce storm of discontent that will sweep it off the statute books. Everybody, at any rate, ought to hope that it will and contribute to the storm.

Just 133 years ago Great Britain forced her infamous stamp act upon her American colonies. All law-papers, like deeds, notes, wills and receipts, were to bear government stamps costing from threepence to $30; every newspaper, and pamphlet, and advertisement had to bear a stamp. The day when this obnoxious measure went into force was treated as a day of mourning. Bells were tolled, flags were half masted, humbugs stopped. In every colony the act was spurned. Lawyers paid no attention to it in drawing up documents, and the newspapers printed a skull and crossbones in the place where the stamp was to have been affixed. Col. John Ashe, of North Carolina, declared that the people of that colony would resist to the death the execution of the law. Patrick Henry took up the matter before the Virginia assembly and in her famous resolutions rang out the first signal of formal defiance, which was soon caught up by the other colonies. In England, Pitt, Burke and Fox championed the cause of the colonists, and within one year from its enactment the tumult breeding law was repealed.

We sincerely hope the present stamp act will see no longer life. There does not appear to have been adequate necessity for resorting to so distasteful a measure. Our forefathers resisted the law until it lost the power to stand even in the enacting body. We do not urge resistance to execution of this law or evasion of its provisions, but we do oppose it as unnecessary legislation, a wicked annoyance, and a nuisance inflicted upon the country by the party in power, the repeal of which can not come too soon. The American people will not submit to being regarded by wholesale as blockades and moonshiners, to be hunted and searched by revenue officers and perhaps have their documents, if by chance they should be discovered, cut up like moonshiners' still in the woods.

Feliks are vexed enough now. They have to use enough stamps as it is. The stamp act should be a "banned" one. If a rein is allowed this sort of thing, there is no saying where it will end. About the next thing to hear from this congress at Washington will be that it has repealed the use of suspensives and declared that every citizen must keep his breeches on with internal revenue stamps, or he's no patriot; or perhaps it will forbid a man after the day's work is over to go home and kiss his wife and babies unless their faces are plastered over with these tokens and insignia of a republican war revenue.

Away with the thing!—Gastonia Gazette.

The catalogue of the State Normal and Industrial college at Greensboro has just been issued. It shows a total enrollment for the last year of 683. The college is now six years old and is doing excellent work.

More Islands.

The first American fleet sent from the Pacific coast with troops to relieve Admiral Dewey and put him in a position to demand the surrender of Manila was not in such a hurry to accomplish its task that it did not find time to go a little out of its course in order to seize the Ladrone islands. The Spanish flag was pulled down, the Spanish Governor carried to Manila as a prisoner of war, and a squad of American soldiers installed as an army of occupation.

The Ladrone islands are a group of islands, about 20 in number, north of the Carolines, in the North Pacific Ocean, discovered by Magellan in 1521. They have an area of 413 square miles and a population of about 10,000. The islands are of volcanic formation, salubrious and well watered, producing tropical fruits in perfection and sugar, rice, tobacco, cotton and indigo. The principal island, Gushan, has a good fortified harbor and would make a most desirable coaling station for a future imperial American navy.—Philadelphia Record.

Democratic Nominations of Superior Court Judges

The Democratic nominees for Superior Court judges whose nominations were ratified by the Democratic State Convention are the following: First district—Geo. H. Brown, J., of Beaufort. Second district—Henry R. Bryan, of Craven. Fifth district—Thos. J. Shaw, of Guilford. Sixth district—Oliver H. Allen, of Lenoir. Seventh district—Thos. A. McNeil, of Beheon. Eleventh district—William A. Hoke, of Lincoln. Those men were nominated in their respective districts by district conventions but they are to be voted for in the State at large. Judges Brown, Bryan, Allen and Hoke are now on the bench and are named to succeed themselves. Shaw is named to succeed Adams, fusionist, and McNeil to succeed McIver, Democrat.

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

What Wives Should Remember.

That Adam was made first.
That "he pays the freight."
That "blessed are the meek."
That nine men in ten detest gossip.
That all angels are not of your sex.
That confidence begets confidence.
That men sometimes have "nerves."
That there should be no place like home.

That it takes two to prolong a family jar.

That the least said is the soonest mended.

That with all his faults you love him still.

That you should have no secrets from him.

That husbands have troubles of their own.

That he's "all right" when you know him.

That woman's best weapon is her weakness.

That home is more than half what you make it.

That he is just as anxious to get rich as you are.

That wives are unusually favored in this country.

That his typewriter cannot help it if she is pretty.

That he likes to hear that the baby is his dead image.

That six pairs of slippers are enough for any man.

That a man likes neatness in your attire at all times.

That candy in excess is worse than rum in moderation.

That you should not run up bills without his knowledge.

That "a baby in the house is a well-spring of pleasure."

That she who puts on the gloves should know how to spar.

That he is not in love with every woman he glances at.

That it is policy to let him believe he is "lord and master."

That your relationship is closer to him than to your mother.

That a prompt and pointed answer does not turn away wrath.

That he does not get sleepy the same moment that you do.

That there are letter drop boxes on the nearby corners.

That you should not expect him to fight the fire in the morning.

That you can't keep books, and there is no use of your trying.

That he expects you to look your best when you go out with him.

That it does not improve his razor to use it for chirpical purposes.

That house-hunting is not reckoned by the average man as a pastime.

A Character.

He sowed, and hoped for reaping—
A happy man and wise;
The clouds—they did his weeping,
The wind—they sighed his sighs.

He made what Fortune brought him,
The limit of desire;
Thanked God for shade in summer days,
In winter time, for fire.

When tempest, as with vengeful rod,
His earthy mansion cleft,
On the blank sod, he still thanked God
Life and the land were left!

Content, his earthly race he ran,
And died—so people say—
Some ten years later than the man
Who worried his life away.

Don't Gamble on This.

It is an old saying that those who were born in the last six months of the year will have a great change of experience every seventh year, and their dreams will have significance during the full of the moon.

GRIMESLAND LETTER

Items of Interest From our Regular Correspondent

GRIMESLAND, N. C., July 6, '98.
The Masons met last night.

W. E. Tucker went to Greenville Monday.

Farmers are busy this week curing tobacco.

It was a glorious old fourth in town Monday.

W. M. Moore has moved in his beautiful residence.

Mrs. Dr. Jones returned home from Edgecomb county Sunday.

New goods are coming in today. It looks like business is pretty good.

L. C. Arthur, the insurance agent of Greenville, was in town yesterday.

It is very warm in our section. Farmers say they need rain very badly.

Miss Fannie Hardee, of Greene county, is visiting the family of J. O. Proctor.

Our young men who went on the sick list last week say they are better today.

W. E. Proctor went to Greenville Monday.

Every day looks like Sunday here now when we look toward the bar rooms and their doors closed.

Ed holliday tells us he has plenty of ripe water melons. I wish he would bring them to town.

W. E. Proctor, C. E. Boyd and D. G. Moore had their pictures taken together yesterday. I tell you they are daisies.

Grimesland is a dry town. No more whiskey to be sold here yet awhile. Boys, what are you going to do?

Rev. N. L. Seabolt returned Monday evening from Elm City, where he had been attending the M. E. District Conference. ZEB.

Teachers' Institute.

Prof. J. F. Joyner, of Greensboro, held an Institute in Greenville from June 27 to July 1. Two days were given to the colored teachers and forty-five attended, twenty-two males and twenty-three females. Three days were given to the whites, fifty-nine attended, nine males and fifty females. Owing to the sickness of his father Supt. Mebane failed to be with us as announced. Prof. Joyner filled his place at 11 A. M. The address was an able one in the interest of education. J. R. TINGLE.

Lost.—Somewhere on the public road between Whichard station and the home of Mr. G. M. Mooring a small double case gold watch with red, white and blue chord attached, was lost. Finder will be liberally rewarded for the return of same.
