NOT GUILTY.

JOE RAWLS GIVEN HIS LIB ERTY.

Great Demonstration Over Result of The Trial.

Never has a demonstration been witnessed in the Court House in Pitt county equal to that on Friday night when in response to guilty" rang clearly through the question from the Clerk "Is the room, Joe Rawls fell weeping upon prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty of the felony with which he is charged ?" and the words "not guilty" fell from the lips of the ing scene which words cannot despokesman of the jury. Instantly scribe. As soon as he recovered a shout went up that echoed and the now happy man advanced to re-echoed through the building the box and shook hands with the which the Judge at a glance saw an attempt to restrain would be greet his scores of friends who futile.

The closing speech of Mr. Aycock for the State, Friday after. to carry the news to his anxious noon, was not as long as had been mother who was overjoyed that anticipated, and by prolonging the session of the Court to a later hour than usual Judge Moore completed his charge and gave the case to the jury at 6:15 o'clock.

There was able counsel on both sides and the case was a hard fought one from begining to end.

From all directions they came running through the streets in their haste to witness the closing scene of the four days' trial. The building was soon a packed mass of humanity, the late arrivals thronging and pushing to find standing room.

It was 8:30 when Judge Fred Moore ascended the bench and rapped for order. Five minutes later Sheriff Mooring cleared the way and the defendant entered, Col. Skinner of his counsel on one side and Deputy J. J. Mason on the other. For the first during the trial the defendant showed some S. Tunstall's, store. emotion. When responding affirmatively to the question if they had agreed they were asked who should be their spokesman and Mr. B. F. Patrick was selected. Joseph Rawls was asked to stand up and Col. Skinner arose with him, and every juror arose at the same time. At this time the defendant was almost overcome with emotion and he clung tremblingly to his counsel's arm for support. What would the next sentence bring? Would it belife or death! Would it be freedom or imprisonment? All waited in breathless silence for the final words. That brief time with the issues at stake must have seemed like hours to him to whom the next words meant so much.

Goes to Kinston.

Greenville's very best and most lowing parties: energetic young business men, left this morning to make Kinston his future home. He will be married dock. tomorrow (Sunday) at 3:30 o'clock to Mrs. Ada Phillips, the only daughter of R. C. Hill, Esq., six son. miles north of Kinston. In Mr. Tunstall's character there are the peth. elements of noble young manhood and we bespeak for him a bright and splendid future, and most heartily commend him to the good people of his new home. Kenneth, as Roberson. he is familiarly known, has for several years been the head clerk and bookkeeper in his brother's, Mr. J.

Greenville loses what Kinston gains, a splendid man and a Christian. The Odd Fellows will greatly miss their financial secretary.

We learn that the exercies of the Wiley Literary Society last night were exceptionally fine.

Mr. Jesse Speight was out here vesterday and brought a lot of 45 bales of cotton.

A. G. Cox is still paying 121 cts for cotton seed. Better bring them on before the price goes down.

A lot of the Winterville boys went to Ayden Thursday night on the train and as they had to walk back it was past 12 o'clock before some of them came in.

Recollect that the Winterville cigars and cheroots are made right here at home of good honest material by honest men.

Are you a farmer? Then get acquainted with the A. G. Cox Mfg Co. at once. They pay especial at tention to making rolling stock for farm use and therefore are anxious to be on familiar terms with you so as to find out what you need, and can give you every advantage in evidenced by the crowds that tical questions of religion and life price, also are prepared to grind your wheat and corn.

> To all Land Owners: Even if you have only a small lot in town you have to use a fence of some kind and therefore must be somewhat interested in wire fence. If you have hundreds or thousands of acres how can you do without some wire fence? Address all inquiries and orders to the Winterville Fence Co.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 21, 1899.

The exciting and dreadful events of the past week are well calculated to make the thoughtful citizens pause and inquire to what extent the public is responsible for the open bar-room.

One of the living questions in many parts of our great Union is how to handle direct, and control the whiskey traffic.

High License, Low License, No cided to work together. License, The Dispensary, and Prohibition have all been tried with greater or less success, and more or less failure.

That the Dispensary Law is gaining ground, and becoming pop ular wherever tried, cannot be successfully questioned. We have recently come into possession of several interesting and instructive communications, which we will publish, one by one, for the next several days that our citizens may be thoroughly informed on the vital question. Today we call especial attention to a clipping from the Outlook, a prominent and reliable paper.

At the beginning of the term of Court just closed THE REFLECTOR mentioned its being the first Court held by Judge Fred Moore and Solicitor L. I. Moore. Both these gentlemen were elected to their respective positions last November. This is Solicitor Moore's home, and the people are proud of the manner in which he has represented the State at his first Court. His work has in every way demonstrated the wise choice of the people in making him Solicitor. There is a bright career before him. Judge Moore has won the esteem of every Pitt countian who has been about the Court any. His rulings were at all times fair and impartial, and there was that gentleness and courtliness at once attracting every one to him. He is a young man of pleasing address and handsome appearance, and possesses a splendid knowledge of the law. No Court has been held in this county in which the business was dispatched so smoothly. There was no friction and even through the long and exciting murder trial there was the utmost harmony and good feeling between Counsel and Court. THE REFLECTOR hopes Judge Moore will hold many Courts in this county.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. Washington, D. C., Jan. 20, 99. No man deserves any credit for doing the proper thing under compulsion, and there never was a clearer case of official action under compulsion than Mr. McKinley's order for the court-martial of Commissary General Eagan, for his filthy abuse of Gen. Miles. Mr. Mckinley was disposed to allow Secretary Alger to try to hush it up in his own way, which would not have hushed it up at all, until he began to hear from influential men Advertising rates are liberal and of his party, in Congress and all over the country. Therefore he deserves no credit for doing when he found it absolutely necessary that should have been done the do so. The court-martial is bound nursed by the republicans. to find Eagan guilty, and the punishment is dismissal from the army. Whether Mr. McKinley will dare to modify that sentence, is yet to be seen.

> Senator Gorman has taken charge of the democratic opposition to the ratification of the treaty, unless it is so amended as to make it impossible for this country to permanently govern the Philippines. At a meeting presided over by Mr. Gorman all the democratic Senators, except six, were present, and de-

Senator Bacon made a strong speech in favor of his resolution declaring the policy of this government to be against controlling the Filipinos by force. The keynote of his speech was the following: "Of all the great powers of the earth the government of the United States is the only one that contends for the right in all people of selfgovernment. When they abondon they impose their dominion on an unwilling people, in the majestic march of free institutions, the hand the world will have been set back an hundred years."

It is not difficult to point out defects in the naval bill passed by the House this week. Some of them, notably the pay of officers, were pointed out by Representative Bailey, but the order to jam the bill through was obeyed, as usual,

The best feature about the bill is that which will the liquor traffic was brought to an put an end to the clashing between the two classes of naval officers—the line, and the engineer officers-by putting them all in one class. The bill increases the pay of naval officers, on the plea of equalizing them with army officers; it increases the Marine Corps by 1,300 men, adding $1,500.00 to the annual cost of its maintenance; it creates a Judge Advocate's Corps; it prohibits the payment of prize money, and it provides for the retirement of enlisted men and petty officers after thirty years service in the navy. Mr. Bailey charged the majority with the intention to follow the premium scheme for retire. ment of naval officers with a similar day that Eagan's filth was dumped one for army officers, and he might upon the public. The Dispensary System Gaining Ground.

The official count in South Dakoin practice this principle, when ta shows that the constitutional amendment providing for a dispensary system was adopted by a majority of 1,613 votes. This victory upon the great dial of the clock of in South Dakota, futhermore, according to the New York "Sun," is not the only gain which the dispensary system has recently made. In Georgia, where the plan was versy before the Senate for a few first tried in the college town of minutes by offering a resolution Athens, it has been adopted in a score of towns and counties. In Alabama also it is gaining a foothold, two counties having a dispensary bill pending in the Legisla-

The greatest gain it has made, Action on the resolution was defer- resistance from the liquor-dealer red on account of the absence of and their sympathizers in some of the cities; and when Governor Tillman put down the disorders and reduced the illicit traffic to a minimum unknown in any other State, by Schley, if Schley was not also joining State officials, from preventing the sale of liquor in "origi-States. This decision was based Senator Sullivan's amendment to upon the astonishing doctrine that the Nicaragua Canal, limiting to the dispensary law was not passed $5,000,000 the amount to be paid under the police powers of the State. Judge Simonton for months almost nulified the State law by permitting liquor-dealers to import car-loads of loose packages of liquor some of them containing only a without a division, before the bill half-pint. His decision did not however, keep the State officers from watching where these original pakages were sold, and arresting dealers who allowed the contents of the packages to be drunk on the premises. In this way the law was kept half alive until last March, when Judge Simonton's decision and his usurped protectorate over end. "At the present time," says the article in the "Sun," "there is not an original-package shop in the State, there are comparatively few blind tigers, the dispensary system has more friends than it ever had before, and all declare that it has come to stay. All efforts against it now look, not to more whiskey, but to prohibition." All the liquor furnished to the million and more people of the State is bought at one of the ninety-five dispensaries, and even there cannot be drunk on the premises. H M EMERSON. Gon'l Pass. Agen J K KENLY, Gen'l Manager M EMERSON, Traffic M snag

A gentleman remarked racently that had a stranger or an outsider come to North Carolina, and made the cures among our people that Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy had made, the people would been have stirred as never before. Read this and suppose a case:

Eleven years ago I had a child that was delicate from birth, and for six months she was under constant care of the best physician we had in our town. But his medicine seemed powerless to control the bowel trouble, which had be come chronic dysentery. She also sufferd from some aggravated blood trouble, which caused large sores and risings to break' out on her pody. Oft time there would be as many as 20 or 25. We had several doctors to treat her at different times, but nothing reached her case. They would lance these risings, but as soon as one was cured another broke out, and the doctors gave me no hope of her cure. After she had led a life of agony and suffering for six months, I was inspired to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. There was a change for the better in twenty-four hours, it seemed to check the bowels at once, and after using a few bottles my child was entirely cured, and has never since had any sign of trouble and is now in perfect health. A few years after this I had two sores to break out on my ankle, and strange to say I did not think of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I was under the treatment of doctors for three years, but the sores continued to get worse until they had eaten to the bone. I then thought of you tell me the name of the office at trying Mrs. Joe Person's Wash and did so, and it is almost useless to say it soon made a cure.

I wish I could speak so that every man, woman and child, in North Carolina could hear, that I might tell them what Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash did for me and mine. I advised one of my cently. friends who had been a terrible sufferer for a long time, with nurses sore month. She used the Remedy and Wash, and it soon made a cure.

so many of my friends, for indigestion and other ailments, and I have never known, it to fail to cure yet. There is no medicine equal to it.

in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

VERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the Review of Reviews Company. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifies and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army: the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

s'ng His Fare.

A certain to tal school teacher is responsible for the following little story, which is not without its pathetic side. He was endeavoring to explain the term "booking" as applied to our railway system.

"Now," he was saying, "can any of which railway tickets are sold?"

"The Locking office," replied one of

"Right," responded the teacher.

At this moment his eye fell on a small boy at the end of the class, who was evidently paying very little attention to what was said.

"Did you bear that, Dowser?" he demanded.

"Wot, sir?" asked that youth inno-

An Odd Collection.

One of the most remarkable collections of sonvenirs ever made is a collection of male opera hats by one of the actresses of a London company. She owns no fewer than 216 of these articles, for it was her whim to make every young man who was introduced to her give ber his opera hat as a souvenir She not only keeps them in their pristine condition, but converts them into all sorts of other things, such as photograph frames, workbaskets, and some are even used for the purpose of holding ! flowerpots.

Golden Silence.

A man who once met Ralph Waldo Emerson at the bouse of a friend tells of the characteristic way in which the Concord philosopher blunted the edge of a compliment.

"Ob, Mr. Emerson," said a young woman of the party, "it must be so delightful to know that people all over the country are grateful for the things you have said!"

"Thank you," said Emerson slowly, "but it is for some of the things I have not said that I feel most grateful."

A Story of George IV.

In Lady Gregory's newly published reminiscences she says of George IV's trip to Ireland in 1821: "The king arrived after a good passage, during which much goese pie and whisky had been consumed. Word had just come of the death of Napoleon at St. Helena. The story gdes that 'Sire, your enemy is dead,' were the words he was greeted with. 'When did she die?' was his response. But the queen was indeed also
