One Organize for Pitt County.

The meeting was called to order by J. Bryan Grimes, President of the State Association.

The following officers were elected:

President-J. J. Laughinghouse. Vice President-R. R. Cotten.

Treasurer-W. M. Smith.

Delegates to State convention in Raleigh Jan. 17th; O. L. Joyner, R. R. Cotten, A. J. Moye, G. T. Tyson, J. J. Laughinghouse. Al ternates-S. M. Jones, W. J. Jackson, W. M. Smith, W. R. Smith,

There was discussion by many of those present about the low price of tobacco and the best way to reach a remedy. All believe that the trust is responsible for the low price of crops, and the prime purpose of the Tobacco Grower's Association is to break the control which the trust has of prices. To do this the farmers should have the co-operation of all other branches of industry.

These new times are just as good as the old times, for the girls are sweeter than honey, and when your heart is filled with love, what do you care for money?

McKinley evidently regards the Standard Oil crowd" as a pretty good friend to have, when a diffionlt and expensive campaign is coming on, judging from the way his Secretary of the Treasury is Avoring the National City Bank in the matter of depositing the inernal revenue receipts in that bank.

Miss Addie Williams, who for ten years has been city editor of the Charlotte Observer-and she is the best local editor in the State -has resigned her position on that paper and taken a similar position on the Charlotte News. The reason for the change is that Miss Williams found the night work required on the Observer too taxing for her, and the News being an afternoon paper makes her Work lighter. Mr. I. A. Avery THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD speceeds her on the Observer. He after a career of over twenty years B an excellent writer.

To Improve and Enlarge Business.

In all large mercantile establishm ats advertising is recognized as a necessary adjunct of the business Cerein conducted To secure custimers is as necessary as to employ besides a complete record of curderks; and it is as needful to sell gads as to buy them. Advertisis brings c. stomers and nelps the 10 to 14 pages, and to provide the merchant to sell; it makes the succasful business greater and enlar g sthe small one.-Philadelphia Becord.

He had a Vision.

News reaches here of a very sin guar and comantic marriage which daily circulation, exceeding 185, place in Baldwin township in Les county, on last Sunday, in Which Mr. Alas Harris, a very respeciable and well-to-do farmer, 73 Turs of age, and a Miss Hickman, assertion that in the quantity and maiden lady of some 35 or 40 summers, were the contracting parties. Sanday was a widower of some six weeks duration, claimes to have THE DAILY EDITION Been visited by the Lord in a trance on last Friday night in which it was commanded of him to betake himself on the following lady, a Miss Hickman, and state that in accordance with a special command from on high it was the solemn duty for the twain to be come united in the bonds of math.

The supposed vision resulted in Mr. Harris at once calling on the lady, proposing a marriage, being accepted, procuring a license here Saturday and being married on Sunday.—Special to Raleigh News and Observer.

Any Premium on Temperance?

At this season especially, when with a good time, which may include the intemperate use of food their business. or drink, the question can be asked is there any premium on temperance, outside of the mere physdrinking is likely to produce?

The recent order of a leading $3.00 railroad company, that all employes with his fellowmen, however limusing cigarettes should give up the ited his means, who has the good use of them or lose their jobs, is not a matter left to the wish of the find success for his efforts. Advertising rates are liberal and employe hence can hardly be credcan be had on application to the ited to individual excellence or the pearance of integrity which wins personal desire to reform in the success, there must be the individhabit of eigarette smoking.

But outside of this mandatory advancement of employes in failroadservice it will be found that the New Bern Journal. temperate and industrious man will move ahead of the man who is given to occasional drinking.

And in other trades it will be found that the clear thinker produces the best work, and to be a clear thinker, temperate and regular habits are necessary.

In trade and commercial dealings, in matters of trust and responsibility, it may be said that there is a premium paid for temperance.

How about society? Does the temperate man or woman command greater respect than the intemper-

Probably not, unless there be a difference in the financial standing so that the intemperate habits of the man are overlooked, because of his money.

If temperance commands a premium in the working world, why should it not be more sought, more demanded and more valuable in the social world?-New Bern Jour-

No One Fears Death.

"I have seen thousands of persons die under all sorts of circumstances, and never yet have I seen one display the slightest fear of death." This remarkable statement was made the other day, according to the Philadelphia Record, by a physician who has practiced many years in Philadelphia, and who has seen a great deal of hospital service.

"It is a popular fallacy," he went on, "to imagine that a deathbed scene is ever terrible, other than as a parting between loved ones. The fear of the unknown is never present at the last. Even amid ignorance and vice I have never experienced such scenes as a novelist, who strives after realism, will sometimes picture.

"When a patient is told that he cannot recover and the end is near, he invaribly seems resigned to his fate, and his only thought seems to be of those who are to be left behind. This is true alike of men and women.

"Those who become hysterical and declare they are not fit to die are the ones who are not as ill as they think they are. These always get well. A physchological reason? Oh, I don't know that there is any. It's just a human trait."
