WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 13, 1900.

Mr. Sumrell moved in from Marlboro yesterday. He occupies the Nash Edwards house.

Miss Maggie Rollins, who has been visiting the Bryans down here for several weeks, has returned home.

F. O. Cox still has the Busler house and lot for sale at $200. It is a bargain and cannot be bought for any less.

There was an old time spelling match at the Academy last night, the school spelling against the town. If the town had won we would have bragged about it.

W. B. Morris and wife, of Vanceboro, were in town yesterday. They will either move to this place or board their son here to attend school.

DON'T FORGET that A. G. Cox offers liberal inducements at all times for any good business to locate at Winterville.

Cotton-seed are a good price now, and it pays farmers to exchange them for meal, or sell them and buy meal.

At a call meeting of Town Board this week, Alonzo Harris was appointed Policeman. He has also been hired by the day to look after street work, light lamps, &c.

NEW:—Should you visit our place, we could not show you anything but a nicely arranged building, furnished with tools and material ready to be worked.

LATER:—We hope to be able to show you a nice row of buggies which will please the most exacting, both in quality and design.

Your new friends,

HUNSUCKER CARRIAGE Co.

DON'T HOLD UP.—That is the wagon and cart business. As a result A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. are having to put in several new hands. Heretofore there has been being a lull in the business once in awhile which would give a chance to work on cotton planters, back bands, &c., but this season they are having to make all these at the same time. Don't forget to read what they have to say from time to time.

GRIFTON ITEMS.

Burned to Death—Personal And Other Notes.

GRIFTON, N. C., Jan. 13, 1900. J. L. Keene went to Winterville Thursday.

J. R. Harvey arrived Wednesday from Norfolk. He brought back some nice horses.

C. P. Gaskins went to Kinston Friday.

Miss Eva Webb and Miss Minnie Evans, of Kinston, came Friday to attend the minstrel at night.

O. W. Gaskins went to Kinston and returned Friday.

There was a large crowd of spectators at the minstrel show Friday night. All laughed enough at Erastus Kinky head and others.

After the show Friday night at half past twelve o'clock the alarm of fire was given, and the calaboose was found ablaze. A man by the name of Joe Porter, colored, was inside and was burned to ashes. He was drunk at the time, which was the cause of his being in prison.

Insanity and Luck.

An Indiana man is charged with insanity because he burned up $3,000 in currency. If he had lost it in a bucket shop, his friends would have regarded it simply as a case of hard luck.

An Indispensable Factor.

The time for a merchant to quit advertising is when he wants to retire from business. If the desire of the tradesmen be to keep his business active and pushing the assistance of a powerful trade-getting factor is indispensable. That factor is advertising. Permanent success without it is impossible.—Philadelphia Record.

Outsiders Will Invest.

A man in another State who has been reading about the movement to get a cotton factory in Greenville, writes THE REFLECTOR that he would like to take stock in a factory here, and that he can also induce other outside capital to be invested in such an enterprise. This ought to stimulate our people to greater effort. It bears out what THE REFLECTOR has argued in the past—that when we show a determination to do something ourselves, there is plenty of capital outside that can be induced to come and join in with us. But outside capital is not going to come until the home interest is first shown. Keep this movement going and you will find that capital to take all the stock required will be forthcoming.

A CORDIAL INVITATION

SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1900.

Mr. Root declines to be a candidate for Vice President. Now Mr. Hanna will have to select some one else.

In spite of all the talk about southern lynchings, the statistics show that there were fewer in the entire country in 1899 than in any year since 1885.

Philologists are now tracing resemblances between the dialects of the Filipinos and those of the American Indians. After a while historians will trace resemblances between the treatment of the two.

When the trusts helped to elect McKinley in 1896 they did so with the assurance that the republican party would not destroy them. Otherwise they must have been fools, and no one accuses them of that.

A notable trial occupied the past week of the Federal court in Raleigh. Marshall, of Wilmington, was tried on the charge of counterfeiting. The progress of the trial has clearly shown animus on the part of the prosecution. After deliberating on the case twenty-four hours the jury failed to agree and a mistrial was the result. The jury stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction.

We hear some business men complain of the backwardness of people in paying their accounts. As many as please may differ with this assertion, but an honest man will pay his debts if he is able to do so. And if not able he will endeavor to make some satisfactory arrangement about what he owes.

Alfred Harmsworth, the great journalist of England, has risen from a clerkship at $25 per week to a multi-millionaire in twenty years. The London correspondent of the New York World has been interviewing this remarkable man as to the secret of his success. He says: "What is the secret of my success? Concentration! Devotion to my work! Journalism is to me not merely a business, but a hobby and a pleasure. Some men dissipate their energies—they devote themselves to trotting horses, their minds are absorbed with yachts, and so on. Their business is one thing, their pleasure another; and as soon as they can they throw their business on one side for pleasure. Or else they meddle with a dozen different concerns, with few of which they can be familiar in all details. Now, I concentrate myself on one thing—journalism. I have no trotting horses or anything that stands in the place of trotting horses, save half a dozen automobiles. Journalism is my business, journalism is my recreation, journalism is my all."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12, 1900.

The bosses of the gagged House not having any business prepared and being afraid that the members might make some sort of mischief if allowed to hold sessions every day, have held the House down to every other day sessions this week and cut them down to an hour or so, except upon the day that eulogies were delivered of the late Representative Greene, of Nebraska. The one thing that members of the House can talk as much as they please about, on the floor of the House, is the merits of deceased members.

Republican Senators are preparing to grab the Senate patronage which is not already in their hands. They held a caucus this week and appointed a committee to arrange a programme for the grab.

Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, thinks, it is about time to put wood pulp and printing paper on the free list, in order to head off the paper trust, which is putting the screws on the users of printing paper, and he thinks such a bill might be put through Congress, because the republicans would fear the influence of the country papers, the publishers of which feel the increased price of paper most. He said one editor in his district wrote him that the increase in the price of paper would make it cost him $820 more to print the same number of papers in 1900 that he printed in 1899. He thinks something will have to be done or many small publishers will have to choose between shutting up shop or raising their subscription price.

Secretary Gage's answer to the resolutions adopted by Congress asking explanations of the favoritism towards two New York banks, in the matter of depositing internal revenue collections and of juggling with the title of the old Custom House, which was sold to one of those banks, is one of those explanations that do not explain. More is likely to be heard of these matters.

One day last week a Gaston county man went to Yorkville to swap horses. He had a pretty good horse and swapped it off for a mule. The man either got sick of the mule or the mule got sick of the man. Anyway the man tried to sell the mule to a negro man, but it seems the negro didn't want to buy. After trying in vain to sell the mule he asked the negro if he would have the mule if he would give it to him. The negro agreed to trade that way and took the animal off his hands, and bought the mule for 25 cents. The man walked back home, a distance of 26 miles carrying a borrowed saddle on his back.—Gastonia News.

The towns with dispensaries made a very creditable showing in behalf of morality and sobriety during the Christmas holidays. The Presbyterian Standard says of Charlotte: "The rowdyism and drunkenness in this city on Christmas day has been widely noted. Fifty cases before the mayor's court on the following day, tell the tale. The saloons were in full blast and many of the victims of drunkenness were boys. The very air reeked with filth and profanity." In contrast the Monroe Enquirer says, and it has a dispensary, that was closed on Christmas: "There was absolutely no rowdyism, hardly any intoxication and no debauchery here. Monroe has a dispensary, Charlotte has a large number of saloons."

We heard a gentleman say recently that the negroes in his part of Wilmington were drunken and boisterous.—Wilmington Messenger.

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman Knows Woman.

ZURICH, KAN., Jan. 31.

I used Wine of Cardui for nervousness and weakness in the womb. After taking one bottle I was well again. I am a midwife and always recommend Wine of Cardui to my lady friends during pregnancy and after birth as a tonic. Every lady who takes it finds that it does even more than is claimed for it.

MRS. V. M. BOISVERT.

McLREE'S Wine of Cardui

Nobody knows woman like woman. Men go to medical colleges, study books and listen to lectures. They learn indirectly of the diseases of women, but they are men and can never fully understand the ailments, the sufferings, the agonies of mothers, wives and sisters. A woman knows. Mrs. Boisvert knows. She has passed through the trials and tribulations of her sex. She has been near by when her sisters suffered. She has seen them relieved and cured with Wine of Cardui. Is it any wonder she recommends it? Is it any wonder that thousands of other women recommend it? They know. They have actual experience to prompt them. They spread the tidings from mouth to mouth, telling how Wine of Cardui helps young girls, helps the weak of all ages, helps and cures all womanly ills.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Seven Hours in a Slough With His Thigh Broken.

Mr. Jacob Joyner, who lives about three miles above town, met with a terrible accident on Friday. That morning he took his gun to go turkey hunting. His son, Mr. O. L. Joyner, came to town to attend to his usual business at the Farmers warehouse, and upon reaching home late in the afternoon and learning that his father had not returned from hunting he grew uneasy about him and went to search for him, taking some hands on his place to assist him.

They went across the field to the woods lying between the farm and the river where they divided into different directions, each searcher hollering at intervals to see if they could get a reponse. After awhile they heard an answering cry from down in the lowgrounds, and following the direction of the voice they found Mr. Joyner lying in a slough where the water was nearly three feet deep. His thigh was broken near the hip and he was keeping his head above the water by holding on to a log. He was nearly frozen from the cold and almost exhausted when found. His son took him out to the high land and sent for a conveyance to take him home, it then being some after dark.

As soon as he could do so Mr. Joyner told how he met with the accident and how horribly he had suffered. He had found some turkeys and in following them had started to walk across the slough on a log, when he slipped and fell. In the fall his thigh was broken, but he managed to drag himself up by the log and thus kept from drowning. This was a little after 10 o'clock in the morning. He made repeated outcry for help, but was so far from home or any highway that his cries were not heard. He remained in this harrowing condition all day, his only hope being that when his son returned home he would go to search for him. As night drew near he had almost given up in despair when he heard the calls of those searching for him and answered them.

In the seven hours that Mr. Joyner was in the slough he suffered almost the agonies of death.

When he was taken home another son, Dr. C. C. Joyner, and Dr. Charles Laughinghouse were telephoned for and they hastened out to render him all possible medical aid. After about two hours hard work he began to revive and spent as comfortable a night as could be expected in his condition. He has been resting quietly today.

It was a horrible accident and Mr. Joyner's host of friends deeply sympathise with him in his misfortune. All hope that his restoration may be speedy.

Money and Perseverance.

That the founders of the California Fig Syrup Company dropped $52,000 in advertising before the enterprise became a success, shows what capital, patience and perseverance it sometimes takes to make a thing "go." There have been better remedies started only to be abandoned for lack of all those items that go to make phenomenal success of enterprises which at the beginning seem to be doomed to failure. If the founder of the California Fig Syrup Company had lost courage after he lost his original working capital of $1,200, he would not be today at the head of a company whose annual sales are said to amount to nearly $1,500,000.—Mail Order Journal, Chicago.

Defies Law and People.

Director Thompson of the penitentiary called the attention of Superintendent Day to the fact yesterday that there is a thirty-year escaped convict residing in Beaufort county who openly defies the people and any effort to recapture him.

The convict in question, W. H. Brantly, one of the murderers of the late John Bonner, the Aurora banker, who was killed for his money. Brantly was connected with the three Bell boys and sentenced to thirty years in the penitentiary. He made his escape from one of the eastern farms last May, and has been residing at the scene of the crime in Beaufort county since.

Captain Day informed Mr. Thompson that he would clothe him with full power to effect the capture of the desperado.

Mr. Thompson stated that Brantly was seen every few days, and that he did not hesitate to walk the public roads. He said Brantly always carried a gun and he declared that he would never be captured.

One of the Bell boys, who received a similar sentence to that of Brantly, escaped from the prison several years ago, and is living in Germany. Another brother died, and the third is serving a fifteen year term in the penitentiary.

The landmark says that the officers of the Presbyterian church of Statesville have decided to prohibit the use of the church for public free-to-all marriages. Hereafter no marriages can take place in the church except by permission of the session, and then admission must be by card. This action is the result of abuse of the church by thoughtless witnesses of former marriages.

NOTICE.

This is to state that the firm of Drs. O'Hagan & Laughinghouse has not been dissolved. The only change made is, that for the better convenience of our patrons we have established a down town office.

Dr. O'Hagan will occupy the old stand. Dr. Laughinghouse will occupy the new office situated on Fourth street, just behind Frank Wilson's clothing store in the Perkins block of buildings where the old post office used to be.
