WHAT IS GOOD POLITICS?

BETHEL, N. C., Mar. 9, 1899.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:
What is good politics? Since I saw in the columns of your paper the assertion of one of our leading men that he thought the Dispensary was a good thing but did not think it good politics for the Legislature to grant it; I have asked myself many times what is good politics? I turn to one of our leading dictionaries, edition '95, and good politics are defined there in this kind of a style: "That part of ethics which consists in the regulation and government of a nation or state for the preservation of its peace, safety and prosperity, comprehending the defense of its existence and rights against foreign control or conquest, the argumentation of its strength and resources and the protection of its citizens in their rights with not only the preservation but the improvement of their morals."

We Bethel folks thought it would be some present, and conducive to greater moral improvement to have a dispensary in Bethel township, so we sent about a two-thirds majority of the white voters' names to the Legislature asking them to give us a dispensary. You know the rest. It was claimed not to be good politics and so after passing the Senate was killed in the House.

We beg your pardon, thought it would be some improvement to close the saloon. We thought it would be good politics and conducive to the improvement of the morals of our community to put a break, if never so small, upon that which costs our county and state several thousands each year in criminalities, that which robs innocent children of bread and that which causes widows and orphans in our country and ruins so many of our boys. The Bethel people might feel ashamed of their conduct if you Greenville people had not made the same mistake. Over one hundred of Greensboro's best citizens are in the dark as to what good politics are. They went to Raleigh and asked for a dispensary. "Negro Domination and White Supremacy" were all the go last fall. Never do for the negro to vote, let white people rule, but now after the white people have sent up their names and their men and spent their money to pass a bill which would enable the negro to be a more quiet and peaceable citizen of our county it is lost on the plea that it is not good politics, and will be brought back for the negro to decide for us whether we shall a dispensary or not, and it is left in such a way that it may become a political issue in this township and hurt the Democratic party here.

Shall we sniff the gold dust of liquor sellers and have good politics? or shall we have a dispensary?

A WINNING LITTLE WAY.

BY KATE CARNES.

She ain't so powerful pretty,
And she ain't so awful smart,
But she's got a way of creeping
Right into a fellow's heart,
And for lack of something better,
When you don't know what to say,
You feel it comes from having
That there winning little way.

Some girls is heap more stylish,
And plenty have more cash,
And some is far more statelified,
And some have lots more dash,
But when it comes to loving
She can beat 'em any day,
And it's on account of having
That there winning little way.

'Taint no name that's made exactly,
Just to fit what makes you think,
When you're sitting long side of her
That you're near to heaven's brink,
But you know she's gone and got you,
Even tho' there's death to pay,
And it all comes from her having
That there winning little way.

She's the darn'dest little angel,
For trying some new tune,
On a fellow's heart and feelings,
Till he's crazy as a loon,
But in spite of all creation,
And whatever folks may say,
She does with you what she wants to,
Count of that there winning little way.

You can't name it, you just feel it,
But see's got it, and she knows
How to work it on a fellow,
Till she gets him at her toes—
Then she turns him down so easy,
Is so sweet when saying nay,
That she helps the hurt by having
That there winning little way.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

All the mills along the Roanoke river have had to shut down because of high water.

Daniel B. Brown, of Hamlet, committed suicide in Charlotte where he was visiting. He blew the top of his head off with a shot gun. Brown had been drinking hard.

J. Turner Morehead, a North Carolinian who was doing business in New-York, failed Wednesday. Liabilities are placed at $421,417 and assets at $42,853. (Several people of this State are among the creditors.)

Tallest Lie of The Season.

And while we are talking about Congressman, I want to take time to remark that the gentleman from North Dakota is a bit of a raconteur, and that his specialty is anecdotes relating to the character and habits of the mosquito of his State. You may think that just because you have spent a summer in the New Jersey lowlands you know something about mosquitoes, but unless you have lived beside a Dakota slough—"slew," they call it out there—you haven't an idea what mosquitoes can be. Nobody in that forlorn land attempts to sit out of doors in the evening without the protection of the smoke from a "smudge" fire. However, as to the story the gentleman from North Dakota tells. He was out on his farm, one day, when suddenly he was taken by a cloud of mosquitoes. For protection he crawled under a big iron soap kettle. Even that gave him inadequate protection, for one by one the mosquitoes bored through the kettle till the inside bristled with their—what do you call them, by the way?—their stings—their—well, their sine qua nons, one may say. But the Congressman was prepared. Taking a small sledge hammer from his pocket, he hammered each sine qua non until it bent, and its owner could not withdraw it. After an hour or so of this labor the mosquitoes gave up the attack, rose in the air, and being unable to detach themselves from the kettle, carried it away with them.—Washington Post.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

The gunboats Annapolis and Vicksburg have arrived at Kingston, Jamaica.

The loaded dynamite bomb found on a street in Cleveland, O., is puzzling the police.

The Tenth Immunes, colored, have been mustered out of service at Macon, Ga.

Cornelius Vanderbilt is a close invalid at his home in New York from muscular rheumatism.

The Government troops of Venezuela have captured the city of Calabozza, in Guiana from the revolutionists.

The Brazilian Government has accepted the proposal of Great Britain to submit the Guiana boundary dispute to arbitration.

Populist member Nicholas has introduced a bill in the Missouri Legislature to arm prisoners who are threatened with lynching.

Ex-Collector William A. Simmons, of Boston, Mass., convicted of fraudulently obtaining the signature of Thomas B. Bryan, to deed has been fined $2000 and sentenced to one hour in jail.

Eat and Grow Fat.

Here is good advice to thin people who want to grow fat, says Pearson's Weekly. It seems contrary to all our early training, but it is full of good common sense, and comes from a prominent physician. His suggestions are as follows:

"If you are thin and want to put flesh upon your bones eat before going to bed for the night. Physiology teaches us that there is wasting away of tissues while a person sleeps as well as when he is awake, and this being so there should be continuous nourishment. Food taken at dinner or in the early evening is always digested at the time of retiring, and the activity of the process of assimilation continues until long after we are asleep.

"If the tissues are not nourished they are pulled down by the wasting process and as a result sleeplessness ensues. On a full stomach, however, or with some food to sustain the system there is a building up of the tissues.

"Man is the only creature who does not deem it proper to sleep on a meal. The infant, in this respect, instinctively cries to be fed at night, showing that food is necessary during that time as well as through the day, and that left too long without it causes a discomfort, which it makes known by crying."

Dewey With Snow White Hair.

Vancouver, March 9.—Cap. Fraza, of London, who has just reached here from Manila, says that the great war in the Philippines must end soon, or the life of America's great Admiral will be worth nothing. If the government does not give him some immediate relief from the terrible strain which he is now undergoing, he will not last a month longer. It is an unhappy half hour for those who look upon him, for his hair is snowy white and his face ashen, while he has absolutely no appetite. The constant wear upon his physical and mental powers is fast breaking this man, the pride of a nineteenth century American.

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1899.

Speaker Connor's Farewell.

In adjourning the House Speaker Connor made a few farewell remarks that received the rapt attention of every member. It was a review of the work of the House, and when he concluded the Speaker declared the House adjourned until Tuesday after the second Monday in June, 1900.

Speaker Connor said:

"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

"This General Assembly met sixty-four days ago, charged by the people of the State with a commission, the terms and meaning of which were clear and unmistakable. The political conditions which have existed among us has terminated in what might not inaptly be termed a political revolution in the State. The election of November, 1898, was the emphatic expression of a fixed determination of the people of North Carolina that the peace and welfare of the State for the future demanded heroic treatment on the suffrage question. Every member of the majority of this General Assembly entered upon the duties of the session with a recognition of this fact and a determination to perform this duty. There were, of course, differences of opinion in regard to the wisest and best manner of dealing with the question. These differences have been discussed fully, and mutual concessions have been made, and after long and laborious efforts, the intensity of which will never be known save by those who engaged in them, a common position was reached resulting in the proposed amendment to the Constitution. That it is not perfect none better know or appreciate more fully than ourselves. That it is the best possible outcome of the situation we believe to be true. We also believe that it is the basis upon which we may be able to build a safe, stable and intelligent system of suffrage in this State. We submit it to the people for their ratification. Many other important and perplexing questions commanded our attention. The care for the State institutions, educational, charitable and penal, have received our best attention and we feel sure that those selected for their control and management will measure up to the highest standard of competency and fidelity. No man has been elected by this General Assembly to any position of honor or trust for which the people of the State or of the Democratic party will find occasion for apology. We are entitled to no great credit for this because from the number of good citizens whose names were presented to us for these positions we could not have well done otherwise.

"The much-vexed question of providing by law for cars for the races was much more complex and difficult to deal with than the average citizen thought. We trust the people will accept the result arrived at as the basis for something more satisfactory after two years' experience. For the first time in our history the two houses of the General Assembly in joint session have been called upon to exercise judicial functions in hearing evidence and passing upon the removal of public officers. The terms of the law under which we proceeded were far from clear, and the procedure new and untried. That the members were discharging judicial duties involving the determination of questions of law and fact was conceded by all. That in the discharge of these duties each member acted in the capacity of judge and juror and was required upon his oath and his honor to return a true verdict and judgment is equally clear. Whatever the citizens of the State may think of the result arrived at it is clear that the principle usually and properly controlling the representatives of the people making it their duties to give expression to the will of their constituency could not control in this matter; that the imposition of such duties upon the Legislature is unwise and contrary to the fundamental principles of our form of government, which provides for separation of the legislative executive and judicial functions, is admitted, and we have removed the provisions therefor from our statute book.

"In dealing with the finances of the State we have endeavored to be conservative and economical. That there is among our people an industrial awakening is shown by the large number of charters for such enterprises we have been called upon to enact into law. It is a matter well worth careful consideration whether there should not be an improvement in the general law providing for the incorporation of private companies and associations thereby saving much time which should be devoted to the consideration of public measures. The large number of charters for cities and towns sent to us from different sections of the State show a healthy interest in regard to the people and the problem of municipal government.

"There is no more interesting method of studying the history and development of a people than through their laws, and there will be few more interesting chapters in our history than the Public and Private Laws of 1899. That much has been done for the welfare of the State, the most critical will admit. That much has been left undone we recognize and admit.

"As the presiding officer of this House I have had opportunity to watch with care the words and actions of its members. I have seen nothing said or done which did not proceed from an honest desire to advance the best interests of the State.

"We commit our work to the fair and just consideration of the constituency who confided to us their highest and best political interests. We must, however, ever keep in mind the great truths that States, like individuals, are in the keeping of the God of nations, and in so far as we live in harmony with this divine will we will, in our individual as well as national interest, grow in strength and prosperity. It affords me pleasure in this last hour of the session to say that in the discharge of the duties of presiding officer I have had the kind, considerate support of every member of this body. No unpleasant incident mars the memory of our association. There has at all times prevailed deference and courtesy among the members. I am sure that without regard to party or political differences we separate with naught but kindly sentiments one to the other. The attendance has been unusually good. A number of the members have been detained from the House by sickness, and it pains us to note that one of our number lies at death's door. For the last time in the nineteenth century the General Assembly of North Carolina has met and is now ready to adjourn. For reasons deemed wise to us we have, as the Constitution provides we may do, determined to adjourn to a day certain. In accordance therefore with the joint resolution of the two houses, I do hereby declare this House adjourned to the fifth day of July, 1900."—Raleigh Post.

Glad, Anyway.

"I beg your pardon, I thought this was Mr. Chucksley."

"I am Mr. Chucksley."

"Then I am glad to find that when I thought I was mistaken I was mistaken in thinking I was mistaken."

"Hey?"

"I say when I thought I was mistaken I was mistaken in thinking I was mistaken, and being mistaken in thinking I was mistaken when I wasn't mistaken, I was glad to find I was mistaken when I thought I was mistaken because I wasn't mistaken—or, rather, I was mistaken when I thought I was mistaken, and so I couldn't have been mistaken—well, at any rate, I'm glad. Look's as if we were going to have snow, doesn't it?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Speaker of the House appointed the following twelve commissioners to represent North Carolina at the Paris Exposition: John S. Cunningham, John C. Drewry, Joseph A. Holmes, T. K. Bruner, Charles E. Johnson, J. L. Currie, W. B. Council, Clayton Giles, Julian S. Carr, Nathan O'Berry, J. D. Murphy and James A. Bryan. Alternates: H. C. Wall, John Wood, Fred A. Olds, Fred Phillips, W. R. Odell, P. H. Hanes, D. Y. Cooper, Ashley Horne, Charles W. Worth, J. S. Westbrook, M. C. Toms and Hugh Chatham.

Two traveling photographers swindled a large number of people in this county recently. We are reliably informed that several citizens of the Elroy and Auron sections paid them in the aggregate over $40 to have their "beauty struck," but in every instance received nothing in return. The fakirs folded their tent and silently stole away. When last heard from they were at Dover making new victims with their camera.—Goldsboro Headlight.

The war with Spain has so far cost about $600,000,000, to which several hundred millions more may be added before we get out of the shooting business and get things in shape to retire.—Wilmington Star.

The Filipinos hold 8,000 Spanish prisoners. They hold them worth $80 a piece, but Spain values them at only $20, which shows that Aguinaldo thinks four times as much of the Spaniards as the Spaniards do of themselves.—Wilmington Star.

Six weeks ago R. B. Halligan, of Chicago, was worth only $25,000, and had so little cash that he had once to pawn his watch for $5, and now he is worth $20,000,000. Struck it rich in the Wyoming copper mines.—Wilmington Star.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

THAT COMMON TROUBLE, ACID DYSPEPSIA OR SOUR STOMACH.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heart-burn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by all druggists for 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

"Impoliteness," says the Man-yunk Philosopher, "is always rude, and in a great many cases it is also rued."

"Poor Cassidy had hopes of being employed in that quarry all spring." "Well?" "Why, there was a premature explosion to-day and the poor fellow's hopes were blasted."

Kaffir Swimming Feats.

The Kaffirs are great swimmers. They can do things in the water which other folk would look upon with astonishment. For example, a Kaffir boy can ford a stream shoulder high, running as swiftly as if shot from a torrent. The way they accomplish the feat is thus: Just before entering the water they get a large stone, sometimes as heavy as the swimmer, and with the help of a companion place it upon the head. A weight like this gives the boy balance, and he can keep his footing against the downward stream. If he were to drop the stone, he would be so light that the water would sweep him off his feet. And this is just one of the Kaffir tricks to accomplish things against tide and flood.

Gratitudo Expressed.

Lady Dufferin, in her reminiscences, gives some instances of the variations of the English language as she is spoke by the learned but, whose European education has given him a little knowledge which is dangerous. The gratification expressed in the following sentence has something pathetic in it: "You have been very good to us, and may Almighty God give you tit for tat."

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 4, '98

From my own experience I have found Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy the best medicine known for building up the health in general. The greatest remedy in the world for dyspepsia, eczema, aches and pains and breaking up colds. Nine years ago I suffered with a chronic cold, which resulted in a bronchial affection and repeated serious troubles of the throat which were alarming. I was affected with something like croup and again laryngitis. I tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and am free of all those troubles and have been ever since and feel confident the Remedy has made the cure. I have kept it in my family for years and have always found it invaluable for old and young. The extraordinary effect of this grand remedy is sure to be realized by all who give it a fair test.

Sincerely,

MRS. M. E. RAMSAY.

Stole Their Clothing.

W. J. Symonds and Charlie Rogerson room in an office building on the Clark property on Third street. They leave their room very early in the morning to go to their business down town, and do not go back until after business is over at night. Upon going back a few nights ago they discovered that the room had been robbed during their absence. A trunk had been broken open and most of its contents together with nearly all their clothing that hung about the room were carried away. About $15 in money was also taken. The thief must have entered the room with a duplicate key, as the door was locked and there was no sign to indicate that the entrance had been effected in any other way. A negro who was seen spending money freely and has since skipped the town is supposed to be the thief.

"Hear that you were held up by footpads and relieved of all your cash last night!" "That's right." "Handled you pretty roughly, did they?" "Yes, sir; why they left me centsless."
