

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Linthicum, the Architect.

Mr. Hill C. Linthicum, of Henderson, who built the former Strause Bros' factory, has the contract for their new building and is now here carrying on the work. He has the reputation of being one of the best architects in the State and has put up many handsome buildings in various sections. There is an old and true saying that a man's work speaks for itself, and the buildings that Mr. Linthicum has erected are his strongest testimonials. While he is in Greenville he can take other contracts as well as the one upon which he is engaged and those who contemplate building would do well to see him.

An Extra Session of Congress.

Washington, May 11.—It is now reasonably certain that an extra session of Congress will be called for a date about the 20th of October. The President wants the policy of the government in respect to the Philippines and other possessions thoroughly defined and the currency question disposed of before the next Presidential campaign opens.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
Washington, D. C., May 12th, '99
An extra session of Congress will be called early in the fall, if public opinion does not object sufficiently to frighten Mr. McKinley out of issuing the call. That is the only reason it has not been officially announced. It has been decided upon, but Mr. McKinley wished to appear to follow a public demand, so the announcement was deferred until his friends, who are now talking extra session in every direction, could try to work up the public demand.

Ex-Senator Quay is using the Speakership contest to make votes for his admission to the Senate on the appointment of the Gov. of Pennsylvania. That is why the Pennsylvania delegation is unpledged, and why there is talk of putting up a dummy Pennsylvania candidate for Speaker, who the delegation can pretend to support until Quay orders them to vote for one of the other candidates.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c. $1. All drug-gists.

Welded.

Forty years ago there were in our country, two peoples. The one of the South was a nation of men who lived in the realm of the intellectual, who drew their sustenance from the heritage of their fathers, and who claimed the past of the future, and who, had Providence allowed them, would have gone on in their grand old way, conservative, chivalrous and honoring their fathers more than their posterity.

In the North the people lived for the future. They advanced upon time, and cared more for prophecy than for memory. They took iron and copper and wood and built monuments of industry, while the people of the South raised up cairns of stones to that which had been. And so the nation was cut in twain, in sentiment and in action. There was no cold process by which they might be wrought together again, and the time came when they must be forever sundered or forever united. "Let a smith," once said The Invalid, "take two pieces of cold iron and lay them upon his anvil, and he may hammer them until he is gray, and they will never weld; or let the physician anoint the lips of a cold and gaping wound with every balm of which he has knowledge, and it can not heal. But let the smith heat and torture the iron until it sparkles, and it will weld with a blow; or let the physician cut and vex the wound until it bleeds, and it will become whole in nature." So were the two peoples of a nation brought together, in fire and in blood.

And in less than half a century that has passed since their bringing together the nation has become one in action. The chivalry and grace of the South has imparted itself into the manners and customs of the people of the North, and the industrial energy of the North has infused itself into the people of the South. It is an exchange of gifts, good for both, and insuring lasting harmony. It is one nation and one people, honoring the past for its glories, cherishing the present for its opportunities, and wooing the future for its possibilities.—Charlotte Observer.

A Bride In Suspenders.

A dispatch from Texarkana, Ark., to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, under date of May 5th, says: "A most unusual marriage took place here today. Six prominent citizens of Texarkana went to spend Sunday with a farmer named Yager, near Rondo. While there they were informed that somewhere in the neighborhood a young girl was living as a man, wearing men's clothing. On the way home the gentlemen stopped at a farmhouse to see if they could learn more of the strange woman.

At this house was a man and a young lad, who was smoking a cigarette. The farmer's name is E. D. Sims. Thinking the men were officers he confessed that the smoking lad was in reality a girl named Lulu Shaw. She is very pretty and intelligent. To the men she said she resided at Waco, where her home had been burned. Sims then took charge of her, and she had learned to love him. She dressed as a man to keep people from talking about her. Among the parties who made the discovery were two lawyers and an Alderman, who informed the couple that they were violating the law. They became scared at that and consented to marry each other.

The couple were given seats in the carriage, and the whole party entered Texarkana, the woman dressed in overalls, man's shirt, suspenders, &c. County Clerk Sanderson was sent for and issued a marriage license for the couple. County Judge W. I. Hamilton joined them while they stood upon the court house steps, surrounded by the men who had unearthed the mystery. After the ceremony the groom kissed the bride and departed for home on foot, followed by good wishes from the crowd. The feature of the occasion was when Clerk Sanderson asked the woman why she wore suspenders. Her reply was: "To hold up my pants of course."

He Unloaded Undesirable Freight On the Good Lady.

A well dressed stranger who got on the train at Wilmington Saturday night arrived in this city on the "shoo-fly" the same night with a baby about five or six weeks old and took lodging at the Bridgers house. In a short while after his arrival the baby raised such a racket that Mrs. George Bizzell, who has rooms at the same hotel, offered to take the baby and get it quiet. Her services were readily accepted and the stranger explained his awkward position by saying that his wife was in a hospital in Richmond and that he was on his way to see her, but did not care to ride all night and had stopped over until the morning.

He allowed Mrs. Bizzell to keep baby in her room during the night and yesterday morning he arose early and went out and never came back. Captain Hart, who brought the train from Wilmington Saturday night, said today that he distinctly remembers the man with the baby who got on at Wilmington, but that he does not know anything of him further than that.—Goldsboro Argus.

A private letter from Elizabeth City says that the negroes voted almost to a unit against the issue of $30,000 bonds for street improvements which carried on Monday last. "He is," writes a friend, "an impediment to progress and will ever be until eliminated from politics. He received his whispered orders and voted as directed." That is an indictment against the negro as a voter that outside people do not understand. They get "orders" about even bond elections, and vote for or against improvement just as the boss directs. Such a vote is a danger in any community.—Raleigh News and Observer.

It roasts with you whether you continue the nerve-killing tobacco habit. NO-TO-BAC removes the desire for tobacco, without nervous distress, expels nicotine, purifies the blood, restores lost manhood, makes you strong in health, nerve and pocket. NO-TO-BAC from your own drug-gist, who will vouch for us. Take it with a will, patiently, persistently. One box, 50c. usually cures, 3 boxes, $1.50. Guaranteed to cure, or we refund money. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal, New York.

Wilmington is now having its inning. The negroes are leaving for other parts in large numbers—as many as 50 to 300 a day we are told. White labor is crowding them out, and they are going North and elsewhere. Some are going to Baltimore, but most of them are going farther North. Business men in Wilmington do not employ a negro if they can get a white man to do the work. In all manner of ways the departure of the negroes is facilitated. On the other hand white people are going into Wilmington rapidly, and thus a desirable class of citizens is obtained.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

The Girls Threatened to Strike.

The introduction of seven colored women as pressers at the Manchester Shirt and Overall Factory was the cause of some excitement in that establishment yesterday. When the 300 white girls learned that colored women were to work with them, they arose en masse and went to the managers and stated that unless the women were discharged they would at once walk out. An animated debate ensued between the managers and the 300 employes which resulted in a victory for the girls, who went back to their work, while the colored help went home.—Richmond Times.

Now as to quick crops, tobacco gets there. One year Mr. John R. Daniel set out plants April 20th, and on June 24th—two months and four days—a part of the crop was sold and at good prices. At best cotton cannot be marketed in less than five months, and during this time constant and especial care must be given each detail, otherwise a failure is sure.—Rocky Mount Motor.

Describe symptoms and free personal medical advice will be given.

The Helping Man.

An exchange very significantly says: "The prosperity of a town, of a village or a city is not guided by the wealth of its inhabitants, but by the uniformity with which they pull together when important duty is to be accomplished. A man with a thousand dollars at his command and an interest in the welfare of his town at heart can do no more for the building and improvement of it than a millionaire who locks up his capital and snaps his finger at his home progress."

The average courting young man is either an "intender" or a "pretender"—merely a real bore or an ideal bean.

TETTER ON THE HANDS.

For several years I was a sufferer from Tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well. MRS. M. E. KING.

A Queer Examination. Disqualifies of Chinese service examinations are made tenfold in the requirements set forth by law of applicants for positions in the mail service of China.

In the first place an applicant must have strength and courage. To acquire these he goes through a very queer method of training. He wanders through mountains and valleys, forests and caves. The exact time to be occupied in a trip is fixed by law, and a heavy fine imposed for unnecessary delay. He must repeat these trips at night, and if he listens to the bad spirits and thereby fails to appear at the required time at a certain place, he is sure to lose his rights to a position.

This is not all. He is obliged to carry an enormous weight for many miles and return with it within a given time. No allowance is made for his inability to defend himself against thieves and highwaymen his road usually leading through a district thick with bandits.

In training the candidate eats very little—though he is used to this—and he tries every straining exercise. Then comes his real examination under the direction of government officials. He is taken into a long room, where, suspended from a high beam with strong ropes, are very heavy sacks filled with rocks.

The candidate must give a swinging motion to all these sacks and then run to and fro between them, carefully guarding against a blow by one of the weights.

Curiosities of Journalism.

A paper in India recently published the following explanation "This is only the beginning of our paper. We were not sure how much matter was required to fill it up, and, thinking we had sufficient, we did not exert ourselves much to get any more. We therefore beg that our readers will excuse us this time for the space left blank, and we promise to do better and get more in the future.

Still more curious was the announcement of a paper which came out for the first time with two columns blank, the editor making the bold announcement that "a large quantity of exceedingly interesting matter has been left out for want of space.

When the active editor wants a holiday he suspends publication until it is convenient to resume and, taking his readers into his confidence, informs them plainly why the paper was not issued on the expected dates. "With the consent of our readers, we now propose to take our annual holiday. We are sure none of them will begrudge us our relaxation.

Coalfields of the World.

Geologists estimate the great coal fields of the world in approximately as follows: China, 20,000,000,000 tons; U. S. of the Rockies, 12,000,000,000; Canada, 6,000; India, 55,500; New South Wales, 24,000; Russia, 20,000; and the United Kingdom, 11,500. There are many deposits in other countries, but to the extent of considerable quantities, the coal fields of the world still for years produced more than any other country. Now the English coal fields, which had 1,200 feet of coal, have been reduced to only 14 inches, and the coal fields of the United States, which had 1,200 feet of coal, have been reduced to only 14 inches. It is estimated that the coal fields of the world will be exhausted in 100 years, and it is not known what could supply the whole world for centuries to come.

An Original Oath of Allegiance.

In the old days when the Spanish province of Aragon was a proud and independent monarchy, the people used, when choosing their king, the following singular form of election: "We, the we born inhabitants of the ancient kingdom of Aragon, who are equal to you, Don Philip, and some-thing more, elect you to be our king, on condition that you preserve to us our rights and privileges, if in this you should fail, we will not be owing you no longer." Days of Chivalry Not Dead.

The stock of goods of the lamented Walter H. Aycock, of Warrenton, was sold as a whole in Warrenton last Monday. There were several gentlemen present to bid on it, but when it was ascertained that Mrs. Aycock was a bidder they withdrew. It is refreshing to know that there are yet some men who have a tender feeling for a widow and are not so eager for gain that they would forget the widow and the orphan, and block their way to their earning a livelihood.—Warrenton Record.
