FOUND DEAD.

Body of a Colored Man in the Woods.

Sunday afternoon some boys were roaming in the woods between the road and the river, just east of town, where they found the dead body of an unknown colored man. The body was on the slant of the hill, head downward and face turned to the ground. The boys hastened over in town to report the discovery and a crowd went out to the place. The body was turned over so as to expose the face but no one could identify it.

The man looked to be sixty years or more old, was of small stature, poorly dressed and his right foot was deformed. Some colored people said they had seen the man around here about the middle of last week, but nobody knew who he was or where he came from.

The Coroner, Dr. Laughinghouse, viewed the body but did not deem an inquest necessary. He says the old man must have stumbled and fell while walking down the hill, and his face burying in the mud and he probably being stunned by the fall death came from suffocation.

The body was buried at the expense of the county in the old grave yard east of town.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

The Italian Consul at Lake City, Col., Dr. Cunco, has succeeded in pacifying the strikers in Colorado mines.

While crazed with drink John Tuttle, of Annsville, N. Y., dangerously assaulted his wife and hanged himself.

F. Chagnon, an aged French hair dresser, of New York, fell dead while at his devotions in St. Patrick's Cathedral.

The Almighty Dollar.

The dollar is indeed almighty. It is the Archimedean lever that lifts the illbred man into select society and places the ignorant sapshead in the U. S. Senate; it makes presidents of stuffed prophets, governors of intellectual geese, philosophers of fools and gilds infamy with supernatural glory. It wrecks the altars of innocence and pollutes the face of the people; breaks the sword of justice and binds the goddess of liberty with chains of gold. It is the lord of the land, the uncrowned king of the commonwealth.—Orange, Va., Observer.

This is Business.

A gentleman who has been traveling in South Carolina says that the people down there don't take any foolishness about smallpox suspects. Very often you may see this kind of a notice:

All persons suspected of having the smallpox or so-called elephant's itch shall not enter the city. Penalty Five Hundred Dollars and imprisonment until it is paid.

This is one way of keeping out the disease and we should think a very effective one.—High Point Enterprise.

"This might be classed as a light diet," remarked Mr. William Goat as he proceeded to lunch on a stray box of matches.

WHERE ESTABLISHED.

Dispensary and Other Sumptuary Laws Passed by the Legislature.

The Legislature established dispensaries in the following towns: Greensboro, Guilford county. Clayton, Johnston county. Madison, Rockingham county. Smithfield, Johnston county. Clinton, Sampson county. Whiteville, Columbus county. Warrenton, Warren county. Lexington, Davidson county. Jackson, Northampton county. Franklin, Macon county.

Dispensary laws for the following towns were amended:

Rutherfordton, Rutherford county.

Fayetteville, Cumberland county. Monroe, Union county.

To submit dispensary question to popular vote:

Morganton, Burke county.

Sale of liquor is prohibited in following counties:

Cherokee county. Jackson county. Mitchell county.

Macon county.

Sale of wine and cider regulated in Robson county.

Sale of bitters prohibited in Popular Branch township, Currituck county.

Sale of liquor prohibited in Jackson township, Northampton county.

Sale of liquor regulated in the town of Beaufort.

Sale of liquor at the Atlantic Hotel, Morehead, permitted during certain months.—Raleigh Observer.

Stories of The Stage.

Theatrical managers have their trials. One received this letter from a California town in reply to a query about open time, says the Dramatic Mirror. It says: "The show business here has just been turned over to me," and it is signed "J. N.—, undertaker, funeral director and embalmer." The manager didn't book.

Here is a gem from somewhere in Louisiana. Says the gem: "I am under the impression that you give entertainments. I mock the partridge, whipperwill, mocking birds and others. Not long since I mocked for a traveling elocutionist; he said it was all right. I frequently mock for my friends—they appear to appreciate it very much. What can you offer me to come and mock in your entertainment?"

A manager of an opera company agrees with those who say good actors work undiscovered in dry goods stores and such. He received this from the Reading, Pa.: "Messrs. would you like to take me in your Co, I am a butcher by trade and I am tired of it I want to get out of the town, and I would like to go with your Company, I am 5 feet 3 inches in height and weigh 140 lbs and 19 years, I would like to go as a Comedian I have no experiments but I can do the funn."

A variety manager received in reply to an advertisement, from Springfield, O., this gem: I notice that you want a person to take part of a Jew I am young and active 17 years old dark hair and blue eyes as to salary I will work for 3.00 a week & expenses I have had stage experience. In fact I don't need any because I am a natural born actor. If you will help me out I will repay you in future."

A SAD SUICIDE.

Mr. Sig Einstein Shot Himself.

The entire community was shocked this morning by the announcement that Mr. Sig Einstein, a member of the progressive firm of Mess. Einstein Bros., had committed suicide.

He retired to the room in the store occupied as a sleeping room by Mr. Virgil Rountree about 8:30 o'clock and a few minutes later a pistol shot was heard, and upon going to investigate the door was found locked. The door was broken open and the young man was found on the bed gasping for breath with a pistol wound in his head over the right temple.

The store was closed and Drs. Pollock and Parrott hastily summoned. Dr Parrott arrived first but efforts to relieve the young man were useless and he died in about five minutes after the doctor arrived, and within ten minutes from the firing of the fatal shot, never recovering consciousness.

Mr. Sig Einstein was aged 26 years. He was a good business man and one of the cleverest and most popular young men of Kinston and was a favorite with all. He always seemed in the best of humor, but it seems that a cheerful demeanor does not always cover a cheerful heart. He seemed in high spirits last night and took part in the rehearsals for the new play soon to be given here.

He left a note to his people telling them that he was despondent and tired of life and to forgive and forget him. The cause of suicide is attributed to temporary insanity.

The sad occurrence has cast a deep gloom over all the people of Kinston, who deeply sympathize with the bereaved relatives in their heavy affliction.

The body was taken charge of by the Odd Fellows, of which order he was a prominent member, and will be buried tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the cemetery.—Kinston Free Press, 18th.

MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1899.

One of the most shameless crimes that has occurred was committed by a mob of 200 men at Palmetto, Ga., on last Thursday night. Several incendiary fires had occurred in the town and nine negroes had been arrested on the charge of being the guilty parties and were placed in jail to await trial. The mob went to the jail, overpowered the officials, broke down the door, and going in to the cells poured a volley of shots into the bodies of the helpless prisoners. Four of the negroes were killed instantly and the others were horribly wounded. Such a crime is a disgrace to every one who participated in it, as well as a stain upon the State in which it occurred.

A HUNDRED REASONS.

Can be given why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best and most effectual cure for every form of indigestion.

They are in the tablet from which retains their good qualities indefinitely, while liquid preparations become stale and useless with age. They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. They are pleasant to take.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half digested food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy; the successful physician of to-day is the specialist, the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make the complexion clear by keeping the blood pure.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh forming foods.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt one, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone, have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package.

Good Advice Given.

The following letter explains itself: To the members of the county board of education:

Gentlemen:—I write this letter because the question has arisen in some counties as to whether the Legislature had authority to abolish the county boards of education as the members were elected for three years.

I shall not attempt to decide as to the legality of this act of the Legislature, but want to inform you that it is my earnest desire that you waive any legal right that you may feel that you have in this matter for the sake of the cause of public education.

The work of public education in North Carolina is bigger than any set of politicians or any political party. So I beg you for the sake of the great work to be done, not to throw any obstacles in the way that may in any way hinder the success of the law as enacted by the recent Legislature.

It was reported to me that the principal qualification considered in the appointment of the county board of directors was that the men must be Democrats. Be this as it may. Let these men have an opportunity to prove by their work that they are for public schools as well as Democrats.

I advise you to meet the county board of directors on the second Monday in April, make a full and complete report of your work since July 1st, 1898, and turn over all official records, books, etc., to the county board of directors in order that said board of directors may have as little trouble as possible to make out the annual report for the fiscal school year ending June 30th, 1899.

There has been the most pleasant official relations existing between you and myself, with very few exceptions, the memory of the exceptions will be forgotten, and that of the general rule will be cherished in the years to come.

I am yours truly,

C. H. MEBANE,
Supt. Pub. Inst.

Editors Have Cause for Complaint.

The facts in regard to the fate of the libel bill that was introduced into the late legislature are here given for the information of those concerned therein.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the North Carolina Press Association, the editor of The Record carefully prepared a libel bill and had it introduced in the house early in the session. It was referred to the judiciary committee, and its author with several other editors appeared before that committee in its advocacy. The bill seemed to be acceptable to a majority of the committee and one member (Mr. F. D. Winston) made an able speech for it, but it was referred to a sub-committee for further consideration. The sub-committee consisted of Mr. Winston, ex-Judge W. R. Allen and Mr. Frank Ray, and to this day they have never made any report on the bill. Whether they ever considered it is unknown.

The editors of North Carolina have cause to complain of such treatment of a bill that so deeply concerned them, and which at least deserved a better fate than being smothered.—Chatham Record.

A Sharp Contrast.

A man once said to Sam Jones: "Jones, the church is putting my assessment too high." Jones asked, "How much do you pay?" "Five dollars a year," was the reply.

"Well," said Jones, "how long have you been converted?"

"About four years," was the answer.

"Well what did you do before you were converted?"

"I was a drunkard."

"How much did you spend for drink?"

"About $200 a year."

"How much were you worth?"

"I rented land and plowed a steer."

"What have you got now?"

"I have a good plantation and a pair of horses."

"Well," said Sam Jones, "you paid the devil $200 a year for the privilege of plowing a steer on rented land, and now you don't want to give God, who saved you, five dollars a year for the privilege of plowing horses on your own plantation. You are a rascal from the crown of your head to the sole of your foot."—Exchange.

Last September Miss Carrie Rothrock, of Rowan county, was married to Frank Marsh, of New York, in the Lutheran church here, having known him only a brief time before. A short while afterwards she returned alone from New York to live again with her relatives in Rowan county. An interesting story has just come to light explaining the matter. Accounts in The New York Herald and Journal of the 15th inst., of a divorce proceeding instituted against Frank Marsh at Newark, N. J., reveal the fact that he had already been married to another woman who happened also to be the wife of another man.

"One of Roosevelt's Rough Riders who was injured on a railroad while going to the front, has sued the company for $27,000, a part of the consideration being the glory of which he was deprived by the accident," says the Boston Transcript. "It will take some pretty close figuring, even by the experts to determine the market price of glory."

The Sun's Motion.

An astronomical fact now as formerly causing no little perplexity to some is that the sun's motion—which unquestionably and indisputably is extremely quick—does not change the relative position of the solar system to the fixed stars and the constellations more than it actually does, and there are some who on this account are inclined to doubt the actual motion of the sun in space.

The investigations of astronomers have nevertheless established one thing as certain—namely, that the sun moves through space at a great speed—estimated by some scientists at 16 miles a second—carrying all the planets, satellites and other cosmical bodies along with it, but this motion of the vast luminary, while affecting, of course, the real motion of the planets in space, does not in even the slightest degree affect the relative motion of sun and planets.

Even under the supposition of so great a rate as 16 miles in one second, this relative position of the sun to the fixed stars would, astronomers declare, be hardly perceptible in a century, on account of the almost inconceivable distance of the latter—the conclusion being, therefore, that many thousands of years must pass before the sun's proper motion in space can change the configuration of the star groups.

The Machete.

As a defensive weapon the value of the machete is small. Even its offensive effect depends less on the weapon itself than on the continual and skillful usage made of it by the Cuban peasant from his earlier age, which imparts a peculiar training to the muscles of the wrist and arm of the operator. The consequence of this skill is that whenever a quarrel occurs between two "guajiros" or "monetros" they settle the matter with their machetes as courageously and tenaciously as two gamecocks, and generally both parties are seriously injured for life or are killed on the spot.

Owing to this fact and to the natural kindly disposition of the Cuban peasants, they are not a quarrelsome people and respect everybody, to be equally respected. With the machete a few curious accessories are used. The principal are a thin strip of leather closely tied to the right wrist, a small round piece of grinding stone to sharpen the edge of the tool, and whenever the machete is employed to cut down the thorny heath of tropical vegetation a small branch of special shape, called the "garabato," is used to hold the heath and do rapid work without being injured by thorns.—Island of Cuba Magazine.

The Resemblance.

He was the son of a worthy citizen and had just returned from college. His father was a brusque, matter of fact man, who had no liking for anything pronounced, and he noticed with sorrow that his son returned with the latest thing in collars and various other insignia of fashion. The old gentleman surveyed him critically when he appeared in his office and then blurted out:

"Young man, you look like an idiot!" Just at that moment, and before the young man had time to make a fitting reply, a friend walked in.

"Why, hello, Billy! Have you returned?" he asked. "Dear me, how much you resemble your father!"

"So he has been telling me," replied Billy.

And from that day to this the old gentleman has had no fault to find with his son.

A Woman's Bank.

The Fifth Avenue National bank of New York has 5,000 women depositors. It is situated at the corner of Forty-fifth street and Fifth avenue, in the midst of the residences of wealthy classes, and is almost exclusively patronized by rich women, who keep their household accounts and pin money there. The receiving tellers are very busy during the first few days of every month, when the patrons of the bank bring in the allowances they have received from their husbands or fathers, but the rest of the time they have comparatively few depositors to take care of, and have plenty of time to assist the paying tellers in cashing checks that have been drawn to meet grocery or dressmakers' bills.

A Hank of Hair.

Chickens are sold by the piece in Buenos Ayres. They are dressed before being offered for sale, the only feathers left upon them being those of the tail.

The same custom prevails in China as to dogs, where a bit of the dog's hair is always left on the end of the tail, even when the animal is cooked. But this is because the Chinese consider the flesh of black dogs the best and most certain to put a brave spirit into the body of the eater.

The Money They Bring.

Statistics in regard to the amount of money brought to this country by European immigrants show that the German is the richest, with an average of $52.50, while the Englishman is a close second, with $52. The Frenchman has $47.35 and the Belgian $45, while the Irishman brings but $15, the Russian $12.50 and the Italian $10.

Probably the Italian takes more back to his native land, however, than any of the others.—New York Tribune.

TETTER ON THE HANDS.

For several years I was a sufferer from Tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well. MRS. M. E. KING.

When children are born in Ashanti, they are at once rubbed all over with a mixture of oil and red ochre, this being repeated every two days. Their mouths are washed with a fiery concoction in which red pepper is the main ingredient, and a crier goes through the town proclaiming the new arrival and claiming for it a name and a place among the living. Some one else in a distant part of the village acknowledges the fact and promises, on the part of the people, that the newborn babe shall be received into the community. The townspeople then assemble in the streets, and the baby is brought out and exposed to view.

A basin of water is provided, and the headman, or chief of the town, sprinkles water upon it, leaving it a name and invoking a blessing upon it, such as, for instance, that it may have health, grow up to manhood or womanhood, have a numerous progeny and possess riches. Most of those present follow the example of the headman, and the poor child is thoroughly drenched before the ceremony is ended. Every one who participates in the ceremony pledges himself to be a friend to the child.

Rice as a Detector of Thieves.
Not being able to trace anything in connection with the loss of the 2,000 rupees from the cash safe of the Surati Bazaar company, the directors have resorted to astrology and finally sorcery. Every employee of the bazaar was given a monthful of rice to eat which had been previously put through some magic preparation, the belief being that if the person who had taken the money ate the rice some very great misfortune would befall him. It is not recorded that any of the employees have yet met with a disaster.—Rangoon Gazette.

A Staggering Tale.
"Ernie is awfully hoarse this morning." "Yes. You know how damp it was last night? Well, Briggs and his wife stood on the corner waiting for a street car, and Briggs' wife started in to say something, and Briggs stood there for half a mile with his mouth open trying to get in a word edgewise. That's where he got his hoarseness."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LUCKY DEUCE OF SPADES.

Remarkable Run of Luck, but All For the Other Man.

One by one the old superstitions are being torn from us. People nowadays walk ostentatiously under ladders and suffer no evil consequences. Friday is quite a popular day for the commencement of a long journey, and sitting down 13 at dinner is frequently unattended with untoward results. A deeply rooted superstition among card players is a belief in the lucky properties of the two of spades. The present writer's faith, however, was severely shaken by a phenomenal coincidence which occurred only a few days ago.

Sitting down to a game of whist, he thoroughly shuffled both packs of cards, and happened to notice that the two of spades was the bottom card of one of the packs.

"This ought to bring me luck," he remarked to his friends.

He then took up the second pack, and was astonished to find that the two of spades was also at the bottom of that. Words failed to express his amazement when, in drawing for partners and deal—the cards had been shuffled again—he once more drew the two of spades.

The odds against this triple event occurring must be enormous, but more was to follow. The deal fell to the writer, and the turn up card was the inevitable two of spades!

After this the dealer felt justified in believing he was in for a good evening. As a matter of fact, he lost six rubbers in succession.—London Mail.

Children and Dolls.

Writing in the Contemporary Review, Professor Sully discusses the curious aspects in which children regard dolls. He says: Professor Hall has brought to light some curious preferences of children. He tells us, for example, that, whereas out of 845 children 191 preferred wax dolls, as many as 144 pronounced in favor of rag ones. Odd preferences are sometimes shown with regard to size. A lady writes me that she preferred 4 inch halfpenny dolls because there was so much more to be done with these in the way of putting on wigs made from doormats, inking in eyebrows, etc. On the other hand, another English lady tells me that her childish ambition was the possession of a big doll—"one that would fill my arms and take some of the cuddling that I wanted to bestow and which nobody seemed to want." This girl image is, so far as the uninitiated adult can divine, the true child's doll.

Coalfields of the World.

Geologists estimate the great coalfields of the world in square miles as follows: China, 200,000; United States, east of the Rockies, 190,000; Canada, 65,000; India, 35,500; New South Wales, 24,000; Russia, 20,000, and the United Kingdom, 11,500. There are many deposits in other countries, but their extent is inconsiderable. England's coal area is small; still she for years produced more than any other country. Now the United States is ahead. English coal veins are thin; one only 14 inches wide has been worked 1,300 feet down. On the other hand, there are veins in the Pennsylvania anthracite region 60 feet thick and in the bituminous regions 18 feet thick. Our Appalachian coalfields are the largest known, and alone could supply the whole world for centuries to come.

An Original Oath of Allegiance.

In the old days when the Spanish province of Aragon was a proud and independent monarchy the people used, when choosing their king, the following singular form of election:

"We, the freeborn inhabitants of the ancient kingdom of Aragon, who are equal to you, Don Philip, and some one more, elect you to be our king on condition that you preserve to us our rights and privileges. If in this you should fail, we own you for our king no longer."—Harper's Round Table.

Names of Litigants.

In an old Indiana case a man named Shallcross undertook to live up to his name by running an unlawful ferry, but the decision of the court said to him, "You shall not cross."

The name of an adopted citizen of the Chickasaw Nation, whose adoption was canceled and who was thereupon expelled, was Run Hannah.

A California woman who said in her will, "I have no fear of the hereafter: O my Lord, teach me to live right, then in dying there is no sting," bore the prophetic Christian name of Euthanasia.

The name Dr. Physick, which might be looked for in some allegory, appears as the name of a real person in a recent law report.

Some peculiarly suggestive combinations of names in the titles of cases are these: People versus Kaiser, Priest versus Lackey, Kick versus Merry, Protected Home Circle versus Winter, Grant versus Lockout Mountain Company.

In reminiscences of the early Minnesota bar Judge Charles E. Flandrau tells in the Minnesota Law Journal of an argument before the supreme court in 1853 by ex-Chief Justice Goodrich on behalf of an Indian convicted of murder. The Indian's name was Zu-ni-za, but as the counsel could not pronounce it he always referred to him in his argument as "my client Abasue-rus."—Case and Comment.

WINE OF CARDUI THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. L. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."
