PARMELE ITEMS.

Personal and Other Notes.

PARMELE, N. C., Sept. 30, 1899

Mrs. Albert Jones and three children, Miss Mamie Toppin and Joe Johnson, of Williamston, spent last Sunday here visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Maggie Winerly and children, of Robersonville, are visiting Mrs. Dr. Ricks this week.

Miss Alice Walters, of Plymouth, is visiting Mrs. W. J. Smith.

C. R. Speight, who has been very sick, is out again.

Mrs. R. L. Brown came to town yesterday to have a fellow on her thumb opened.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Z. White left here last week for Jacksonville, N. C., where they will spend some time with Mrs. White's people.

Robt. H. Mitchel, of Edenton, has accepted a clerkship with White & Co.

The Presbyterian church presents a beautiful appearance in its new dress of paint. Mr. Daniel Gibb deserves much credit for his excellent taste in the selection of the colors with which the church is trimmed.

Miss Marrietta Peyton, of Ohio, has returned, after spending several weeks with Mrs. P. L. Goslin, of this place.

Rev. L. Jackson left last Monday for his old home near Morehead City.

Constable Glisson is having the street put in good order now.

The A. C. L. pump at this point is broken down which is giving trains lots of bother. The P. E. L. Co. is supplying the locomotives with water from their reservoir, through a small hose. This consumes a long time to fill up a tender.

J. H. Saunderi went to Rocky Mount today.

Rev. Mr. Harper, of Smithfield, N. C., preached here last Sunday in the Presbyterian church.

Odd Fellows Lecture

Rev. I. A. Canfield will lecture on the "initiatory degree" at the Odd Fellows hall tomorrow night. It is the regular meeting night and every Odd Fellow is expected to be present. Mr. Canfield is a fine speaker and you will hear something good.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Eight During Week, Twenty-Nine During Month.

Register of Deeds Moore issued eight marriage licenses last week to the following parties:

WHITE.

W. T. Forest and Gertrude H. Harris.

Charles E. Flynn and Laura B. Early.

Frank L. Thigpen and Ida M. Moore.

Jas. C. Cannon and Mary Alice Carman.

A. E. Little and Dora L. Smith.

COLORED.

Henry McLawhorn and Leona Dixon.

William Lewis and Annie Peyton.

J. F. Brooks and Hattie Mills.

The total number issued during the month of September was twenty-nine, fifteen to white couples and fourteen to colored.

MAYOR'S COURT.

Mayor J. G. Moye has disposed of the following cases since last report:

Thos. Williams and David Sermons, drunk and afay, fined $2.50 and costs each, total amount $10.50.

William Randolph, disorderly and profane language, fined one penny and costs, $2.66.

William Moore, disorderly and profane language, fined one penny and costs, $3.16.

Chas. Evans and Estelle Rollins, disorderly. Rollins not guilty. Evans fined $1 and costs, total $6.55.

Thos. Williams, driving on sidewalk at depot, fined one penny and costs, $2.76.

Flanagan-Hooker.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. E. G. Flanagan and Miss Rosa Hooker in the Memorial Baptist church on the 18th at 8 o'clock A. M. No cards have been issued to friends in town but all are invited. A public reception will be held at the home of the bride on the evening of the 17th.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1899.

In the test suit brought by Raleigh merchant against the city relative to an ordinance prohibiting signs on the streets, the city won. The Mayor ordered the signs to come down at once.

A Cincinnati drummer happened to put up at a table at Columbus with a number of legislators, and the curious way in which they addressed each other greatly bored the commercial traveler. It was, "Will the gentleman from Hardin do this," and "the gentleman from Franklin do that." They invariably spoke to each other as the gentleman from whatever county they happened to hail from.

Rough on the Old man.

A good story is told of a young man who, besides being of the spendthrift order, is a splendid mimic and can imitate his father's voice to a nicety.

Not long ago the young man wanted, without delay, an amount of money, and he knew that the father would treat a request for the same with cold contempt. Waiting till he knew that his father would be away he went to a telephone call-room and rang up the office, calling for the cashier.

"I say, Bank, if that scapegrace of a son of mine comes round and asks for £20 don't give it to him. Only give him £10."

The cashier promised that he would fulfill the demands. Not longer after the son called at the office and demanded £20. He was refused by the conscientious cashier, and, apparently in anger, the young man contented himself with the £10.

When the old man reached the office there was a scene.

The circus people are complaining very bitterly at the high taxes on shows fixed by the last legislature. The Robinson circus cut out its riding to get rid of part of the tax, and they say they will not come into the state again until the tax is reduced. The Wallace people are paying their full tax everywhere, but they say it will not be possible for them to visit us again until it is reduced.

Pretty Lively Pooling.

I was out walking in Kingston, Jamaica, one afternoon, and while on a narrow side street I came upon two black women, each apparently in a towering rage. Each woman's tongue was going at a phenomenal rate, but not a word of their screeching jargon was intelligible to me.

Finally one of the women scooped up a double handful of the ever present Kingston dust and flung it over the other woman with a wild shriek of laughter. The dust covered woman retaliated by taking a tin pan she had in her hand and scooping up a couple of quarts of the dirty water in the gutter by the roadside drenched her assailant with it, while all that part of Kingston resounded with the mad laughter. The two women then closed in on each other and proceeded to engage in a prolonged wrestle, which resulted in both of them falling to the ground, where they rolled over and over in a cloud of dust and finally stood upon their feet, facing each other in a state of dirt and disorder beyond description.

Fearing that they would make a second onslaught on each other and wishing to play the part of peacemaker, I stepped forward and asked: "What is the trouble?"

Courtesying low, one of the women said in a soft, drawling voice: "No trouble at all, mastah; we's jess foolin'."—Harper's Bazar.

The Only Place to Put Them.

"I say," said a friend the other day, "you are an old hand at it. I have only just got married and don't understand much about the business. I should like to know whether a married man has any rights left when he takes unto himself a wife?"

"Rights? Yes, lots. He has a right to pay all the bills!"

"Stop! I mean this. Let me give you an instance. Every box, every chest of drawers and portmanteau and in fact every available receptacle of every description is stuffed full of my wife's property, and when I want to put away a few cuffs and collars—"

"Hold hard. I know what you mean. Listen, young man. If your bedroom were 200 yards long, lined from the door to the ceiling with shelves, and you wanted a place to stow away a couple of shirts, you couldn't find a nook that wasn't full of hairpins, scent bottles, odd gloves, pieces of ribbon, odd feathers and artificial flowers, little bits of tape and buttons galore, with pins and needles thrown in, so just accept the inevitable. Wrap your personal property in an old newspaper parcel and hide it under the bed."

He grinned ironically, but passed on a sadder and wiser man.—London Tid-Bits.

Fruitless.

"Maria, at last it has come!" The hitherto careworn face of the middle aged husband had taken on a new brilliancy, and his whole attitude was expressive of some sudden joy.

"Yes," said he triumphantly, "after a lifetime passed in ceaseless endeavor for your sake I am at last rewarded. My invention has been sold and a fortune awaits me. Think, Maria, of what this means to you! You will never have to make me another shirt or cravat as long as you live!"

His wife looked at him with reproachful glance.

"James," she said tenderly, "I hope I shall never be too proud for that. No matter, James, how rich you shall be it will always be my greatest pleasure and privilege to make your shirts and ties."

Her husband did not reply, but a few moments later, alone in his own room, he bowed his head over his clasped hands and muttered in bitter anguish: "Alas, the labor of a lifetime spent for naught!"—Town Topics.

Chinese Sun and Moon.

In China the sun and moon are brother and sister. The moon is the elder brother, who looks after his rather silly sister, the sun. This is exactly the reverse of our legends, which make the sun the day king and the gentle moon lady of the night.

One day in China, so the legend runs, the sun asked the moon if she couldn't go out at night. The moon answered very sternly: "No. You are a young lady, and it would be improper for you to go out after dark." Then the sun said, "But the people keep looking at me when I go out in the daytime." So the moon told her to take the golden needles that she wore in her hair and stick them into the eyes of people when they stared at her. This is the reason why no one can look at the sun without pain.

A Conservative Parrot.

A correspondent of The Spectator tells of an aged parrot of most conservative instincts. The owner had recently a new carpet in her dining room, where the parrot lives, and Polly made herself quite ill with her strong objection to this innovation. She screamed "Take it away!" till she was exhausted, and at last she refused to eat her food till they brought a square of the old carpet and put it around the cage. She then at once became cheerful and reconciled to life, though she will never take her walks abroad beyond her beloved piece of old carpet.

His Uncontagious Laugh.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you." How true that is," said Mr. Higgleston. "To have written just that line was worth living for."

"Oh, I don't know about that," Mrs. Higgleston replied. "I admit that there is a good deal of philosophy in the poem from which those words are taken, but it isn't always true."

"My dear," Mr. Higgleston exclaimed, "you are mistaken. It is always true. 'Laugh and the world laughs with you.' It's as true as anything that has ever been written. The whole philosophy of human existence is bound up in those few words."

"The whole philosophy of human existence may be bound up in them," the lady responded, "but I insist that it doesn't always happen that way. I've noticed that you always laugh when you try to tell a funny story, but it's very seldom that the world laughs with you."

Mr. Higgleston drew himself up with all the dignity he could command and, striding angrily from the room, exclaimed: "As Milton says in his 'Essay on Man,' 'How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a sneering wife.'"—New York Telegram.

When Lincoln Died.

And so the hours passed without perceptible change in the president's condition and with only slight shifting of the scene around him. The testimony of those who had witnessed the murder began to be taken in an adjoining room. Occasionally the figures at the bedside changed. Mrs. Lincoln came in at intervals, sobbing out her grief, and then was led away. This man went, another took his place. It was not until daylight that there came a perceptible change. Then the breathing grew quieter, the face became more calm.

The doctors at Lincoln's side knew that dissolution was near. Their bulletin of 6 o'clock read, "Pulse failing;" that of half past 6, "Still failing;" that of 7, "Symptoms of immediate dissolution," and then at 22 minutes past 7, in the presence of his son, Secretaries Stanton, Welles and Usher, Attorney General Speed, Senator Sumner, Private Secretary Hay, Dr. Gurley, his pastor, and several physicians and friends, Abraham Lincoln died.

There was a prayer, and then the solemn voice of Stanton broke the stillness. "Now he belongs to the ages."—McClure's Magazine.

Only Jar of Its Kind.

Horace Walpole tells a lively story of an old porcelain vender, who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price. One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British isles occasionally experience, jogged his house about, his ears and split his porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune. He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that. Whether he got his money is not added, but he certainly deserved it.

Had Left For Paris Unknown.

In a murder trial in Dallas the counsel for the defense was examining a venal man regarding his qualifications to serve. The candidate admitted that he had once been a member of a jury which tried a negro for murder. It is not permissible in such cases to ask the result of the trial, so the counsel said: "Where is that negro now?"

"I don't know," was the reply. "The sheriff hanged him at the appointed time."—Law Notes.

Modest Appeal.

The attention of English speaking visitors to the World Medical is readily attracted by the following notice which appears in one of our papers:

"Appeal to Chemists. The Brothers, so called, of the city of London, are desirous of procuring for their business all the necessary chemicals for the purpose of their business."

WINE OF CARDUI

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has demonstrated ten thousand times that it is almost infallible

FOR WOMAN'S PECULIAR WEAKNESSES,

irregularities and derangements. It has become the leading remedy for this class of troubles. It exerts a wonderfully healing, strengthening and soothing influence upon the menstrual organs. It cures "whites" and falling of the womb. It stops flooding and relieves suppressed and painful menstruation. For Change of Life it is the best medicine made. It is beneficial during pregnancy, and helps to bring children into homes barren for years. It invigorates, stimulates, strengthens the whole system. This great remedy is offered to all afflicted women. Why will any woman suffer another minute with certain relief within reach? Wine of Cardui only costs $1.00 per bottle at your drug store.

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Rev. J. W. SMITH, Camden, S. C., says: "My wife used Wine of Cardui at home for falling of the womb and it entirely cured her."

King, at Tarboro and E. J. Hocutt at Washington.

Your Local Paper.

An exchange drawing the following contrast between the local paper and the foreign city paper, makes the point in favor of the former, as a matter of fact. It says:

You may be able to get a large city paper filled with murders, cock fights, scandal cases, etc., for less money than you pay for your local paper, but these city papers never advertise your community and make the property more valuable. They do not help along your schools, churches and public enterprises, they do not publish your home news; they say nothing good of you, your town, or your neighborhood; they take no interest in you. A good newspaper is as much of an advantage to a town or county as are good schools. Stand by your home paper, it will stand by you, and is ever on the lookout for your interest.

Don'ts For The Eyes.

Someone has compiled an excellent set of "don'ts for the eyes," and while not wholly applicable to children alone, another will find them well worth heeding.

Don't allow a cold wind to strike the eyes.

Don't try to do eye work with the light shining in the face.

Don't go directly from a warm room into a cold, raw atmosphere.

Takes charge of the Church
Rev. J. N. Booth began his pastorate of the Memorial Baptist church on Sunday, and preached excellent sermons both morning and evening. He announced that on next Sunday he would begin a series of services that would continue all the week following.

Advertising in the Right Way.
To advertise profitably is to advertise judiciously. In the first place, it is essential to select a first class newspaper in which to describe a store and its goods. An advertising authority says: "Using a leading publication in a place economizes effort and expenditure." Then the method and scope of advertising are to be considered. The business announcements should be such as to at once attract the notice of the public. They must impart information in pithy yet comprehensive statements which will satisfy the reader and bring out the exclamation: "Now, that's just what I am after!" A store advertised in that manner will get patrons, and the patrons will advertise the store.—Philadelphia Record.
