GREENVILLE, N. C.

Mr. McBride Holt Says:

Graham, N. C. July 16, '97.

Oneida Cotton Mills:

About two and a half years ago my little boy about four years, and my little girl about two years, each had an enlargement of the glands about the ears. The trouble appearing on each about the same time, I was inclined to think it mumps, but soon observing to the contrary, I called in the doctor, who said the trouble came from colds, prescribing accordingly, yet swelling continued to grow, until each had to hold for the lance, the little boy having been lanced in three places, and at three times, his face at times, looking alarming. The nature of the trouble was termed one thing by one and another thing by another. This however, did not concern me, as I was looking for a cure, and Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy having been called to my attention so favorably, I dropped the treatment from the doctor and commenced to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. To say that the results obtained have been satisfactory is putting it in mild terms, the children, and especially the little boy being entirely well, yet wearing the scars that will ever keep fresh in my memory the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. Respt.

The Projected Railway

Messrs. J. H. Maclary, of Suffolk Va., and S. Galloway, of Snow Hill, N. C., are in the city on business connected with the projected railway from Goldsboro to Pantego, which was mentioned a few days ago.

When seen last night in regard to the road the gentlemen stated that there was no doubt as to its construction. Said Mr. Maclary: "The capital necessary to the construction of the line has already been subscribed and a corps will be put in the field immediately, probably this week, to make the preliminary survey. While we are glad to have people along the line take stock in the road it is not at all necessary to its construction. We are not asking a cent from the counties through which the road will run.

"The towns on the line, so far as determined at present, will be Goldsboro, Farmville, Snow Hill, Washington and Pantego. The country along the line is one of the most fertile portions of the State. It is rapidly developing as a fine tobacco growing section and has always been a good cotton producer. It has needed nothing but facilities for marketing to make it a rich truck producer. Our line will give quick and direct access to Norfolk and thence to northern markets. In addition to the large agricultural output of the section there is great deal of fine timber in easy reach of the line. A rapid development of the country for which the road will serve as an artery is sure to follow its completion.

"Take for instance the town of Snow Hill. At present it has a population of only about 500 and is 15 or 16 miles from the nearest railway shipping point. We have already had a communication from parties who wish to establish there a large veneering establishment for the manufacture of crates, etc. There are vast quantities of gum timber in the country around and the timber is of no use whatever for other purposes but can be utilized in this way. Parties are also taking steps to establish a bank. I mention these things as indications of what the road will do for the counties it traverses.

"The country is, for the most part, level and the cost of grading will be comparatively small. There will be no deep cuts at all on the line."

"Capt. Galloway spoke in equally hopeful terms of the enterprise. The business on which the gentlemen came to the city was satisfactorily arranged.—Raleigh News & Observer.

COMMITTEE

Charged With Rape.

A case that attracted much attention and drew a large crowd to the Court House was tried this afternoon before Justice J. A. Lang, Justices L. A. Mayo, J. J. May and S. I. Fleming sitting with him. The case was against Peter Hines, a young man of Ayden, who was charged with outraging the person of a 7 year old colored girl named Ella Wooten. The only evidence against the defendant was given by the little girl herself, that given by the other witnesses being against her. The evidence given is not fit to publish, but from its nature and the bad character proven on the girl's mother, it is believed by most of those present that the prosecution was malicious. The case was dismissed.

Re a the Best Sale

A farmer was heard to say today while the sale was in progress at the Farmers Warehouse that Joyner & Hughes run the best sale of any warehousemen he ever saw. This gentleman is an up the country man and has sold tobacco on nearly all the older markets and this remark coming from him pays a nice and worthy tribute to the worth of the proprietors of the Farmers Warehouse.

Dewey Takes Manila

Hong Kong, Tuesday, August 16.—The report of the capitulation of Manila is confirmed by the German consul, who says that at 10 o'clock Saturday morning Admiral Dewey advanced on the city with his warships, having previously received a refusal of his command to surrender.

The flagship Olympia again signaled the city to surrender. The Spaniards still refusing to capitulate, the Olympia commenced bombardment on the forts.

Simultaneously with the bombardment the land forces marched on the city.

The battle lasted two hours, when the white flag was hoisted over the forts which had been nearly destroyed.

Gen. Augustin and his family were taken aboard the German cruiser Kaiserin Augusta at dusk for Hong Kong.

Snow Hill Railroad

Another effort is set on foot looking to securing a railroad at Snow Hill. The Raleigh correspondent to the Charlotte Observer says:

"The State charters the Goldsboro, Snow Hill & Eastern Railroad, capital stock $300,000, to extend 60 miles, from Snow Hill to Pantego, through Greene, Pitt and Beaufort counties. There are 3,000 shares of $100 each, and J. W. Lynch and J. H. Maclary hold $28,400 each. The directors are J. D. McCornell and Alex. S. Bacon, of New York; J. H. Maclary, of Suffolk, Va.; J. W. Lynch, of Kinston; G. W. Sugg and Josiah Exum, of Snow Hill."

There is no town that needs a railroad worse than Snow Hill, and for years efforts have been made to get one without accomplishing anything. We hope more will come out of the present movement. A road from Goldsboro to Pantego would open a fine section of country. Such a road ought to come by Greenville.

Blanco has sent to the Spanish government his resignation as Governor General. The reason he gave for resigning is that he does not wish to superintend the evacuation of Cuba.

Several vessels of Sampson's fleet which sailed from Santiago, are expected to reach New York on Saturday. There will be a great naval parade and a demonstration over the arrival of the vessels.

Dewey's fleet gave a parting shot at Manila by way of winding up the war. Before the instructions to cease hostilities reached him on Saturday he made an attack on the city and it surrendered.

The statement in yesterday morning's Raleigh correspondence, credited to Democratic State Chairman Simmons, that the impeachment of Governor Russell by the next Legislature "is a certainty," is startling; and it is added that this does not appear to be dependent upon either party, Republicans being as anxious for it as Democrats. Certainly a Legislature could do nothing more to its credit than to relieve the executive office of this wrong-headed, passionate, dreadful man, and forever disqualify him from voting and holding office. We sincerely believe he is lunatic. —Charlotte Observer.

Epigrams of the War

"Don't swear, boys; shoot!"—Colonel Wood to the Rough Riders.

Suspend judgment.—Captain Sigsbee's first message to Washington.

Don't cheer, boys; the poor devils are dying.—Captain Philip, of the Texas.

Remember the Maine.—Commodore Schley's signal to the flying squadron.

You can fire when you are ready, Gridlev.—Commodore Dewey at Manila.

War is not a picnic.—Sergeant Hamilton Fish, of the Rough Riders, to his mother.

To hell with breakfast: let's finish 'em now.—A Yankee gunner to Commodore Dewey.

Don't mind me, boys; go on fighting.—Captain Allen K. Capron, of the Rough Riders.

The Maine is avenged.—Lieutenant Wainwright, after the destruction of Cervera's fleet.

Don't get between my guns and the enemy.—Commodore Dewey to Prince Henry of Germany.

There must be no more recalls; iron will break at last.—Lieutenant Hobson to Admiral Sampson.

Who would not gamble for a new star in the flag.—Capt. Buckley O'Neill, of the Rough Riders.

Take that for the Maine.—Captain Sigsbee, as he fired a shot through the Spanish torpedo boat Terror.

I've got them now, and they will never get home.—Commodore Schley, on guard at Santiago harbor.

We will make Spanish the court language of hades.—Fighting Bob Evans, when war was declared.

The battle of Manila killed me, but I would do it again.—Captain Gridlev, of the Olympia, on his deathbed.

Excuse me, sir; I have to report that the ship has been blown up and is sinking.—Bill Anthony of the Maine.

I want to make public acknowledgment that I believe in God the Father Almighty.—Captain Philip, of the Texas.

Shafter is fighting, not writing.—Adjutant General Corbin to Secretary Alger, when the latter asked for news from the front.

Afraid I'll strain my guns at long range; I'll close in.—Lieutenant Wainwright, of the Gloucester, in the fight with Cervera's squadron.

Don't hamper me with instructions; I am not afraid of the entire Spanish fleet with my ship.—Captain Clarke, of the Oregon, to the Board of Strategy.

Must John R. Walk the Park

The resolutions as adopted by the State Alliance, with reference to the Commissioner of Agriculture are more to the point than we had supposed. As a matter of fact they fully bear out what Editor Bailey said, and read as follows:

"Whereas, The agricultural department of North Carolina is an institution established for the sole purpose of aiding and assisting the farmers of the State in the advancement of their profession, and, nextly protest against his selection for the position, and respectfully request the directors of the agricultural department to place in said position a more suitable man as the head of our department, at the earliest possible time."

Now, what will the governor and his automatoas on the board do about it? Must John R. walk the plank alone, while his co-conspirators and confederates continue to draw big salaries for doing nothing.

There are those who say that the governor dare not turn off John R. because he is afraid of disclosures that the Wayne county Republican may make.

Whatever the outcome, the resolution of the Alliance will shut the mouths of those pie eaters who say that the exposure of Radical wrong doing was a Democratic lie.—News and Observer.

"Whereas, The present commissioner of agriculture occupies the position under circumstances not creditable to himself nor to the great bodies of farmers in the State; therefore,

"Resolved, That the North Carolina Farmers' State Alliance ear-

Alfred A. Woodhull, lieutenant colonel in the medical department of the United States army, states that physical maturity does not occur till between the years of 23 and 25. Boys under 20 are almost sure to break down. The best armies are those with 22 years as the minimum.

An Insolent Officer Called Down

A gentleman related an occurrence which illustrates the incompetency of the colored policeman and his total unfitness for that position. A young white man was standing on the corner of Sixth and Nun streets waiting for a street car. A negro policeman came up and punching him, told him to move on. This the young man rightly refused to, whereupon the policeman threatened to arrest him. The young man nothing daunted, and resolving not to be bulldozed when he was in the right, politely informed the officer that he would blow his brains out if he put his hands on him, and the policeman moved away.

Such outrages must cease. If the negro policeman had exerted the same time and effort toward suppressing lawlessness that he devoted to disturbing an inoffensive and peaceable citizen he would have done his duty. It is necessary at times to teach people their duty.—Wilmington Dispatch.

A GIRAFFE'S SORE THROAT.

The Animal's Peculiar Anatomy, Made the Case Serious.

"Seems to me I told you once," said the old circus man, "about the giraffe having a sore throat? It is a serious matter for any giraffe to have a sore throat; bad for the giraffe and bad for the owner. When you come to take an 18-foot giraffe like ours, a sore throat means large expense and a large amount of trouble; and the big fellow hadn't more'n got over this before something else happened to him that give us even more trouble. He caught cold, and the cold settled in his throat—I suppose he was still sensitive there—and it give him a stiff neck, so that he couldn't bend his neck at all.

"You can't have any idea of what a stiff neck means until you see a giraffe afflicted in that way; we'd had all sorts of trouble with animals in one way or another, but for real bother this beat 'em all. We discovered it one day on the road. The giraffe always ducked his head under the branches that hung down, sort of like a swan or goose does, but this day, carrying his head right up straight in the air, he brought up against a branch that was at least fifteen feet above the ground. That was such an amazing thing that we knew something must be the matter, and when the giraffe's keeper came up and spoke to him, and all he did was to bend his nose down, and look down, why, we saw he couldn't bend his neck, and then we knew what was the matter.

"Well, of course, the first thing we did was to set a man to march alongside of him with a tent pole, with a crotch in the end of it, to lift the branches for him. Most of the time—almost all the time, in fact—we could steer him clear of overhanging branches, and, of course, lots of the way there was long stretches where there wasn't any trees at all; and then we'd come to places where the man would have to lift a branch to let the big giraffe go under; and a great pity it was, too, to see him compelled to go about in that manner.

"He went that way for about ten days. Ordinarily, we used to put his feed for him on top of the animal's cage, so that he wouldn't have to bend down more than eight or ten feet; but he couldn't do that now. So we set a ring in the center pole eighteen feet from the ground, and we used to reeve a rope through that and make one end fast to the bucket, with his food or drink in it, and hoist it up and let him eat there. On the road we used to throw the rope over the crotch of a tree at a suitable height. For his entry into the great tent at show time we had to cut a great slit in the canvas; but we didn't regret that, because it was a mighty impressive thing to see him march in that way. It made him look thirty-six feet tall, instead of eighteen.

"Twice a day a man used to go up on a ladder and put a strap around his head, and we'd hook on a fall, with a bosun's chair, and a man would ride down his neck and rub in liniment. He used to like that very much, and it helped him greatly, too, and one morning when the men went out to give him the usual rub, they were delighted to see the old chap with his head bowed down pretty near to the roof of the grizzly bear cage, which stood next to him, which showed that his neck was coming around all right, and also indicated that he'd take his breakfast this morning in the old way, if you please."

Tattooed Royalty.

Foreign gossip says that Queen Olga of Greece has an anchor tattooed on her shoulder as a token of her affection for her father, the late Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, and that Princess Waldmar of Denmark, wife of the sailor son of King Christian, is also marked in like fashion, with the addition of a crown.

Memorial tablets have been placed to mark the headquarters of Precott and Rochambeau at Newport.

Wilhelmina, who is to be crowned Queen of the Netherlands on September 6 next, has personally sent to Mr. Bek, the editor of The Ladies' Home Journal—himself a Hollander by birth—one of her private portraits for publication in the next number of this magazine. It is the last portrait which will be taken of the little lady before her coronation, and will be printed in connection with a specially prepared sketch, showing the personality of the first Queen of Holland from every point of view.
