TRINITY NOTES.

The Literary Societies have elected the officers for commencement, as follows: Chief Mashall, Percy Reade; Manager, Richard Nebb. The Assistants have not yet been elected.

On account of the Debate held with Wake Forest in Raleigh, the students have decided not to have the usual annual debate between the two literary Societies.

Bishop M. A. Candler, of Oxford, Ga. will arrive at the Park next Monday. He will deliver a series of lectures on the evenings of March 28, 29, 30.

The Students Missionary Conference will be held in the Chapel next week. This Conference is to be conducted by officers of the Missionary Board at Nashville, Tenn. In connection with this, Dr. Yates will hold the Missionary Conference for the Durham District.

The Athletic grounds have been put in good condition, the grand stand erected, and the inclosure about completed. There is great interest among the students in Athletics. The Boston league team have arrived and will begin their practice at once. This team will be of great benefit to the College team.

Prof. Edwin Mims will edit Romeo and Juliet for the Arden Shakspeare published by Hearn & Co.

Note These Dates.

Dr. J. Henry Odom, the eye specialist who was in Greenville for more than two months and gave everybody satisfaction, will be in Robersonville on Friday, 31st inst, at Flynn's hotel; Saturday, April 1st, at Parmele, at Johnson's boarding house; Monday and Tuesday, April 3rd and 4th, at Bethel at Blount Bro's hotel. His preliminary examinations are free. He will explain any defect of the eye and adjust glasses for old or young people. If you suffer from headache, or your eyes burn and itch, or you do not see as well as you would like, you should call on the doctor at one of the three places mentioned. He will leave Bethel Tuesday night for Washington and remain there several weeks.

Veils are Ruinous to the Complexion.

Veils do more to ruin the complexion than any other thing. The skin needs the friction of the air. Constant covering interferes with the circulation and the health action of the pores. It heats the face, and keeps it covered with an oily moisture which catches the dust and dirt and gets into the pores. When the face is left exposed to the air the dust is blown off, the skin is kept dry and clean. It also stimulates the circulation of the blood and gives color to the cheeks.—April Ladies' Home Journal.

Cuban Paper.

Mrs. C. T. Munford has shown us a copy of The Times of Cuba, a daily paper published in Havana, which was recently sent her from that city. It is printed part in English and part in Spanish and has quite an American newspaper appearance. The paper is six columns to the page and the subscription price $1 a month.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

General Miles received an ovation at Springfield, Mass., on Saturday and shook hands with 2000 persons.

Twenty girl excursionists from Bowling Green, Mo., to St. Louis, had their spring hats stolen from the sleeping car.

Abbie B. Carrington, the singer, has sued her husband for divorce at Chicago, Ill., alleging non-support and cruelty.

Dennis Kelly and his son, Edward, of Milestrip Va., were accidentally suffocated at a Washington hotel by inhaling gas.

A Conundrum.

Here is a question for each one to ponder,

Why is it dangerous in spring time to wander

About out-of-doors? I hear some one say:

"There is no danger at all, I pray."

But listen, and then you will find

The reason is this: The buds al shoot,

The grass has blades, you'd better

scoot!

The flowers have pistils, the danger,

who'll doubt?

And then to crown all, the bullrush's out!

The Hog Got a Bait.

Forbes Kennedy and Ernest Forbes went down the river last night to skim for shad. They caught ten and went ashore to rest awhile and take a nap. While they were asleep a hog got in their boat and ate six of the shad and was gnawing the heads off two more when discovered. They were a pair of mad boys.

Will Give Them a Chance.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. will give the joke crackers of that order a chance at their meeting Wednesday night. Each man will be allowed to draw on his observations and experiences in the "Anecdote Contest." Something rich is expected from some of the members—for instance from Frank Sugg and Brose Johnson.

Off to Cuba.

A letter from Mr. C. E. Gardner, former agent of the Coast Line at House but recently agent at Goose Nest, said he would leave today for a trip to Cuba. We hope he will have a pleasant trip. If he finds anything of especial interest he promises to tell REFLECTOR readers about it.

Trying the Horses.

The fire department horses were given some exercise this morning to the chemical engine. They pulled it right along in a trot.

This afternoon they were hooked up to the steamer and took it along at a good gait with apparent ease.

Warren F. Leland, proprietor of the burned Winsor Hotel, New York, will be the recipient of a sum estimated at $150 every day until his new hotel is completed. This is from "use and occupancy" insurance policies which he had taken out and which provide that for every day a room cannot be occupied because of fire a certain sum shall be paid. This, too, is in addition to his insurance on furniture, personal property and improvements.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

A car load of eggs were shipped a days ago from Mt. Airy to Havana.

Lightning struck a knitting mill in Salisbury and set it on fire. The building was badly damaged.

A site of 50 acres, near Raleigh, has been selected as the location of the Methodist Orphanage. Work will soon commence on the buildings.

The State penitentiary will not receive any more prisoners from counties where there is smallpox until the danger of spreading the disease is over.

It is said that the Baltimore Manufacturing Company will invest one million dollars in establishing a large manufacturing plant on the Catawba river, a few miles west of Charlotte.

Keep Them Away.

With so much smallpox in various sections of the country the tramp is one species of the traveling gentry who should be made to shake the dust of Greenville off his feet as soon as he strikes town.

The Elizabeth City Economist is twenty-eight years old. There are very few such papers as the Economist, and its venerable editor, Col. Creezy, is one of the best writers North Carolina has produced.

Probably the time will never come in this country when the local newspaper will cease to be a unique feature of every considerable community, a sterling necessity of every live and growing town, says the Killingly (Ct.) Observer. And as to its character and tone, its ambitions and its aspirations, they will continue to be, as they are now, as much dependent upon the community as upon the publisher, for the town journal is, after all, what the people make it.

A teacher at Garden City, said to her primary class the other day: "If your father gave your mother $7 today and $8 tomorrow, what would she have?" And the small boy over in the corner replied: "She would have a fit."—Kansas City Journal.

There are but few more of Lent days.

The weather warmed considerably today.

There were no new cases of small pox in Kinston Monday.

We never make so much fuss over weeks of sunshine as we do over one day of rain.

Never tell an editor how to run his paper. Let the poor devil find out himself.—Texas Siftings.

Ed. Greene says that horse problem has caused two fights so far and bids fair to cause more.

It is the early bird that gets the worm these spring mornings, and its the early advertiser who catches the trade.

The day that you have the most to do is generally the one in which you find the least time for its accomplishment.

The Easter hat is about all a woman has on her mind at present, and Sunday it will be about all she has on her head.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 1899.

The War Department has decided to pay the bills due in this State for expenses incurred in the organization of the Volunteer Regiments at Raleigh last spring. A check for $7,337.51 has been received by the Governor and turned over to the State Treasurer to apply on these bills.

Philadelphia has a fearful epidemic of typhoid fever, said to be caused by the impure water the people of the city drink, and the death rate is high. Up to last Thursday the number of deaths from the fever had reached 485, and 89 new cases were reported that day. That is about as bad as smallpox.

The city of Raleigh has a remarkable fire record for the fiscal year ending with the last day of February. A recent report of the chief of the city fire department shows that there were thirty-six fire alarms in the city during the year. The total loss arising from all these amounted to $1,244.03, on which insurance was paid amounting to $1,197.03, leaving a net loss of only $47 to property owners in a whole year. Such a record speaks well of the efficiency of Raleigh's fire department.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 27, '99
Whew; such a rumpus has not taken place during the present administration as is now raging around the head of Attorney General Griggs. It's all about a letter that Griggs wrote about trusts, containing opinions that the remainder of the administration are afraid to stand for. Some of his fellow members of the Cabinet have said a few things to Griggs, but it is understood that their remarks will be entirely forgotten when Mr. McKinley returns and empties the vials of his wrath on him. Some of the administration hangers-on say that Griggs was buncoed into writing the letter by his correspondent, who asked for the information, stating that he was a republican; and that he would not have written it had he supposed it would be published. Of course, everybody knew that the administration was not unfriendly to the trusts, with which Boss Hanna has such close business relations, but, in deference to voters who do not share in the profits of the trusts, it has been understood by those who are close to the throne that an anti-trust plank was to be inserted in the next republican platform, meaningless of course, to head off the democratic claim that the republicans are responsible for all the trusts. Mr. Griggs must have known this. Yet, he wrote as follows, to a correspondent unknown to him personally, concerning trusts: "As a matter of fact, all of the companies which you refer to as now organizing for the purpose of securing complete or partial monopoly of different branches of manufacture, are similar to the sugar combination, and are not within the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts. If amenable to any law they are amenable to the laws of the respective states." But the following was the gem of the letter: "With reference to these large combinations of capital, which are now forming, my own judgment is that the danger is not so much to the community at large as it is to the people who are induced to put their money into the purchase of the stock." There is nothing in this situation to make democrats mad, but a prominent republican, after a number of unprintable things, said: "The Attorney General has gratuitously made the announcement that the government is powerless to prevent or regulate the formation of combinations of capital to control the manufacture of the necessaries of life, and he winds up this remarkable statement with a flippant remark about the danger of investing in trust stocks. Mr. Griggs is in a fair way to become a second Burchard to the republican party."

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, who never minces words when he expresses an opinion, said of Col. Bryan's refusal to attend the Belmont Jefferson banquet: "Bryan made the hit of his career when he refused to attend the Belmont $10 dinner. Not one of the crowd would ever vote the democratic ticket anyhow. Bryan's position brings him closer to the people. Consorting with renegades would estrange them from him. He will certainly be renominated in 1900. The Chicago platform will be reaffirmed, and the democracy will win."

The heavy price of American life and blood paid for our new victories over the Filipinos in the heavy fighting of the last three days, in consequence of the movement of Gen. Otis against Aguinaldo, adds interest to this plain talk from Senator Mason, who is now in Washington. "I find," said Senator Mason, "a pronounced change of sentiment among men with whom I talk. Substantial business men who three months ago were red-hot for expansion, now say they have had enough of it. I ask them how about the prestige of their country, and they say they care little about prestige derived from conquering such men, but that the taxes resulting are what they fear. The idea of calling those Filipinos rebels as some of our newspapers persist in doing is unjust. They have never taken the oath of allegiance to the United States. They wanted independence from the start and they said so. They will always hate us and nothing is to be gained by conquering them. Even if we do overcome them, they will turn around and poison our people. I have just learned from the Surgeon General's office that 21 per cent of our men out there are afflicted with a loathsome disease. This is a bad beginning for our army. I am not a high moralist, and not so much opposed to stealing in itself; but I do question the judgment of a man who steals a red-hot stove that he is in no position to carry off. Such a thief is a fool. The attempt of the United States to steal the liberty of the Filipinos is of the same sort. I believe the American people are waking up to this question."

"It is a little odd," said a prominent New Yorker, "that none of the shrewd newspaper men have nosed out the true inwardness of the sudden friendship of Boss Platt for Teddy Roosevelt. The guess that Platt, who has been a guest at Teddy's Albany home, was grooming Teddy to be a candidate against McKinley for the republican nomination for President next year, is away off; Platt pledged the New York delegation to McKinley in the early days of the present administration, and his jollying of Teddy is for the purpose of preventing his trying to interfere with the carrying out of that pledge. Watch the result, and you will see that this is straight."

Woman's Work Unappreciated.

"It is unreasonable to expect that a man, with his purely masculine conception of things, can ever fully appreciate woman's work in the home, any more than a woman can be expected to understand fully a man's work in the outer world," writes Edward Bok, of "What Women Find to do All Day," in the April Ladies' Home Journal. "But so far women have acquired a truer conception of men's work than men have of women's work. I firmly believe that if men were more appreciative of women's work in the home, and regarded housewifery as a profession and a responsible one, deserving of the highest respect, and requiring quite as much brain and education as any masculine profession, there would be fewer women looking for broader fields of work and more responsible duties. Men have made women feel too keenly that it is what the man does, that it is his profession which moves the world, and that the work which a woman does in her home is, while necessary, yet hardly to be compared with a man's achievements. It is this holding up the greater importance of the work of the outside world which has driven many an ambitious woman into that world to become a part of it, and thus acquire a position of more apparent importance. Not given recognition in their natural work, women have gone out and tried work that is unnatural to them."

Her Opinion 'In Fall.

The car turned sharply around a curve and the tall man who was holding on to a strap somewhat loosely was suddenly thrown from his upright position with a force that landed him in the lap of a dignified dowager sitting near him, while his high silk hat flew from his head and rolled down the aisle of the car.

"Sir," she said as he rose to his feet again with profuse apologies. "I am compelled to say that in my judgment you were lacking in that complete grasp of the strap which was essential to the highest efficiency in maintaining an upright attitude when turning a curve."

That was all. But it crushed him.—Chicago Tribune

As He Understands It.

"As I understand it," remarked the intelligent foreigner, "you Americans regard George Washington's hatchet as the emblem of truth."

"Yes, sir, that's right," replied the American proudly.

"Then, when statesmen or other individuals who have quarreled, bury the hatchet, I suppose they cease to speak the truth?"—Detroit Free Press.

Inspiring Hope.

The Doctor—Well, now, don't give up hope. We'll try to mend you. We'll try.—Illustrated Bits

TETTER ON THE HANDS.

For several years I was a sufferer from Tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well. MRS. M. E. KING, Burlington, N. C., May 27, 1896.

How a Couple of Shrewd Sharpers Won Thousands of Dollars by Working the Dictionary For Game Until They Were Brought to Grief.

"How do you spell 'choir'?" asked a man in the bookstore.

"What do you mean—paper or music?" inquired a smart young man who poses as an authority on all topics.

"Music, singing, of course," replied the man in search of orthographical information.

"C-h-o-i-r," responded the smart young man decisively.

"Q-u-i-r-e," chimed in a red bearded man who was busy looking at some books.

"You are referring to paper," said the smart young man, looking sadly at the interrupter. "We were speaking about music."

"I mean music, too," said the red bearded man calmly. "q-u-i-r-e, to sing in concert."

The smart young man's expression changed from sadness to contempt. "You had better consult your dictionary," he said with a sneer.

"Never mind," retorted the red bearded man. "My way of spelling may be a little old fashioned, but you will find it correct according to Webster. You will also find it correct according to the Century Dictionary, and if I am not mistaken it is likewise given in the Standard. Your way is all right too."

The smart young man gave a sniff of scorn. "Jesh Billings and you should have collaborated on a phonetic spelling book."

"Look here," said the red bearded man. "I'll bet you $3 that Webster's latest spells it 'q-u-i-r-e.'"

"Make it $5," said the smart young man, pulling out a roll.

"No; I don't want to rob you. Get the dictionary."

The money was put up and Webster's International brought out. There it was, "q-u-i-r-e, to sing in concert."

"I didn't mean a verb," said the smart young man, growing white around the ears. "Where is the noun?"

They found that, too, although it was marked obsolete. Then the smart young man wilted.

"I won't take your money," said the red bearded man, handing back the bills. "My name is Bell, George T. Bell. I have had educational advantages which you probably never received, and I spent several months learning the different ways to spell that word. Several years ago I was on the secret service. My partner and I had been on the trail of a pair of sharpers who had a repertory of 'con' games that would have made the ordinary bunko man look sick. They were men of far more than ordinary intelligence and had the manners of cultured men of the world. The way we happened to get them was a pure accident."

"My partner and I were going down from St. Louis on a Mississippi river packet. There were about 20 of us in the smoking room talking and trying to pass the time comfortably. Just as a lull came in the hum of conversation a young man seated at a table writing some letters looked up with a troubled air and said, 'Could any of you gentlemen tell me how to spell 'choir'?' I am a little puzzled over it."

"What kind of a one do you mean?" asked several.

"Choir, to sing in concert," chirped the young man, wrinkling his brow as if to recall the proper orthography.

"C-h-o-i-r," said a scholarly looking man with glasses on.

"Q-u-i-r-e," sang out a big, well fed old man off in the corner.

"C-h-o-i-r," repeated the first man with some emphasis. "I thought every fool knew that."

"That's all right," said the old man off in the corner. "Money talks. I'll bet you $50 that Webster spells it 'q-u-i-r-e' too."

"I'll raise you 50," said the first man, who was a cotton buyer at Memphis.

"All right," said the big old man coolly. Then the others joined in and bet him to a standstill. They put up about $500. Then they got the dictionary, and, as just now, the man who bet on 'q-u-i-r-e' won.

"My partner and I waited till the money had changed hands, and then I said, 'Come on, Si.'"

"I walked up to the young man and said, 'Come with me. I want you. I'll show you how to spell choir.' Si called the big old man and we walked them down below. You never saw two fellows look quite so cheap. They had cringed up over $10,000 on that one trick, but they got four yours and a half apiece. That is one spelling school I have attended that not every man goes to. That game is one which will catch nine educated men out of ten. You are all right, but you may still have something to learn."

Then the smart young man offered the usual invitation in payment for the information.—Washington Post.

Children's Sense of Pity.

One of my granddaughters, said the Duke of Westminster, when about 5 or 6 years old, burst into tears on passing a blacksmith's shop, and on her mother inquiring the cause said, "Oh, mummy, they are nailing the donkey's boots on!"

HE HAD A BAD HABIT.

And It Made Him a Poor Insurance Risk in Kentucky.

The manager of a life insurance company had the floor.

"Life insurance companies," he was saying, "are as particular about the people they already have on their lists as they are about getting them on in the beginning. They are rich, of course, but they are no more anxious to take in a man who will die of disease within the first year or two than they are to take in a perfectly healthy man and have him hazard his life by taking personal risks in dangerous pursuits or by travel in unhealthy countries."

"I remember a funny instance that occurred once while I was living in New England. One of our $10,000 men had a way of calling a man a liar in the most careless and indiscriminate manner and with only the merest or no provocation. One day he was in our office and casually mentioned the fact that he was going to make a trip to Kentucky."

"When?" inquired the manager alertly.

"Next week."

"On business or pleasure?"

"Going to buy a pair of horses."

"Um—er—er!" hesitated the manager. "Before you start I wish you would stop in and see me."

"What for? Want me to buy a horse for you?"

"No; I want to arrange about your policy."

"What do you want to arrange about it? Isn't it all right?"

"Yes, as long as you stay in this country. But if you go down to Kentucky we'll have to advance the rate until you come back."

"Well, what in—," began the policy holder hotly, when the manager interrupted him.

"Don't fly the track, my dear Sir. It's all right here and the rate is satisfactory to us, but by Jove, we can't give you the same rate and let you go to Kentucky and call men liars like you do in this section. Not much! We have over $10,000 policies to give away here and you oughtn't to expect it."
