Tetter on the Hands.

For several years I was a sufferer from Tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples, and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from the scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well.

Captain Sigbee Succeeds Captain Phillips in Command of the Texas

Washington, Aug. 8.—Two important changes in the command of vessels of the navy were announced this evening, by Secretary Long. Captain Charles D. Sigbee, who commanded the battleship Maine when she met her fate in the harbor of Havana, and who has been in command of the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, since the war began, has been ordered to relieve Captain John W. Phillip, of the command of the battleship Texas, now undergoing repairs in New York.

To the Property Owners of Greenville.

GENTLEMEN:

I wish to draw the attention of all those who are interested in their own property or feel an interest in the town that the Fire Department (which are mostly composed of non property owners) is in need of help.

We have a fire engine but have no horses to pull it. To you, it should be an affecting sight to see the men trying for life to get to a fire to save your property and have to depend upon their own strength to make the trip. It is a situation which can be readily changed to one of easy and rapid transport if you will lend us a "helping hand." Come to our meetings, second Monday night in each month, and see what we want you to do and we will appreciate it. A MEMBER, Fire Dept.

Must Stamp Rent Receipts.

Rent receipts are taxed twenty-five cents now. Parties renting out houses should remember this. We clip the following from the New York Herald: "Collector Charles H. Treat, of the second New York internal revenue district, received yesterday a ruling from Commissioner Scott affirming his decision that rent receipts must be stamped, as being the only evidence of contract between lessor and lessee. Commissioner Scott rules that the receipt for monthly rent comes within the description of a memorandum or contract for the hire, use or rent of any land or portion thereof and to be accordingly subject to the tax of twenty-five cents.

"The ruling would seem to clear away the doubt which has heretofore existed in the minds of both landlords and tenants."

JUST FOR FUN.

A popular Count—Discount.

Mind reading is all headwork.

All pencils are not pushed; some are lead.

Some military reputations are winking in the rain at Santiago.

If Admiral Camara's lens isn't out of order he ought to be able to take the American fleet.

Bronson—"Cashly tells me his business in making strides every day." Johnson—"Yes; he's a floor walker."

Hoax—"Our milkman remind me of a successful gold miner." Joax—"How so?" "He handles paying quarts."

"See here," said the government agent as he drew young Flashy aside, "you will have to put revenue stamps on those checks or I will confiscate the suit."

MUSIC PUPILS.

I desire a class of pupils in instrumental music, beginning Monday, Sept. 5th. Terms made known on application. Lessons will be given to pupils in their home if preferred. MISS MARY ALICE MOYE

See Dr Byers

The excellent work of Dr. Byers, the oculist, continues to bring him many patients in Greenville and vicinity. His knowledge of all troubles to which the eye is subject is so perfect that no case is too difficult for him to relieve. His time is so fully occupied that it is wise to make engagements for consultation. He can be found at the Osmund House.

This is the Place

The farmer who is wise will sell his tobacco on the Greenville market. Our enterprising warehousemen are here for business. They are prepared to handle all the tobacco that can come and they make it bring the very best prices to be had.

Ben Hur Tonight.

"Ben Hur" in all its glory will be seen at the Germania Hall tonight. The magnificent views cannot fail to attract everyone while the dramatic portions of the story find a masterful exponent in the hands of the well known Capt. Rider. The tickets have sold well and a good house is sure to testify to the excellence of the entertainment. Those who have not secured reserved seats can obtain them at Wooten's Drug Store.

New Buyers

The Greenville tobacco market continues to enlarge its force of buyers and increase its strength. Two new firms have located here this week. W. T. Clark & Co., of Wilson, have opened a branch business on this market with John Clark as buyer and Herbert Harris as bookkeeper. Richmond Maury & Co., of the same town, have also opened here with M. T. Anderson as buyer and Will Moore bookkeeper. THE REFLECTOR extends a cordial welcome to all the new comers.

OVER THE COUNTRY

Non-union Moulder Robert Davis was fatally beaten by strikers at Buffalo, N. Y.

The corn crop of Nebraska, improved by rain, will yield about 25,000,000 bushels.

With his wife's savings Lewis Linder, of New York, bought a pistol and killed himself.

Lillie Gordon, a frequenter of the Bowery, New York, is the second member of a suicide club here to end her life.

Louis Perri, a prisoner in New York, feigned death, but a rough rider in an undertaker's wagon quickly revived him.

Gipsies stole the child of George Conklin, of Welton, N. Y., and a clairvoyant is advising the anxious mother as to its recovery.

The wise business man uses the columns of THE REFLECTOR to draw trade. There is yet room for those who want to do likewise.

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION

A Convention of the Democratic party of the First Congressional District is hereby called to meet at Edenton, N. C., on August 30 1898, at 3 P. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress and to transact such other business as shall come before it. By order of the committee. W. B. RODMAN, Chm'n

Young Kirby Ward while riding behind Charley Aycock on a bicycle yesterday afternoon, had the misfortune to get his toes hung in the chain and so badly lacerated that the big toe had to be amputated.—Goldshoro Argus.

The Clinton Democrat says the five year old son of Mr. John Sessions, of Sampson county, got a watermelon seed in his windpipe and died from the effects of it. An attempt was made to remove the seed, but it could not be definitely located. The boy was recovering from a spell of fever and was quite weak.

A train running between Philadelphia and Atlantic City covers fifty miles of the distance at the rate of eighty miles an hour. The whole run of fifty five miles is made in forty five minutes or less. If this train ever leaves the track going at this terrific speed there will be nothing left but a few splinters here and there.

A secret meeting of gentlemen claiming to be Populists was held in this city yesterday and among other actions appointed a committee to agree on fusion with the Republicans. Col. Jim Young appeared in the city about the same time; a mere coincidence, perhaps. Honest Populists in Wake county who do not desire to be carried into the Russell-Republican party are expected to support this secret combination. Somebody is going to be fooled.—Raleigh Post.

It Would be a Mistake

We have felt that the past four months has not been a proper period for captious criticism of the administration at Washington. The task it has had in hand has been a difficult one and one of the highest responsibility. It has seemed to have discharged its duties very well in the main, and in instances where it appeared that its action might well have been other than it was, both reason and charity have suggested that it had more light than the average citizen and that perhaps, after all, its course was the wise one. There has been no doubt of its purpose to push the war to the speediest possible conclusion; and under the circumstances the voice of the partisan might well be hushed and political advantage be sought elsewhere than in the government's war policy.

This has been the controlling sentiment of the patriotic citizenship of the country, and more stoutly than in the case of any other American President conducting a foreign war have the hands of President McKinley been held up by men of all parties. It would be a great pity, then, if, just as the war is about to be brought to a successful finish, the President should commit the manifest blunder of appointing as military governor of Cuba another man than the one which the country, without regard to section or politics, has selected for that position. The news comes through the Washington Post, which is supposed to be close to the administration, that General M. C. Butler, of South Carolina, and not Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, is to be appointed military governor of Cuba. Such an appointment would be a great mistake and seriously disappointing to all the country. More recent military and naval performances have temporarily eclipsed Gen. Lee's fame as consul general at Havana, but his record in that position in a period of great difficulty and danger has not been forgotten, and public sentiment was not changed since it singled him out for the government of the island in which he made so glorious a record just before hostilities began. There are many ways in which the President can dim the lustre and alienate the regard which he has won by his conduct of the war, but none more effective than by the defiance in this matter, of the will of the people, deliberately formed, based on reason, almost universally expressed and unwaveringly adhered to.—Charlotte Observer.

Here's a nice little item from Mt. Airy News: "The love of flattery is a token of intellectual and moral weakness. Sensible men are nauseated by insincere praise. But the desire for just appreciation is perfectly innocent. Once in a while, when carrying some heavy burden of duty, or going through some storm of opposition, even the noblest and strongest man may feel a deep hunger in his heart for a word of approval. If it comes, it will be means of grace and comfort to him; if not, he will manage somehow to get along without it. In no event will he make the indifference of his fellowmen an excuse for relaxing the loftiness of his own aims. Whatever others may do, he will stick to his task and look to God for reward. And nothing is more sure than that this reward will come"

The pre-ent infamous election law ought to be labeled, "a bill to permit expenitentiary convicts and perjured mirrors and nonresidents to vote."—Winston Sentinel

A Bright Little Girl

A bright little South Greensboro girl hands us the following with a request to publish, which we take pleasure in doing: "We don't want to buy at your place, we won't buy there any more; you'll be sorry when you see us going to some other store. You can't sell us any stale goods, we have opened wide our eyes, we don't want to trade at your store, cease you never advertise."—Record.

We congratulate the sterling old Democratic county of Currituck upon the good work of its late Democratic county convention. It is the only county in East Carolina that through all the vicissitudes, changes and fluctuations of party politics has maintained its Democratic integrity. They have made some changes in their selections of Democratic candidates, and we are glad to be able to congratulate the old Board of county commissioners on their general good work and especially the courthouse. It is a monument they have erected to the memory of their administration. Now, brethren of the stalwart Democracy of Currituck, go to work and elect all your candidates and claim the honor from North Carolina of being true, faithful, unflinching, unfaltering old Currituck.—Elizabeth City Economist.

The rust will find the sword of fame,
The dust will hide the crown;
Ah, none shall nail so high his name
Time will not tear it down.

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breasts
That found the common daylight sweet.

And left to heaven the rest.

PENNY CHURCH COLLECTIONS.

Such an Offering, Except From the Poor, is an Insult to God.

"The important part which the penny plays in the average church offering is known to every one who has ever been interested in church finances," writes Edward W. Bok. "And that it is a part entirely out of proportion to the necessities, is felt and realized by many a church treasurer. Scores of people who could afford to drop a nickel or a dime into the church offering, content themselves by giving a penny. The feeling is either that the smallest offering 'will do,' or the matter of church finances is not given any thought. There is a failure to realize that a church is the same as any other business institution, and it must have money for its maintenance.

"There is such a thing as too literal an interpretation of the phrase that 'religion is free.' Of course, it is free, and let us hope that it will always be so in this country. But to make religion free costs money—and this isn't an Irish bull, either. There are those to whom more than 'the widow's mite' given to the church would mean doing without some absolute necessity of life. The penny of such a one is the most welcome gift to any church the most noble offering which any one can make. But from those who can give more than a penny, and who are giving only the penny, such an offering is an insult to God and to His church, and the sooner people see the matter in this hard, true light the better. I am almost tempted to say that the great majority of churches could, with perfect justice, rule out the penny from their offerings. Were this done the nickel would be the prevailing offering, and to how few persons, when one stops to consider the question, would such an offering be a hardship or an impossibility? A yearly offering of two dollars and sixty cents, calculating that one attended church once each Sunday, or twice, with one offering of five cents, would galvanize the church finances of this country."

Christ's Separation.

Sawdust and steel filing are all mixed up until the magnet sweeps over the pile, then the one is taken and the other left. The sweepings of the United States mint are all gathered by one broom in one heap, but the fire separates the gold from the dust. The wheat and the tares grow together until the harvest. The good fish and the bad are dragged in the same net, and the angels separate them at the feet of God. The faithful and the unfaithful go about the streets until the Master returns, and then the faithless are cast out. Wise and foolish virgins sleep alike until the Bridegroom comes, and then the separation. The two robbers were in a common prison till Christ separated them on Calvary, and led one away to paradise, and left the other to plunge in deeper depths from the top of the cross where he had rejected Christ. "When he comes," the very thing you think is going to save all will divine the just from the unjust, will devote a part to life, a part to destruction, on the simple test of personal love to Jesus Christ.

The Highest Idea.

Jesus teaches the best and the truest and highest idea of God that is possible for man to conceive; and of all the doctrines of God that have ever been taught or propagated in the world this alone can satisfy the cravings of man's spiritual nature and enable the soul to rest secure in the consciousness that the arm of the Almighty and the All-good is ever outstretched to protect and defend. Would you seek after a teacher that can lead you up to the author of your being, and place your spirit in communion with the God that made it, and hush your anxious fears with the assurance that the love of God is with you, and that the arms of His mercy circle you now and evermore, you must find that sacred teacher in Jesus; for in this respect it is true that "never man spake like this Man."

Tattooed Royalty.

Foreign gossip says that Queen Olga of Greece has an anchor tattooed on her shoulder as a token of her affection for her father, the late Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, and that Princess Waldmar of Denmark, wife of the sailor son of King Christian, is also marked in like fashion, with the addition of a crown.

Memorial tablets have been placed to mark the headquarters of Prescott and Rochambeau at Newport.
