There are Others, Too.

Greenville is shipping cattle to Richmond. The animals are kept up there and stall fed a while, butchered, shipped back here and sold for fine Richmond beef. A little stall feeding at home might save the freight both ways. But we people do business that way and follow the same methods about other articles we consume—cotton goods and tobacco, for instance—pay freight two ways instead of manufacturing the raw material at home.—GREENVILLE REFLECTOR.

This applies with more or less truth to every town in North Carolina, and perhaps to every town in the South. There are some things, or course, that cannot be produced or made at home, and these things must be bought somewhere else, but there are many things which could be produced or made at home for which we still depend upon other sections. There are no better pasture lands in this country for cattle than in North Carolina, and yet instead of exporting beef we import it. We export some, it is true, but nothing in comparison with what we import. The same is true of pork, which is shipped into the State by the train load, to be distributed and sold mainly to farmers, who ought to raise their own meat. Wheat, flour, corn and meal are all shipped into the State by the ton, when every pound we need should be produced at home.

There has within the past few years been some improvement in this respect, but not as much as there should have been, for we still send many thousands of dollars every year out of the State for these and other things of every day use, which could and should be produced at home.—It takes time to get out of the ruts. We may get out after a while, and then wonder that we didn't get out sooner.—Wilmington Star.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., June 2, '99

More men, more blood, and more money for the Philippines. That is the cheerful outlook. Mr. McKinley has become convinced that Aguinaldo successfully played the role of br'er fox in his dealings with the blue-coated and red-tressed American civilian Commissioners, by staving off active military operations against him until the rainy season, while he was preparing for another campaign in the fall. He has also become convinced that any further delay of the volunteers in the Philippines who wish to come home will be dangerous. Convinced of these two things there was nothing left for him to do except to decide to issue a call for volunteers to go to the Philippines, under authority of the army act of the last Congress. He has made that decision, but, in keeping with his usual custom of giving the public an excuse for his every important act, will defer issuing the call for volunteers until he gets a cablegram from Gen. Otis saying that more men are imperatively needed over there. It has been found impossible to get any considerable number of the volunteers now in the Philippines to re-enlist, although each man who does so is given travel pay amounting to about $600.

The Spanish flag is for the first time in more than a year flying in Washington. It flies over the hotel in which the Duke de Aroos, the new Spanish Minister, and his American wife, are guests. The new Minister called on Secretary Hay and presented his credentials and later was presented by Mr. Hay to Mr. McKinley, and diplomatic relations are again established with Spain. The Minister has many personal friends in Washington, which was the home of his wife when he first met her and for many years afterwards.

United States Commissioner of Patents Duell is making a record as an efficient official. He has the work of the Patent Office in such good shape that Washington's most successful firm of patent lawyers, C. A. Snow & Co., announce that they can procure patents in from four to ten weeks from date of application. They have procured more than 20,000 patents, and it would be impossible to find a city, town, or village in the United States which has no clients of theirs.

Although the negotiations have not been formally broken off there is practically a deadlock over the Alaskan boundary. Months ago it was charged that Great Britain did not wish this dispute settled, and it begins to look as though those who made the charge knew what they were talking about, although it is apparently Canada that has brought about the deadlock in the negotiations.

Since getting the consent of Boss Hanna, the Henderson-Sherman Speakership combine have been rushing things so rapidly that they have already apparently got all the other candidates distanced. In the rush the Henderson wing of the combine has taken the lead to such an extent that they are claiming that Henderson is as good as elected, and there appears to be good ground for the claim, but appearances in this sort of a fight are often deceptive. It seems certain, however, that the combine will win, and that either Henderson of Sherman will be Speaker.

Republican assistance is being secretly given to the schemers who are working to prevent the renomination of Col. Bryan and the re-adoption of the principles of the Chicago platform by the next democratic National convention by securing more than one-third of the delegates to that convention. The scheme is to get men elected delegates who can be controlled by the schemers, if they are not instructed. The practical result of this scheme is likely to be that many delegates will be instructed, who under ordinary circumstances would not be. The rank and file of the democracy know what they want and also how to get it.

Subscriptions to the Dewey Home fund are coming in so slowly that daily statements are no longer issued of the amounts received.

The administration is much worried by the failure of the Cuban soldiers to surrender their arms and accept the $75 per capita sent over there for them. They had supposed that the poor, ragged devils would jump at the chance of getting $75 apiece, more money than probably three-fourths of them ever owned at one time in their lives. They don't know what to make of the refusal, but they fear that it means trouble of some sort, and their fears are likely to be true.

A Federal Grand Jury at Memphis, Tenn., indicted H. L. Armstrong, cashier of the Continental National Bank, for perjury and making false entries.

While drunk and firing wildly in the Pennsylvania Railroad station at Washington, D. C., D. N. Tharpe, a mustered-out soldier from Mississippi, killed Aaron G. Bishop, of Georgia, a comrade, and wounded ex-Policeman Acton.

Senator Sullivan, of Mississippi, is seeking the Government's aid in collecting $375,000 which Guatemala owes one May, an American engineer.

Advertising in Prosperous Times.

While the experience of the successful merchant shows that continuous advertising is always profitable, the regular use of the advertising columns of a popular newspaper during times of prosperity such as now prevail is especially beneficial. Not only is money at hand among purchasers just now, but the desire to buy goods is more general; and the tradesman who promptly informs the public by means of his advertisements that he has desirable wares to sell may feel assured that he will continually be a recipient of the profitable patronage of the people.—Philadelphia Record.

It rests with you whether you continue the nerve-killing tobacco habit. NO-TO-BAC removes the desire for tobacco, without nervous distress, expels nicotine, purifies the blood, restores lost manhood, makes you strong, healthy, and happy. Sold 400,000 in health, nerve cases cured. Buy and pocket book. NO-TO-BAC from your own druggist, who will vouch for us. Take it with a will, patiently, persistently. A Blow Against Civil Service Reform.

The changes made by the President in civil service rules, as a result of which four thousand officials who are now selected after examination to establish their fitness for public employment will hereafter be exempted from such examination is a step backward. It is evidently based on the principle that under-officials having confidential relations with the heads of departments should be selected with reference to the personal desires of their superiors, and that special agents of the Government having special duties may be more satisfactorily selected without reference to the general requirements of fitness established by the civil service rules.

The evils to be anticipated from this breaking down of the civil service bars are the encouragement of nepotism and political favoritism as the necessary stepping stones to employment in non-political offices. This is especially unfortunate in so far as it effects positions in the collection of the revenue, the pension service and the postal service. The politics of the country can never be made wholesome so long as the spoils of office shall be made the main thing to be fought for. President McKinley, who in his capacity as a legislator helped to carry forward the project of Civil Service Reform, has been prevailed upon in his executive capacity to help undo his own work in answer to the demand of the spoilsmen. He has been very badly advised.—Philadelphia Record.

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

The discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

AMERICAN USE OF NICKEL.

A Metal Which Is Getting to Be in Larger Demand Than Heretofore.

The average importations of nickel into the United States now amount to more than 100,000 pounds in a year, and the value of such importations, chiefly from New Caledonia and Canada, is $600,000 a year. Last year nickel to the amount of $1,200,000 was produced in Canada, and nickel to the amount of $600,000 was produced in New Caledonia. These two countries supply practically all the nickel in manufacturing use of the world, and the United States use about one-third of the whole world's supply.

Nickel is a white metal of peculiar hardness and is used as a substitute for brass, copper or plated silver. Its extension in use has, however, been, to some extent, retarded of late years by the greater cheapness of aluminum, but aluminum lacks the quality most highly esteemed in nickel—the peculiar bright sheen which makes nickel plating so desirable an ornament, and which relieves it from the dullness to be seen in many aluminum articles.

The American 5-cent piece or "nickel" is three-fourths copper and one-fourth nickel. It was first provided for by Congress in 1860. The copper in the coin weighs seventy-seven grains and the nickel weighs thirty grains, or nearly half as much, though only one-fourth in amount.

Santiago.

It is strange that neither picture nor description of Santiago de Cuba gives us the slightest idea of what the city looks like, instead of nestling at the base of a hill on a low, flat plain, it is in reality built on the side of a mountain, and from the harbor at night resembles an altar lighted in a church. This effect comes from the terraces rising one above the other, and the lights of the houses resting thereon. The rise in places is so rapid that the roof of one house is on a level with the foundation of another. Some of the streets leading from terrace to terrace are so steep that it is impossible for horses or mules to ascend with a heavily laden truck, and to assist them wire cables operated by steam power run above the pavement to which any vehicle can be attached by means of a grip provided for that purpose, and be pulled up as easily as our underground cables draw a street car over a hill. Arriving at the desired terrace, the driver cuts loose and goes about his business.

Sirloin and French Fried.

"You can talk about your racehorse fiends, morphine fiends and every other kind of fiend that you will, but I think I have discovered a new kind of fiend," said a man whose family is out of the city and who is compelled during their absence to eat at the restaurant. "I refer to the 'sirloin and French-fried fiend.' I venture to say that 90 per cent. of the people who live in restaurants order sirloin steak and French fried potatoes. Struggle against it as they may, scan the bill of fare upside down and sideways, they sing the same old song when the waiter comes for his order. Of course, they have strayed after strange gods in their time, but have tried to figure it out. I have spent sleepless nights in the endeavor to reach some tenable reason for this condition of affairs, and I have been unable to do so. But the fact remains that for every other kind of order given in a restaurant there are ten orders of 'sirloin and French fried.'"

The Latter Day Funeral.

There is a change in the conduct of funeral processions. There was a day, and that not so very long ago, when a funeral procession, the hearse or funeral car and its string of attending carriages, always moved decorously along, the horses at a walk. Then, when the funeral train was long, people with a grain of superstition in their composition always had to wait for many minutes before they could cross the street.

But now the funeral procession of New York moves at a half gallop at least, if not almost a full gallop. The horses trot along briskly, almost a great part of the time as if they were pleasure bound. It takes no time at all for the longest train of death to pass by. It is seldom that one sees nowadays a funeral that moves along slowly, and when one does travel through the streets at an old fashioned pace it nearly always attracts comment.

Green in His Eye.

Walter Savage Landon used to insist that green eyes were the most "wonderful" in the world. In support of his argument he told the following story: "It so happened that when I was a young man at Venice I was standing in the doorway of the Cafe Florian one day watching the pigeons on the Piazza San Marco, when an old gentleman rushed up to me and said: 'Pardon me, sir, but will you allow me to look into your eyes? Ah, I thought so. Sir, you have green eyes. I never saw but one pair before, and they belonged to the late Empress Catherine of Russia; they were the most wonderfully beautiful eyes in the world.' I have reason to remember this," Mr. Landon was wont to end up, "for while the old gentleman was examining my eyes I had my pocket picked."

WIN A STOVE!

There is on exhibition at our store a full nickel plated

BUCK'S JUNIOR RANGE

Every little girl wants it, and one little girl shall have it. On the 15th of July we will present it to the little girl under fourteen years of age, who cuts out the greatest number of Buck's Trade Marks in the advertisement below and brings them to our store. They must be done up in neat packages and the number and name written plainly on each package. Now girls get your friends to help you, save every Trade Mark and see who can win the prize.

CUT THIS OUT.

Buck's Trade Mark.

The purpose of this contest is to make this Trade Mark known in every household so that it may never be forgotten. It will be printed in all our advertisements. It is prominently displayed upon every one of Buck's Stoves and Ranges and carries with it the broadest guarantee of excellence. No stove can possibly be made which is better than any one of The Great White Enamel Line. We sell them in preference to all others, and carry a full line of all kinds and sizes. Ask to see Buck's Stoves and Ranges.

Respectfully,
 HIGGS & TAFT.
