Are You Always Tired?

WINDSON, N. C., May 2, '97.

Five years ago I was completely run down from general debility. My liver didn't act, I had indigestion, I was just as nervous as I could be, and was always tired. The least exertion would bring on shortness of breath and it was a drag to me to keep up. A friend of mine who had been cured by using Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy told me to take it. I bought a dozen bottles and took it just because I knew I would have to try something. I suffered greatly from wakefulness, would lay awake often the greater part of the night, unable to rest or sleep. When I was on the second bottle I got so I could sleep, and when I had finished the six bottles I WAS WELL. Indigestion cured, that shortness of breath cured, and I feel like another person. Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy is a wonderful medicine. It did me more good than anything I ever took in my life.

TODAY'S WAR NEWS.

Want a Conference on Terms

Washington, July 14.—The combined land and sea attack on Santiago was programmed to begin at noon today. Under the orders of the President this attack will continue until the town surrenders.

Troops are being hurried forward to reinforce the army at Santiago. The Fifth United States Infantry is assembling at Atlanta preparatory to moving out to the coast, and the Third Wisconsin regiment is embarking at Charleston. The soldiers will move as fast as transports can be provided.

Yellow fever has broken out among the troops in the vicinity of Santiago. Every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Gen. Miles ordered that the town of Siboney, where the trouble was worst, be burned and every building was fired.

General Linares has appointed Spanish commissioners and asks that American commissioners be also appointed and that they confer together on terms of surrender of Santiago. This information was communicated to the war department, when General Shatter was ordered to repeat his demand for unconditional surrender, and open the attack on Santiago if the demand is not promptly complied with.

Santiago Surrendered

Washington, July 14, 4 P. M.—Acting General Toral yielded to General Shatter's repeated demand and made a surrender of Santiago on our terms. His troops will be sent back to Spain. This means the fall of eastern Cuba and leaves our troops free for the attack on Porto Rico. General Shatter is to be Military Governor of Santiago province.

Buried Treasure in Santiago.

Siboney, July 12, via San Antonio, Tex.—Dr. Tellar, who has made his way here from Santiago, brings word that millions of dollars' worth of gold has been buried there by fleeing natives. One rich woman, Rosa Chacon, refused to leave the town or give up her house, which shelters Spanish soldiers. She buried her treasures and stayed defiantly until officers came, and for her continued resistance she was shot.

Naval Victors Get $208,700

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Under the law governing the distribution of prize money for captures such as that made by fleet of Sampson and Schley when Cervera's fleet was destroyed, $208,700 will be divided between our officers and men who were engaged. The law provides, in such a case, a bounty of $100 for every officer and man on board the captured fleet. There were 2,087 men on Cervera's ships, distributed as follows: Vizcaya 500; Maria Teresa, 500; Almirante Oquendo, 500; Cristobal Colon, 450; Furor, 67; Pluton, 70.

As this prize money is to be distributed according to rank, a few of the officers will receive handsome fortunes.

Steady Progress.

People who make periodical trips to Greenville express surprise at noticing new improvements every time they come. The town is enjoying a gradual, steady growth, the kind that is sure and permanent. It does not make much fuss about it, but Greenville is going straight ahead just the same.

When Santiago will be actually bombarded seems to be as much of a mystery as the whereabouts of Cervera's fleet once was.

Notes of the War.

The Spanish auxiliary cruiser Ciudad de Cadiz is at Antwerp.

A war appropriation bill of $500,000 has been introduced in New York's Senate.

"The rains are the heaviest I have ever known," cables General Miles from Siboney.

The steamship Roumania, of the Allan Line, has been purchased for transport purposes.

The British cruiser Amphion has been sent north from Victoria to hunt a Spanish privateer.

Aguinaldo, the Philippine insurgent leader, is reported to have a squadron of merchantmen patrolling the coast.

Reports from surgeons with our fleets show that antiseptic treatment of wounds has produced most gratifying results.

Lieutenant J. B. Barnadou, who commanded the Winslow, has been advanced ten points for bravery in the Cardenas fight.

The powerful sea-going tug Britannia has been bought by the War Department and will be sent to Santiago, for Shatter's army.

Shatter's army will get 200,000 pounds of refrigerated beef by the supply ship Mohawk, now loading at Port Tampa, Fla.

For refusing to volunteer and enlist in the United States army, Sergeant Waldorf Kindon, of Camp Douglass, Wis., was drummed out of camp.

Regulations for General Merritt's military government of the Philippines, in relation to the collection of taxes and navigation, having been substantially completed at the State and War Departments.

In Business With the Lord.

When Mr. H. C. Linthicum, of Henderson, who is here to superintend the construction of the Strause stemery, stepped off the train Tuesday evening it was noticed that in addition to his equipments for work he carried a Bible under his arm. Before leaving the depot he gave notice to his force that work would begin promptly next morning at 7 o'clock. The workmen, thirty strong, were on hand at the appointed time, and just before entering upon their duties Mr. Linthicum called them all around him, read a chapter from his Bible and offered prayer to God. Then every man's coat went off and work commenced with a will.

We understand that this is Mr. Linthicum's custom every morning before beginning the day's work, and his example is a commendable one. 'Tis no wonder that he can manage a large force of hands so well as he does, and everything progresses with utmost unity and harmony when he thus takes the Lord with him in his business. If in every business where several persons are engaged—in the store, the factory, the workshop, this custom was followed and before entering upon the day's duties the employer or manager should assemble the employes about him and first engage in devotion to Almighty God, we dare say that strikes, discords and dissensions would be things unheard of.

God will honor those who thus honor Him, and any business that has the Lord in it will be blessed.

Fire in Washington

Washington had a fire Tuesday night. It started at 8:30 o'clock and destroyed three frame buildings. The Continental bar, J. W. Mayo's bar and J. W. Braddle's grocery store were burned.

PICNIC AT JOINER'S STORE.

JOINER'S STORE, N. C., July 9, '98. It is a pleasure to the writer to make a statement to the REFLECTOR in regard to the picnic at the above named place on July 1st.

We, the neighborhood, did not pay or feed the people for the grand time which was in store for them and which they enjoyed during the day.

The writer did ask for some help, which was granted by the best masses of the county. Some did attend and some did not. But we thank all those that did help when called to look upon 23 nice pigs prepared by Prof. R. A. Willoughby, and the baskets of cakes and so on, which were more in number than I can name.

Messrs. Smith, Willoughby, Nichols and Cobb paid out $41.60 for pigs, $5.00 for music, $5 for work on the wells, stands and so on with the help of others which we thank, kindly. We thank the Greenville people for their kind help and presence. Those who did not attend, who were helpers, will be remembered in the future in a business way.

I am sorry you did not attend. King, of the Weekly, but in an appearance at a late hour. We were sorry to see him late, as he is a good feeder and enjoys good things. We were able to care for and not take him to his own town carriage to take dinner at 3 P. M. We could have shown him 23 pigs and no pocket business, as the one he spoke of at Barrett's grove. Four pigs and one goat cannot feed so many good feeders and no helpers. They are good people up there but cannot feed all at snay calls. W. L. COBB.

LETTER FROM CAPT. SMITH.

Camp Dan Russell, Co. E., Raleigh, N. C., July 17, 1898.

To the Ladies of Greenville and all who assisted in presenting the flag to "The Pitt Rifles," Co. E. 2nd Reg. N. C. Vols.

KIND FRIENDS: On Sunday, 3rd inst., it was my happy and honored pleasure to receive from Col. Burgwyn in behalf of my company the beautiful flag you sent, actuated by kind remembrances of departed friends and by a deathless devotion to your country and your country's cause.

Words, however deep and pathetic, cannot express my appreciation, nor that of my company, of the sentiments that inspired you noble women of Pitt county in presenting to the soldier boy's from old Pitt that beautiful star spangled banner, proud and invincible flag of our native land.

De barred by custom and by the desire of every true son of chivalry to bear arms not only in his own name but for another also dearer than his own life from entering the ranks yourselves, by a thousand acts of love and sympathy, unknown to the rougher natures of men, you manifest your interest in those who have entered the field that the same liberty we all enjoy may be carried by the stars and stripes to the oppressed but brave and struggling of other lands. May every star in the silken field of our bonnie flag be a "Star of Bethlehem" to the tortured, unhappy women of Cuba, and every stripe in its folds a thousand stripes upon the backs of their proud and cruel persecutors.

Commissioned by your fair hands to bear a message of love and sympathy, and sweeter still of liberty, from the brave and noble women of dear old Pitt county to their suffering sisters in beautiful, unhappy Cuba, Queen of the tropic seas, our hope and our prayer is that remembering at all times our loved ones at home, and appealing to Him who judges both ourselves and our enemies, our arms may be as strong for the right as your love, and our devotion to the cause as ceaseless and unflinching as your memories of us. Without the aid and sympathy of woman, man must fail in every contest; for "The woman's cause is man's they rise or sink together, dwarfed or godlike, bound or free; Yet in the coming years liker must they grow, The man be more of woman, she of man."

Stirred by a thousand memories of those left behind words are feeble in expressing the emotions of our hearts.

No company can have a more beautiful flag than ours, and it is our aim to keep it ever waving in face of the foe. It is acts like yours that lighten the soldier's labors, lessen his dangers and strengthen his arms for the cause of his country. And in coming campaigns if we can easily capture the strong-holds of the enemy as you win our hearts by acts like yours our task will be a light one indeed.

Again I extend to you all my own hearty thanks and the thanks of my company for the magnificent banner your love and kindness has donated. Encouraged by your devotion we shall never let it trail in the dust. Wherever we go our flag shall go and we will either bring it back in triumph and victory or our bodies fall with it on foreign soil.

Again accept my thanks, Yours Truly, J. T. SMITH, Com., Co. E. 2nd Reg. N. C. V

Introducing Our New Kun

Of course it is out of the question to annex the Hawaiian Islands without at the same time annexing the inhabitants thereof and bringing them into our family, and it is a queer aggregation that is now walking up to Uncle Sam's big front door. It is a job lot, not quite 100,000 in all, but a plenty, as it is. The last census taken gives the population of the islands at $9,990,58,714 males and 51,436 females. Of this population $4,437 are native, 6,186 half castes, 7,495 born in Hawaii of foreign parents, 15,301 Chinese 12,360 Japanese, 8,602, Portuguese 1,028, Americans 1,344, British 1,034 Germans, 227 Norwegians, 70 French, 588 Pohnesians and 419 other foreigners. American missionaries have been working on these people for many years past and have got them in some sort of shape, but there is still room for improvement. The hand of civilization, with its refining touches, has a big contract ahead of it, but the United States, now having the ownership as well as the guidance of the Islands, will doubtless make more rapid progress in the process of civilizing the Hawaiians than has been possible in the past. President Dole is already a good lead in the race as evidenced by his recent action in making a personal donation of $500 to the Afaia fund and charging it up to his countrymen in his bill of expenses. Having been under such a tutorship, his people may prove more pliable to the hand of the moulder than might be imagined. They may in time, even learn the art of ballot-box stuffing.

As to our new possessions—they embrace a total area of 6,640 square miles, about the size of Connecticut and Delaware. Hawaii, the largest island in the group, contains 2,210 square miles. The principal productions are laziness, hurricanes, volcanoes, and leprosy, but Uncle Sam expects to change all this by a system of intensive farming and diversified crops.—Charlotte Observer.

WOMAN'S LETTER.

A Weekly Talk on Subjects of Interest to the Housewife.

Home decoration as a business for women is being practically shown in apartments furnished in artistic fashion from designs made and executed by women, who are making this a paying business. Art furniture, suited to special corners, or full sets with all that is necessary to the perfect fitting of a room is shown, of materials suited to every day life. Decorated chins, embroideries, fancy hangings, linen goods of rare beauty wrought in the latest and most durable fashion are displayed. In the designing and manufacture of artistic textiles, American women take first rank, and the study and continued hard work given to secure this result, prove that application will overcome obstacles, and study will develop ideas and put into practical channels, the floating fancies which many women have and which often find an outlet in the crazy patchwork and lace tidies. The amount of time and thought, bestowed upon these trifles, which are utterly devoid of use or beauty, expended on more practical articles will bring a revenue to the worker and a sense of satisfaction which is not secured by aimless work. From the presence of practical paying work, many women are helped in avenues of work which now seem closed to them, because they do not understand where to begin.

With small houses all attempts at decoration should be confined to useful articles, as large rooms are imperative if one desires to produce groups and effects by the use of bric-a-brac. First of all, choose good lasting colors for wall surface; let the floor treatment follow the same scale of color but in a deeper tone; choose all furniture with a view to comfort and durability; chairs of bent wood, rattan or plain wood, can be chosen of good form, and then brightened by cushions of chintz, silk or plush. Any article which is thoroughly comfortable, will look pretty if it can be placed with other comfortable articles. Home-keeper and not house-keeper is the desirable point to gain. Do not shut out the sunshine; that is not necessary, for our American home decorations are better suited to bright lights, than foreign goods of dull tone, which are made in places where the sun is not allowed to penetrate. If the interior finish is of wood in natural color, pretty ornamentation can be secured for doors by using the upper panels for designs in birds and flowers, fruit or grasses. Young women who find it hard to sell the petty trifles they delight to paint, could be profitably employed in work of this kind. A pretty design for the dining-room would be found in bunches of German millet, arranged to start up in a natural form from the casing, or base of panel; ears of corn with the husks turned back, branches from the apple, cherry or plum tree, bearing fruit or flowers; hop vines, grape or gourd, would be picturesque and odd. For other rooms, the graceful wisteria drooping in a wealth of bloom, just supported by a stem with leaves, a tangle of morning-glory vines with flowers peeping out from the leafy screen, tropical plants, a bet of gray moss, cotton-balls, ferns, mountain-climbers, and an endless variety of such designs. The effect is fine, the work is not hard, and the results admirable. For holding draperies back from the window, a very odd fancy has been revived of small round knobs of porcelain, bordered by a plain narrow rim of brass. The porcelain bears upon its surface, ideal heads, painted in warm, soft coloring. These antique fancies are being revived and add greatly to the effect where short draperies are used, either for the window, or for study shelves, for a homemade sideboard, or any place where curtains must be drawn aside at times. Table covers for all rooms should be neutral in color.

In view of the fact that so many fine goods are to be found among home manufacturers, it seems practical to demonstrate the beauty and utility of using American goods for the adornment of American homes. Some of the finest carpets in the world are designed by American women, and woven on American looms. Wall paper is also designed, as are carpets, by girl students in the Lowell School of Design in Boston. These exquisite designs, applied to practical tests, produce goods that stand the test of competition and wear, while the satisfaction is great, when American women can supply American manufacturers with designs for the trade, which not only distance importations in beauty, but are exported in large quantities. From the Tuolumne Decorative Art League for women, in New Orleans, some of the finest designs for wrought iron in the country are received. From Cincinnati the Rockwood pottery proves what our women can do. From the Associated Artists, in New York, the finest textiles for art furnishings are procured. Cushes, brocades and draperies are from American makers. From the South art textiles are being received, and from Mexico embroideries which rival those of the Orient, while carving on shell and feather work, or feather painting, for the feathers are handled in natural colors as faintly as any tube color, prove that the workers of Mexico have art instincts. American home comforts promise to be complete and useful to the housekeepers, and the practical part of home decoration gives employment to many women who are skillful with the needle and who can work under the direction of those capable of planning and producing for the purchasers, goods suited to the home. We do not advocate the placing of home furnishing in the hands of professional decorators, who fit up so many rooms for so many thousand dollars, but we do advocate careful study of furnishings which shall procure for the home the best materials.

The ladies of this place gave an appropriate party last Friday night in the town hall for the benefit of the Methodist and Disciple churches. There was a large attendance and everyone seemed to enjoy it. The sum of $17.50 was raised, showing that Grimesland is up with church, work as it is in everything else.

The Methodist Sunday school mass meeting will be held here Saturday before the fifth Sunday in this month, at the Methodist church. Everybody is invited to attend.
