THE RAWLS TRIAL.

The Evidence in the Case.

WEDNESDAY.
HENRY GRAY.

I will be 21 years old in August, live about 16 miles from Greenville. I remember being in Greenville some years ago when shooting took place. I knew King and Hyman but did not know Rawls. Shooting took place in front of Keel's stables, I think it was about nine years ago. I had just come up to corner of stables when difficulty occurred, came from blacksmith shop back of stables. As I came up to stables heard Hyman say "G— d— it, you can't do it where I am." King struck at Hyman and Hyman struck King, Hyman took hold of King's arm. King pulled out pistol and looking towards Rawls said "G— d— you, I am going to kill you" and fired at Rawls over Hyman's shoulder. Rawls staggered back and shot at King. King's back was towards me, while I was somewhat facing Rawls. Rawls almost fell when he staggered, he shot after he was wounded. King and Hyman were a few feet from stable and bar-room, Rawls was over on other side of alley next to law office.

Cross-examined.—I was nearly 13 years old then, came to town that day with my mother, it was late when I left town. I was not at magistrate's trial. Told my father and grandfather about it. I saw Rawls, keel, king, Hyman and a colored man about stables. Keel and King were standing in front of stables with faces toward street. First thing I heard was what Hyman said to king. I can't say which advanced but king struck first, each struck the other. Rawls was some feet back. I did not see Rawls' pistol then. I remember seeing people out toward street from stable but do not remember who. Never saw Rawls from that time until yesterday.

MARSHAL ELKS.

I was in town the day the trouble occurred, was in alley at time of shooting. I heard pistol shot and looking up saw a pistol in King's hand. Hyman was standing with King. I sprang in side door of bar-room and heard another shot about time I went in door could not tell where it came from. I looked back and saw Rawls over on other side of alley next to office.

Cross-examination.—First thing that attracted my attention was report of pistol. I was near side door of bar-room. King was near stable door when I saw him with pistol. Any one over next to office could have seen him. King's face was towards office. I got away as soon as possible. I think it was in April, 1890. Don't remember day of week or the time of day. I was not drunk. I lived six miles from Greenville then, and about a mile and half from Hyman. Saw Rawls in Sugg's office after shooting but never saw him any more until this trial. Don't recollect who was in office. Did not hear somebody say "You broke his leg" and Rawls reply "I wish it had been his neck." Did not hear Rawls say anything about it, was present only a few minutes.

J. R. MOBLEY.

I was in town the day of the shooting, was standing on sidewalk fronting stables, and was near Rawls while Hyman and King were in contact. Rawls was going backward with hand in pocket and I thought I would get near enough to catch his arm. I looked around end of bar-room where King and Hyman were and saw King holding a pistol over Hyman's shoulder pointing it at Rawls. I jumped back just as pistol fired. King fired first shot.

Cross examined.—I went into alley from street. Don't remember anybody going in alley by me, but Whitehead passed me coming out of alley when I first saw King coming from stables towards Hyman and Rawls. They were going down in alley from sidewalk. King met them about half way alley. King tried to draw pistol and Hyman caught him. King tried to strike Hyman. They took a flirt or two and went back around corner of bar-room. Then Rawls commenced going backward so as to be in view of them and I thought he was trying to draw his pistol. After shooting I went towards street. Do not remember seeing Skinner or Sheppard. Have been sworn in court a great many times in last ten years. I was a witness in magistrate trial, told same thing then that I am telling now, did not lay it all on Rawls then, Hyman was being tried then. Don't remember seeing Keel or Cowell, saw Cherry somewhere. I know Rawls but do not remember ever to have spoken a half dozen words to him.

E. N. HATTON.

I know Henry Keel, knew John King. Keel was dealing in horses and mules in 1890. I remember the day of shooting between Rawls and King but was not present. I was in town the Saturday evening before and drove up to Keel's stable. King was there at the time. [Some time was consumed here by argument of objection raised by State that the testimony of this witness was upon collateral matter. Court decided testimony was competent.] Keel turned buggy around and told colored man to bring out his fast horse. Keel asked me if I met Rawls. I told him yes, I met Rawls on bridge. I asked what was the matter, he said nothing. Keel told me put up my horse and he and King drove off. I was there when they returned. Keel came ahead of King and Rawls, they were gone about half hour. I asked Keel what this meant, he replied, we got what we went after. Keel helped unhitch mule. Keel walked up and down with hand in pocket behind him while King and Rawls were talking. I took Keel's arm and told him not have anything to do with it, he told me not have anything to do with it. King with his hand in pocket called Rawls a d— b— s— of b— and said he would kill him. Rawls said to King "I know you have the advantage of me." King kept on cursing Rawls, Keel and myself walked off, and Rawls left.

Cross examination.—I live four miles from Greenville north side of river, about 12 or 15 miles from where Hyman lives. First went to Keel's stables when I reached town, Keel and King were there, my brother was with me. Keel told me drive in, he and I on good terms, was in habit of staying sometime around there with him when I came to town. I was about stables while they were gone over river. Rawls and King returned in buggy together. Keel helped unhitch mule and cursed Rawls, did not hear Rawls curse any. If any of them were drinking I did not know it. In conversation with Suydam about a month ago I told him of the matter.

O. CUTHRELL.

I knew the late J. M. King, had known him 3 or 4 years before the occurrence. [The State objected to questions asked witness as to general character of deceased for violence, etc., which caused another argument between counsel, and the court decided the question incompetent at this time.] The difficulty took place on Monday. I was going to the barber shop Saturday evening, saw a crowd between Keel's stables and the barroom. King said to me "Hello, Cute!" I answered and asked him what was the matter. He said "I am going to kill Joe Rawls and Ash Hyman." He then pulled out his pistol and showed it to me and I told him put it up. He again said he was going to kill them both and that he had money enough to pay for it. I told him that was a game two could play, and he might be the killed man. He said he would lookout for that. I told him it would be too late after he was dead, he said he was willing to go to hell if they could kill him. He asked me go in Bergeron's barroom and take a drink with him, I declined and he asked me why, and I told him because I did not need anything. He said Rawls was in the barroom and he wanted to go in there and wanted to rub up against him, and that if Rawls turned his face he was going to slap him, and that if Rawls resented he would shoot him. King then drew his pistol again and showed it to me. He said he would take offense if I did not drink with him, and I told him if taking a drink would satisfy him I would go to Hooker's with him but would not go to Bergeron's, we went and took the drink.

the evening after I had quit work. Several people were standing around stables, probably a dozen, do not remember any other names now except Keel. They were between stables and barroom, did not see anything of Rawls. I think King was drunk, he was talking in loud tone. I did not go tell Rawls anything about it. I tried to keep King from going where Rawls was, don't know what became of him after we took the drink at Hooker's. I have talked of the matter several times, was subpoenaed at Magistrate's trial but was not called. Did not tell Fleming that I knew nothing to help either side, but said I did not know if I could do any good. King and I had a misunderstanding and passed some words, but we made up, we were perfectly friendly on the Saturday in question or would not have taken drink together.

JESSE PROCTOR.

I knew King and Rawls, remember the shooting but not the date, it was in April. I lived over river at the time, was in town that day. Was going through alley to enter stables when a pistol shot attracted my attention, was near enough to see around corner of barroom. I saw King and Keel around end of barroom. When pistol fired I was close to Rawls. The first shot came from where King was standing. Another shot followed from where Rawls stood. I dropped back after first shot, the parties were 10 or 15 feet apart.

Cross examination—I was at work here that day. Never noticed anybody in alley until pistol fired, don't remember anything about Hyman. The pistol shot excited me. I remember Skipper and Whitehead were out there in alley, don't remember any one else standing where King and Keel were. There were three shots and they were rapid, did not hear any words.

W. A. HYMAN.

I was in Greenville the day of the shooting. Rawls and myself went from Court House going towards L. & S. office. Getting at alley Rawls said he had some things he wanted to go after. Saw King and Keel setting before stable gate and I told Rawls not go through there. Saw Keel put his hand behind King. I told Rawls to stop. King raised up and said "G—d— him, let him come." I told King to stop his foolishness that Joe was not going to bother him. King said "I can whip him the best day he ever saw." Rawls was standing towards street 10 or 12 feet in alley, King was near gate and came on till he meet me. I begged him not to have a fuss. He walked on till he got to Joe when I shoved Joe off and pushed King back, he struck me and we clinched. As he backed he was trying to get out his pistol, and after getting it out he fired at Rawls over my left shoulder. He was then by corner of bar room. Before he could fire a second shot I grabbed his pistol King fired first shot, and as I held his pistol he kept trying to shoot again and said "d— you, I will kill you if you don't turn it loose." I was still holding pistol when I laid King down after he was shot. Cherry came up and took pistol. Keel afterwards talked to me several times about going out with King after the mule, I asked him why he went on Saturday and drove before Joe as he did and take the mule from Joe. He said he never knew where he was going. I asked him then why he took one pistol himself and gave King one, as he previously told me, to take along with him. He said he wanted to get the mule, as King was to give him a pair of mules and big boot for the horse. Said he did not think the matter would come up again and that it would never hurt Rawls. Said it was his pistol with which King shot Rawls and showed it to me. There was no reconciliation between Rawls and King the day of the shooting.

Cross examination—There had been a trial that morning, between King and Rawls, there was an effort at reconciliation. King gave me $5 for expense incurred about the mule, a warrant was served on him while we were talking. Had been to law office that day. Did not hear Rawls say he was going to whip King. Dr. O'Hagan told me I had better go after Joe or he might have some trouble. Did not hear Rawls say he was going to have revenge. I told King he swore to a d— lie on the trial, when he said I never had any financial dealings with anybody without swindling them. That was just before noon. A little later I was talking with Dr. O'Hagan when King approached and said he wanted to apologize for what he said on the stand. I told him if he would acknowledge swearing falsely against me I would withdraw calling him a d— lie. He said all right and we shook hands. After the shooting I went into Sugg's office where Rawls was and we went out of town about 4 o'clock. He left after two or three days and since has told me that he went to Kansas, Oklahoma, New York and elsewhere. He married in Oklahoma and brought his wife out here four or five years ago, his father-in-law also came out here then. I don't know where he was for awhile then, but for three years he has been living in Bertie county. Over there he went by name of G. A. Teel, in Oklahoma he went by the name of J. R. Moore and in New York by the name of J. R. Hyman.

JOHN CHERRY BROWN, COL.

I know Rawls, knew King for a year or two before the difficulty, knew King when I saw him. I remember the Saturday the mule was taken from Rawls, my home was on his place then. Rawls was taking me home that afternoon. About a mile and half from town I heard some one coming behind at a good tilt and I made room for them to pass. Rawls was reading a paper. They drove by us and reined up to the right. King jumped out of buggy and caught the mule's bridle. Rawls struck mule but King held him. King said "G—d— you this is my mule and I am going to have him." Rawls asked him not to take mule and tried to stop him from unhitching. King struck Rawls and drew pistol on him, cursed and threatened to kill him. The other man sat on his buggy with feet thrown out, held his hand in hip pocket from which a pistol stuck partly out. I left the parties all there in the road.

Cross examined—I knew the date myself, nobody did not tell me. I have not talked the case with any one nor told them what I was going to testify to.

THURSDAY.

At the opening of Court this morning the Sheriff was given some instruction relative to keeping better order than prevailed Wednesday. The attendance has been quite noisy, making it difficult for the proceedings to be heard.

The defense continued its evidence by placing the defendant himself on the stand.

JOSEPH RAWLS.

I am 30 years old. Prior to 1890 I lived 6 miles north of Greenville, had known J. M. King two or three years. We were friendly. I was in Greenville on Saturday, April 26th, 1890, came on buggy, driving a mule. The mule was the property of Mrs. King but was in my possession for the year. J. M. King had no right to the mule. Had no conversation with King before leaving town that day. Cherry Brown left town riding with me, he lived on a place belonging to my sister near me. King and Keel overtook me on the road more than a mile from town. I had no intimation anyone was following me. The colored man was driving while I read a paper. Some one drove by me suddenly and wheeled in front of me. King jumped out of buggy and caught my mule, he drew a pistol and said he would kill me on the spot if I did not give mule up. I told him I had no means of defense. Keel also held his hand on hip pocket and watched me. I went to King to prevail with him against taking the mule and he shoved me back and presented his pistol, cursing me violently, cannot recall exact words. I was not cursing. He agreed that I might come back to town with him, he would not me go on home, I rode back with him. He told Keel to drive behind until near the stables when he told him to drive ahead. A colored boy was taking out Keel's horse when we reached stables and he was standing behind buggy waiting for us to drive up. Hatton was there. I protested against the mule being taken from me and Keel walked up and down by us while King cursed me. It was agreed that Keel let me have a horse to go home with. During the cursing policeman Smith arrested King and myself and ordered us to appear Monday morning for trial before the Mayor. It was also agreed the mule should remain in Keel's possession until the trouble was settled. I came to town about 9 o'clock Monday. Hyman came with me. We were tried before the Mayor. I had a magistrates warrant issued for King before B. S. Sheppard for the assault over the river. King and I had no difficulty that day prior to meeting at stables. About middle of afternoon Hyman and myself started from near Court House to go to L. & S. office preparatory to going home. I told him about corner of barroom that I had left a bundle at Cox's store which I would go after and then go home. As I turned to leave him he touched me and said "Don't go through there, there sits John King." I made some remark that it made no difference, it was nearest way to store. About that time there was a whispered consultation between King and Keel, when the former arose with hand in hip pocket saying "You G—d— scoundrel, if you want anything you can get it." Don't know who the remark was addressed to. He advanced a short distance when Hyman told me to wait and he went on to meet King leaving me near sidewalk. They met down towards stables and had a few words I could not understand then came walking side by side towards me, King remarking that he could whip me. I was a little further down alley in meantime. They came on and met me about midway alley. They had a flirt. King struck at Hyman when Hyman caught him by arms and told him not to shoot, they clinched and Hyman pushed him back around corner of barroom. I moved over towards law office and was about 15 feet from them when they went around corner. I had not attempted to draw pistol to that time. When they passed corner of barroom King suddenly raised pistol over Hyman's shoulder, leveled it at me and fired. I whirled and ball struck me in left thigh, passing through and striking right thigh. I immediately drew my pistol and fired once or twice. King appeared trying to fire again. After firing I went out alley. My two shots were as close as they could be made.

A gentleman remarked recently that had a stranger or an outsider come to North Carolina, and made the cures among our people that Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy had made, the people would be have stirred as never before. Read this and suppose a case:

Eleven years ago I had a child that was delicate from birth, and for six months she was under constant care of the best physician we had in our town. But his medicine seemed powerless to control the bowel trouble, which had become chronic dysentery. She also suffered from some aggravated blood trouble, which caused large sores and risings to break out on her body. Oft time there would be as many as 20 or 25. We had several doctors to treat her at different times, but nothing reached her case. They would lance these risings, but as soon as one was cured another broke out, and the doctors gave me no hope of her cure. After she had led a life of agony and suffering for six months, I was inspired to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. There was a change for the better in twenty-four hours, it seemed to check the bowels at once, and after using a few bottles my child was entirely cured, and has never since had any sign of trouble and is now in perfect health. A few years after this I had two sores to break out on my ankle, and strange to say I did not think of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I was under the treatment of doctors for three years, but the sores continued to get worse until they had eaten to the bone. I then thought of trying Mrs. Joe Person's Wash and did so; and it is almost useless to say it soon made a cure.

I wish I could speak so that every man, woman and child, in North Carolina could hear, that I might tell them what Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash did for me and mine. I advised one of my friends who had been a terrible sufferer for a long time, with nurses sore mouth. She used the Remedy and Wash, and it soon made a cure.

I have recommended it to ever so many of my friends, for indigestion and other ailments, and I have never known it to fail to cure yet. There is no medicine equal to it.

LIVING IN THE COUNTRY.

The Growing Fondness For Rural Life a Good Sign.

In The Ladies' Home Journal Edward Bok, with much satisfaction, notes the strong tendency to country living and believes that "it is one of the best signs of the times. Nothing in the world can keep a man or woman so young and fresh as to be able to be in touch each day with the perpetual freshness and youth of nature. Suburban life means more out of door living, and that is what we Americans all need. We want more exercise, and suburban living makes that easier. We want our interest in things kept fresh, and that nature does for us as nothing else can.

"The more our busy men see of nature's restful ways the more restful will they become. The closer we keep our children to the soil the healthier will they be physically and the stronger will they develop mentally. The more our girls breathe in the pure air which God intended for all, but which man in the cities pollutes, the better women we shall have, the fewer worried mothers we shall see. The more our young men see of out of door sports the more clearly will they realize the greatness of splendid physical health.

"The more the tired housewife sees of flowers and plants and trees the closer will become her interest in all things natural and simple, and, as she sees the simplicity with which nature works unconsciously, will the lesson be forced upon her and enter into her own methods. We all agree that there is no teacher like nature herself. Let us all, then, get as close to her as possible. Whatever she teaches is wholesome to the mind and uplifting to the soul and strengthening to the body. In the very act of studying her wonderful ways there is health."

THE ALBATROSS.

A Bird of Majestic Aerial Velocity and Insatiable Appetite.

Out of the blue void the albatross comes unobtrusive on motionless pinions, yet at such speed that one moment a speck hardly discernible, turn but your eyes away, and ere you can again look round he is gliding majestically overhead. Nothing in nature conveys to the mind so wonderful an idea of effortless velocity as does his calm appearance from vacancy. Like most of the true pelagic birds, he is a devourer of offal, the successful pursuit of fish being impossible to his majestic evolutions. His appetite is enormous, but his powers of abstinence are equally great, and often for days he goes without other nourishment than a drink of the bitter sea. At the gargantuan banquet provided by a carcass of a dead whale he will gorge himself until incapable of rising from the sea, yet still his angry scream may be heard as if protesting against his inability to find room for more provision against hungry days soon to follow.

Despite his incomparable grace of flight when gliding through midair with his mighty wings outspread, when ashore or on deck he is clumsy and ill at ease. Even seated upon the sea, his proportions appear somewhat ungainly, while his huge hooked beak seems too heavy to be upheld. On land he can hardly balance himself, and the broad silky webs of his feet soon become lacerated. Thus his visits to the lone and generally inaccessible rocks which are his breeding places are as brief as may be, since even conjugal delights are dearly purchased with hunger and painful restraint. A true child of the air, land is hateful to him, and only on the wing does he appear to be really at home and easeful.—London Spectator.

How Japanese Woo.

Japan is a long way off, and this charming story of how courtships are carried on among the elite of their society comes to us from this faraway land. In certain districts, in houses wherein resides a daughter of marriageable age, an empty flowerpot is encircled by a string and suspended from a window or the veranda. Instead of serenades by moonlight and other delicate ways of making an impression, it is etiquette for the Japanese lover to approach the dwelling of his sweetheart bearing some choice plant in his hand, which he reverently proceeds to plant in the empty vase. This takes place when he is fully aware that mother and daughter are at home.

This act of placing a plant in the flowerpot is equivalent to a formal proposal to the lady of his choice. The lover, having settled the plant to his mind, retires, and the lady is free to act as she pleases. If he is the right man, she takes every care of his gift, waters it and tends it carefully with her own hands, that all may see that the donor is accepted as a suitor. But if he is not the favorite, or if the stern parents object, the poor plant is torn from the vase and the next morning lies limp and withered on the veranda or in the path below.

Steel Balls.

The largest center in the world for the manufacture of steel balls for ball bearings is situated at Schweinfurt, in Bavaria. A couple of factories there, owned by one firm, produce close upon 300,000,000 balls annually with the labor of 600 men working ten hours daily. The total production of Germany is stated to be about 650,000,000, while England and France combined turn out only about 70,000,000 additional.

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John E. Parker, of the United States Army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

How to obtain the handsome edition by a payment of only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

The three beautifully bound large octavo volumes and a year's subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS can be obtained by any of the readers of this paper by joining the Review of Reviews Club and paying one dollar. The volumes will be sent as soon as ready to those who remit the sum, and the purchase will be completed by the payment of one dollar per month for twelve months. The first volume will be ready early in December. The subscription to the magazine which goes with the offer can be dated from any month.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

WHEREAS, death has removed from Greenville Masonic Lodge No 284 our brother, A. Arnheim, who was a faithful and true Mason, and whereas; a polished column in our Masonic Temple has been transferred by the Supreme Architect for the building of that eternal temple not made with hands, it is proper that we should reverence the memory of our deceased brother who reflected in life many of the virtues of our ancient and honorable order. Therefore be it Resolved 1st. That we recognize the hand of God in this sad bereavement, and bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

2nd. That this Lodge has lost a good and worthy member, and in token of respect to his memory each member wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

3rd. That the community has lost a useful citizen, and the needy a true friend, for he was generous and charitable, and his family has lost a dutiful husband and affectionate father.

4th. That we extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy.

5th. That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy sent to the family of the deceased and copies furnished the Greenville papers and The Ophans Friend for publication.

Today was the anniversary of Gen. R. E. Lee's birthday. In some places it is observed as a holiday by public institutions.

Burial of Mr. Harriss.

The remains of Mr. H. F. Harriss, who was run over by the gravel train, were interred this morning in the Methodist cemetery, services being conducted by Rev. N. M. Watson.

We hear a different report of the accident by which Mr. Harriss lost his life from the account first given in THE REFLECTOR, a colored man having said that he saw Mr. Harriss attempting to cross the track ahead of the train, that he fell and got one foot caught and could not get out of the way.
