BETHEL MURDER TRIAL.

Case Against Slayers of Constable Bryant.

This morning the trial of Cullen Moore, Hoyt Moore and Wm. H. Wilkins, charged with the murder of Constable Elisha Bryant, at Bethel, last May, was taken up. C. B. Aycock appeared with Solicitor Moore in the prosecution and Skinner & Wedbee appeared for the defense.

In selecting the jury three of the regular panel were taken, the others being called from the venire. They are as follows: J. F. Joyner, W. E. Boyce, B. J. Skinner, Wm. McArthur, Edward Flanagan, Thos. C. Hardee, N. T. Cox, B. T. Smith, Hardy Stokes, J. H. Flangan, W. J. Fleming, H. B. Smith.

The jury was empaneled and one witness for the State examined before court adjourned for dinner. There are quite a number of witnesses on both sides.

HELD UP ON THE ROAD.

Mr. A. A. Forbes Has An Exciting Adventure

Mr. A. A. Forbes had a very exciting experience Saturday evening. He was coming home through the country from Kinston to spend Sunday, and had purchased two boxes of chickens on the way to bring home with him. About an hour by sun he was a little less than three miles from town and while passing through a swamp a colored man jumped from the side of the road, grabbed the bridle with one hand and a shaft of the buggy with the other and stopped the horse. Then with an oath the man told Mr. Forbes to get out of the buggy. Mr. Forbes replied that if he did not turn the horse loose he would kill him. The man repeated his oaths and again demanded Mr. Forbes to get out of the buggy, that he wanted to talk to him. Mr. Forbes says he had no pistol, and realizing that something must be done and done quickly he sprang from his buggy. A step or two brought him in reach of the negro when he dealt him a blow with his fist on the neck that landed the negro in the road. In an instant Mr. Forbes had his feet on his neck and was getting out a pocket knife to cut him when the negro began begging piteously and saying he was just in fun. Mr. Forbes let him get up and with a good scolding let him go. The negro was a stranger to him and in the excitement of the moment he did not learn his name.

Fair Marshals.

In Saturday's Raleigh Post is published a list of the marshals of the coming State fair, among which are the following of interest:

Grimesland, N. C.—J. B. Grimes. Greenville, N. C.—Hugh Holcomb, Curtis Gary, Henry Strause, Dr. R. L. Carr, W. H. Dail, Jr., C. S. Forbes, J. L. Little, J. S. Cherry, J. J. Cherry, Jr.

That's Why.

Since publishing the court proceedings in Saturday's REFLECTOR the question has been asked several times, why are convicts sent from Pitt county to work on the roads of Edgecombe county? The reason is because Pitt county has no "chain gang" and no arrangement for working convicts on the public roads. If we did have such arrangement we could work our own convicts and would have better public roads.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1899.

The judgment of the people of Pitt county suffered a severe strain soon after the Dongola murder and arson, but now that the author of the crime has been tried, convicted and sentenced to pay the penalty upon the gallows, their wrought up feelings have relaxed and they are satisfied. Now, too, they see the wisdom of restraining their feelings and letting the law take its course. It was an atrocious, cold-blooded crime, and there was a time when it was feared the enraged people would take the law in their own hands and deal with the perpetrator. THE REFLECTOR now wishes to commend them for letting their better judgment prevail and that no violence was done. Pitt county has never had a lynching and we hope we may never have to record the occurrence of one within her borders.

U. S. S. GLACIER,
 CAVITE, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS,
 MY DEAR FATHER:

Since writing to mother events have developed in rapid succession, but those events were not of special interest. At Singapore I saw something of the Chinaman in his home, for most of the inhabitants there are Chinese. This was interesting of course, but the Chinese are such dirty people that there is little pleasure in studying them. The most interesting new things I saw in Singapore were some varieties of tropical fruits, the mangosteen and the dorian. The first is a purple fruit about the size of an orange. You cut around it as though to cut it in half and remove the rind and you find a white pulp that is delicious beyond expression. The dorian is very much like a pineapple and is said to have a very delicate flavor, but it is an abomination to the sense of smell. It has been called "the king fruit of the tropic" and it is certainly strong enough in one sense to be a king. I mention these little things because they are characteristic of Singapore. We left there on July 10th and stood up the China Sea among the groups of small islands, past Borneo, the home of the celebrated wild man, and arrived here on the fifteenth, sooner than we first expected. We are anchored off Cavite, five miles below Manila, on the scene of the battle of May 1st. One of the wrecks is in plain sight from our anchorage and only about a mile away. Even officers are not allowed on shore after dark, and so I have not yet been to Manila and cannot yet give you any views of the place. However, I have talked freely with a number of officers and it is quite evident that there is a lot of fighting yet to be done after the rainy season is over, and the Navy will come in for a share. I find that most of the volunteers have been returned to the States. The climate here seems to be very disagreeable, but with proper precautions it need not necessarily prove injurious, especially on board ship. It showers continually, but there has been a good breeze blowing ever since our arrival, and that makes the weather bearable. The most noticeable thing is that it enervates one and makes exertion seem to require the most tremendous effort.

I do not yet know what disposition will be made of me, but I will probably remain on the Glacier for a few months at least. We expect to go to Hong Kong in the next few weeks and will probably remain there about two weeks. After that we will return to Manila, finish discharging our cargo and then go to Australia for another load of beef. Then I may be detached and sent back to the States, and I shall be very much pleased if this is done, but it is not at all certain. I will write from Hong Kong and as often thereafter as I can, but in the Philippines the mail facilities are not of the very best, but you all must write often so that every mail may bring me letters. Even if I am in China when they come they will welcome me when I return to Manila.

Your devoted son,
 LYMAN A. COTTEN.

Bob Deal Wants a Possum Dog.

The smoke of the 'lasses boiler is about in the land shedding its sweet, sticky perfume; the sweet potato is mellow and juicy, and 'simmons and 'possums are getting ripe. If the trusts and the Philippine war will let us alone, we'll try to be happy as long as these things last. By the way if anybody has a fine 'possum dog they wish to exchange for old waste papers, call at this office.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

The State Buys Two Farms.

The executive committee of the penitentiary has completed the purchase of the two Caledonia farms in Halifax county, and accepted the deeds for them. The price was $61,665 for 7,290 acres. The committee will shortly visit the Anson farm with a view to its purchase. The purchase of the Caledonia farms will mean the abandonment by the State of other farms, including the rice farms, so soon as the terms of lease expire.

The only white men in the Second Congressional District who will oppose the constitutional amendment, are a few political prostitutes who hope to be boosted into office by and through the ignorant negro vote.—Mt. Olive Advertisement.

Stokes county can boast of three brothers (Southern by name) whose combined ages is 256 years. Their respective ages are 80, 87, 89. These three brothers live within two miles of one another and are hale and hearty.

The Superintendent of Public Schools of Indianapolis says that prosperity does not have the effect of increasing the number of children in the educational institutions. "The fact is," he says, "that prosperity decreases the number of pupils—in the high schools particularly—because there is work to be had, and boys from twelve years up turn their backs on school and take the jobs offered."

In the South, there are 29 negroes in prison out of every 1,000. In the North, there are 69 out of 1,000. And yet, the Raleigh News and Observer says, the North lectures the South upon not treating the negro so as to make him a better citizen.

The Buffalo Commercial is responsible for an effort to revive the overworked, worn out Dewey pun. It says: "The only Sousa will lead the procession with his band, and will play a new march, composed in honor of the event, from early morn to Dewey eve."

Like the good sailor he is, Rear Admiral Schley says he will obey the order for him to assume command of the South Atlantic Squadron, if it is issued by the Navy Department. So far the only order issued directs him to hold himself in readiness to take that command. Meanwhile, Schley, the man whose honors in the Spanish war are second only to those of Admiral Dewey, will go to New York to participate, as a private citizen, in the welcome of his old friend, Dewey. Such is the result of not standing in with the clique.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

The third trial of William H. Ponton for bank robbery, at Nanpaw, Ont., resulted in his acquittal.

A Vancouver (B. C.) theatrical proprietor has offered Captain Dreyfus $1,000 a day to lecture one year in Europe and America.

Platinum worth $185 a pound and running five to six pounds to the ton has been discovered in the Cupple Hill gold mine, near Hot Springs, Ark.

Told by Mother.
 "My wife was one day to visit her sister who lives in California," said her brother-in-law. "I was unable to go with her because of being detained here by some business that needed my attention. I went with her sister and saw her safely on an evening train and then came back. But before I left her I looked up the matter and gave him half of a $5 bill that I had then in two, saying that my wife had the other half and that he would get that at the end of the journey if he would see that she needed for nothing on the trip."
 The porter's eyes stuck out, and he faithfully promised that my wife would receive the best of care; so I came away feeling that she would not lack for anything.

"When I returned home I discovered to my horror that I had neglected to give my wife the other half of the bill. Today I received a letter from her reminding me of that fact and saying that she had torn a dollar bill in two and given it to the porter.
 "Somewhere along the line there must be a wild-eyed ducky with the halves of two worthless bills in his possession and a firm conviction that he has been worked by some sort of a new financial game.
 "I am very anxious to have my wife return so I can find out from her what sort of reasoning she used when she gave that porter a half instead of the whole of that $1 bill."—Detroit Free Press.

THEY COURT.

Some at One Bar, Some at Another.

Joe Rawls left this morning for Bertie county.

C. B. Aycock, of Goldsboro, is attending court this week.

Mrs. J. T. Matthews returned this morning from a visit to Kinston.

R. R. Cotten left this morning for a trip of inspection of the State farms.

W. G. Moseley, who has been spending some weeks here, left this morning for Richmond.

J. A. Andrews has gone to house keeping in one of the buildings belonging to H. A. Sutton.

Better to Hold.

We believe the farmers will be wise to make no haste in getting clear of their cotton crop. The outlook is that prices will go considerably higher. We have heard some dealers say they believed the price would reach 7 cents before Christmas and that it would go to 8 cents before spring. At any rate it does not look like the farmer can lose anything by holding. The crop is not near so large as it has been estimated and when this fact becomes well known prices will go higher.

Cotton Hay.

Up to about ten years ago, the cotton planters of the South simply picked the staple, had it ginned and put it on the market. The cotton seed counted for nothing. The farmers saved out enough for planting the next year's crop and the balance went to the compost heap. Later on, with the establishment of oil mills, the seed became a source of great profit, being converted into oil for commercial purposes, hulls and meal for food and for fertilizers. It was thought that with this, the cotton plant had been worked for its full market value, but it appears that at last the troublesome top crop has been turned to a commercial use, and one of the possibilities of the future is cotton hay as a forage.

The idea originates with Mr. F. M. Sims, a farmer of Wilkes county, Ga., who has gone on the local market with several bundles of what he calls cotton hay. He says he has tested this new forage by feeding it to horses and cattle, and they eat it with a relish. The hay is prepared by cutting off the top of the cotton weed, which has had such a luxuriant growth since the recent rains, and which comes too late to mature. It is argued that this uppergrowth not only fails to mature, but is robbing the lower portion of the stalk and sapping the land of its growth-giving properties, giving nothing in return in the shape of staple. Perhaps this idea of Mr. Sims' is worth investigating by the farmers of Mecklenburg.—Charlotte Observer.

Alphonso Cortez Page.

Died in the naval hospital at Cavite arsenal, Philippines, on April 30, 1899, of a fever contracted in discharge of his duties as a soldier during the present Filipino war, Alphonso C. Page, son of John W. Page and Ann E. Whichard his wife. Was born in Carolina township, Pitt county, North Carolina, on the 17th day of August, 1871, where he lived till he reached the age of 17, when he decided to leave his fond parental roof and go forward and try to make a name for himself that would reflect great credit upon his parents and his native State. He began work in the timber business near Tarboro, N. C., and continued successful in that line of work till he received injuries that necessitated his withdrawal from that kind of work and in the year of 1890 he joined the army at Fort Monroe, remaining there about one year, afterwards taking sail in a vessel bound for Brazil. For two long years his parents heard nothing of him till one day a letter came stating he had been cruising almost over the world and in 1894, Nov. 26th, he concluded to join the U. S. S. Vermont which he did at Atlanta. He was transferred from one ship to another till nine had seen service, the last being the Monadnock. He began at the bottom round and by hard work and close attention to duty he was gradually promoted to the command of Chief Master-at-arms on March 1st, 1899. A promotion from his credentials, well deserved by the man. X.

The Worst on Record.

The Republican leaders have about agreed upon Marion Butler as the fusion candidate for Governor. From Senator to Governor is a bit of a come-down, but this will be nothing to what he will experience after the votes are counted, in case he decides to run.—Durham Sun.

What the Farmers Are Thinking.

The Crown Cotton Mills at Dalton, Ga., last year declared a dividend of 43 per cent and this year of 93 cent. This shows a tremendously profitable business, and would seem to indicate that as between the growers of cotton and the manufacturers of cottons there ought to be a more equitable distribution of earnings—Philadelphia Record.
