Are You Always Tired?

WINDSON, N. C., May 2, '97.

Five years ago I was completely run down from general debility. My liver didn't act, I had indigestion, I was just as nervous as I could be, and was always tired. The least exertion would bring on shortness of breath and it was a drag to me to keep up. A friend of mine who had been cured by using Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy told me to take it. I bought a dozen bottles and took it just because I knew I would have to try something. I suffered greatly from wakefulness, would lay awake often the greater part of the night, unable to rest or sleep. When I was on the second bottle I got so I could sleep, and when I had finished the six bottles I WAS WELL. Indigestion cured, that shortness of breath cured, and I feel like another person. Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy is a wonderful medicine. It did me more good than anything I ever took in my life.

Would Not Accept Conditional Surrender

Washington, July 9.—The great battle expected today did not take place, although the armistice expired at noon, with the forces on both sides of Santiago lined up for battle. The reason was that the Spanish commander, who had been in correspondence by telegraph with his home government, was seeking to make terms with Gen. Shafter by which he might save his army from capture. He was willing to give up Santiago without resistance; it allowed to retreat with all his men and arms across the island; but this idea was not entertained for a moment by our government. On the contrary, every effort will be put forth to seal up all avenues of escape from Santiago and of the Spanish army. To have allowed them to make their way unmolested into the interior would have amounted simply to reinforcing the garrison at Havana by these thousands of trained soldiers who have proven their courage in the fighting in the trenches. On the other hand, to compel their surrender it is believed will be certain to produce an enormous moral effect both in Havana and in Spain itself and thus tend to the protraction of the war. Secretary Alger and Adjutant General Corbin were in communication with General Shafter at Santiago during the day.

Both officials, however, declined positively to give out for publication any despatches relating to the negotiations that are going on between General Shafter and General Linares, or to confirming any of the exciting rumors that were flying through the corridors all day. Nevertheless, it was evident from their manner that a crisis had been reached so far as Santiago was concerned, and that as matters stood at the close of the day there was no reason to be dissatisfied with the outlook. It is known that General Shafter has lost nothing by the armistice; his men are rested, the commissary improved, the roads have been cleared and his artillery is now almost completely placed in a most effective manner. None of these things existed at the beginning of the armistice. On the other hand, the Spanish forces have largely diminished their slender stock of provisions and have steadily lost confidence. As soon as they are convinced that they will be humanely treated and fed and will not be subjected to inhuman treatment, (and the war department proposes that they shall thus be protected,) it is expected there will be many desertions from the Spanish lines.

Washington, July 11.—The Spanish troops opened fire on our lines at Santiago at 4 o'clock yesterday, but they were quickly silenced by Shafter.

Dispatches were coming in Washington all night but their contents were kept a close secret by the department. It leaked out that one American ship was damaged by a shell.

It is supposed that Lanier will abandon Santiago and try to cut his way out.

Two's All Right.

Two months seems to be a favorite period with the administration. It took two months to declare war after the Maine was blown up and two months to move the army after war was declared. And two months after the war had started two Spanish fleets had been destroyed. We hope by two months more the war will be over.

The torpedo boat is not the terror now that it was at the outbreak of the war. It has, indeed, become a small potato in naval warfare.

Sampson and Schley to be Promoted

The President has determined to promote Acting Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley in recognition of their services in the destruction of the Spanish naval fleet in American waters but is as yet undecided to the extent of promotion.

Although Admiral Sampson ranks Commodore Schley in command of the naval forces in Cuban waters, he is subordinate to the officer by two numbers in the naval register. Commodore Schley stands number eight in the list of commodores and Commodore Sampson stands number ten, having been promoted to that grade within the past week. Commodore Watson, also on duty with the fleet at Santiago, is senior to both of the others, standing number six in his grade. When an official report is received a decision will be reached as to the extent of promotion to be made.

IN MEMORIAM.

Susan O. Brown was born July 14th 1824, and died July 10th, 1898, in her 74th year. Sister Brown professed faith in Christ and united with Greenville Baptist church forty-five years ago, during all which time she lived a faithful, loyal life both to her church and her God. During the last fifteen years of her life she was confined to her room and the greater portion of the time to her bed. She was a patient sufferer, willing that God should glorify Himself with her according to His own will. She loved her Bible and denominational paper. These were her companions during all the years of her affliction. As her pastor I visited her more or less frequently since I have been in Greenville. She always welcomed me and was delighted to have me read God's Word to her and pray with her. She talked freely of her affliction, her faith, her hope. Though suffering intensely, she never doubted her Savior, but seemed perfectly resigned to His will. She lived a quiet, sweet christian life, and her memory will be cherished as a rich legacy.

"Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep;
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes."

Skinner's Scheme Exposed.

The Caucasian this week lays bare Harry Skinner's scheme to return to Congress by a combination with Republicans. The Caucasian repudiates the plan now in horror. By November Maryann and the entire Populist mob of pie soppers will be doing as Skinner is now doing. Senator Butler's paper says:

"The Caucasian has received information that Skinner and the Republicans have fixed up a deal in the first district. A Republican is to run for solicitor, and a Republican for judge, to be supported by Skinner in return for the Republican support for him for Congress. It seems that no one has been consulted in this deal but Skinner. We suppose he has agreed to deliver the Populist votes.

A ticket with Skinner for Congress and a Republican for judge and a Republican for solicitor would be practically a straight Republican ticket. Of course the few Populists that Skinner has gotten to take Federal patronage in the first district will support this deal. But on the other hand, it is equally certain that the honest masses of the Populist party in the district will smash the life out of it."

Rifles Sadly Lacking.

It may be asked why the reinforcements have not been sent to General Shafter ere this. The answer shows the lamentable condition in which the army finds itself. No more troops can go immediately to Santiago because they lack rifles with which to meet the enemy on anything like equal terms. The facts are interesting even if unpleasant. When the war broke out the army had only a few rifles of the Krag-Jorgensen pattern. These guns are made by only one factory in the United States. It is situated in Connecticut, and its total capacity, working twenty-four hours, is only 150 per day.

By tremendous exertion this factory has finally brought the aggregate number of Krag-Jorgensen rifles now in the possession of the government to a total of 61,000. It takes but the slightest knowledge of arithmetic to see that 61,000 guns will not equip 200,000 men. Unfortunately, too, no other kind of rifles is available. The Spanish have a plentiful supply of Mauser rifles, which kill at a distance of a mile. No other rifles except the Krag-Jorgensen is so effective. The Springfield rifle, with which the American soldiers were equipped, will carry a bullet with fatal effect only 400 yards. As an officer in the War Department expressed it: "It would be like a man fighting with brickbats against a man who had a revolver." Heavy as the loss of life has been at Santiago, it would be inviting men to slaughter to ask them to enter upon a battle with rifles less effective than those carried by the Spaniards. Consequently, the army stays at home.

General Garretson's brigade, which was to have left Camp Algers ere this, is to be delayed until next Friday or Saturday, the ostensible reason being that the cruisers Yale and Harvard cannot return for them before that time. As a matter of fact, the Third Virginia Regiment, which is a part of this brigade, was last week served with Springfield rifles of an almost obsolete pattern. The rifles were returned, and the regiment will not leave for the front until it has been properly equipped.—Washington Post.

An enterprising bachelor of Old Orchard, Me., having decided to enter the matrimonial state, but having not yet selected his helpmeet, recently built a small cottage and nailed upon the side nearest the road a shingle bearing the inscription "Wife Wanted." This advertisement has already attracted several applicants none of whom up to date has qualified to fill the vacancy.

Looking Backward and Reflecting

There was a thread of pathos running through the official report of Admiral Cervera. "Our fleet is destroyed and we are necessarily depressed." We are beginning now to see the pitiful side of war. Nothing could exceed the agony of the Spanish roasting, naked, in their battered and red-hot ships, haunted by the belief that if they became prisoners in the hands of the Americans they would be instantly slaughtered. It is little to the credit of our Cuban allies that they wanted to fall upon such of these unarmed, defenceless sailors, as man aged to reach shore, and to put them to death, and that they had to be restrained. Admiral Cervera's dignity and courage are worthy of all admiration. He had a beautiful fleet, and there is a tinge of sadness in the thought of its lying beached and burning on the Cuban shore.

The history of the past week has served to disillusion those who have heretofore had doubts about panish courage. The gallantry of their soldiery before Santiago a week ago was not surpassed by that of our own, and sailors never went to death more stoically than did the men of Cervera's fleet. The poor creatures—soldiers and sailors—lack skill; a warlike people, they do not know the arts of war as well as the peaceful American, but they lack nothing else. This last great victory has shed imperishable lustre upon the American navy and has demonstrated the wisdom of its years of target practice, in evolution and in general experience on practice ships. The best assurance this country could have of exemption from foreign interference is the record of its navy at Manila and Santiago. No other country would care, in the face of this record, to go against us on the sea, and this security which we have won is worth, perhaps, the loss of life and property which attended the two engagements.—Charlotte Observer.

To the Work.

Every Democrat has a work to do and now is the time to commence. Go out to your primary and county conventions when they are called and help to put out the best men that you have for your candidates and then bend every energy you have to elect them. The women of your State look to the Democratic party to give them protection from the negro rule that is now upon us. They look to it to put white men on school boards to examine their daughters and pass upon their fitness for teachers in the schools of the State. They look to it for the protection of their homes and their children. Democrats, can you be lukewarm and indifferent when you see your proud State disgraced by the Rep-Pop in placing negroes on school committees for white schools, and electing them to offices of trust and authority? We know you will not, so be up and doing; the battle has begun and we must win.—Dunn Union

Tobacco for the Soldiers.

The Southern Express Company last night shipped two car loads of Blackwell's Durham tobacco to Tampa, Fla., where it will be put on the transports and shipped direct to Santiago. The cars passed here last night as part of No. 35, the fast mail. They were ornamented with banners and streamers of different kinds. They will reach Tampa to-day. The government purchased the tobacco for the soldiers.—Charlotte Observer.

No mortgage, wherein the sum secured is less than $1,000, need be stamped. The new internal revenue law requires a stamp of 25 cents on every mortgage, wherein the sum secured exceeds $1,000 and does not exceed $1,500 and an additional 25 cents for every $500 or fractional part in excess of $1,500.

A stamp of 50 cents is required on every deed wherein the consideration exceeds $100 and does not exceed $500, and 50 cents for each additional $500 or fractional part.

It costs an average of $2,754 to bury a United States Senator, but it pays to do it sometimes, suggests the Philadelphia Ledger with much evidence of good judgment.

The Journal says that the Monroe dispensary has taken stock and finds that it has made a net profit of $1,499.87 during the first six months of its operation.

A BUSINESS COSTUME.

NEWEST BUSINESS WOMAN USES POCKETS WITHOUT NUMBER.

Description of a Gown That Has Twenty Fascinating, Coily-Hidden Pockets—They Are All Useful and Some are Ornamental.

If any one can explain why pockets should be sacred to His Majesty Man let him do so at once. But while the emancipated young person is throwing off the time-honored "yoke" of the "tyrant," why should she not declare at this juncture for pockets? Why not indeed? And pockets it is, for I saw a business woman's dress the other day that fairly bristled with them.

The dress I saw had twenty pockets—twenty fascinating, coveted, darling coily hidden pockets. Not hidden so deeply that they could not be found like the one in the comic weekly jokes but disposed about in such a manner that no one could call that dress a freak or point the finger of scorn at the reckless wearer. The twenty pockets were all there, and they were all useful and some were even ornamental and all were necessary, and, above and beyond it all—exultant thought—they outnumbered the masculine ones.

When I saw that dress, I couldn't believe my eyes—it was too good to be true; and I could only stare with wonder—and admire. There were three pieces to that dress—three ordinary pieces—a skirt, a vest and a jacket (or coat). Nothing simpler, and yet they concealed the "twenty" with tantalizing coolness. You would never have suspected they were there, but they were, and stuffed, too, with all sorts of things, all the comforts of an office, and neat as a pin. Anything more spunk, spunk and close reeled could not be imagined, and the woman who did it was greater than Columbus, for what are America and freedom without pockets?

There were pockets to the front, pockets at the back, pockets at the right and pockets at the left, and the awful question of the ages had been settled. For ever since negligence was permanently cast aside by a set of people calling themselves civilized these articles have been in righteous demand.

The rest had six of the twenty—one in the waist line, on each side, and two breast pockets, while in the "interlining" were two more that a man said were the thing for holding checks and any valuable papers the business woman is sure to have (on pay day).

The skirt had six pockets out of that list, which makes twelve so far, and they were disposed of in the following way:—The skirt was short and simple, fashioned like a golf, bicycle or rain skirt, and had the two side pockets sometimes to be found in that institution. There were, moreover, two more just below the coat rim—fob pockets, men call them—while at the back, in the same relative position as these two, were two "hip pockets," which were the pride and delight of that young woman's soul. Key chain, ring and keys jingled aggressively from one, while the other held a handkerchief that would have made any well constituted mother of a modern woman hold up her hands in holy horror. But there they were, and as pert as you please and that handy!

"Those pockets are going to keep me going," the satisfied wearer and inventor exclaimed; and well they might, for they were there to put the "reticule" to shame, the "side satchel" out of a job entirely, and the whole paraphernalia of the woman who keeps a car waiting while she hunts for change was done away with. No wonder that little woman tossed her head in triumph and thrust her hands into those amazing depths and rattled the loose change with unholy glee!

There were eight more of those pockets in the coat—eight delightful others, with unlimited possibilities. Two breast pockets, two side pockets, one in each sleeve and two in the coat tails completed the list, and then I sank exhausted while I listened to their contents. And they were "just like a man's, my dear."

There were pockets that held latch-keys—they were on the hip; pockets that held small change—they were in the vest; pockets that held watch and chain, and others that showed a red note book and tiny pencil and all sorts of things that a person "must have" who goes into business.

Rye as Hog Feed.

On light, sandy soil, corn is a very uncertain crop, and many seasons it will not yield so much grain as a crop of rye which usually succeeds well there. Some farmers on sandy land grow rye to feed their hogs. It is excellent for growing pigs, but when fattening time comes some corn should be fed, even though it has to be purchased.

A New Theory.

A schoolboy was asked to explain the formation of dew. His answer was: "The earth revolves on an axis every twenty-four hours, and in consequence of the tremendous pace at which it travels it perspires freely."—The Bitts.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—
