THE TOY MAN.

A Tax on Brains.

Hon. John D. Bellamy has introduced a bill to put on the free list all articles that go into the manufacture of printing and writing paper. The passage of that bill would strike the paper trust a severe blow between the eyes and for that reason this Republican Congress will not permit its passage. McKinley has recently condemned trusts. That is a cheap and easy thing to do. If he was really in earnest he would secure the passage of Mr. Bellamy's bill and other like bills that give protection to trusts. The withdrawal of tariff duties would make room for competition and reduce prices to a reasonable basis.

The tribute the paper trust levies on the News and Observer is $6.60 a day, or over $2,000 a year, a burden greater than all taxation or the salary of any officer or employe of the company. The burden is levied in proportion to circulation on all newspapers in America. It is a tax on intelligence and one that could largely be reduced by the passage of Mr. Bellamy's bill. The newspapers are not as potent as the trusts in a national campaign now that money buys elections, and it is idle to hope this Congress will be allowed to reduce the amount of this extortion upon brains and intelligence. The trusts have bought the right to tax to their sweet content and Hanna will hold the Republican Congressmen up to the bargain.—Raleigh News and Observer.

They Roost High.

Mr. S. M. Schultz has some fowls that intend to be "out of reach" if any of the poultry yard visitors come around at night trying to make a haul for Christmas dinner. These fowls leave the yard and go to roost high up a tree on the sidewalk, where they rest securely on their high perch.

TOWN MATTERS.

Special Meeting of Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen held a special meeting Thursday night to hear the reports of the committees appointed at last meeting to look after the fire engine suit, the market house lease, and some other matters.

The market house committee reported that the property upon which the market buildings are located can be leased for a term of two years at $50 per year. Upon motion the report was adopted and the committee was authorized to have the lease prepared, signed and recorded.

The finance committee, to whom was referred the offer of compromise from the parties suing the town on notes for the hand engine, reported the extent of their investigation, and the committee was on motion instructed to effect a settlement or defend the suit further as they might deem best.

Petitions for retail liquor licenses for six months from Jan. 1st, 1900, from J. A. Briley, Jr. & Co., B. F. Jolly, E. L. Clark, F. Powell & Co., Joe Forbes, W. A. Bright, L. Hooker & Co., O. Hooker were granted.

Five Years Old.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR has been so busy of late that we overlooked sooner calling attention to the fact that the paper had reached another birthday and was five years old. The Daily was started on the 10th day of December, 1894, then only as an experiment, but that experiment has lengthened out into an uninterrupted existence of five years, with every year growing better than the preceding one.

The people know what THE REFLECTOR is and just what to expect of it, therefore it is not necessary to point to the future with any new promises. We shall continue to give you an honest, clean paper, endeavoring at all times to be an acceptable visitor into the homes and a faithful medium of communication for the business man.

Fruits of Saloons.

Money spent in saloons may feed and clothe the children of saloon keepers, but it brings hunger, nakedness and ignorance to the children of the drinker.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1899,

THERE SHOULD BE ORGANIZATION.

A gentleman who is one of the largest and best farmers in this section, and who recently made a trip through most of that portion of the State lying east of Raleigh, dropped in to have a talk with THE REFLECTOR about his travels and observations.

He says he noticed the farming interests carefully, and nowhere did he see a farming section that can surpass this. The country homes and appearance of the farms generally in this section are the equal of any he saw. And of the towns he said none of them were ahead of Greenville in handsome business houses, well filled stores and enterprising business men.

While on this trip he attended the convention of tobacco growers in Raleigh on the 6th. Speaking of this he said he was sorry that the convention was not largely attended so that more might have been accomplished in the interest of the tobacco farmers. The tobacco trust had secret representation there, who tried to hinder a concerted movement among the planters and prevent any action being taken by the convention, but he was glad that a determination not to be stopped in a warfare against the trust and its ruinous prices was shown, and that another meeting was called for January 17th.

This coming convention should have a larger attendance of representative planters from all the tobacco growing counties, and merchants and other business men interested in the farmers getting better prices for their tobacco should also be invited to participate in it. He said the war against the tobacco trust is on, and would be fought to a finish, and that at this convention on Jan. 17th questions would no doubt arise that would call for a co-operation of the farmers and business men for mutual protection against the trust. He hoped to see Pitt county become thoroughly aroused in this matter, effect a county organization at an early day and send a large representation to the convention in Raleigh.

THE REFLECTOR fully agrees with what the gentleman said and would suggest that the first Monday in January would be a good time to hold a meeting in Greenville and effect an organization for Pitt county. We would like to hear from Col. J. Bryan Grimes, who is President of the Tobacco Growers Association, on this suggestion, as the call for such a meeting should come through him.

Prosperity Coming.

The changes that will be made in staid old North Carolina within the next ten years would startle us if we could realize them now. The strides that have been made within the past five years equal in importance the prosperity of the past twenty-five. The corporations are forming and capital is fast flowing in. But the country districts are not keeping pace with the commercial centers, in fact the farmers are complaining as bitterly as ever. What the result of this class of prosperity will be it is hard to foretell. The battle royal between the people and the trusts appears to be on, and the trusts seem to be on the winning side. We are certainly not a pessimist—we hope also we are not a fawner. We may say, however, that we wish the old style of doing business in the South might not be displaced by the new. We believe that competition rather than capital ought to be the life of trade. We would regret to see the small tradesman or the small manufacturer crowded to the wall because of his weakness. We are frank to say that in such a case our sympathies are all the time with the little man. We are not ready to throw up our hat when we hear of vast combinations being formed all about us. There is a prosperity that, properly spelled, would be poverty. May the Lord deliver us from plutocracy and pauperism!—Charity and Children.

The Force Will Stay.
 Two Atlanta men decided recently that they would do a better thing with their money than to invest it in stocks and bonds, and they decided to invest it in the tobacco trust.
