WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., July 17, '99

As though his announcement of his determination to remain in the Cabinet until after the first of next January were not humiliation enough for Mr. McKinley, Secretary Alger has actually had the gall to demand of Mr. McKinley that he make public a statement denying that he would like Alger's resignation. This is what the boys call "rubbing it in" on Mr. McKinley, but those who think that Mr. McKinley should have fired Alger when the scandals of the war with Spain first became public, instead of assisting in having him whitewashed, are not inclined to sympathize with his embarrassment at the demand. And, there are quite a number who are glad the demand has been made. Mr. McKinley has, through close personal friends, allowed the public to suppose that he was anxious to have Alger resign, but wished him to do so voluntarily. Now, it is up to him, to say once for all, whether he wishes Alger to remain in his Cabinet.

The law very plainly says that in the absence of both the Secretary and the Assistant Secretary of War, the General commanding the army shall be Acting Secretary of War. Alger and his assistant have both been away since Friday, and the result was the absolute suspension of all public business requiring the signature or action of the Secretary of War, although Gen. Miles was in his office in the State War and Navy Department building, each day, prepared to perform the duties of Secretary of War. Adjutant Gen. Corbin said that Gen. Miles was acting Secretary of War, but as a matter of fact from Friday until today, Gen. Miles did not sign a single paper, as Acting Secretary, although there must have been hundreds relating to routine matters, requiring the Secretary's signature. It was another added to the many unnecessary slights put upon Gen. Miles by Secretary Alger and the willing tools with which he has surrounded himself in the War Department. Although the law says that Gen. Miles should have been Acting Secretary of War, during those three days, Alger, assuming himself greater than the law, said that there should be no Secretary of War during that period and his word was obeyed, regardless of cost or inconvenience, and all business held up to await his return.

republicans have come to Washington of late with substantially the same story about Col. Bryan's loss of popularity in the West, that it is practically certain that these men are working in concert, trying to prevent Col. Bryan being renominated for President, by the democrats. Whether they are doing this under instructions from the republican leaders, who are known to fear Col. Bryan's candidacy, or in the interests of the handful of Eastern democrats, who, although they cannot pledge a single electoral vote, are also trying to prevent Col. Bryan's nomination, is not entirely clear, but that they are spreading the story with a purpose is as clear as anything can be—as clear as the falsity of the story, for instance.

Representative Lentz, of Ohio, is in Washington upon important legal business. He no longer regards himself as a candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, but frankly says he would like to have the second place on the Bryan ticket, and adds that he has received encouragement enough to cause him to believe that he may receive the nomination for Vice-President.

Ex-Senator Dubois says that if the republican platform comes out squarely for the single gold standard, as now seems likely, it will elect Bryan by republican votes; that he knows of thousands who voted the republican ticket in '96, solely because of the promise to bring about a wider use for silver, who will under no circumstance vote a gold standard ticket. Mr. Dubois says he regards it as certain that the republican platform will contain as strong an anti-trust plank as the democratic platform, but thinks the individual voter should have no doubt as to which party will really combat the trusts. Mr. Dubois also says that he is certain the tickets will be headed next year, by Bryan and McKinley, as in '96.

Gov. Roosevelt was reminded by the turning down of several men whom he had recommended personally, to Mr. McKinley for appointment to be officers in the volunteers, that there are other politicians in New York, who have pulled with the administration. Not only were some of Roosevelt's men turned down, but there were New Yorkers appointed whose names were not even referred to him, by Mr. McKinley. The authority for this statement is an official of the War Department, who knows the endorsements on the papers of every man who was appointed. Perhaps Roosevelt would have had better luck if he had withheld his declaration in favor of Mr. McKinley's renomination a little longer. Publicly committing himself probably weakened his pull.

Captain Dreyfus' intimate friend was narrating to him the principal events of the last five years. "It was about this time," he said, "that Mark Hanna became prominent in American politics." Dewey As He Is.

Many pictures of Admiral Dewey have been published in the last few months, but very few of them show much of the man as he is. Most of them show a rather long, narrow face, with high, slightly receding forehead and Roman nose. As a matter of fact, there is more breadth and less length in the face than these pictures show. It is a square face, and its most prominent feature is the rugged under jaw. The eyes are wide apart and set well back under heavy brows. The forehead is high, broad and bold. The nose is large, and the mouth generous, but firm.

Most of his pictures show more of a mustache than the Admiral wore last summer. Mustache and hair are almost white. The complexion is dark, as are the eyes. He is not a big man physically, but he is astonishingly quick in his actions. His shoulders are so square and his broad back so straight that many a man, much his junior, might envy him them. His step is quick and springy; his whole bearing is one of alertness and readiness.

His mental process is lightning-like. He thinks like a flash and goes all around his subject in less time than many a man would take to study one side. Yet he does not jump to conclusions, and there are times when he is very deliberate. He reasons to his determinations, and whatever his personal preferences or beliefs or feelings he can dissociate them entirely from his work. His logic machine is absolutely sound and in the finest order. It turns out conclusions with mathematical precision. The sharpest critic he has can hardly find one point in the long record made in Manila Bay where he can put down his finger and say, "There Dewey made a mistake."

The Admiral has a peculiar trick of thinking out loud, and sometimes when he is pondering some subject he will argue with any man whom chance sends along. On such occasions he will advance as his definite conclusion whatever side of the question happens to be uppermost in his mind and stand ready to defend it with considerable warmth.—McClure's Magazine.

TYPE AND PRESS.

WHO WANTS IT? SPEAK QUICK.

THE REFLECTOR recently purchased two printing office outfits and has a quantity of surplus material that will be sold cheap. There is a cylinder press large enough to print a nine column paper, in splendid condition, and a quantity of Small Pica, Long Primer, Brevier and Nonpariel body type. We can furnish a complete outfit large enough for a six or seven column paper.

Specimens of the body type are shown in this advertisement, the type being taken from the case just as it runs, so it shows for itself how well it prints. This is the Small Pica size of which there is 1 pair of cases.

Then here is a paragraph set from the Long Primer size. We have 4 pairs of these cases. In buying this type you do not get something that is worn out and cast aside, but a good serviceable type, capable of much wear.

Here is something a little smaller, Brevier size. There are 2 pairs of these and it is a bargain for somebody interested in printing. It may not come but once in a lifetime that an opportunity is given for buying type as cheap as we will sell these lots.

Again we have 1 pair of cases of this Non pariel size, a very useful type in any printing office. Cases will be sold with the type of all sizes. Any printer who can use any or all of this type can make us a spot cash offer. While we prefer a customer for a whole outfit, press and type, one case of type will be sold if no more is wanted.

Seven Rounds and Out.

It is reported that a sparring contest was "pulled off" near the city on Friday night and that a full attendance of New Bern sports witnessed the fight. The men were colored. Rufe Smith who enjoys a reputation as a professional and Mumford, who is employed in this city and who was brought forward as an unknown to down Smith, were the contestants. According to the talk seven rattling rounds were fought and in the last round Smith retired Mumford by a wicked job on the body. Neither man showed any signs of severe punishment. Smith was awarded three quarters of the receipts, Mumford getting one quarter. The meeting was strictly on the quiet.—New Bern Journal, 16.

Greensboro is now discussing a proposition to issue bonds to buy its system of water works. Every city ought to own its water supply, and in every instance where good management has been secured, it has been profitable to the city.

From the Journal's traveling representative, who writes from Greenville under date of July 13th, it is learned the tobacco crop outlook in Pitt county is unusually fine. A man's idea of a true friend is a fellow to whom you can explain the symptoms of your malady without running the risk of being offered a remedy.

The average girl is unwilling to charge a young man with larceny even when he steals something from under her very nose.

You know the best when you see it. That is our kind.

HUGH SHEPPARD, Agent Wilmington Steam Laundry.

Wilson and Wilmington played a game of ball Saturday and neither side was the victor. The score was 6 for Wilson, 6 for Wilmington.

Notwithstanding the storm last night, there were services in the Presbyterian church, of deep interest to those who met there for worship.

Services continue at the Presbyterian church. There will be preaching tonight at 8:30. Song service at 8:15. All are cordially invited.

The morning services at the Presbyterian church begin promptly at 10 o'clock. All are invited to attend these interesting Bible readings and prayers.

A Card.

We want to thank every one who so kindly assisted our little daughter in her efforts to win the toy range offered by Buck's stove and Range Co. and as we fear we cannot see each of you personally we take this method of doing so. It speaks well for the kindness and thoughtfulness of our people that so many have remembered from day to day to do something for the pleasure of a child and while we are glad that she won the range it is far more pleasure to remember the kindness you have shown her. May the joy you have given a little girl be multiplied many times in your own hearts and lives.

Mr. & Mrs. G. E. HARRIS.
