An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

RHEUMACIDE

the wonderful new constitutional cure for RHEUMATISM. The other two per cent. were not curable, or failed to take medicine according to directions. Thousands have been cured. In view of the fact that many physicians think that rheumatism is incurable, and that most remedies fail, it must be true that RHEUMACIDE is the greatest medical discovery of the age. Particulars and testimonials of many well known people sent free to all applicants.

LITTLEFIELD ITEMS.

LITTLEFIELD May, 2nd 1899.
This is beautiful weather.
Farmers are busy transplanting tobacco.

Several of the boys from Ayden were giving each other a nice race on wheels as they passed through enroute fishing Friday.

There was a large crowd at the entertainment at Dawson's school house Friday night. The exercises were good. Everything was carried out in perfect order.

Thomas McLawhorn and wife, of Grifton, were the guests of Asa Garriss and family Sunday.

Miss Ella Rasbery, of Graingers, returned home Saturday night from a visit to the Misses Dawson.

R. M. Jackson is through setting out tobacco and sold his plant beds.

April Weather.

Mr. Allen Warren furnishes THE REFLECTOR the following report of the weather at this point for the month of April:

Highest temperature	85
Lowest temperature	29
Rainfall (inches)	3.09
Snowfall (inches)	7.00
Frost (mornings)	7
Hail storm	1
Thunder storms	2

Our readers will find these weather stastics, as well as the daily reports published, very useful for reference if they will file the papers away.

Get Out the Candidates.

Greenville should not continue to follow her old custom and wait until the Friday night preceding the election to name candidates for Aldermen. Let the ward conventions be held early this time, and name the candidates early enough for the people to discuss men and issues. Above all let good men be chosen.

Will Enlarge.

We hear that both the Eastern and Star tobacco warehouses will be considerably enlarged before the next season begins. They are already large houses, but Greenville is determined to have plenty of room to handle all the tobacco that comes to the market.

AYDEN ITEMS

AYDEN N. C., May 2nd, 1899.
Mrs. Susan McLawhorn, widow of the late Jeremiah McLawhorn, died at her home near Ayden last night at 10 o'clock. She was about 75 years old and leaves a large family of children and grandchildren. She was the mother of Mrs. Joyner Wingate and Mrs. John Pierce. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon by Rev. W. L. Bilbro.

Willie Rogers, son of Mrs. Henrietta Rogers, died last night of rheumatism. He was 22 years old, and had been an invalid nearly all his life.

A day or two ago a negro man, named George Haywood, while trying to shoot a black fish accidentally shot himself. It is thought his injuries will prove fatal.

The town election here on Monday passed off quietly, the Democratic ticket being elected by majorities of from 20 to 23. The following were elected: Mayor, J. A. Harrington; Commissioners, J. R. Tingle, J. L. Buck, R. C. Cannon, J. J. Stokes and B. F. Early.

FARMVILLE ITEMS.

FARMVILLE, N. C., May 2, '99.
Mr. William Fields died here about six o'clock this morning. He had no family but leaves several brothers.

No clue has yet been found to the Turnage murder and arson near here last week. There is much excitement in the community about it.

Our town election yesterday was very quiet. There was no opposition to the Democratic ticket. W. G. Lang, S. J. Parker, E. J. Pollard, M. T. Horton and Isaac Bennett were elected Commissioners and they have the election of the Mayor.

Fire in Chicod.

Mr. J. W. Smith gives us the particulars of a fire that occurred in Chicod township, near Black Jack, on Friday night. Mr. C. B. Tripp was carrying on a large blacksmith and repair shop there, and his shops with all tools and materials were destroyed, nothing being saved. The loss is $500 or $600 upon which there was no insurance. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

List Takers Meet.

The law requires the tax list takers of the county to meet on the second Monday in May, in assessment years, to arrange a schedule of values at which to list personal property for taxation. The list takers of this county will meet next Monday for that purpose.

Go To-Night.

The audience was delighted with the Fun Makers in the opera house last night. The specialties of Woodford and Gilbert were fine. Tonight they will give "Our Jonathan in Cuba," something that will please everybody.

Arm Broken.

A little son of Mr. J. W. Murphy, who lives on Dickinson avenue, while at play with some other children Saturday evening, accidentally broke his arm. The little fellow is out and getting along well.

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1899.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
Washington, D.C., May 1st, '99
Long-headed men are not doing any premature hurraing because Aguinaldo asked Gen. Otis to agree to a suspension of hostilities until he could call the Philippine Congress together and have it decide whether the war should be continued. It may mean an end of the war, and it may be only a trick of Aguinaldo's to gain a little needed time to put him in a better condition to continue the war, but it is just as well to wait and see whether Aguinaldo accepts the terms of peace offered by Gen. Otis as an ultimatum—unconditional surrender and amnesty for the Filipinos,—before rejoicing. Of course, everybody, the supporters as well as the opponents of the administration policy in the Philippines, wishes to see the fighting, of which the country has become very tired, cease over there. It is admitted that Aguinaldo is no fool. In fact, his proposition itself would prove that. If Gen. Otis had recognized the Philippine Congress he would have officially admitted the existence of the Philippine government, and that admission would have queered the administration policy. Perhaps that may have been all that Aguinaldo was after. A little patience and we shall know.

The hint has been passed around among the western members of the House that the Hanna McKinley candidate for Speaker, will be a Western man. There is much curiosity to know why that was done so early in the game. There is only one eastern candidate—Sherman, of New York,—who is thought to have any chance at all, and he is understood to be Mr. Reed's choice. Perhaps that explains it. Hanna may have thought it necessary to drop that hint to head off any democratic members who might be inclined to place their votes for Sherman, or it may have been put out as a bluff to try to make Sherman pledge himself to stand by the Hanna-McKinley programme, if given their support. Henderson, of Iowa, and Hopkins, of Illinois, are the most actively pushed of the western candidates, but many doubt whether either of them will get the Hanna-McKinley support. One somewhat disgusted republican said: "The trusts will name the next speaker. Quite a number of gentlemen imagine that they are making a canvass for the place, but they will find that they are mistaken. Some-time this summer, the representatives of the trusts will get together, in New York, or some other convenient place, and settle the matter. After the meeting is called to order the chairman will ask what is the business before the meeting. "The naming of a Speaker of the House of Representatives" will be the response. Different names will be considered and finally, after due deliberation, the gentlemen will take a vote. Someone will be selected, and he may not be anyone whose name has been previously mentioned for the place. His election, however, will be assured. See if my prediction is not fulfilled. That isn't a picture to be proud of, but such things have been done before by the same crowd.

Including the $20,000,000 paid to Spain, through the French Ambassador, the Treasury deficit for April was $24,088,437.

The report of the Military Court of Inquiry has been in the hands of Acting Secretary Meiklejohn, of the War Department for two or three days, awaiting Mr. McKinley's order to be made public.

Commissioner of Pensions, Evans doesn't seem to be greatly worried because the Kansas G. A. R. asked for his removal and the appointment of another Commissioner "who will execute the laws in accordance with the true spirit which prompted their enactment." Speaking of the matter, Mr. Evans said: "I did not make the laws. They are the same which have been in existence since 1890, and I am governed by them. The Pension Bureau is an immense business. We have nearly a million pensioners on our lists, and the office is managed with the greatest possible generosity towards the old soldiers, but, at the same time, we must consider the interests of the tax-payer. Decisions have been made affecting the entire country, and it may be that they have applied more generally in Kansas than in other states."

Mr. McKinley's friends are alarmed at reports of defections among Western republicans, which have reached Washington. That these reports are not without foundation is shown by the statement of Mr. W. C. Newman, a life-long republican, who is the agent of the Cattlemen's Protective Association, of Montana, and who has been sent East to see if something cannot be done to revive the once prosperous foreign cattle trade. He said: "If the administration had come out boldly and allowed an open and honest investigation of the meat scandals, it would have created the impression abroad that this country was sincere in its efforts to furnish the best of meat to the domestic and foreign consumer. As it is, it will require years to overcome the prejudice the administration's unwise action has caused. A great revulsion of feeling has taken place in the West within the past few weeks. I recently attended a semi-political meeting of ranchmen and farmers in Southern Montana, and, unless something unforeseen takes place, the administration's attitude will imperil Mr. McKinley's support by the Western States at the next National Convention. The backbone and sinew of the republican party in the West is thoroughly disgusted with its present national leaders."

American City Government.

In the great towns of the United States there has been of late much to study and to observe. The path of municipal progress in America is not without its impediments and difficulties, but progress, nevertheless, is real and striking, as of course it must be if the nation is to keep its place in the van. Our cities are so large and have become so important relatively to the States in which they are situated that to abandon them to bad government and evil social conditions would be to poison the whole life, public and private, of our commonwealths and our republic. Henceforth, therefore, it will not do to say that we in America are successful in tasks of government and social organization except for failure to manage our cities well. The time has arrived when an exception of such magnitude would overthrow the general rule. Henceforth the government of our cities must be looked upon as a typical and representative matter; and if our democracies fail in the proper ordering of municipal life, they will not be adjudged successful in anything else.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for May.

TETTER ON THE HANDS.

For several years I was a sufferer from Tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well. MRS. M. E. KING.

How They Made Mummies.

A body might be mummified in three different ways, and the price varied accordingly. In the first and most expensive method the brain was extracted through the nose by means of an iron probe, and the intestines were removed entirely from the body through an incision made in the side with a sharp Ethiopian stone. The intestines were cleansed and washed in palm wine, and, after being covered with powdered aromatic gums, were placed in Canopic jars. The body was then filled up with myrrh and cassia and other fragrant and astringent substances and was laid in natron for 70 days. It was then carefully washed and wrapped up in strips of fine linen smeared with gum. The cost of mummifying a body in this fashion was a talent of silver, or about £240.

In the second method the brain was not removed at all, and the intestines were simply dissolved and removed in a fluid state. The body was also laid in salt or natron, which, it is said, dissolved everything except the skin and bones. The cost of mummifying in this manner was 23 mina, or nearly $90.

The third method was employed for the poor only. It consisted simply of cleansing the body by injecting some strong astringent and then salting it for 70 days. The cost was very small.—“Budge's Guide to First and Second Egyptian Rooms.”

The Lost Rose.

There is a ticket chopper at the Park place station of the elevated railroad who could not take a prize in a beauty show in any climate and whose marked aggressiveness of men fails to soften the effect of nature's handiwork upon his visage. A lady crossing the platform in a hurry dropped one of two large red roses that graced her corsage. It was promptly pounced upon by the chopper, who, seeing that its owner had no intention of returning to reclaim it, fell to fondling his prize with so evident an air of delight that a group of three or four brakemen, fellow employees, who stood near by waiting for an up town train, found a vast amusement in “guying” him.

At the instant they did so a tired looking woman, dragging a shabbily clad little girl by the hand, approached the box. The child, whose great eyes were sunk deeply in her pale little forehead, broke loose from her mother's hand, stopped stock still and began staring hungrily at the rose. In an instant it was in her possession and the great eyes had gone out of mourning. In two seconds the unlovely chopper was glowering at other arriving passengers more belligerently than ever, and his friends, the brakemen, had forgotten to jeer.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Two Posers.

Lewis Carroll, the author of “Alice in Wonderland,” was fond of puzzling his friends with curious problems. One of them was the question, When does the day begin? If a man could travel around the world so fast that the sun would always be directly above his head, and if he were to start traveling at midday on Tuesday, then in 24 hours he would return to his original point of departure and would find that the day was now called Wednesday—at what point of his journey would the day change its name? The difficulty of answering this apparently simple question has cast a gloom over many a pleasant party.

Another problem was as follows: A rope is hung over a wheel fixed to the roof of a building; at one end of the rope a weight is fixed, which exactly counterbalances a monkey which is hanging on the other end. Suppose that the monkey begins to climb the rope, what will be the result? It is very curious the different views taken by good mathematicians. One says the weight goes up with increasing velocity; others say that it goes up at the same rate as the monkey, while another says it goes down.

Could Apply the Parable.

It is not always safe to talk in parables to the young, as the following school board story shows: A correspondent states that one of his pupils caused him some annoyance by untruthfulness of speech, dirty boots, and so on, so, says our correspondent: “I drew a verbal portrait for the class of the man who did not shine in the world of polite society. ‘You cannot fail to know him,’ said I, ‘for he never cleans his boots nor washes before meals. He speaks and drinks when his mouth is full and generally uses his knife in place of his fork.’”

“Gradually the lad whom this story was designed to profit showed an awakening interest and put out his hand to speak. In reply to my query, ‘Well?’ ‘I know him,’ said he. ‘He's our lodger!’”—London Chronicle.

Sound of the Voice.

In experimenting with the compressed air pipes of Westphalian coal mines Mr. H. Schab has found that the greatest distance to which the sound of the voice could be conveyed in a straight pipe was between 1,500 and 1,700 feet. For moderate distances a pipe of about 29 inches in diameter gave the best results, a slightly larger one being better for long distances.

Big Fees For Doctors.

Sixty thousand dollars and a pension of $2,500 a year was the fee paid to Dr. Thomas Dimsdale, the Hertfordshire physician who, in 1772, was summoned to St. Petersburg to vaccinate the Empress Catherine II. Dr. Butler, who had obtained a great reputation for extraordinary skill in the operation for lithotomy, received a lac of rupees (then equivalent to $50,000) from each of six Indian rajahs for the single operation.

The late czar of Russia paid a fee of $75,000 to Professor Zacherine of Moscow for two days' attendance. A certain Dr. Gale of Bristol who was blind, for curing a gentleman of a seriously diseased knee by some electric treatment received a check for $250,000. Dr. Gale Yowski, the famous dentist, who attended the son of the shah of Persia, received $85,000 in fees during the three months of his residence in Teheran, while all his expenses of travelling and maintenance were paid.

Sir William Jenner received for four weeks' attendance at Sandringham during the illness of the Prince of Wales a baronetcy and a fee of £10,000, while Sir Morell Mackenzie is reported to have received twice that amount for attending the Emperor Frederick. His royal highness the nawab of Rampur, India, a few years since paid an English army surgeon $50,000 for an occasional attendance in an ordinary attack of rheumatism.

Good Friday in England.

Many quaint and some grotesque observances of Good Friday have prevailed in various localities. In Brighton the custom of skipping the rope on that day led to the use of the term “Long Rope day” for six or eight adults, with a long rope, shipped at one time. In the Sussex villages men and boys play marbles. At St. Bartholomew's church, London, 21 old women appear and before a crowd of curious onlookers bend their stiffened, aged knees to pick up 21 sixpences.

This latter custom had its origin before the great fire, when an eccentric woman left her property to have 21 sixpences laid upon her gravestone in St. Bartholomew's church, which were annually to be picked up by aged widows.

At the Church of All Hallows the youngest boys of the Elm Coat school are enabled, by the will of Peter Symonds, dated 1577, to divide 60 new pennies and 60 packets of raisins among them.

In London and all over England the eating of “hot cross buns” is the special feature of the day. The original home of this English custom is said to be in Cambridgeshire and Hertfordshire. There, wherever the old Roman roads crossed, stood the altar of Diana of the Crossways, to whom the Romans offered their sacred cakes.

The Fascination of Gold Hunting.

Once you have seen a “color” in the bottom of a pan with the black sand following it around like a faithful servant, you can never again be deceived by the false glitter of any other particles. You would know it if you saw it between cobblestones in Broadway or if it were no larger than a pinhead at the bottom of a trout pool.

For the moment the yellow pile makes you feel like seeking a claim of your own and harvesting its treasure for yourself. But when you look at the miry path along the base of the mountain by the creek side and think of following it with a pack on your back until it is no more and a wilderness begins; think of passing on over the mountains until you come to what you consider a likely place and thawing through 30 feet of earth at the rate of a foot a day in the haphazard possibility of finding “pay dirt,” you conclude that the poetry of the thing can be better appreciated by sitting on some one else's dump.—Frederick Palmer in Scribner's.

Mischief-makers to the End.

In the bog of Anghrim, in Ireland, it was a very common thing for gun barrels to be found, relics of the great battle there. There was a blacksmith who dug them up in order to make use of the material. One of them exploded in the furnace, when he exclaimed: “Bad luck to your love of murder! Isn't the battle of Anghrim out of you yet?”

Stockings made from human hair are worn by Chinese fishermen as the best preventive of wet feet. They are drawn over ordinary cotton stockings, but are too rough for putting near the skin.

PIMPLES

“My wife had pimples on her face, but she has been taking CASCARETS and they have all disappeared. I had been troubled with constipation for some time, but after taking the first Cascaret I have had no trouble with this ailment. We cannot speak too highly of Cascarets.” FRED WARTMAN, 5708 Germantown Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

An Oversight

Through an unintentional oversight, one of the best numbers on the programme at the Odd Fellows celebration, Friday night, was omitted in the article published in THE DAILY REFLECTOR. It was the splendid recitation by Miss Clara Bel Williams. The reporter had a note of it on his note book, but in copying off the programme happened to overlook that one, which is very much regretted. The article was properly corrected for our semi-weekly edition, but it is due that mention of it be made here also.

Notice.

I have this day purchased the entire interest of E. A. Moye in the Planters' Warehouse and business of Forbes & Moye, including property, books and accounts. Notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to or holding accounts against the said firm to can call on me for settlement.
