VACANCIES IN THE A. & M. COLLEGE.

Entrance Examinations to be Held in the County Court House December 16, 1899.

Young men desiring to enter the A. & M. College at Raleigh may be examined Saturday, December 16, 1899, at the County Court-house of this county, at 10 o'clock A. M., by the County Superintendent of Schools. The subjects of examination are Arithmetic (complete), Algebra (to fractions), English Grammar and American History. There will probably be about twenty-five vacancies in the College, and young men will be selected to fill these vacancies who pass the best examinations and have the best endorsements as to character. This is a rare opportunity for worthy boys to fit themselves for success in life by means of a practical education. Those desiring to be admitted would do well to write to president Winston, Raleigh, N. C.

Light Court.

The department of the town continues to grow better, if the docket of Mayor Moye's court can be taken as an index. This Monday morning he again had no cases to try and has had only one case in a week.

The one case was against John Brown and Washington Mayo, charged with riotous and disorderly conduct. Brown was found guilty and fined one penny and half the costs, amounting to $2.33. Mayo was recognized for his appearance at January term of Superior court, he having used a deadly weapon in the difficulty.

Will Not Prove Himself Guilty.

It is simply incredible that in view of the Supreme Court's decision in the Abbott case, S. Otho Wilson should now sue for salary and for a place on the Corporation Commission. He resigned his position as a Railroad Commissioner, and the Legislature accepted it and voted him his salary from the time of his removal by Governor Russell to the date of his resignation. To go back now from his own act and seek to nullify his own resignation would be an act of bad faith of which we do not propose to believe that any white man in North Carolina would be guilty until he proves it himself.—Charlotte Observer.

A Smile in Each.

Even the crown of success sometimes pinches.

The man who says what he thinks is often silent.

The servant girl's question: "How long will she stay?"

No, Maude, dear, it doesn't take a battery of artillery to canonize a bishop.

The hero's lot is not a happy one, especially if there happens to be a house on it.

It's a wonder somebody doesn't write a book for girls, with the last chapter first.

It is a mistake to imagine that all the old girls who used spinning wheels were spinsters.

First Burglar—"The man that lives in this house is a big gun."
Second Burglar—"Let's rifle it."

The young wife's ideals begin to be shattered when she sees her husband put his feet on the best chair.

A man can usually get a shave and a haircut in less time than it takes his wife to say good-by to a casual caller.—Philadelphia Record.

Many people are never "buried in thought," because they haven't got soil enough.

It is an excellent thing that some people are willing to pray for those in distress—for that is about all they do.

Closed His Term

Presiding Elder B. R. Hall preached in the Methodist church Sunday night. This is probably his last visit to the church here in the capacity of Presiding Elder, he having now served out four years on this district, which is the limit given by the Conference for a man to remain at one place. Dr. Hall has made hosts of friends on his field and we are sure there are many who would be glad could he serve the district longer.

It is very gratifying to note the spirit of unity and cordial co-operation that is growing between all classes, and especially between the country and town. It is absolutely necessary for the progress and growth of our common country that the town and country must get together and keep together. The press, banks and merchants and even manufacturers recently united their efforts to prevent the farmers being victimized in the sale of their present crop. While the interest of the town and country is not identical, it is mutual and interdependent. Let peace, harmony, co-operation and mutual helpfulness prevail.—Shelby Aurora.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1899.

Nearly 10,000,000 Magazines a Year.

The circulation of The Ladies Home Journal for 1899 reached the enormous aggregate of 9,815,826 copies, an average of 817,986 copies for each of the twelve issues of the year. It has been shown by a comprehensive postal canvass that each Journal is read by eight persons; consequently, these figures reveal the astonishing fact that each issue is read by about one person in every eight or ten in the United States who can read and write English.

The Charleston News and Courier supposes that "it is the experience of every newspaper in the country that there is not more than one man out of a thousand who has received consideration from the newspapers, that ever thinks it worth while to be polite to them." It does not know "why it is, but, but it seems to be the rule among those who receive favors not to make any acknowledgment of them as a matter of right rather than as an act of grace." And there is still another phase of the case. While the man who receives kindly consideration from the newspaper is generally dumb, let it say something disagreeable about one and it will hear from him though he be on the other side of the Rocky mountains. It is the old case of the cat which makes no sign so long as its hair is brushed toward the tail but which pricks up its ears whenever the fur is stroked the wrong way.—Charlotte Observer.

Dr. Lindley, of the chair of psychology in the Indiana University says a Cincinnati Enquirer correspondent, has brought to that institution Arthur Griffith, aged 19, for the purpose of investigating the limit of the youth's remarkable power as a "lightning calculator." He knows the multiplication up to 130, has a knowledge of the squares up to 130, and the cubes to 100. He knows the fourth powers up to twenty. His particular skill is in finding short methods of operation. He has devised forty-seven methods of multiplication, six of division, six of addition and three of subtraction. He can multiply two five-place numbers in six seconds. Although not having studied algebra his mind has approximated the binomial theorem. Griffith was born in Milford, Kosciusko county. Dr. Lindley says he is not a simple calculator, but that he belongs to the higher class.

Wrong motives for action bring ruin in their train; right motives cannot fail to bring success. "Right for right's sake" is the only safe guide for our children, as for ourselves. And it is a sufficient one. Contrary to the accepted idea of many grown people, a child can grasp it. I am not sure but that often a child can grasp this truth much more clearly than an adult, because the youthful mind is less befogged by worldly wisdom.—December Ladies, Home Journal.

A suit has been begun against the Raleigh Morning Post for libel. It is brought by J. R. Brooks of the former firm of Brooks & Cooper, furniture dealers, of Wilson. It will be remembered that State Insurance Commissioner Young made an investigation of the fire which occurred in Brooks & Cooper's store, and Brooks and Cooper were tried before a magistrate on the charge of setting fire to their own store. The Raleigh Post is now sued for damages because, as is alleged in the suit, it made a positive statement that Brooks and Cooper had set fire to the store. The amount for which the suit is brought has not been given. Messrs F. A. and S. A. Woodard are the counsel for Mr. J. R. Brooks.—Wilson News.

The story is current in Washington that President McKinley will acknowledge the meritorious services of General Joseph Wheeler, General Fitzhugh Lee and General James Wilson, of the volunteers, by appointing them and retiring them with the rank of brigadier general in the regular service. This would be a very suitable way of honoring these distinguished soldiers and at the same time providing for them in the future. No doubt the Senate would willingly confirm appointments so well deserved.—Philadelphia Record.

It is said that Admiral Dewey's son receives a sample every time an article named for Dewey is put on the market, whether it be a cravat, a collar, a hat, cigar, a brand of whiskey or anything else. He has adorned his room with these samples, and it is probably the most remarkably decorated room in America.—Philadelphia Record.

If the admirers of the old man had sent along the babies named for him to the young man, George Jr., might have a room full of them also.

Saved Two Lives.
 Mr. Pnceer—You expect to be in San Francisco next week? By the way, you know where my aunt out there lives. I have just written a letter to her. Would you mind delivering it some day as you pass the house?
 Mr. Pnceer's Friend—No; but I might forget it. I think I'll just put a stamp on it and drop it into the first letter box.
 Mr. Pnceer—All right. I don't care how you get it to her.—Chicago Tribune.

The Great Debate.
 When the uncertainty had become well nigh intolerable, Science ventured to go to the Serpent directly.
 "Is it or is it not a fact, O Serpent," asked Science, "that you swallow your young when you are attacked?"
 "Well, I always try to hold my own," replied the Serpent modestly, "it is true, but evasively withal.
 And so the bitter controversy wages on.—Detroit Journal.

America's Position Among Nations.
 An English traveler who has recently been in this country remarks, in making a comparison between the principal great nations of the world, that "holy Russia is a formidable idea. Great Britain is a picturesque and pregnant idea, but the United States is a self-conscious, clearly defined and heretofore vindicated idea. In whose further vindication the whole world is concerned."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How It Happened.
 "Poor fellow! I fear he was badly hurt."
 "He was."
 "Well, I suppose he carried some accident insurance?"
 "Not a bit of it. He wanted to take out a policy, but in view of his business the companies declined on the ground that he was an extra hazardous risk."
 "What was his business?"
 "He was a canvasser for an accident insurance company."—Chicago Post.

Fish Poisoning.
 In the United States fish poisoning is most frequently due to decomposition in canned fish. The most prominent symptoms are nausea, vomiting and purging. Sometimes there is a scarlatinous rash, which may cover the whole body. The writer has studied two outbreaks of this kind of fish poisoning. In both instances canned salmon was the cause of the trouble. Although a discussion of the treatment of food poisoning is foreign to this paper, the writer must call attention to the danger in the administration of opiates in cases of poisoning with canned fish.

Vomiting and purging are efforts on the part of nature to remove the poison and should be assisted by the stomach tube and by irrigation of the colon. In one of the cases seen by the writer large doses of morphine had been administered in order to check the vomiting and purging and to relieve the pain. In this case death resulted. The danger of arresting the elimination of the poison in all cases of food poisoning cannot be too emphatically condemned.—Victor C. Vaughan in Popular Science Monthly.

About Capers.
 "About 8,000 kegs and barrels of capers, a small, sour berry resembling in color and shape a green pea, are annually imported into the United States from Spain and France," said a wholesale dealer in all sorts of foreign condiments in New York to the writer recently. "Capers grow on a bush, and are extensively used by all classes of cooks in this country for garnishing salads and making a sauce which is usually served with boiled mutton and other meats. There are four sizes of capers. The smallest are commercially known as nonpareils and the three other sizes are called capucines, capotes and surfines. The smallest capers are the most desirable and bring the most money. Very few capers are imported in glass. They are shipped to America in kegs and barrels, holding from 15 to 40 gallons of the berries in brine or vinegar. The work of bottling the capers is done by the wholesale dealers."—Washington Star.

Bridegroom's Fatal Indiscretion.
 A queer case of cannibalism is reported as having recently taken place in the Solomon islands. The Jeannette took from Noumea a Kanaka who had acted as orderly to the immigration office there and was on his honeymoon with his wife, intending to land at Aoba, where his wife's tribe lives. He, however, made the mistake of disembarking among the wrong tribe and was at once seized by the natives, overpowered, killed and eaten.
 The widow was provided by the tribe with a second husband.—London Mail.

The executive committee of the Democratic national committee, in session at Chicago last week, figured out the situation at follows:

There are 18 States which are Democratic anyhow, the Republicans having no chance to carry any one of them—Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia. These States have 162 electoral votes.

There are four States which are surely Democratic in a national fight, they being now nominally Republican—Delaware, Kansas, Kentucky and Wyoming—their strength in the electoral column being 29.

There are five States which are comparatively easy for the Democrats to carry next year—Indiana, West Virginia, Washington, California and South Dakota, with 38 electoral votes.

All these States together have 229 electoral votes, or a majority of the electoral column. Then there are four other States—the Democrats ought to carry if they expect to carry anything next year—Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota and Illinois, with Wisconsin as a strong probability.

A Big Find

Saturday morning a man named George Butts found a large whale washed ashore on Pleasant Beach, near Ocean View, below Norfolk. The big fish was 60 feet long and 20 feet through. It is supposed that the whale was struck by a steamer at sea and killed and the body washed ashore. It was a valuable prize for the finder.

Ed. H. Shelburn has an interesting talk for Thanksgiving in today's REFLECTOR. He comes in for a good space to tell about the many good things he has to help make you a good dinner on the day upon which we should all be thankful.

Oxford Orphan Asylum.

It has been the custom of the Masonic Lodge of Greenville to send a Thanksgiving offering to the Oxford Orphan Asylum every year, and the committee, R. W. King, J. N. Hart and S. M. Schultz, will be glad to receive your contribution this week. If you cannot send cash please send a contribution in kind to the store of Baker & Hart. This is an institution that appeals to our humanity, our Christianity and our patriotism. Remember the orphans.

"Mr. Dooley" advises, in the Ladies, Home Journal, those doctoring a man with "col" on the chest, "to 'get Casey's mixture for man an' baist, put him in bed, slap a mustard plaster on him that'll keep his mind employed, an' lave thim fight it out. May th' best man win. If the patient's alive in th' mornin' he'll not have stren'th to cough."
