PARMELE ITEMS.

PARMELE, N. C., Aug. 30, 1899.

Mrs. Mary Morgan, of Ayden, is visiting friends here this week.

The Presbyterian folks are having their church painted which will add much to its already handsome appearance.

G. J. Cherry returned last Friday after a thirty days stay in New York and other northern cities.

Miss Ema Johnson left here last Saturday evening to visit relatives and friends in Williamston, her old home.

Sam Ellison has returned after a pleasant vacation, with friends and relatives in Williamston, Jamesville and Plymouth.

Mr. Bennett, of Washington, returned today after a few days visiting in the neighborhood.

Mrs. W. H. Jarman left last Monday for home in Jacksonville. She goes via Wilmington where she will spend a few days with her mother Mrs. Mary Laguin.

The name of D. L. Jones should have appeared in last weeks correspondence instead of D. L. James.

It is rumored here that officer Branch, of Suffolk, Va., has succeeded in arresting the negro Moore who murdered Constable Bryant, at Bethel, some time ago.

Professor McWhorter, of Bethel, was in town yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Harper, of Smithfield, delivered an excellent lecture to the W. C. T. U. here last Saturday night and preached in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and night.

Mrs. Ella Powell is said to be very sick. Mrs. D. H. Hazelett is also on the sick list.

There was a meeting on the W. C. T. U. last night to do some special work.

Mrs. Mamie Carson, from near Bethel, is visiting Mrs. C. R. Speight today.

Our poet says that girls as a rule are as uncertain as the heels of a mule. Especially about kicking.

A Successful Melon Grower.

Mr. H. B. Bailey, of Woodleaf, Rowan county, has sold on the Statesville market this season seventeen loads of melons for which he received over $150. These melons came from 900 hills on a little more than one acre of ground.—Statesville Landmark.

The Southern Express agent at Brunswick, Ga., skipped, leaving the company short $1,200.

MURDERER CAPTURED.

Makes Confession of His Crime.

The Coroner's jury was not long in finding out the murderer of Capt. Calvin Barnes, who was shot from ambush near Wilson Monday evening. A gun was found near the scene of the shooting and the owner of the gun testified that he had loaned it to J. J. Jefferson, who was a tenant on Mr. Barnes' farm. Jefferson was arrested and held for trial. The evidence against him was so strong that there was talk of a lynching and to prevent this officers spirited the prisoner away and took him to Raleigh for safe keeping. After reaching Raleigh Jefferson made a full confession of his crime.

We take the following confession from the Raleigh Post:

"Did you really kill Captain Barnes?" the prisoner was asked. "I shot at him," he replied, without the least hesitation. "They swore this thing on me, and I reckon I killed him."

"I have been farming for Captain Barnes. I had a whole lot of trouble with him. He has bothered me all the year. He wouldn't buy supplies as he promised me, and refused to help me. He interfered with my hands and has always given me trouble."

"He was the only enemy in the world that I had. He can't be any more. Nobody ever saw any peace with him. Over five hundred people down there are glad he is dead. Yes, over five thousand, if all was known. But he won't bother anybody else. He can't now. He's a kind'er leader in the town. He belonged to the Barneses and I reckon some of them is glad, too. He was mean enough."

"He wanted to make my daughter work in tobacco. I wouldn't stand it. I got tired of it all and I shot at him."

"When did it occur?"

"I met him about dinner and told him to bring me some cloth to make my daughters some dresses. He said he wouldn't do it."

"That night I met him and asked him if he had bought the dresses. Said he hadn't and wasn't going to. I told him I was going to kill him and shot him."

"Did you kill him?"

"I don't know. They say he's dead."

"Did Capt. Barnes have one of his little grandchildren on his lap when you fired?"

"Oh, no! She was sitting on the seat."

This iron-nerved man, who seemed to be without reason, wandered along in random conversation: "I had a brother in the asylum," he said. "He ran away."

"Didn't you know him?" he asked.

I told Jefferson that I was talking to him for publication. "All right," he said.

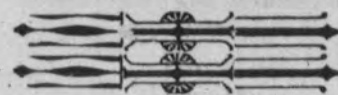

Just before leaving Jefferson, he asked. "Where is Charlie Aycock. I reckon I'll want him to appear for me at the next hearing."

The evidence against Jefferson was complete. It was developed at the coroner's inquest that he borrowed the gun with which he killed Captain Barnes. The prisoner refused to make a statement until he gave his confession to a representative of The Post.

The officers stated that Jefferson was in great fear until he reached Raleigh and knew that he was safe.

Bryan Replies to Pattison.

Mr. Bryan has issued the following announcement of his position in answer to ex-Governor Pattison's interview printed in The New York Tribune of Sunday last:

"I have stated at all times and in all places that the money question will be before the country until bi-metallism is restored.

"I have repeated over and over again that this nation must act alone, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, and that 16 to 1 is the only ratio at which the mints can be opened.

"I have never for one moment thought a compromise desirable or possible. In 1796, 7,000,000 voted for candidates pledged to international bi-metallism, 6,500,000 voted for candidates pledged to independent bi-metallism. Every vote for bi-metallism, whether international or independent, is a protest against the single gold standard. We have the gold standard to-day, not because the people want it, but because a handful of English financiers defeated President McKinley's efforts to secure foreign aid in the restoration of bi-metallism. The Republicans are now preparing to make all contracts payable in gold. This will lessen the quantity of legal tender money and make the scramble for gold more intense. The Republicans also contemplate retiring the greenbacks in the interest of national bank notes.

"How can the money question be forgotten while the money changers are (to quote the language used by Mr. McKinley in 1891) trying 'to make money scarcer and therefore dearer!—money is the master and all things else the servant.' The gold men know that our abandonment of the ratio of 16 to 1 would be equivalent to an abandonment of the money question, and they know that an abandonment of the money question would lead to the surrender of all that the party gained by the Chicago convention. The Republicans fear the money question, and therefore the Republican papers are ready to praise the wisdom and magnify the prominence of any Democrat who will give out an interview against 16 to 1.

"The Chicago platform is sound; every plank, every platform is sound; every party will reaffirm and stand by it, and, in addition thereto, it will meet new questions as they arise.

"The Republican party is putting the dollar above the man; the aim of the Democratic party is to restore a government of the people by the people and for the people—a government which will protect every citizen in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

A Doer of the Word.

Extract from J. C. Troy's letter in Asheville Citizen:

James was, pre-eminently, the writer of a gospel of commonsense. It is impossible to read his epistle of five chapters and not receive benefit if it be read with such desire. In his day, as in this, there are more folks deceiving themselves than are making others believe in them. There are thousands of hearers but few doers. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." I know a man, exceedingly devout, leads in public prayer, dares to stand as a religious teacher on Sundays, and strange to say, the church permits him to do so, when there is not a merchant in the town who will trust him for a pound of sugar. He has no respect for his word; but still he says, "Lord, Lord." And just such men are the characters who keep out of the church others who would, in all probability, be doers, and not hearers only. I wouldn't give a snap for any religion that does not make the possessor of it honest and worthy the confidence of his fellow man.

The Heroes Depart.

Only about five hundred negro friends assembled at the A. & N. C. Station to celebrate the departure of seven negro convicts for the penitentiary at Raleigh yesterday morning. They overran the platform and made it very uncomfortable for patrons of the road, other than convicts, by blocking up the whole place and they had free run of the station, although there are gates and fences available for such an occasion.

It is just such an occasion as this that makes well wishers of the negro race despair of them. To see a whole street full of negro women out to sap "good bye" to a lot of condemned felons who leave like "heroes" with smiling faces is enough to make any one rejoice that the day of Constitutional Amendments and Jim Crow laws has dawned at last.—New Bern Journal.

The Worst In 75 Year.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The Weather Bureau has issued a special report on the gale of August 16th, 17th, and 18th, which was so disastrous to shipping in the vicinity of Cape Hatteras. Observations at the Weather Bureau stations showed that at 4 a. m., of the 17th, there was wind velocity of 70 miles an hour. It increased in intensity until 1 p. m., when it was 93 miles an hour, with extreme velocities of from 120 to 140 miles an hour. At that hour the anemometer cups were blown away and it is probable that the wind reached even a greater velocity that evening.

The hurricane was the most severe within the past 75 years. The total loss at Hatteras alone will amount from $15,000 to $20,000. The fishing business, which is the principal industry, has been for the present entirely swept away. An interesting fact is that the highest velocity at Hatteras was 80 miles an hour.

Three years ago if anybody had proposed that the United States acquire the Philippines, even as a gift and with their full consent, he would have been regarded as fit for a lunatic asylum. In what way is it more desirable for us to expend our blood and treasure in conquering these islands, than it was under President Cleveland?

Child Killed by Its Mother While Shouting.

The colored people have been carrying on a big revival at Deep Creek church, Gullede township. Last Saturday they reached the climax of religious fervor, and so wrought up did the wife of John Huntley become that she leaped to her feet and threw the infant, which she held in her arms, high in the air. The child's head struck a bench in its descent, inflicting injuries from which it died Saturday night. Sunday it was buried in the presence of a crowd of negroes.—Wadesboro Messenger-Intelligencer.

Greene County Cases.

The Greene county election cases have at last been settled. Consent judgment, recognizing the fusion board of county commissioners and the four commissioners appointed by the last legislature, was entered before Judge Bryan, at Snow Hill, yesterday.

The Democrats are to keep all the county offices except the three members of the board of county commissioners elected by the people. The board of county commissioners now has seven members, three elected by the people and four appointed by the legislature. The Democrats have a majority of the board.

All suits which were caused by this election muddle have been stopped and peace again reigns in Greene County.—Kinston Free Press.

The building trades unions of New York report that they have never experienced such a busy season as at the present time. Many of the trade and labor organizations are wholly unable to supply the demand for men. The ordinary strength of the union bricklayers of the city is between seven and eight thousand members. Bricklayers have been flocking in from all parts of the United States and Canada, increasing the number to nearly fifteen thousand, and still the builders are calling for more.

The Public School.

Many people have been enquiring if there would be any public school taught this fall in the district for Greenville. We have spoken to the school directors about the matter and they say that all the money for this district has been used except enough to run the school about six weeks, and the next apportionment will not be available until the first of January.
Therefore instead of having the
the school open for a few weeks
now and then have to close, the directors think it better to wait and begin about the middle of November, then by the time the present money is exhausted the other will be available, and the school can go right on without interruption through the spring.

Church Conference.

Instead of the regular prayer meeting at the Baptist church tonight there will be held a conference. All the members of the church are requested to be present as they will find out hereafter that they are interested in what is to be done tonight.

THE FURNITURE MEN

AYDEN WAYS

Are Not All "Ways of Pleasantness"

And her paths not all "paths of peace," but it is to be hoped that her days of shot guns, pistols, knives and knucks are now to be numbered with the things of the past. Now that some of the turbulent and beligerant element among us seems to have subsided or departed, it is to be hoped that the figure Ayden township will cut on the docket of the September court, will not again be repeated. Ayden is in a quiet, salubrious state at this writing.

Our merchants have all returned from the north where they purchased big stocks of fall goods. The largest, handsomest, the best, and most attractive they have ever had.

Ayden is now almost in sight of a sixty thousand a day steam saw mill. Whether it will become a reality and Ayden's first step toward anything like public enterprise that would add to her volume of trade, and add to the value of real estate, remains to be seen.

One thing is certain no town depending on her country trade, can continue to build up and increase in population, without giving her laboring classes employment, and I predict that unless this is done promptly you will find vacant houses on every street in town.

Sing-a-Linktum Here.

Mr. D. A. Bodenheimer, the limber-lipped, twisted-tongued tobacco auctioneer, of Danville, has been spending a few days with the boys on the Greenville market. When he saw the great breaks this morning he could not resist the temptation of singing a few hymns to the buyers. He just laid one jaw down in the palm of his left hand and turned the other side loose. That was enough and here it went "Sing-a-ling-linktum, quarter and half, seven dollars round and Parham gets 'em." Umph! Did you ever hear the band start up all of a sudden on the corner and see the crowd rush around? That was about the way it was on the break this morning. When Mr. Bodenheimer opened his music box the whole crowd just gathered right up and looked on with amazement. They actually had to stop the sale long enough to get the crowd to make room for the buyers. He sold 900 piles in two and a half hours.

Type Must be Mixed.

In a Henderson letter to the Raleigh Post the following item appears:

At Oxford on Sunday last Mr. Ernest Chatham of this place married Mrs. Doctor Munn, the daughter of the late Major Latham of Granville and former Representative of the First Congressional district, North Carolina. The happy couple passed through Henderson yesterday on their way north.

From the connection of the above there is perhaps an error in the name, and the lady in question is probably Mrs. Dr. Brown, formerly of Greenville.

Raising the Wires.

A Western Union line crew in charge of Lineman J. C. Duane is here rebuilding the wires where they cross the river. The wires have been causing trouble at that point and are to be raised higher. Poles 63 feet high are being placed on each side of the river. It took two flat cars together to bring the poles here.
