Are You Always Tired?

WINDSON, N. C., May 21, '97.

Five years ago I was completely run down from general debility. My liver didn't act, I had indigestion, I was just as nervous as I could be, and was always tired. The least exertion would bring on shortness of breath and it was a drag to me to keep up. A friend of mine who had been cured by using Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy told me to take it. I bought 1/2 dozen bottles and took it just because I knew I would have to try something. I suffered greatly from wakefulness would lay awake often the greater part of the night, unable to rest or sleep. When I was on the second bottle I got so I could sleep, and when I had finished the six bottles I WAS WELL. Indigestion cured, that shortness of breath cured, and I feel like another person. Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy is a wonderful medicine. It did me more good than anything I ever took in my life.

TODAY'S WAR NEWS.

Washington, July 21—Advices from Hongkong bring the information that the second Manila expedition stopped long enough enroute to capture Wake Islands and leave the stars and stripes floating there. Wake Islands are not quite half way between Hawaii and the Philippines.

The latest information is that Gen. Miles is not yet off for Porto Rico. It seems that Sampson is delaying him, the battleships not yet being in readiness to go along.

There is a report that the Spanish General at Manila challenged the insurgent General, Aguinaldo, for a duel, that the challenge was accepted and the Spaniard killed.

Advices coming from Manila indicate that the city is ready to surrender as soon as the American forces show a fixed purpose of bombardment. The officials want to hold out as long as possible but realized that they are powerless to resist a determined attack from the Americans.

An alarming mortality prevails among the Spanish prisoners on Seavey's Island. Six died Tuesday and thirty yesterday. The officers refuse to sign a parole for their release without orders from Admiral Cervera. Whitelaw Reed, of New York, has volunteered to provide a corps of nurses in aid of the invalid prisoners.

In and around Caimanera and Guantanamo, where the Spanish flag has been hauled down and the Stars and Stripes run up, 2000 of the 5000 Spaniards who have laid down their arms are ill or wounded and unfit for service. A launch from the Marblehead notified the local Spanish authorities of Toral's surrender, and took formal possession in the name of the United States.

The Administration believes that Aguinaldo and Emperor William are both persuaded that their Philippine bread is buttered on the side of letting the United States alone, in view of the attitude of the other great Powers. There are direct assurances both here and in Berlin that this is the case.

Germany and the Philippines

Washington, D. C., July 19.—It is not so stated officially, but there is good reason to believe that, either through Ambassador White, at Berlin, or the representative of the German Government here, the State Department has received assurances as to the attitude of Germany toward the Philippines, that has in a large measure removed the grave apprehension heretofore entertained that Germany would offer obstacles to the execution of our plans.

A Bad Runaway

Mr. Adrian McGowan, from the north side of the river, was in town Wednesday afternoon. When he started back home his horse ran away. Going across the river bridge he met Mr. Ormond Whichard coming into town. Seeing the running team approaching, Mr. Whichard drove as much to one side as he could and got down to hold his horse by the bridle. Just before McGowan's horse came up Whichard's horse tried to turn around and dragged him and the buggy out to the middle of the bridge. McGowan's horse crashed into the other buggy and run over Whichard, and caused his horse also to take flight and run away. McGowan's buggy was torn to fragments and Whichard's was badly broken. Whichard was also considerably bruised up and received two bad cuts on the head. It is almost miraculous that he did not get killed.

Peace to Wreck Spain

Washington, D. C. July 19—A prominent member of the Diplomatic Corps here, who has been greatly interested in the Spanish-American war, which he has made the subject of a book now in progress toward completion, and who is daily in receipt of cable news from Cuba, Madrid and from his own country, gave today an interesting interview regarding the present policy of Spain and the probable future of the kingdom. "It is true," he said, "that the Spanish Cabinet wants peace, and peace it will have very soon. But that peace will be even more disastrous to Spain than would be a continuation of the war."

There are now in the kingdom three different parties, one of which is bound to succeed, but that success necessarily means ruin to Spain. The first and most important factor in Spain's future is the Carlist party, hand in hand with the Jesuits. Next comes the Weyler party. Third, but not least, comes the Republicans, with Salmeron at their head, all holding Utopian views of a free Latin country, which they will never realize.

"If peace were to be declared tomorrow there would be a triple revolution in Spain. The Queen Regent is a nonentity in government affairs, obliged to put her name to decrees and swayed by the flattering tongues of her favorites. Spain today is in the hands of several ambitious leaders.

"The three parties mentioned are desirous of peace, because it will further their ends. They know that as soon as peace is declared a revolution will be precipitated.

"Peace will necessarily come soon. As yet the United States Government has received no official intimation that Spain is desirous of terminating the war, so nothing can be said.

"I do not believe that the Spanish coast will be bombarded by the United States squadron under Commodore Watson, because in the time which must elapse before he reaches there a cessation of hostilities will ensue.

"There may not be peace, but, as in the Turko-Grecian war, an indefinite truce will be declared until the terms of peace can be arranged and peace established."

The author of this interview is one of the most prominent members of the Diplomatic Corps in Washington, and might be a commissioner if there should be a peace commission when Spain decides to sue for peace.

STATE NEWS

Private John Godley, of Tarboro, died Tuesday in the Hospital of the second regiment camp at Raleigh.

The Messenger says a Mrs. Satterthwaite of Washington, 88 years old, who went totally blind some eight years ago is recovering her eyesight.

Robert Carver, from Asheville and William Miller, from Murphy, two of the deserters from the second regiment encamped at Raleigh, have been sentenced to prison for a year.

C. P. Lockey, the Republican nominee for judge in this district, was a barber in Kinston about fifteen years ago. He ran a barber shop here for several months.—Kinston Free Press.

John Corey, of Illinois, who was in Asheville stopping at the Oaks Hotel, shot and instantly killed R. Wink Taylor proprietor of the hotel, on Tuesday night. They had some words over a difference of $1 in the price of a room. Taylor withdrew and armed himself, but before he could use his gun Corey shot him. Taylor has been in charge of the Oaks about two months. He conducted the Atlantic hotel at Morehead one season.

The Negro in Politics

The negro was never as assertive in North Carolina politics as he is now, and this is as might have been expected, for he has never before been so recognized and so pandered to as he has been by the Republican-Populist combine which is now in control of the State. The colored orator who spoke in that Republican convention at Nashville the other day eulogized Governor Russell as the man of the phenomenal backbone, because he has appointed more negroes to office than all the other Governors in the United States combined, which declaration was vociferously applauded by the "savages" who were present. People who live outside of the colored belt do not see so much of this and consequently do not feel it so keenly, but when they do see it they begin to realize what it means, as the delegates from Union county did, who attended the Democratic Congressional convention in this city, as told by the Monroe Enquirer:

"A delegate who attended the Congressional convention in Wilmington last week says that it is very humiliating to a white man to see negro policemen, who were appointed by a fusion Legislature, pulling white men around."

We have no doubt that this delegate, who was not accustomed to such sights, felt humiliated, and he probably felt very indignant, too, as he might, when he remembered that this thing was done by the active co-operation of the Populist leaders in the States who used and abused the votes of honest white Populist leaders, by virtue of which dicker the negroes were put on top with the sanction and assistance of the Populist tools in the Legislature.
This is but the beginning. Let that combine be successful again, and we will have more negroes in office, for they have got a taste of it and will demand more and will get more.—Wilmington Star.

Cannot Fool Them Always

Political manipulators may fool some of the people all the time and all of the people some time, but they can't fool all the people all the time. The Republican and Populist leaders in this State have succeeded in fooling their people some of the time, but they can't do it all the time for already the kicking has begun in the Republican party, while thousands of Populists have seen through the game that has been played on them, and in disgust are turning from the leaders they followed and are going back to the Democratic party which they left several years ago under gilded promises that were made by the men who became prominent as leaders of what was represented to be a movement in the interest of the farmers and the laboring masses generally. While the self-constituted leaders may have profited by the movement the farmers and other toilers have failed to discover where they have been benefited by it, but thousands of them have discovered how their votes have been bartered and how they have been used as stepping-stones to lift the leaders into the places they coveted. They can't be fooled any longer.—Wilmington Star.

Never Say Die.

"Sticktoitiveness" is a characteristic which always wins success in this world. The man who takes up any line of work and sticks to it through thick and thin is absolutely certain to succeed, provided, of course, he has the qualifications necessary to command success. And we do not believe there are many men who can not succeed in making a fair competence at least, provided they keep persistently at it and do not allow discouragements or difficulties of any kind to stop them.
The trouble with so many men is that they become discouraged at the outset and give up. But the difficulties they have to encounter and which are sufficient to cause them to desist are no greater than those other men, now in the front ranks of industrial workers, have been compelled to encounter. They kept pegging away in spite of them and finally surmounted them and so can every man. Pluck, patience and persistence are the qualities needed, and armed with these there is no need for any man to say that he can not succeed.
Business is bound to come to the man who keeps everlastingly after it.—Indicator and National Journal of Insurance.

With the unfurling of the Stars and stripes over the palace at Santiago the Spaniards have lost the city that was their first foothold on the queen island of the Antilles; and this formality has marked the prophetic beginning of the end of their sway in the West Indies. For three hundred and eighty-four years the yellow and red flag of Espana has floated over the city of Santiago, the town having been founded by Diego Velasquez (Diego Columbus' lieutenant) in 1514. Havana was not settled until five years later, and was then christened with the name (San Christoval de la Havana) previously given to a settlement near Santiago. Now the Virginias as well as the Maine has been remembered by Uncle Sam's army and navy, exactly a quarter of a century after the crime against Captain Fry and his crew.

The average native of the Philippines is a humble and peaceable sort of a fellow. He has very little education and has no knowledge at all of the world outside of the islands. The natives are simple people; they love to dance sing and loaf. Poverty is more general than anywhere on the continent. Under a good government there would never be a suggestion of rebellion, and these people could be made prosperous.

It is difficult to conceive of any rational ground for the position assumed by Admiral Diederichs except upon the hypothesis that he is actually and earnestly seeking an occasion for an international quarrel. If the German Government's professions of neutrality be sincere, why is this hector-ing fool permitted to play with fire in the presence of the conqueror of Manila Bay?

Cervera should not prize too highly the floral offerings being sent him by the women. They do as much for murderers.— Washington Post.

Ironical Ifs.
If a man is down with the smallpox he is to be pitted.
If a man isn't sober he should never attempt to walk a tight rope, If you would successfully argue with a woman just keep silent.
If fish is good brain food, it seems a pity in some cases to waste so much fish.
If one half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives, the other half is just as ignorant.
If a man is too proud to beg and too honest to steal, the only thing left for him is to get trusted.

Does Ringing Grape Vines Pay?
The ringing of grape vines is a technical term used to describe the cutting away of the bark of last year's growth, so as to prevent its return to the root, and thus holding the whole of it for the use of the present year's crop. It can be practised more readily and successfully on the grape than on any other kind of fruit, as the new bunches are always grown on shoots of the previous year's growth, and are cut away soon after the fruit upon them is ripened. Yet the obstruction of the flow of sap is often affected in other fruits than the grape by bending down the branches which contain the fruit, thus making it larger and ripening it earlier. This with most other fruits is regarded as an advantage. But where grape vines have been ringed it is found that their fruit has less sweetness, and though it appears larger, its taste is insipid. It is found, too, that the partial failure to return the sap to the root lessens the growth of the vine below the ring and decreases its vitality. Wherever ringed grapes have once been sold, buyers are apt to be suspicious of very large or extra early fruit, and will often ask if it has been produced by ringing. It may, however, pay to ring some extra early grapes, so as to get them into the market while the price for grapes is high, without regard to the quality of the fruit.

A Popular Error.
Nearly everybody entertains the opinion that a dishonest grocer has a penchant for mixing sand with his sugar for the purpose of gain. This is a popular error, for sugar is but rarely adulterated, from the fact that unless scientifically done, and then only with a certain kind of clay, the fraud would come to light without the consumer applying any test. If sand is mixed with sugar, it would be discovered by the sugar eater, for the sand would be found as a deposit at the bottom of the coffee cup, or it would betray itself by the grit in the cake.

A Bee.
A little girl was visiting her cousin in the country for the first time, and everything was so strange to her that she could not help showing her discomfort. Her cousin seemed to be amused at her unfamiliarity with things that they knew so well, and she vexed her. The next morning, at breakfast, she saw a chance to show them that she was not so ignorant, after all. There was a dish of honey on the table, and she said, with an air of self-satisfaction:
"Ah, I see you keep a bee."

THE NAMES OF FLOWERS

Pretty and Peculiar Names Given to Them and Their Origin.

The gladiolus (little sword), is so called probably from its sharp, sword-shaped leaves; and the eglantine, (diminutive of the French aiguille,) from its piercing, needle-like thorns, says a writer in St. Nicholas. Coconut is from the Spanish coco, or bugbear, descriptive of the queer, impish little face at the base of the hairy nut. Nasturtium, which means "nose-twister," gives a picture of the person smelling the blossom and involuntarily contorting his features from the stinging and pungent odor. Pink introduces us to a group of words that at first sight seem very oddly ill-matched, for this daintily edged flower gets its name pink from the Dutch verb pinken, to pick out with a sharp instrument, as a border is pinked in notched scallops for decoration. Charming pictures are given by the "sun-dew," with its sparkling leaves; "the Daisie, or else the eye of the day" as Chaucer calls it, from its habit of opening at dawn, and the asters are the "stars" of the field.

The exquisite blue speedwell and the beckoning sprays of traveler's joy seem to fling us greetings from meadow and hedge-row. The bright little heartease preaches content, and there is a sort of moral in the rough brushwood and tangled vines (abrusca) and the kindred adjective brusque. The old word teasen meant to card wool, and hence we get both "tease," which is a rubbing up the fur in a wrong direction, to speak figuratively, and tinsel, a prickly, thistle-like plant whose flower-heads, when dry, are sometimes used for raising the nap on woolen cloth.

German Understanding of Receiver.

A case was in one of the Cincinnati courts that involved a receiver for a building association. The plaintiff was a highly respected German who knew what he wanted, but in some manner the attorney had not taken the steps that his client desired. When the plaintiff was on the stand his attorney examined him at length. During the examination the old gentleman became excited and answered the questions in such a way that the Judge was under the impression that he didn't thoroughly understand the questions and answers. He declared that he didn't want a receiver, that he didn't want his attorney to take the step, and that all he wanted was his money.

At this point the Judge suggested that the court interpreter be sent for, that the German might make himself more clearly understood. But he declared that he understood what he wanted, and that was his money, and if he failed to get it he would kill himself.

To ascertain if he knew what he wanted the Judge said:

"Do you know what a receiver is?"
 "Yes, sir; I do, sir," said the honest German. "He vos der man vot gits der monish und I gits nottings."

This convinced the Judge that the plaintiff knew quite well what he was talking about. So the interpreter was dispensed with, for the time being, at least.

"I guess," said the Judge, in conclusion, "he knows about as much about a receiver as we do."

Naval Salutes

School boys will be interested in this, in these days of naval reviews. Upon entering a port, a warship salutes with twenty-one guns the flag of the nation she is visiting, and then the flags of any foreign Admirals who may be there. Every salute is answered, gun for gun. The following table shows the proper salute for the various subjects named:

	Guns.
Nations, rules of nations, Ambassadors and members of royal families	21
Vice President of the United States	19
Cabinet Ministers, Admirals, Governors of States, Justices of the Supreme Court, congressional committees	17
United States or foreign Ministers	15
Rear Admiral	13
Commodore and Charge d'Affaires	11
Consuls General	9
Consuls	7
Vice Consuls	5

Army officers are entitled to the same salutes as the corresponding grades in the navy, a Brigadier General, for instance, who ranks with a Commodore, getting eleven guns.

Salutes are never fired before 8 a. m. or after sunset. A vessel arriving during the no-saluting hours must wait until the proper time before she can blaze away. Nor are salutes fired when wash clothes, awning or other canvas are triced up to dry. These must always be lowered first.

Evolution of the Trotter.

In the evolution of the trotting horse, Mr. A. J. Meston, of Pittsfield, Mass., has traced the predominant influence of one horse—Hambletonian 10 (1841-1876). This influence has extended to 92 per cent. of the 2:10 trotters and 84 per cent. of the 2:10 pacers; and the pacing speed without Hambletonian blood has fallen two seconds behind the best record, and the trotting speed four seconds.

SYRUP OF FIGS

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it does not irritate or weaken the bowels, does not grip nor nauseate, and does not destroy its beneficial effects. Remember the name of the Company—

Meeting Closed

Rev. W. H. Frost, of Plymouth, has closed the meeting he was conducting at Parker's chapel, five miles from town. He tells us there were twelve accessions to the church. He goes to Newbern to hold a meeting near that town.

Does This Mean You

It is wonderful how many persons injure their eyes by the use of common or cheap glasses, bought at haphazard and totally unsuited to them. It is like boring a hole in a sound tooth. Your hat, boots or shoes and clothes must be bought at short intervals of not less than one year, with the most economical. You cannot injure the person in such decisions as wearing apparel, but can totally ruin your eyes and sight by knowing nothing of the science of optics or the laws of refraction. In getting optical assistance, therefore, do not depend upon your own judgment or trust to that of any one else unless qualified by years of practice in their profession. Glasses unsuited to your eyes must be changed very often, so that at the end of a short period, say a year, the patients find that they have ruined their eyes and sight and have paid more in a short period than they would have done, and saved the eyes and sight, had they consulted the proper authority in the beginning. Get the glasses from an oculist, to suit you in the first place and they will last you and save your eyes for from three to five, eight or even ten years, and will not cost you more than you would have paid for your hats or shoes in the same length of time. Now, the question naturally arises and remains with you whether your eyes are worth it or not.

These remarks are called forth by the presence of Dr. Byers, whose name and reputation as a scientist in his profession in the adjustment of glasses to the eyes is known and recognized in this country. He comes to Greenville to establish the character of his service and work optically, and is endorsed by the most distinguished members of the medical profession throughout the country. Do not lose so valuable an opportunity of having your eyes properly examined and lenses adjusted. Dr. Byers will remain but a short period longer. So consult him at once or be disappointed. Consultation gratis, office at Osmund House, on Dickinson avenue.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

William Coleman and Michael Duffy, of the New York water department were killed by sewer gas while working in a manhole.

Professor E. Benjamin Andrews, of Brown University, has accepted the position of Superintendent of Public Schools in Chicago, Ill.

William J. Davis, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was crushed to death on the elevated railroad, having fallen from the platform in front of the engine.

Jasper Simpson, while resisting arrest at Denton, Ark., shot and killed United States Deputy Marshals J. B. Grady and L. S. Hill.

The American bark Kennebec, 188 days out from Baltimore, Md., with a cargo of coal for San Francisco, Cal is thought to be lost.

Snake Bitten

A son of Mr. W. B. Steeks, near Ayden, was bitten by a poplar leaf snake on Wednesday. The usual snake bite remedies were applied and at last reports he was getting along very well.
